

WATSON RECORD SHOWN BY VOTE

Which Stand on League and Dodges Other Measures
by Not Voting.

Senator Watson's course in the United States Senate with regard to Ireland was somewhat inconsistent, according to his recorded votes and seems to have been gauged largely by the proximity of the election.

In 1916 he voted against the Pittman sub-resolution asking the British government to exercise clemency in the treatment of Irish political prisoners, but in 1920—election year—he voted for the Gerry reservation to the League of Nations covenant expressing sympathy to Ireland and admitting that country to the League of Nations when it has attained self-government.

Harding voted against both the Pittman resolution and the Gerry reservation, and he also opposed another Gerry reservation asking for the independence of Ireland.

Watson supported the latter expression.

WATSON STOOD BY SENATOR LODGE.
In the long drawn out controversy over the League of Nations Watson stood by Senator Lodge, whom Governor Cox has referred to as the "arch conspirator of the world," and supported all of his reservations.

On several occasions he opposed reservations meaning practically the same as the Lodge offerings.

For instance he voted against the Reed substitute providing that the United States should assume no obligations under article 10, and against the Frelinghuysen reservation pledging the United States to assume no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country.

In view of the support Watson gave the Lodge reservations it is manifest that he has completely reversed his previous stand, as he is now stamping Indiana on a straight-out anti-league platform.

Although now Watson has adopted the view of Borah and Johnson on the point, at one time he voted against Borah's reservation providing that the United States should "assume no obligation under article 10."

He also stood by Harding in opposing a Hitchcock amendment providing that the Monroe doctrine should not be affected by the covenant.

DODGES SEVERAL IMPORTANT MEASURES.

Watson found it convenient to dodge several important matters that might affect his future political status, his record shows.

For instance, he did not vote on the corrupt practices act amendment offered by Smoot "to prevent corrupt practices in the election of Senators by inserting the words 'primary or' and making the bill apply to general or primary elections."

Nor was he present when the Senate voted on the Thomas amendment to tax campaign contributions 100 per cent on all sums in excess of $500.

Watson, whose oratorical powers are well known, also opposed the Underwood resolution limiting debate to one hour and twenty minutes on a bill or resolution and twenty minutes on any amendment.

The Indiana Senator, along with Harding, was not voting when a motion was made to table a concurrent resolution assuring the administration of the support of Congress in dealing with the threatened coal miners' strike.

Both of these Senators voted against the appropriation for the relief of starving Europe following the war.

G. O. P. PREPARES FOR HARDING

Meanwhile Democrats Lay
Plans for Big Vote.

Arrangements have been completed for the meeting at Tomlinson Hall Friday night at which Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for the Presidency, will be the principal speaker.

Committees with a combined membership of several hundred have been named to have charge of the meeting and to have charge of the reception to follow. Miss Dorothy M. Cunningham, Republican director of women in Indiana, will be the temporary chairman, and Senator Harry S. New will be the permanent chairman.

Following the meeting there will be receptions for the candidate at the Marion Club, the Columbia Club and the Harding Club.

Senator Harding will make brief out-of-door speeches at each of these places, if the weather permits.

DEMOCRATS PREPARING FOR ARRIVAL OF GOVERNOR COX.

While the Republicans are planning for the Harding meeting, which will admittedly be an attempt to swing the doubtful State into the Republican party, the Democrats are looking forward to an Indianapolis speech by Governor Cox later in the campaign.

Meanwhile they are planning a number of other meetings.

At a meeting at Tomlinson hall Saturday night W. Bourke Cockran will speak on "The League of Nations."

The meeting will be preceded by a parade, in which the "Tiger" Marching Club will have a principal part.

Some anxiety is being expressed by both parties in Indiana concerning the possibility of providing accommodations for all the voters.

VOTERS TO CAST BALLOTS AS THEY CHOOSE.

With suffrage doubling the vote and with an unusually heavy registration the fear is expressed that local officials in the various counties have not provided sufficient booths, machines and ballots.

In some cities plans are being made for providing a voting machine in each precinct and to provide also a booth in which the voter may vote by Australian ballot, according to choice.

Voting machines will be placed in each ward and township in Marion County at the request of the Democratic county committee in order that voters may familiarize themselves with their use.

VOTING MACHINES ALREADY PLACED.

Arrangements already have been made for placing machines as follows:

First Ward—Engine house, Roosevelt and Sixteenth streets; engine house, Roosevelt and Twenty-first street.

Second Ward—Ward headquarters, 1944 College avenue.

Suits from Hart Schaffner & Marx

*Together with suits
from our own stocks*

VOLUME is our creed.

To achieve still greater volume—
to make the impress of our clothing leadership still more marked—

To work on close margins — to serve—to be continually active—these are the principles to which we devote ourselves.

A sale like this is the natural outgrowth of such policies.

To get volume means activity—it means getting around, not sitting around—it means enlisting the cooperation of makers—it means the willingness to forego profits occasionally in the interest of business promotion.

This sale—conditions considered —is one of the most remarkable of our career.

To buy Hart Schaffner & Marx suits for as little as $29.50 is an opportunity that exists nowhere else
in America—so far as we know.

This guarantee goes beyond any
that the clothing industry knows.
It removes every vestige of chance—

It puts the matter of satisfaction solely in the customer's hands.

In a word—You are told plainly that unless the clothes satisfy you completely—you are expected to bring them back—You'll get other clothes or your money back—

The guarantee covers everything about the clothes—the fabrics, lin-
