

BORAH STILL IN HARDING'S RING

Wires G. O. P. Nominee He Will Work Own Way.

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 5.—Senator Warren G. Harding has received personal assurance from Senator William E. Borah, one of the peace treaty "irreconcilables," that he has not withdrawn from active participation in the campaign, as widely reported.

Senator Harding today made public a telegram received from the Idaho Senator in which he said he would continue to work for Harding's election and the league's defeat in his "own way."

The telegram to Senator Harding said: "In view of reports, I wish you to know my speeches in future will be along the same lines as at Dayton and the Senate. I am not a peace treaty man, and I want to see league success defeated. In my own way I shall devote my time to the achievement of both propositions."

(Signed) "WILLIAM E. BORAH."

At Harding headquarters tonight it was said this telegram, together with Hiram Johnson's utterances in California, effectively put at rest the widely circulated reports that the two Senators had formed the Harding-Borah alliance of disaffection with Harding's attitude on the League of Nations issue.

In this connection, Senator Harding, at Des Moines next Thursday, will deal with some aspects of the league issue as raised by President Wilson in his White House statement of yesterday.

Asked today to comment on the President's statement, Senator Harding said: "I shall have nothing to say touching on the League of Nations until my Des Moines speech on Thursday, when I expect to devote some attention to the matter."

Today was an off-day on the Harding schedule and the Senator intends to devote most of it to preparing the speeches he will make on his western trip, which starts tomorrow.

It is planned to leave Marion Wednesday forenoon, getting into Chicago late in the afternoon and leaving there the next night for Des Moines.

Senator Harding will speak in Omaha Thursday night, Kansas City Friday night and in Oklahoma City Saturday night, returning to Marion from the latter place.

BORAH SAYS HARDING ONLY 'ALTERNATIVE'

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Republican national headquarters today continued the Borah incident closed. The Idaho Senator, who had been reported to have become so disaffected with Senator Harding's position on the League of Nations that he was considering withdrawing entirely from the campaign, made it clear to his speech at Danbury, Conn., last night that he will continue to support Harding.

"There isn't any alternative," he declared.

"Governor Cox is committed to the league, while Senator Harding has declared in favor of staying out."

TAX FILES TELL 'INSIDE' TALE OF MCRAE FARM

(Continued From Page One.)

$9,800; 100 2-year-old cattle taxed at $10,800; 135 head of 3-year-old and fat beef cattle at $15,000, and fifty "grades" at $2,500.

VALUATIONS STEADILY RISE AS ASPIRATIONS INCREASE.

In 1919 the provisions on this farm for the care of the live stock were listed for taxation at 1,200 bushels of corn worth $1,200; 300 bushels of oats worth $300, and ten tons of hay worth $20.

The live stock consisted of nine milch cows worth $300; six milch cows $450; fifteen head of calves worth $1,800; sixteen milch cows worth $1,800; eight cattle worth $8,000; seventy-four cattle worth $11,000; 250 cattle worth $33,000; five bulls worth $5,000, and thirty-one hogs worth $700.

In 1920 the provisions for the live stock consisted, according to tax returns, of 600 bushels of corn worth $750; 600 bushels of oats worth $450; eighteen tons of hay worth $300, and $800 worth of calves.

The live stock for which these provisions were on hand consisted of forty-eight horses and mules worth $8,000; seventy-three pigs worth $5,100; 480 other cattle worth $96,000; twenty-six hogs worth $540; and fifty hogs worth $300.

No farmer who examines the assessment sheets for this "famous" farm, the "Fairfaxes" where cattle sales have been known to total more than $200,000, can help but be impressed with the idea that Warren E. McRae has no reason to be dissatisfied with the Goodrich tax law and the Goodrich administration which he has endorsed.

The taxes on the personal property on this farm as returned by McRae for 1917 totaled $17,000. In 1918 the amount was increased to $44,475.

ASSESSOR BOOSTS VALUATION ON BLOODIED HEREFORDS.

In 1919 McRae and the township assessor agreed on a total of $39,320, but the county assessor decided that the pure blood Herefords were worth more and raised the assessment total to $72,520.

