

WOMAN SPEAKER ATTACKS G. O. P.

Brands Republican Propaganda as Malicious.

"Women will vote for the things of the greatest benefit to their children and their homes, being unselfish and not carrying on a campaign of graft," said Mrs. Martha Yoh Marston to the women of the Tenth ward at a meeting at State street and Hart avenue.

She branded the Republican propaganda as the "most malicious" ever put out by any political party.

Saying that the Democrats are only standing on their rights and telling the truth, Mrs. Marston declared that the same person will believe the statement that Lillian Russell made in Indianapolis that the Democrats slaughtered 80,000 boys in France.

She pointed out that President Wilson asked a Republican Congress to remove the luxury war tax it refused, having decided to keep it on until after the election; that the legislation President Wilson asked for against profiteering was not given to him by the Republican Congress; that the Cuban sugar which he recommended he bought was not authorized by Congress; that he bought it all up; that when it was finally authorized, none was left, for which the Republicans are now accusing Wilson of negligence; that Attorney General Palmer made the price in sugar go up by cutting in the loans to the speculators, causing them to either pay for their sugar or release it.

All these things, Mrs. Marston said, were Republican propaganda, spread in the hopes that the women would be turned from the Democratic party.

Mrs. Marston emphasized the necessity of conducting a school of education in voting for the women in order that they may not spoil their ballot, thus losing their votes, and also that the women vote in the early hours of the morning and afternoon.

Mrs. Marston said that many women who say they are independent are willing to listen to reason and have only been waiting to hear the truth.

She closed the League of Nations as fourth in the rank with the world's great documents, namely, the Ten Commandments, the Magna Carta and the United States Constitution.

TAGGART ASSERTS LEAGUE WILL WIN

Means Peace, Not War, He Tells Gary People.

Special to The Times.
GARY, Ind., Oct. 14.—In a speech today during a tour of Lake County, Thomas Taggart, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, made a strong appeal for the League of Nations and for business administration in Congress.

"Economy in government is just as essential as economy in one's own business," he said. "Waste of money by the conduct of government is just as unbecoming to the average citizen because it brings higher taxes and a greater burden on the individual."

Mr. Taggart recounted the deeds and heroism of the women of the country during the World War, in discussing the League of Nations and what it means to the motherhood of the country.

"Women know what war means," he said. "Every shot that is fired strikes them in their hearts."

"The mothers of America gave their sons to the flag. Millions of our boys loved them good-bye, but the kiss of thousands of brave American boys was the kiss of farewell forever."

"If the Republicans say to you that the League of Nations endangers any liberty to war, either the Democrats or the League of Nations are the guilty misrepresenting the facts."

"The League of Nations stands for peace. There will be no more war when it is adopted—and it will be adopted in spite of the Hardings and Watsons, the Borahs and H. Johnsons and all the rest of the old guard."

Summon Witnesses in Poisoned Candy Case

Special to The Times.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 14.—Louis Ryan of this city, clerk of the United States marshal, spent Wednesday at Birdseye and Jasper, where he summoned a large number of witnesses in the case of Miss Mabel Spear, school teacher at Birdseye, who was arrested last week in a charge of sending a box of poisoned candy through the mails to Miss Mattie Hardin, a teacher at Ireland, Dubois County, her rival in love.

The preliminary hearing of Miss Spear will be held next Saturday afternoon, before Charles Harmon, United States commissioner, here, and it is understood that the young woman will enter a plea of not guilty.

Reader says that Miss Spear's friends refuse to believe her guilty and think that her arrest is the result of a frame-up.

League Plea Is Made by Gold Star Mother, Who Gave 4 to War

Special to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The following letter received from a gold star mother by George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, tells its own impressive story:

"Please accept the inclosed small contribution to the fund for the dissemination of truth about the League of Nations. It is literally a widow's mite, but it comes from a mother who sent four greatly needed sons to the front war. Two of these sons were given unlimited possibilities for future usefulness, were killed, a third was ill in hospitals in France for five months, due to gas poisoning, and is still classified as unfit, and a fourth risked his precious young life in the air when an honest and concerted effort is being made by the nations of the earth to save, if possible, all future mothers and sons from these sacrifices. It is hard to realize there are those who oppose such an effort. I feel sure that among those who paid for the war there can be but one opinion, and that is to try the League of Nations, even if it is not perfect. It is the best that has been proposed, and all objections being weighed, is manifestly the most feasible. Please don't let it not fall. Yours very truly,

"MRS. EDWARD CLAWFORD DAVIDSON, Elizabeth, N. J."

