

WAR MOTHERS TO AID GOV. COX

Bedford Woman Deserts Republicans on League Issue.

"My family have always been Republicans and strong ones, too."

"I am an independent voter."

"Certainly I can not support the candidacy of any man for the presidency of our nation who changes his mind on the League of Nations almost as frequently as he has front porch audiences."

These statements were given out by Mrs. Henry P. Pearson of Bedford, a prominent clubwoman of that city, and wife of a prominent Republican politician, at Democratic State headquarters today.

Mrs. Pearson has been speaking in Lawrence County for the League of Nations from a War Mother's point of view.

"I am intending to vote and work for Mr. Cox," Mrs. Pearson said, "because I had a son who was two years in the world war."

"He was overseas for almost a year and saw service, though he was not in the actual fighting."

"I intend to vote and work for Mr. Cox, because I organized the War Mothers of Lawrence County and the auxiliary of the American Legion, and I do not desire to place politics above patriotism."

"I might add," Mrs. Pearson continued, "that my husband, who has been a Republican practically all his life, and whose family have been Republicans, intends to support Mr. Cox."

Mr. Pearson served two terms in the Indiana State Senate, having been elected on the Republican ticket.

He has served one term as mayor of Bedford.

Mrs. Pearson is an active clubwoman and has been president of the Round Table and Sorosis, both women's clubs in Bedford.

PULLS 2 LOADED AUTOS 5 MILES

'Human Tug' Enjoys Task—Wins $250.

(By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Have you ever tried to push or pull a good-sized touring car?

If you have you can appreciate the task that Lew Levy undertook when he wagered that he could pull two loaded automobiles a distance of five miles.

Levy is known as the "human tug" and he proved that he is all of that and then some.

He won the wager and finished strong.

Two big touring cars were selected for the stunt.

They were placed side by side—not tandem fashion—which would have been much easier for Levy.

A stout towing rope was fastened to the bumpers of the cars and Levy, standing in front of the cars, placed the rope around his neck and shoulders yoke fashion.

A man driver was at the steering wheel of each car and the cars were filled with children, as many in each car as could be accommodated.

Levy leaned forward and strained at the tow-rope.

It took a mighty effort to get the cars in motion.

When this was accomplished, Levy, at a moderate walk, towed the cars the distance of five miles without stopping.

The stunt was made at Sea Gate and over an ordinary pavement he pulled the automobiles to Coney Island Hospital and back again.

He covered the distance in 44 minutes and 23 seconds.

The children enjoyed the ride and Levy, seemingly, enjoyed the role of substitute for two perfectly good automobile motors, for at the finish he was handed $250, the amount of the wager.

C. of C. to Take Up Housing Problem

A special invitation has gone out to sixty-five prominent Indianapolis citizens to attend the conference on the housing situation in Indianapolis, at the invitation of Charles F. Coffin, president of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

The conference will be held Thursday noon at the Chamber.

In his letter to the men inviting them to the meeting Mr. Coffin said: "The directors of the Chamber of Commerce suggest a meeting for conference of those who are interested and who will be able to make suggestions that will relieve the difficulty."

"The housing situation is still acute."

"A solution seems somewhat difficult."

MOTHER BARES SECRET, GETTING CHILD

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—After fourteen years of yearning, Mrs. Lucille Myer has clasped in her arms the daughter whom she never dared claim as her own for fear of disclosing a youthful mistake and losing the love of her husband.

And now after having known only artificial mothering and the cold life of an orphanage, 14-year-old Elizabeth—her name from now on will be Myer—has found the warm embrace of her real mother's love.

In the Circuit Court here Mrs. Myer broke down and sobbed out her long pent up dramatic life story of a woman for years trying to choose between two great loves—that of the wife for her husband and that of the mother for her child—one of which she had felt she must deny herself.

Only desperation, when her brother, Thomas Conniff, Louisville, Ky., was about to obtain possession of Elizabeth, whom he had known always as his sister, on habeas corpus proceedings, did the mother dare to bare the story of youthful mistaken love and subsequent betrayal.

At the age of 17, while living in Louisville, Lucille Conniff, now Mrs. Myer, went to her stepmother and sobbed the story of her mistake.

At the time, according to the testimony given in court here, the remainder of the family were absent.

When they returned they found a new baby girl and Mrs. Conniff—the stepmother—ill in bed.

Mrs. Conniff claimed the baby as her own.

As Elizabeth Conniff the child was christened in St. Michael's Church in Louisville, the real mother, posing as the baby's sister, acting as godmother.

The bargain was that Mrs. Conniff would take the child and raise it as her own on condition that her stepdaughter leave Louisville and hide her mistake.

Lucille Conniff eventually met Grover C. Myer, whom she loved and married, concealing her earlier love and hoping that some way would be found to take Elizabeth as her own.

But for the absence of Elizabeth her happiness would have been complete, she declared on the witness stand.

LABOR OPPOSES SEN. HARDING

Logansport Man Says Workers Favor Governor Cox.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Oct. 6.—"Working men are opposed to Harding," said Ira Cotner in an interview given out here.

Cotner is a retired farmer who is in touch with labor and particularly organized labor throughout the State.

Railroad men in Logansport are almost unanimously opposed to Harding and in favor of the Democratic candidate for President, Mr. Cotner declares.

Their opposition to Harding is based largely upon Harding's attitude toward organized labor, in Mr. Cotner's opinion.

Harding's record proves him to be allied with those interests that are opposed to unions, he said.

"I have had dozens of mechanics employed in the shops in my home town tell me they are opposed to Harding," said Mr. Cotner.

"They say they intend to support Cox."

"I have been told the same thing by mechanics in Indianapolis and in other parts of the State."

"Cox's record on labor issues during his term as Governor of Ohio commend him to organized labor every where."

"Working men in Indiana are familiar with his record and because of it they intend to give the Democratic candidate their support."

"Labor finds very little to comfort in Harding's speech on Labor day," Mr. Cotner said in conclusion.

DRINKS LIMENT BY MISTAKE.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Oct. 6.—William Davis of this city suffered serious burns to his mouth and throat when he drank some liniment by mistake.

I was brought up on Post Toasties

so I guess I'm sort of a Post-Graduate

Her stepmother moved to Keokuk, Iowa, some years ago, taking Elizabeth with her.

Then her letters began returning unopened and Mrs. Myer lost trace of her daughter.

A year ago she learned that her stepmother had died and that Elizabeth had been given into the custody of Thomas Conniff and placed in an orphanage in Louisville.

Last August Mrs. Myer went to Louisville and begged her brother to permit Elizabeth to visit her in St. Louis.