In 1920 there was again a unanimous agreement and the assessment of the great stock farm stood at $120,135, which figures does not include the value of the land or the improvements.

It is interesting to follow some of these assessments through the period of the Goodrich administration.

For example, in 1917 the Orchard Lake farm horses were assessed at $75; in 1918 at $300; in 1919 it seems to have been overlooked, but in 1920 it had assumed a taxable value of $500.

In 1917 all the agricultural implements on this 361-acre farm were returned for taxes as of a value of $150. In 1918 the value was $300, and in 1920 the value was $1,267.

Mr. McRae's stock farm assessments appear to have increased in a reversed ratio to the approach of the present campaign, but at no time does it appear that he was assessed on his fancy stock for any where near the sum for which he obtained from the sale of them, for on May 20, 1920, one of the bulls known as Lowden Fairfax sold for $25,000, or twenty-five times its valuation for taxing purposes given the assessor a month before.

The total of the first day's receipts at this sale were estimated at approximately $250,000, or $100,000 more than the assessment of all the personal property on the Orchard Lake stock farm.

Hartford City Pastor Scores Chance Games

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Oct. 5.—In a last evening the Rev. M. F. Dawkins, pastor of the First United Brethren church here, scored what he declared to be a "lethal" gambling at the Blackford fair all festival last week.

It was in the form of wheels of fortune, and a number of lodges of the church members rallied away a five times its value," the minister declared. It was as sinful as any form of gambling.

'MAID TO LOVE' AND PASSING SHOW BID FOR FAVOR

Petrova Sheds Real Tears—Bush Spins Yarns—'Hello Jake' Is Here

Ever once in a while a musical comedy is produced that contains everything a musical comedy should and nothing it shouldn't.

When that miracle comes to pass the theater-going public from Maine to California and from Idaho to New Mexico, rise up and show their appreciation by storming the box office and the S. R. O. sign gets plenty of exercise.

Such a production is "Maid to Love," the current offering at Engle's.

No one seems to know much about "Maid to Love."

From whence it came, who produced it or why.

Gleason and Block are responsible for the production, Percy Wrenrich wrote the music and Raymond W. Peck the lyrics, read the announcements, but that meant nothing to the critic or the man who has followed the theater for years.

Those were unknown names—but no more.

For the story itself, it's just the conventional plot—a charming man-about-town, played by Vinton Freedley as Anthony Stanton, who falls desperately in love with Daria Darcy, whose role is handled by Miss Lillian Ring, and his efforts to win her consent over the prejudice of her father, the exposure of the villain who puts across a crooked deal, and the fake marriage certificate (which, of course, falls into the hands of the villain) forms the plot of the play.

Robert Woolsey, who plays the part of Henry Watkins, a New Jersey attorney, is 50 per cent of the show.

Tom Lewis, veteran funnyman, is another of the bright spots in the cast. Lewis is the irate papa and carries off, second comedy honors.

Molly Darcy, niece of the old papa, and much sought after by Henry, in his opinion does better work than Miss Ring, despite the fact her part does not offer so many opportunities.

Others in the cast include Roy Lewis, Elma Decker, Harry Redding, Joseph Harris and Marguerite Riser.

To its eternal credit let it be said that the chorus of "Maid to Love" is modestly dressed.

"The Things I Learned in Dear Old Jersey," "You Can Trust Me," "We Were Made to Love," "Old Flanes," "Little Journey" and "Oriental Serenade" were the most popular song hits.

Opinion: A musical comedy with lots of pep, no objectionable features and checkbook of honest merit.

LIKE A THREE ACT TRICK IS THE PASSING SHOW OF 1919.

Lavishness is the keynote of The Passing Show of 1919, which opened a week's engagement at the Murat last night.

A picture of the show, which is a gem of beauty, but it lacks comedy, most of the laughs being reaped by James Barton and the Avon Comedy Four.

As the show now stands, it is more like a fashion show and a song revue, but it is the biggest show seen at the Murat in many months, the chorus being large, costly attired, well trained and regular peaches for looks.

Because of limited space, we will hit only the high lights, giving first honors to James Barton in a funny scene, scene near the Canadian border, and again to a picture of a fighter in another equally as funny scene.

