October, true to its classification as the "bride's month," is being ushered in with a number of interesting weddings.

A ceremony which will be quietly solemnized Monday night is that of Miss Katherine Tanner, and John B. Ford of Detroit, Mich., to take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Gordon Tanner, 1430 North Delaware street.

Miss Elizabeth Nicholson will be the bride's only attendant and Fred F. Ford, brother of the bridegroom, will act as best man.

Miss Vera Dean, daughter of Mrs. Irving Moore Dean, and Claus Howard West are to be married Saturday morning in the Central Christian church, the Rev. Allan Philpott officiating.

Miss Helen Ganspohl, 2363 Broadway, will leave Tuesday for Washington, D. C., where she will enter National Park Seminary.

The wedding of Miss Norma Moeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Moeller, 1817 Lexington avenue, and Oscar Baikhau of this city will take place tonight in the Emmanuel Lutheran church, the Rev. William Morgan officiating, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Frank Hogue of Houston, Texas, formerly of Columbus, is the guest of Mrs. A. M. Fell, 2301 Brookside avenue.

Mrs. Leon J. Hecht, 46 West Fall Creek boulevard, is spending a fortnight in Chicago.

Clinton L. Hare, 4270 North Meridian street, has returned to Yale University to complete his course.

Mrs. William Bennett, 146 West Thirty-third street, has gone to Danville, Ill., to spend a week with her daughter, Mrs. E. G. Street.

James Timney of Los Angeles, Cal., is the guest of Mrs. C. A. Jones, 2367 Talbot avenue.

The Altruss Club held its weekly luncheon in the room of L. S. Ayres & Co., Dr. Mary Westfall presiding. A. M. Hall of the State board of education spoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Schloss, 2006 North Illinois street, have returned from Chicago where they have been spending several days.

President's day was observed yesterday by the Indianapolis Woman's Club with a luncheon and informal reception in the Propylaeum, the honor guests being Mrs. Frank H. Lewis, retiring president, and Mrs. William Dudley Pratt, president for the coming season.

Baskets of yellow dahlias, marigolds and ferns, and gold-colored tapers in silver candlesticks, made attractive decorations for the luncheon tables, which were laid for ninety-five guests.

"Penelope's Symposium, the Eternal Feminine," a clever farce, written by Mrs. Pratt, of a female society in ancient times, was presented.

Those taking part included, Mrs. James D. Pierce, Penelope, wife of Ulysses; Miss Flora Ketcham and Miss Mona Taggart as Corio and Penelope; Mrs. Benjamin Hitz, Xanthippe; Mrs. Alfred F. Potts, as Aepasia; Miss Margaret Shipp, as the sister of Theocritus; Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Euthymus; Mrs. Joseph J. Daniels, Sappho; Mrs. Donald Jameson, as Phyllis; Mrs. O. B. Jameson, vision seen in the crystal. The committee in charge of the luncheon was composed of Mrs. E. F. Hodges, Mrs. James D. Stanley and Miss Genevieve Scoville.

Miss Mildred Smith and Miss Mildred Gaugherty entertained last night with a miscellaneous shower and dinner at the home of Miss Daugherty, 127 East Forty-fourth street, in honor of Miss Myra Fischer and Miss Helen Resener, brides-elect.

Baskets of asters in lavender and deep pink tied with tulle in the same shades were used through the parlors and dinner table was decorated with a centerpiece of flowers on which was poised a miniature bride.

Miss Mary Joe Dunshoe of Los Angeles was among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Blocher, 3906 Park avenue, left yesterday for New York City.

October Brides

AN H. KLINGE AND MARIE PAULINE ELSENER. The bride-elects of October, who were brides-elects and close friends, are Miss Pauline Elsner and Miss Lillian Klinge, whose weddings will take place during the coming week.

Elsner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Elsner, 622 South Key avenue, and her marriage to George Klinge of Logansport will be solemnized Wednesday morning at the home of her parents.

Flora Burke will be matron of honor, Miss Bertha Elsner, bridesmaid, Henry Elsner, best man.

Lillian H. Klinge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Klinge, 902 Saginaw street, and Val T. Schneider will be married Thursday night in St. John's church.

Mary Thielman is to be maid of honor with Miss Ruth Heintzelman as bridesmaid, Fred Schneider as best man and Klinge will usher.

Mrs. Housewife, Do You Know?

1. What spices are used to give flavor to sausage?
2. When may skim milk be substituted for whole milk?
3. How to remove kerosene stains?
(These questions will be answered tomorrow by the Housewife.)

YESTERDAY'S QUESTIONS.

1. The usual preservatives used in curing pork are salt, which preserves it, saltpeter, which helps keep the natural color of the meat, and sugar and molasses, which softens the muscle fiber and improves the flavor.

2. To make crisp cornmeal cake, mix a half cup of white cornmeal with one cup of milk and a half teaspoonful of salt. Heat to the boiling point and then spread on shallow buttered pan to depth of one-quarter of an inch and bake in moderate oven until crisp.

3. If your furnace is good and your methods are right, twice a day is often enough to attend to the furnace fire, in moderate weather—and no more than four times in cooler weather.—Copyright, 1920.

PUSS IN BOOTS JR.

By David Cory.

Well, we had to leave off in the last story at the most exciting point, just where the Dreadful Dragon with his fiery breath was trying to scorch little Puss Junior. And wasn't it lucky that Puss waved his magic gold feather in front of him for that feather was a wonderful thing, you know, and as soon as the Dreadful Dragon saw the wall of flame which the golden feather made between him and Puss he crawled back into his dark and dismal cave. And then Puss Junior hurried away to meet somebody more pleasant, and by and by he came to a beautiful waterfall, where little water sprites were coasting down on the backs of silver fishes. And the song they sang went something like this, only maybe it was prettier:

Tinkle, tinkle, waters bright,
Like the starbeams in the night.
Hear the music rise and swell;
Like the tinkling of a bell.
And then all the little fishes raced up and down in the quiet pool, just out of reach of the splashing waterfall, and the little water sprites laughed and threw bubbles at each other. So Puss stopped and watched them from the bank, and as he sat there a little bluebell flower whistled in his ear:

I ring the curfew bell each night
When Mr. Sun blows out his light.
And then from every cottage chink
The little candles blink and wink.
And when he dimmed their tiny gleam
The little children sleep and dream.
And would you believe it, when she finished her song Puss Junior was fast asleep. I guess he was pretty tired, for he had walked many a mile that day and it was now late in the afternoon. Well, as he lay there asleep, the Queen of the Fairies commanded her subjects to watch over him to see that no harm came near, so all night long two little fairies perched themselves on the toes of his boots and another stood at his head. And when the merry round sun got up in the morning and poked his golden finger into Puss Junior's eyes the three little fairies flew away and Puss was none the wiser. He just thought he had slept there all by himself, but you see, he hadn't. And I am told that the fairies watch over good little children every night, two at the head and two at the foot of the bed.

Well, after Puss was wide awake he started off once more, and by and by, not so very far, he came across three little old men sitting by the roadside. Now one little man had a great sack in his lap, and the second little man had a big ax in his hand and the third had a long whistle, and as soon as they saw Puss they jumped to their feet, but they didn't say a word. And this surprised Puss, for they kept their eyes upon him as if he were a robber bold or some one to be feared.

"I am Puss in Boots Junior and am traveling through Fairy Land," said our little hero, after waiting for maybe 300 short seconds. And then the little old man with the whistle blew a shrill blast upon it, and what happened after that you must wait to hear in the next story.