KEEPSAKES OF MIDGET SOLD

Big Auctioneer and Tiny Man Figure in Life's Tragedy.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Oct. 14.—A big auctioneer in a tiny gray suit and man, with the light of hope fading from his eyes, played the leading roles in one of life's tragedies of old age and poverty today, when the personal effects of the late Countess Magri, who was the widow of Gen. Tom Thumb, were sold to the highest bidder.

Count Magri, no larger than a year-old child, in a diminutive chair, a silent, pathetic figure, while the treasures of his wife and their home were auctioned off.

The count, who for years traveled with his wife in show and on the stage, is poor and in ill health.

The sale has been under way two days and only $300 has been realized, although many of the articles are good.

A tiny inlaid Japanese sewing box, much used by the countess, was sold for only $22.

The little mahogany bed, with its delicately wrought canopy, a gift from P. T. Barnum, brought $51.

A bicycle ridden by the little old man in other days sold for $9.50.

Even the ornaments from their wedding cake were sold for $1.00.

Most of the buyers were antique dealers.

Count Magri would like to return to his native Italy to end his days, he says.

SAYS UNJUST WAR ONLY IS BARRED

David H. Miller Speaks Here on League of Nations.

Defending the League of Nations in an address at the Indiana Democratic Club, David Hunter Miller of New York last night declared:

"The only right the United States would forfeit by joining the League of Nations would be the right to wage an unjust war."

David Hunter Miller is legal adviser to President Wilson, and acted in the same capacity to the American delegation at the peace conference.

He devoted considerable time to answering Republican attacks on article 10 of the league covenant, asserting:

"Article 10 does not mean war. It declares against war."

"It means peace, and no sane man or woman who has read it can truthfully assert that it means anything else."

"Another point which has been misconstrued by a good many people and misrepresented by many politicians is that of the allotment of votes to members of the council."

"Great Britain is to have six votes, while the United States is to have only one."

"This does not mean that Great Britain through its Parliament is to have all these votes."

"Australia and its other colonies will have a voice in these votes and every one knows that they are not always in sympathy with the British policies."

He answered many questions asked by members of the audience.

All ex-soldier candidates of both the Republican and Democratic tickets have been invited by the Party-Stephenson post of the American Legion to attend a reception in the post clubrooms, at Sixteenth and Illinois streets, Tuesday night.

Officials of the post state that the meeting is to be entirely non-partisan, it being the desire merely to give legion members an opportunity to meet the ex-soldier aspirants to office.

DOG FUND DRIVE TO OPEN OCT. 25

Will Seek Money to Provide New Shelter House.

The Indianapolis Humane Society, which is now planning a campaign to raise $25,000 to build a shelter house for animals at Shriver avenue and Fall Creek boulevard, has placed more than 500 dogs in good homes since Jan. 1.

Contrary to the general impression, stray and outcast dogs and other pets which come into the hands of the society are not put to death.

There are more applications for animals than can be granted.

Down in Glenview, Ill., Joseph H. Alexander has a Boston bulldog, "Barney," obtained from the society, that once was the property of Barney Oldfield.

In some way the dog, a mean master, became separated and "Barney" was gathered in by the employees of the municipal dog pound.

He had two traits which defied correction: one the inclination to fight every other dog, regardless of weight, and the other a passion for riding in automobiles no matter who the driver and what the direction.

However, his new owner reports him a most desirable companion.

The North Madison, Ill., Boerner, cashier of the North Madison State Bank, has "Pat," a terrier, as a watch dog.

Pat passed through the hands of the society and when received was an outcast in every detail of appearance.

A thorough bath and a little attention and regularity of food soon developed a fine looking animal, now the pride of its owner.

Miss Minnie Preacher, New Palestine, and C. W. Rink, Washington, have obtained farm watch dogs through the society.

Many others in Indiana have had their applications filled by the society since the beginning of the year.

In making an appeal for funds to build a shelter home, members of the society point out that limited facilities at the dog pound have been responsible for animals being destroyed which might have been restored to health and placed in good homes.