This man's face and his nimble legs is his fortune and as far as I am personally concerned, it would just as soon be Barton as Eddie Cantor or others of this brand of entertainers.

The best travesty of the show is one on "The Test," the former vehicle of the Barrymores, John and Lionel, in which excellent travesty is done by James Barton, Frankie Heath, Roland Woodruff and others.

The setting for this travesty is one of the most elaborate in the revue with the possible exception of the Court of King Solomon, a wonderful stage picture, which gives Kyra a chance to squirm and dance in the pale moonlight and in very few ornaments.

Kyra does her best dance and most of her movements in a snake dance and we all know that the snake originated the shimmy.

The Avon Comedy Four are tremendous favorites this season and they are given plenty to do and if it were not for these four men the show would be mighty short on comedy.

Every song number is elaborately mounted, a regular feast for the eye and the best numbers include "Maid to Love," "The Things I Learned in Dear Old Jersey," "You Can Trust Me," "We Were Made to Love," "Old Flanes," "Little Journey" and "Oriental Serenade."

The cast is large, but lacks individual voices, the chorus being the best yet presented this season.

Opinion: A gorgeous feast for the eye, a beautiful production.

At the Murat all week. W. D. H.

PETROVA AND OSTERMAN BIG HITS ON KEITH'S BILL

It is Mrs. Petrova who causes the electricity and the big cars to stop in front of R. F. Keith's this week, but it is Jack Osterman who sends everybody home, whether they walk or ride, with joy in their hearts and a good word for modern vaudeville.

It is Petrova who causes the dramatic shivers to play up and down one's back but it is this lad Jack Osterman who turns on a flood of personality sunshine which radiates brilliancy like a diamond in the dark.

Real tears trickle down the cheeks of Mrs. Petrova during a dramatic scene but it is the way that Osterman puts over his songs and smart talk which causes one to reduce that vaudeville has at last a youth who knows what the hungry world wants in the line of entertainment.

Mrs. Petrova strives for effect and she has the stage set for the big moment and her entrance is as royal as if she were a queen; her gown is a sensation; her songs are selected with an eye on the general effect and in a dramatic scene with the stage thick in dramatic tricks, Petrova cries real tears before the big emotional crash.

It swept them off of their seats yesterday as vaudeville fans like the the sounds emotional and after shaking away her tears Petrova received the red roses handed over the footlights, kissed one of the roses and presented it to George Bateman, conductor of Keith's orchestra, and the women in the audience whispered, "How sweet of Petrova to remember the old man in the pit."

If you like your drama with tears, BEECHAM'S

The largest Sale of Any Medicine in the World.

Sold in 10c boxes, 10c, 25c.

FRANKIE HEATH and JAMES BARTON in a travesty on "The Test" with "The Passing Show of 1919" at the MURAT

Petrova will do the rest and at the close of each number she crosses herself as if in prayer—it's all very strange but those who pay their money at the box office talk about the cross anyway.

On the trail of this dramatic outburst and tears, Jack Osterman, the son of the beloved Kathryn Osterman and J. J. Rosenthal of Chicago, arrives and before one realizes it Osterman has the house in a stampede.

I thought that Trilix Frigiana was a lot last night at Keith's, but this Osterman boy kept 'em going so strong yesterday afternoon that he held up the show so long that the performance did not end until nearly 5 o'clock.

Osterman has sure dramatic knock, a home run every second he is on the stage and knows how to put the soul in a song.

The capacity house yesterday brought Osterman back many times and he even gave a little talk, and in other words his mother and dad will know by this time that Jack Osterman "stopped" the show.

Another act of merit is Lucille and "Cockie," a bird that talks, a marvelous act.

Francis Renault is presenting an elaborate act and he again proves that a man can be artistic even in feminine attire.

The Three Necessaries offer a skating novelty; Miss Melville and George Rule appear in "The League of Servants"; James Kelly and Emma Pollock present something new as the finish of their act.

All to be seen this week at Keith's. W. D. H.

FRANK BUSH SPINS MANY A YARN AT LYRIC.

Many people have often expressed the wish of being able to tell a good story. One of the best story tellers before the public today is Frank Bush, who commands special attention during any recital of the current bill at the Lyric.

