FOR MUSIC

The Indiana state fair will prove one thing if nothing more, and that is that the people of the Hoosier state have "one awful ear for music."

Several talking machines and many pianos are being demonstrated, in addition to the many bands, and each place where music is on the program, is certain to draw a large crowd.

The Victor exhibit, where a real jazz band plays, vies for attention with the soldiers' band of the recruiting service, which is stationed in the next lot.

The political headquarters of the two leading parties draw their share of patronage.

At each place women are present to see to it that their guests are well cared for, and on hundreds of persons could be seen rosettes, small pennants reading "I am a republican" and other similar devices.

The Indiana Daily Times hourly bulletin service, at the tent of the democratic state committee, draws a large crowd of persons who want reliable information of what the outside world is doing.

The sideshow continues to draw their share of patronage, although it is hard to determine what per cent of the crowd that watches the outside exhibitions goes in to see the "big performance."

NOVELTY PEDDLERS

The fair, in one respect, resembles the county fairs, for which the Hoosier state has become famous, and that is the large number of souvenir peddlers who are determined that no one shall pass until he has purchased.

No need, either, for any one to go hungry while on the grounds. It would be hard to judge how many "hot dog" ice cream, etc., stands there are on the grounds.

But all the fair visitors do not go to the fair simply for amusement. The many industrial exhibits draw their share of attention, the farmers showing great interest in new developments in farm machinery, and the women of the fair minutely inspect the many devices which make work in the farm home easier.

Hundreds of persons daily visit the automobile show where new models are on display for the 1927 season. Arrangements are now being made for holding a night automobile show to accommodate the many Indianapolis citizens who cannot attend during the day.

BLACKFORD TEAM WINS $200 TROPHY

The Blackford county livestock judging team composed of Mark W. Langdon, Charles Clamme, Jr., and Vaughan Johnson, won the boys' livestock judging contest at the State Fair. It was announced at noon today.

They took home with them the $200 trophy which was held by the Clinton county team last year, and also won trips to the international livestock exposition to be held in Chicago in November.

The Decatur and Tipton county teams tied for second place, with Madison and Clay counties finishing fourth and fifth, respectively.

Highest honors in the dairy cattle judging event went to the Dearborn county team, and these three boys will represent the state in the junior livestock judging event at the national dairy show in Chicago next month.

The next four teams finished in the order named: Madison, Wells, White and Tippecanoe.

Loewell Beavers, a member of the Henry county team, had the highest individual score in the entire contest, and won a $100 scholarship to Purdue university.

Ernest Durr of Tipton was second, and won a $75 scholarship to the same institution.

Ervin Beeler of Wells county, was third and won a $50 cash prize.

The remainder of the prize winners follow:

Fourth, Mark W. Langdon, Hartford city; fifth, Clarence Millon, Carroll; sixth, Miles Goddard, Decatur; seventh, Charles Clamme, Blackford; and Clarence Rogers, Madison, tied; eighth, ninth, Vaughn Johnson, Blackford; Harold Lehmman, Kosciusko; and Roy Mosely, Miami, tied; tenth, twelfth, Howard Snell, Delaware; thirteenth, Herbert White, Hancock; fourteenth, Clay Rhodes, Clay; fifteenth, Malcolm Tetric, Decatur; sixteenth, P. Baer, White; and Earl Pell, Clay, tied; eighteenth, Francis Johnson, Blackford; nineteenth, Floyd Shook, White; Ernest Beavers, Henry; and Theodore Smith, Marshall, tied; twentieth, A. M. Belsel, Jay; twenty-third, Warren Johnson, Owen; and twenty-fourth, Bert McCallister, Madison. The last eight prizes were $5 each.

Medals were awarded the best judges in the various classes of live stock. The winners follow:

John Alsapach, Miami, hogs; Lowell Beavers, Henry, horses; Vaughan Johnson, Blackford, beef cattle; Clarence Godfrey, Huntington, dairy cattle; Herman Magee, Henry, sheep.

The contests are held each year at the fair under auspices of the agricultural extension department of Purdue university. Prof. Carl F. Gobble in charge. The winners of the fair management.

This morning the boys were given a trip through the Kinsman packing plant and the Union stock yards, and, following announcement of the winners at 11 o'clock in the coliseum the boys spent the remainder of the day "doing the fair" as guests of the fair management.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8.—James Rogers, a Civil war veteran, and his wife were hurt in an automobile accident in the western part of Hamilton county last evening when their car crashed into another machine at the intersection of a cross-roads, where the view was obstructed by tall corn.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were thrown from the car and both cut about the head and body, but not seriously injured. The occupants of the other car were not hurt. Their machine was slightly damaged.

TICKLE PALM TRICKS OF G. O. P. ARE SHOWN UP

Interest of party according to law $1,500.

