MRS. HARRY A. RODMAN.

A number of social activities which have been dormant this summer, are beginning to buzz again now that September has arrived.

The women of the city are preparing for the coming season and there will be various festivities to mark the opening sessions of the many organizations.

The Home Economics club, composed of a group of women who are interested in efficient and scientific housekeeping, will have as its initial meeting a luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Smith, 2910 College avenue, to be followed by a reception for new members in the afternoon and the regular program on Wednesday, Sept. 22.

Miss Smith will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Anding, Miss Jessie Barker, Mrs. C. F. Benedict, Mrs. H. F. Conway, Mrs. Fred Carter, Mrs. Charles Carter, Mrs. Charles Darling and Mrs. E. Carl Watson.

A paper on "The Home Budget" will be read by Mrs. Orren Smith, the review of the lesson will be given by Mrs. Fred Kleb and Mrs. H. K. Stornoff, and Mrs. Edward B. Raub will present the demonstration to illustrate the lesson.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ogle, 287 Denby street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last night when their daughter, Martha, was united in marriage to C. Chris Matthews.

Cosmos, gladioli, asters and various other garden flowers in pink and white hues were arranged against a background of greenery, made an attractive setting for the double ring service, read by Dr. Ray Rapallo of the Brightwood Methodist church.

Miss Nelle Brown sang "Oh, Promise Me" preceding the ceremony, and Miss Ruth Sluus played the bridal chorus from "Loehengrin" for the processional and a group of soft bridal arias during the service.

Chris Matthews, nephew of the groom, acted best man.

Miss Audrey Groves, maid of honor, wore a frock of white organdie and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Little Martha Fielder, namesake of the bride, in dainty ruffled organdie, carried a basket of pink roses.

The bride wore a gown of silk marquisette over ivory satin, a tulle veil arranged effect, held in place with a wreath of tiny rosebuds, and carried a short bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews left for a wedding trip to Chicago, and will be at home at 2949 Cornell avenue after Sept. 12.

Mrs. Saul Present of the Harrison apartments, who has been spending the summer in Detroit, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cowell, 217 North Tacoma avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nelle Cowell, to Emmett G. Fowler of this city.

The wedding will take place in the First Nazarene church at 8 p.m., Sept. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kennington, who have been for several weeks in Atlantic City and various eastern cities, have returned to their home, 2344 College avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Wangelin, 659 East Twenty-second street, will go tomorrow to Lafayette, where she will continue her work in Purdue university.

Miss Edna Marie Vahle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vahle, 1221 East Pratt street, and James J. Stanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vahle, were married last night at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. J. D. Matthihs of the Trinity Lutheran church officiating.

The program of bridal music was given by Miss Mabel Wright, vocalist; Miss Frances Olsen, pianist, and Raymond Britton, violinist.

Myron Russell of Youngstown acted as best man, and Miss Alice Otto, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor.

Miss Otto wore blue satin with an overdrapery of Georgette crepe, and carried pink roses.

Little Ruth Lethin, in a white net frock, carried the ring in a lily.

The bride's gown was of bridal satin, with a drapery of silver lace, and her veil was arranged coronet effect with valles and smilax.

Her bouquet was a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

She wore also the gift of the bridegroom, a strand of pearls fastened with a platinum class set with diamonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanford left last night for a trip to Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a suit of midnight blue tulle, with velvet hat of the same shade.

On their return they will be at home at 1221 East Pratt street.

Alpha Omega sorority girls surprised Mrs. Ray Goodwin, a recent bride, formerly Miss Jewel Jacobs, last night with a miscellaneous shower at her home, 9 North Thirty-first street.

Aaron Ward roses combined with greenery were used in the decorations, and the dining room appointments and ices were carried out in pink and white.

The guests included Mrs. P. Cook, Mrs. Virgil Moore, Mrs. E. T. Laskay, Mrs. T. V. Hall of Decatur, Miss Freda Ruth, Miss Lucilla Snyder, Miss Helen Troutman, Miss Marine Disher and Miss Reba Snyder.

Miss Eleanor Brennan, 3325 Central avenue, will be hostess for the meeting.

MABEL, GET OUT YOUR YARNSweaters, All Colors, Are Stylish Again

By KATHLEEN MCKEE.