Those who want pointers on the method to be used in putting over a story should drop in this week to see the way Bush jumps from one cracking good yarn to another.

Bush does not have to resort to blue stories to make his audience laugh, but relies upon direct of his character to put his story across.

This season Bush has a new collection of yarns, but as usual closes his offering with the story of the young woman who stayed too long at a Oneida Island cafe prior to the national drought.

A rural quartette is given a chance to dispense melody in "At the Old Turnpike" and receive the money of the village checker players Peggy Houlton is given several opportunities at melody.

La Rose and Adams resort to songs and some idle talk, but they firmly establish the offering with "Protectors Blues," as done by the male member of the team.

The Aerial Eddys perform to advantage on the trapeze, but why the woman resorts to a gaggle, with rounds of some one breaking ice, is difficult to explain.

Johnson Brothers and Johnson present extracts from the minstrels and the Band Trio appear in a series of dances. Raines and Avery again are seen in an offering in which the male member of the team appears as a comical simp to generous applause.

FRENCH FROLICS NOW AT THE PARK.

The French Frolics, a tuneful, musical extravaganza, with Harry (Hello Jake) Fields occupying the stellar comedy role, made its annual bow at the Park yesterday.

The show has been bettered, this year

A Square Meal and A Square Deal

Here's a square deal for the people who can't eat a square meal without after-pain or distress.

Go to your drugist today and get a box of M-I-O-Na Tablets, the great prescription for indigestion and stomach troubles.

Take one, or if you are suffering is intense, two tablets with or after meals and at the end of ten days if you can't eat a square meal without distress go and get your money back.

That's where the square deal comes in.

But M-I-O-Na is really a stomach up-builder of great merit.

The quick and positive action of M-I-O-Na on the stomach in case of gas, waterbrash, sour stomach, and heartburn is worth a lot of money to any sufferer.

Why not try M-I-O-Na—at the Haag Drug Store and drugists everywhere.

KOTALKO SOLD BY HENRY J. HUBER J. A. HAAG HOOK DRUG CO. HAAG DRUG CO. And by Drug Dealers and Dept. Stores Everywhere

as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place and was bald.

Many more splendid convincing reports from satisfied users.

contains GENUINE BEAR OIL and other potent ingredients. No alcohol, no kerosene, but a hair elixir of wonderful efficacy. All ingredients are safe and harmless, even for a child's scalp and hair. Positively KOTALKO is one of the most reliable hair preparations that succeeds in restoring hair to the scalp.

at the toilet room or drug counter of any large department store. Remember the name. Accept nothing else as just as good.

Go to your drugist or dealer and get a box of KOTALKO. It is the only hair preparation that is guaranteed to stop hair from falling. Get a box of KOTALKO, apply once or twice daily, watch in your mirror. For PROOF BOX (10 cents) write to JOHN HART BRITAIN, Inc., BT-69, Station F, New York City

FEARS MOVING OF LEGION OFFICES

Chamber of Commerce Will Work on K. of C. Offer.

Decline action will be taken by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce to induce the Knights of Columbus to change their offer of $25,000.00 to the American Legion for erecting a legion hall in the city.

Charles F. Coffin, president of the chamber, appointed a committee of William J. Mooney, chairman, and John R. Welch, to cooperate with representatives of the citizens war memorial committee, the American Legion organization of Indianapolis and the Knights of Columbus representatives, to bring about the change.

Although the action does not call for the moving of the headquarters of the American Legion from Indianapolis, it is feared that it might have this result.

The proposed memorial would provide quarters for Veterans of Foreign Wars, the G. A. R. and the Spanish War Veterans, the American Legion and the Red Cross. It is said the idea of establishing the American Legion war memorial at the national capital originated with Washington Knights of Columbus.

The chairman of the American Legion headquarters for Indianapolis and the keeping them here has been a series of struggles on the part of Indianapolis civic bodies.

The offer in the Meridian Life building which is being used for the legion headquarters is maintained by the Chamber of Commerce at a monthly rental of $600.

The chamber, it is said, will continue this until the war memorial building, authorized by the last session of the State Legislature, is completed.