The date of the campaign has been fixed for Oct. 25 to Nov. 1, and will be conducted by the society.

LINGENFELTER CASE AROUSES PARENTS HERE

who are protecting Lingenfelter and tell the truth, no matter who it hits.

The good mothers and fathers of Indianapolis are behind you.

If my little daughter had been one of the night riders, she would be attacked by the field the public would not have to worry further about disposition of Lingenfelter.

The mother of one of Lingenfelter's little victims writes:

"As the parent of one of the little girls that was attacked by Lingenfelter, I wish the public to know that all which was printed in The Times was true."

Wednesday's paper states the discharge of Lingenfelter was not due to lack of evidence but lack of conclusive evidence that the child was injured.

It is possible that murder has to be committed in the community before a field can be indicted?

LINGENFELTER OPENLY
CONFESED INTENTIONS.

We do not know what would have happened if it had not been for the timely interference of the neighbors, for Lingenfelter openly confessed his intentions.

We cannot understand why a group of supposedly intelligent men can look upon anything so criminal as highly.

Do they ever consider that it might easily have been their children?

As for the statement that the evidence was hearsay, I know that my child and I gave the officials plain truths of our own knowledge.

Further investigation into the Lingenfelter affair discloses that when Lingenfelter was arrested there was considerable interest manifested by members of the Jewett administration in his case.

One official, at least, was asked and refused to sign a $4,000 bond for the man.

The usual absence from the city of one official at the present time makes it unfair to him to connect his name with the disgraceful episode at this time.

Gradually, those who are becoming familiar with the Lingenfelter case are beginning to realize that it is not an isolated instance, but a direct product of a system that has been built up during the administration of the prosecutor's office by Chris Adams, under which the grand jury has been misled.

Judge James A. Collins, who has complete control over the grand jury and the prosecutor's office, has repeatedly expressed interest in the affair, relating to children in Indianapolis, has been appealed to privately and publicly, to order an investigation as to why the prosecutor's office has failed to bring sufficient evidence to the grand jury to indict Lingenfelter.

In common with all the other Republican politicians concerned he does not seem concerned with the fact that a system has been built up around his court by which it is possible for men who confess crimes to escape indictment.

Says Marines Killed Haitians Unjustly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Action on a report of conditions in Haiti made by Gen. George Barnett, former commandant of the Marine Corps, was heard today to Washington tomorrow of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, it was said at the Navy Department today.

Barnett was sent to Haiti to investigate conditions in the island republic from 1915 to June 30 last.

A letter in the report to Col. John Russell charged "practically indiscriminate killing of natives" by marines and police.

FOR MEN WHO WORK HARD

Factory men, railroad men, farmers, miners, mill employees and all men who work at hard, straining physical labor are more or less subject to kidney trouble. Nature gives warning signals by frequent lameness, stiff joints, sore muscles, backache and rheumatic pains.

J. G. Wolf, Green Bay, Wis., writes: "Foley Kidney Pills relieved me of a severe backache, that had bothered me for several months. A few bottles fixed me up in good shape."—Advertisement.

Man's Soul Easier to Save Than Woman's

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Women are better church-goers than men; but men are easier to reason with when it comes to saving their souls.

This was the opinion expressed here today by Miss Ruth Grimes, reputed to be the youngest woman preacher in the country.

Miss Grimes, 28, recently was made pastor of a Methodist church at Blue Island, Ill.

Women, according to Miss Grimes, will invade the pulpit in great numbers within a few years and will prove just as efficient at soul saving as men preachers.

"Most nurses are women and if women can care for man's body, she can just as well care for his soul," Miss Grimes said.

Miss Grimes, who served eighteen months as a missionary worker in a settlement, has worked mostly among young people.

The boys, she said, are easier to reason with.

Miss Grimes joined the ministry, she said, because it "runs in the family."

Her father is the Rev. W. B. Grimes, pastor of the Vincent Methodist Church at Blue Island.

BRITISH MINERS TO STRIKE SATURDAY

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The British coal strike will start Saturday, according to a decision reached by executives of the Miners' Union today.

Then he will continue to Washington. Accompanied by Governor Low of Illinois, Governor Morrow of Kentucky, and Job Hodges of New York, Governor Coolidge will leave Washington Sunday night on a special train.
