TRIBUNAL MAY BE APPOINTED FOR BASEBALL

Magnates Finally See Light and Propose a Real Governing Body.

SCANDAL PROBE STILL ON

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Establishment of a tribunal to control the game from the hands of magnates and managers and place it in the hands of men who will be elected by the players and stockholders, is the plan which is being urged today as the most feasible plan of keeping the game from being a "fix" and a "bribe" in the hands of a few men. The plan which A. D. Lasker, a stockholder in the Chicago Cubs, is credited with having originated.

Already the names of some of the nation's famous men have been brought to the front as possible members of the "super-court" of baseball. Among them are William Howard Taft, former President; John D. Rockefeller, General Leonard Wood, William McCord, Senator Hiram Johnson and Judge K. M. Hand.

WOULD HAVE WELL POWER

The proposed plan would establish a court of three members, which would have the right to remove any manager or player who was found to be "fixing" the game. The court would be elected by the players and stockholders, and would have the right to remove any manager or player who was found to be "fixing" the game.

The four major league clubs that have approved the plan are the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals. The plan is being actively engaged in an effort to obtain approval of the plan from the other major league clubs. The plan is being actively engaged in an effort to obtain approval of the plan from the other major league clubs.

While the baseball world is revolving this latest scheme in its mind a temporary lull has arrived. The grand jury proceedings have kept the fans and the players excited during the last week. The jury here proposes to call no witnesses today, but will resume its active inquiry on Monday.

State's Attorney Mackey Hoyne, upon his return from New York yesterday, has made the startling charge that at least six gamblers had been "fixed" during the 1920 season. Evidence which he uncovered in New York, Hoyne said, caused him to make the charge.

HAS EVIDENCE OF "FIXED" GAMES. He has charged that several of the 1920 games were "fixed," and I have information that the forthcoming series was to be "fixed," Hoyne said. While in New York I gathered together loose threads of a 1920 scandal which would far surpass that of last year, and I am sure that the result of my investigation will be, but I will venture the assertion that the grand jury proceedings are the result of a "fix" in the game.

"Garry" Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds, who is the chief witness before the grand jury yesterday, was questioned concerning reports that a $200,000 fund had been raised to "pay down" so that Cincinnati could win the pennant last year.

Joseph Johnson, chairman of the gambler's committee, said that he had been told that the grand jury was going to "pay down" so that Cincinnati could win the pennant last year.

Reports received today by court and state's attorney officials said that John J. Sullivan, who is the grand jury investigating the "fixing" of the 1920 world's series, asserted that he had been told that the grand jury was going to "pay down" so that Cincinnati could win the pennant last year.

"Within the next forty-eight hours I will be on my way to Chicago and when I get there I will tell the grand jury what I have heard," Sullivan said. "I have heard that the grand jury was going to 'pay down' so that Cincinnati could win the pennant last year."

Sullivan, who says he handled several hundred thousand dollars in bets on the last world's series, is expected to arrive Tuesday.

"They have made me the 'goat' and I'm not going to stand for it," he added. "I am going to the grand jury and I am going to tell them what I have heard. I am going to tell them that the grand jury was going to 'pay down' so that Cincinnati could win the pennant last year."

Texas League Had Its Scandal, but Players Were Put Out Easily

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2.—Evidence that gamblers "controlled" the winning and losing games in the Texas League during the season just ended came to light Friday in a report from the "grand" upholders in organized baseball.

Pitcher Bill Fletcher of the San Antonio club declared he had been offered a $2,000 bribe to throw a game recently in Wichita Falls and his statement was backed up by manager Bryson.

President Walter Morris of the Texas circuit, in a statement to the International News Service, admitted that reports of throwing games had reached him during the season just ended and that his investigations had resulted in the dropping of several players. He refused to name the men, but said the evidence had been too vague to initiate criminal prosecution. "They were dropped because we suspected they were not running straight," Morris said.

The entire matter of "crooked playing" and "throwing" games will be the subject of drastic investigation at the league meeting of directors directly after the world's series, President Morris said.

Already the names of some of the nation's famous men have been brought to the front as possible members of the "super-court" of baseball. Among them are William Howard Taft, former President; John D. Rockefeller, General Leonard Wood, William McCord, Senator Hiram Johnson and Judge K. M. Hand.

Lack of Experience Spells Defeat for Manual Grid Squad

forward pass, and the ball was carried back up the field.

Frazier, a colored boy, and Showalter and Wilson were the stars for Wabash. While Harmon, Belmont and both of the Red and White ends played well for Manual.

The Red and White team had a number of punts blocked because the kicker didn't get back far enough from his line of scrimmage before kicking, and these blocked punts proved costly to the Indianapolis team.

Both games were to be played at the Butler athletic field, the high school game starting at 2 o'clock and the college contest scheduled at 2:30 o'clock.

Football fans from all parts of the state were expected to be at the game. Pat Page has developed at Butler and for that reason one of the largest crowds in the history of Indianapolis football was expected to see the game, still Manager Justice Paul has arranged some other amusements.

John Kingsbury, a former Butler football captain, who is present at the game, is the only one who has been to the game. He is expected to see the game, still Manager Justice Paul has arranged some other amusements.

Since coming to Indianapolis Page has worked wonders with the Butler squad. From a set of inexperienced "hopefuls" Coach Page developed his team into a football machine that had a real chance to win the championship of the state.

The game today marked the first real attempt to put Indianapolis on the football map. The game was expected to be a big one, and it was.

Suspended From State High School Athletics for Playing Ineligibles

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, Lagrange and Orland High schools were ruled ineligible for further athletic competition with schools in the association until June 1, 1921.

The ruling was based on the fact that Lagrange and Orland had been found guilty of playing ineligible players in basketball games during the past season. Announcement of the ruling was made today by K. V. Amundson, president of the association.