"Ouch-h-h," I gasped, making a frantic futile search for my handkerchief. "I'm sorry, pardon. I am so sorry. Did I hurt you?"

By the time I stopped seeing a second edition of the promised land in the heavens in the form of a couple of million stars, and could disentangle myself, that part of my anatomy that had been jolted by my hasty retreat focused on a perfectly adorable girl casting solicitous glances in my direction.

Before I had time to swallow any tears she assured me that she was so glad that I didn't get hurt, but she just couldn't help it on account of the fact that she was going away to school in two weeks and this was the fourth sweater that she had made.

"It doesn't take any time to make a sweater and I expect to have three more made by the time I am ready to leave."

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT

I looked down the car and saw a demure little lady manipulating a wad of brilliant white while she whispered to herself, "Knit three, purl three."

"Everybody's doing it, too," she assured me, casting a condescending glance in the direction of my idle hands, "why my chum has made three in the last few weeks."

Before I could tell her my rattled faculties would not let her know how difficult it would be to learn, she explained the advantage of sweaters over georgette waistbands, assuring me that sweaters were twice as cheap, were "nicer and woolly" and never did get mussed.

"Well, I guess I'll have to go," she said, preparing to gather up her bundle of American beauty rose yarn when our eight o'clock "rush hour" careened around the corner and I received a second jab which put my other eye out of commission for a while.

My mind rotated around the subject of sweaters all day, and I wondered how I would look perambulating languidly to work in one of those fuzzy affairs.

To be out of style is a terrible calamity and the multiplicity of sweaters everywhere on the street at lunch hour convinced me that I was a hundred years behind.

There were pink sweaters, blue ones, burnt orange, red, black, green, lavender, purple and a dozen or so colors that I had never been introduced to.

There were plain sweaters, striped sweaters, sweaters with collar designs and sweaters without.

FRINGE ON SOME

Sweat and fringe that called to mind pictures of the Indian war chief all dolled up for a conquest, and others were finished with ornate collars and cuffs with wood embroidery.

Some resemble grandmother's reputed close-stitch knitting, although she would be speechless if she tried to give the popular style a once-over.

"For the love of Mike" I meditated watching a combination of turquoise blue and burnt orange mince across the street, "I wonder what all those sheep are going to do this winter?"

I also observed a few thousand scarfs taking a promenade down the street, some of which sported imitation Greek designs.

Hurriedly I entered a store and made a line for the art department.

Here I was educated to the fact that everybody is going to knit sweaters this fall and that it doesn't make any difference.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennett Gates and family have returned from Hot Springs, Va., where they have been spending the past month.

She was assisted by Mrs. A. F. Ness and Miss Olive Niles.

FAINTING AND DIZZY SPELLS

The Cause of such Symptoms and Remedy Told in This Letter.

Syracuse, N. Y.—"When I commenced the Change of Life I was poorly, had no appetite and had fainting spells. I suffered for two or three years before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, which I saw advertised in the papers and in your little books. I took about 12 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and found it a wonderful remedy. I commenced to pick up at once and my suffering was relieved. I have told others about your medicine and know of some who have taken it. I am glad to help others all I can."—Mrs. E. DEMING, 437 W. Lafayette Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ALL COLORS POPULAR.

"Black and all the bright colors will be the rage this year," I was told.

Men's man's styles in Tuxedo coats will be copied in the sweater line and rakkish little suits for autumn made out of stretchy yarns with crocheted tambs to match. Yarns for the work basket will make their appearance in a few weeks.

I learned that jades and combinations of greens and blues are very stylish this year, and that the thin yarns and silks are being used in preference to the heavier grades.

"Quite a lot," I was told, "give me a half dozen balls of Nile green over there and the largest pair of needles that you've got."

Retracing my steps to the edifice where I amuse myself and others during the day, I arranged myself comfortably with my new toy.

A ball chased itself across the room.

"Won't you get that for me?" I asked in my sweetest tone.

"Say, where do you think you are?"

"I'm in the basement," I said.

"I hired you to work and not conduct an old maid's knitting class."

Assuming all the dignity I possessed I informed him that it was now fashionable to knit during business hours.
