

COX ADDRESSES TWO AUDIENCES AT FT. WAYNE

Temple Theater Fails to Hold Crowd—20,000 Gather for Overflow.

TOUCHES VITAL TOPICS

BY STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 14.—Complete operation of the League of Nations will aid materially in the reconstruction of domestic conditions in this country, Governor James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, declared in a speech here last night.

The Governor addressed a meeting in the Temple Theater, later speaking to an overflow crowd of 20,000 persons from a stand erected directly opposite the office of Harry G. Hogan, Republican chairman of the Twelfth district and Indiana manager for General Wood in the primary campaign.

Governor Cox's reference to the high cost of living and other domestic conditions in the United States was made in answer to a question of one of his hearers, who told the Governor he had come to hear the league discussed with reference to domestic affairs.

The speaker told the audience that Hitchcock reservations, which were welcomed by the President and by Governor Cox himself provided protection of American industry under the league.

OLD DEFENSE FUNDS WOULD REBUILD EUROPE.

He said the disarmament of nations, which necessarily would allow these funds to be used in agricultural and industrial development, would eventually aid in the restoration of credit to the financially broken down nations of the world.

Governor Cox reiterated his stand on the Irish question as expressed Tuesday night at Lafayette.

"If I am your President on March 4, next, I intend to have the cause of the Irish nation presented to the American people if I have to do it myself."

"The League of Nations will work for the betterment of the Irish people and I tell you that if the nation is given its freedom you will thank God for the league and for article 10."

Governor Cox's unique manner of heckling himself in order to present the various working of the league to the people in a clear manner again was illustrated when he called upon the superintendent of schools of Ft. Wayne to substantiate his statement that the United States cannot be forced into war under the league unless Congress declares war.

Cheers greeted the Governor when he recalled his prediction that he would

USE IN DISPUTES.

An incident of the instrumentality of the league in preventing war was cited by the Governor, "when in answer to a question put to him from the audience, he told of the controversy between Finland and Sweden."

"What land were you born in," the Governor asked his questioner.

"Sweden," was the reply.

"Is it not true that Sweden has had her land encroached upon and stolen for the past 100 years," he asked.

Receiving an affirmative reply, the Governor outlined the recent controversy between Sweden and Finland, telling how it had been settled under the provisions of the league, thereby preventing any war.

Governor Cox sounded the death knell of the senatorial oligarchy when he said the combine of Republican Senators is "as sure to be defeated as is the sun to rise tomorrow morning."

For the first time in his Indiana speeches Governor Cox came to the defense of the foreign citizens who have been maligned in many instances by Republican leaders, and who, in other cases, have been accused of unfaithfulness in the recent war.

"Look in the casualty lists and see there the names of men who were killed while in defense of their country," he said.

"Go through the hospitals of the East and talk there with the many valiant boys who are without limbs, without eyes and who are otherwise maimed."

GOVERNOR COX'S STAND ON RACIAL PREJUDICE.

"There you will see a sample of how the great majority of our foreign population was unfaithful to the United States during the war."

The Governor denounced the Republicans who have been bringing the racial question into politics.

Governor Cox declared that after his inauguration next March he intended to sit down with the United States Senate and to go over the league.

He said he would accept any good reservation that would tend to clarify the treaty and the league covenant, no matter from whom the reservation came.

"I am going to sit down with the Senate, and I want to see a lot of new faces there," he said.

MACHINISTS MAY END WORLD WARS

Move Is Made to Refuse to Produce Munitions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—American workers in the armaments, munitions plants and navy yards are preparing to make what is declared to be the first practical move to end war.

The International Machinists' Association, one of the most powerful labor organizations in the United States, with a membership of 350,000 and control over all the organized machinists employed in the manufacture of munitions and naval vessels will take initial steps within a month to call a conference of metal workers of the world for concerted action on a program to bring about the world's disarmament.

This announcement, coming today from William H. Johnston, head of the organization, produced a sensation in official labor circles.

The move, it was pointed out, is the most radical departure from the policies of organized labor in America taken in years and assumes special importance because it comes from the third largest union in the American Federation of Labor.

Next to the miners, it is regarded as the most powerful body affiliated with the federation.

Also it constitutes, in effect, a repudiation of Samuel Gompers' stand on European labor.

In making his announcement, Johnston said: "The question of future wars rests in the hands of the skilled mechanics and other metal workers of the world. They are the men who make the death-dealing devices of war. If they should cease making these devices, war would cease."

"To stop transportation of munitions in opposition to war is futile, so long as munitions continue to be made."

The machinists' organization, at its recent convention in Rochester, N. Y., declared for the recognition of soviet Russia.

Become Part-Owner of This NEW Indianapolis Industry!

The fortunes that have been made out of world-famous industrial stock were built upon investments made while the industries were YOUNG!

Listed by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce as one of the city's new industries, the Arctic Ice Machine Co. bids fair to become one of the largest.

The wonder-machine HAS NO MOVING PARTS. It can be installed anywhere—in the home, on the farm, in the apartment house! No electrical apparatus or special attachments are needed. It will produce refrigeration equal to 350 pounds of ice at the cost of 10 cents! A world-wide market awaits this marvelous invention.

Conservatively, the profits on each Farm Size Arctic Ice Machine are estimated at $200. There are Eight Million farmers in the United States alone.

Those who enter the company now will share in the profits with the first declaration of dividends.

George F. Standke, a prominent Indianapolis business man, is the president of this company. His control assures the stockholders of a broad and productive merchandising policy.

A limited amount of Common Stock is being sold now at $1.00 a share. It is non-assessable. Every cent of capital above normal expenses will be placed into the manufacture of machines. Act now, TODAY. Write your answer in your check book!
