

41 MEN TAKEN IN FIVE RAIDS

Morals Squad Interferes With Alleged Games.

Dice and cards resulted in the arrest of forty-one men in a series of five raids made by the morals squads starting Monday afternoon and ending early this morning.

When the police suddenly rushed Perry Porter's dry beer saloon, 810 Blake street, there was a wild scramble and an alleged game of craps was turned into a game of grab.

Norman Greer, negro, 754 North California street, the police alleged, seized $2.45.

Steve Jones, negro, 819 Blake street, the police say, took a pair of dice.

The police took nineteen negroes, all of whom were charged with gambling and visiting a gambling house, and John Moss, bartender, was charged with keeping a gambling house.

Porter was not in his dry beer parlor at the time of the raid.

Not wanting to slight Mr. Porter, the police looked him up later and arrested him on the charge of keeping a gambling house.

A "quiet little game" was interrupted in a vacant upstairs room at 710 North Holmes avenue, and the police arrested eight men, charging them with gambling, and captured $6.75 and a pair of dice.

Eight young men in the rear of a local newspaper office are alleged to have been shooting craps at the time the morals squad made a sudden raid and took five alleged gamblers, $3.25 and a pair of dice.

The men gave their names as Charles Hall, Hoosier inn; Julius Malley, 510 North Meridian street; Frank Lane, 911 East Washington street; Ralph Becker, Hoosier inn, and William Vandergraff, 510 North Meridian street.

Lewis Thomas, owner of a poolroom at 29 South West street, was arrested on the charge of keeping a gambling house.

Thomas was arrested after Ora Gray, 735 West Michigan street, appeared at Police headquarters and told the police that John Murphy, of the Grand hotel, had "lured" him to Thomas' pool room, where he lost $40 in a poker game.

Gray was arrested, charged with gambling and visiting a gambling house. Murphy and two other men were arrested on similar charges.

Six young men shot craps too close to police headquarters last night and were arrested.

The open air game was at Georgia and Pennsylvania streets.

In a raid on 770 Indiana avenue, the morals squad arrested Fred B. Boyd, charging him with keeping a gambling house, and three other men on charges of visiting a gambling house.

Dice and $2.40 were captured as evidence.