Oct. 21—James Barnes, treasurer of Cass county committee, $500.

Oct. 21—A. P. Tudor, treasurer of Miami county organization—$500.

Oct. 21—B. W. Cooke, treasurer of Allen county committee—$1,000.

Oct. 24—Harvey H. Cheney, treasurer of Tippecanoe county organization, $1,000.

Oct. 26—Benj. Schaefer, treasurer of Elkhart county committee, $500.

Oct. 26—Henry Dreier, treasurer of Vanderburgh county organization, $1,000.

Oct. 28—Charles Shier, treasurer of First Indiana district, $1,000.

Oct. 28—Raymond Ryan, treasurer of Vigo county committee, $3,000.

Oct. 31—Frank M. Boone, treasurer of St. Joseph county committee, a total aggregating $1,700.

Nov. 1—C. L. Fowler, treasurer of Lake county organization, $2,000.

Nov. 3—C. L. Fowler, treasurer of Lake county organization, $3,000.

ONLY FEW MANY NOTATIONS.

These are only a few of many similar notations showing the way the republicans dumped thousands of dollars into the various counties of the state to "advance the interests" according to law, of the republican party.

Another lavish expenditure in the 1916 campaign is listed as follows in the report:

June 13—Ralph A. Lemcke, expenses incident to demonstration in Chicago for republican state committee, $3,845.94.

Inserted after this typewritten statement was the name (Fairbanks), but no explanation was given for adding that name to this expense "incident to demonstration."

The distributing fund went down into the G. O. P. campaign fund barrel and bought at the regular rates a total of 14,442 subscriptions to the National Republican, a paper published by George Lockwood.

AH, YES—HERE ARE JUST A FEW MORE!

The report shows that the various sums for subscriptions were paid to Lockwood as follows:

Sept. 21—$1,500; Oct. 7, $1,000 and $1,044.20 on Oct. 24, 1916.

A few more interesting disbursement items of the report are as follows:

Sept. 2—American Press association; page plate for 177 newspapers, $368.55.

Sept. 5—Indianapolis Calcium Light company, moving picture equipment for republican state committee, $346.75.

Sept. 5—Coburn Photo and Film Company, 1,000 feet of moving picture film, $350.

Sept. 21—Street Railways Advertising Company for street car advertising, republican state committee, $1,538.40.

Oct. 7—Atlas Advertising Company, second payment on film contract, republican state committee, $460.

Oct. 21—Western Post, newspaper copies at regular subscription rates for republican state committee, $741.

Oct. 7—Atlas Advertising Company, taken at random from Stalaker's report, show the lavish and free hand with which the republican state central committee unloaded at least $345,022.00 in Indiana during the 1916 campaign.

Library Seeks Relics to Put on Exhibition

During G. A. R. encampment week the Indianapolis public library is desirous of having an exhibit of relics of the Civil war, particularly Camp Morton.

Regimental flags, old swords, muskets, knapsacks, canteens, cartridge belts, eating utensils or any mementos recalling the life of the Civil war soldier will be most acceptable.

An interesting display now being shown in the delivery room at the central library is that of stamps collected from Japan and America. It will be shown all this week.

America Will Demand Fair Play to Oil Men

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The question of recognition of the new Mexican government has been further complicated by the American protest against continuance of Carranza's confiscatory oil policy, according to authoritative opinion here today.

The United States probably will refuse to recognize either Provisional President De La Huerta or Gen. Obregon, who is to succeed him, unless assurances of fair treatment to American oil men are forthcoming.

Blackboard Chained to Public Hitchrack

Special to The Times.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Sept. 8.—Melbert Franzian, who Tuesday morning claimed Miss Esther Shick of this city as his bride, received unusual treatment from his friends.

For several hours he stood at the public hitchrack, chained to a post. He was finally able to extricate himself, but in the meantime the key to the pair of handcuffs he wore was lost.

By appealing to Albert Sutton, sheriff, Franzian was able to have the handcuffs sawed off, after paying the sheriff $5 for the nippers.

SHE'LL 'SHOW' WHO'S DOING IT

Persons who testified that her husband was of sound mind after she had petitioned to have him declared insane, are not welcome to the husband's funeral, a sign put up by Mrs. Eugene Riehl, 1303 West Twenty-fifth street, indicates.

"All friends invited. The three witnesses who testified in Justice Keller's office, July 12, are requested particularly to remain away," reads the sign.

The husband, who is Rev. Eugene Riehl, former Baptist minister, died Sunday and is to be buried today in Crown Hill cemetery.

Neighbors of the Riehls believe the witnesses referred to in the sign are persons who testified that Rev. Riehl was sane at an inquest held in Justice Keller's court in July.

Dr. Herbert T. Wagner testified that Rev. Riehl was sane but in need of medical attention, and the minister was released.