'21 Plus' Is Password at Greensburg Polls

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Oct. 3.—Women voters of this county will not be deterred by the fact that they are not permitted to cast their ballots in the coming election here because of the fact that many of them "forgot" their exact ages at the time of registering, according to an agreement entered into by the county chairman of the Republican and Democratic parties.

The agreement between the two parties is founded on the law that all citizens of 21 years are entitled to vote.

According to the agreement the challenger will not act in the cases where the women have given their ages as "21 plus" and "21 minus."

Both parties have also entered into and the chairman have signed, a pure election agreement.

They are pledged to refrain from the corrupt use of money to purchase or influence voters on or before election day.

Hartford City Gets South Bend Pastor

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Oct. 5.—The Rev. Elton Hoyt of South Bend has been assigned to the pastorate of St. Luke's Episcopal Church here.

He succeeds the Rev. W. W. Dauge, who goes to Marlin, Tex., to take a parish.

Actress Tells Secret

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Jolee Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Any one can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

"The ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Britain, business man, certified that he had lost his hair and was bald. He was a man of 60, and he had been bald for 10 years. He had tried every remedy known to him, but he had not been able to get his hair back.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon. He had been told that he would never get his hair back, but he had not been told that he would get it back so soon.

PUSS IN BOOTS JR.

By David Cory.

Now let me see what happened after the little King of the Mountain asked his four trusty little men why they had brought Puss Junior to his palace, "Come with me."

"This little cat is a traveler. Your Highness," answered the little torch-bearer, "he was a little excited, and down, for he was a little excited, you see, and he promised not to tell what he saw if we showed him where we were going."

"Ah, is that so?" said the little King, and then he smiled at Puss, for he admired his bravery, and, anyway, he wanted a bad little man at all.

"I am seeking adventure," said Puss, stepping forward, "and my illustrious King of the Big Mountain, and he stepped down from his throne and reached out his hand to our little hero. "Come with me."

So Puss followed him and the little King showed him all the wonders of the Underworld. And maybe you don't think it was a strange country, this land underneath the great high mountain.

Why, there were all sorts of wonderful things, for the roof of the great cavern was as blue as our everyday sky and the diamonds shone like little electric lights, and strange flowers grew in many places, and all the little people worked in gold and silver shops where they made beautiful things, the kind you see in the store windows.

There were streets and houses, and queer looking trees with moss for leaves, the little rivers with bridges over them, and creeks and mill wheels that turned the machinery that made all sorts of toys and dolls.

And if Santa Claus had only known about this place I guess he wouldn't have to work nearly so hard up at the North Pole to get Xmas presents ready every year for all the little boys and girls who hang up their stockings or wait until the Xmas tree is lighted.

And when Puss had seen everything there was to be seen he said he must be going, and then the little King of the Mountain told the little man with the big bag to fill it full of presents, and the little man with the big whistle to blow on it, and then a pretty little pony ran up for the Xmas tree to ride on, and after that the little man with the ax cut down a peppermint twig and gave Puss a lot of peppermint to carry away for his little friends at home, and when all this was over the little torch-bearer lighted the way for Puss to go out into the world of Fairy Land once more, and for the Xmas tree to ride on, and bear what Puss did after that—Copy right, 1920.

(To be Continued.)

Expect 300 Visitors for Florists' Meeting

Indianapolis florists will compete for $100, $75 and $50 prizes for the first, second and third best window displays illustrating the work of the association during the convention of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association at the Claypool Hotel next week.

Visiting florists, who are expected to number 300, also will compete for window displays arranged at their own places of business.

HORSETHIEF SLEUTHS MEET.

ELWOOD, Ind., Oct. 5.—The National Horsethief Detective Association convention will open here today when 200 delegates are expected to be present. Business sessions will be held in the Elks' Home Wednesday.

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUITS—2 pkgs., 29¢

ASPARAGUS, Empress California green spears, 1 tall cans .....25¢

NAVY BEANS, choice white hand picked Michigan .....3 pounds, 23¢

WERK'S TAG LAUNDRY SOAP (3 bars, 25c), bar 8 1/2¢

LAUNDRY SOAP, P. and G., Lenox