Asks State O. K. on All Degree Colleges

Attorney General Ele Stansbury today recommended to Governor Goodrich that the next session of the Legislature enact a law providing that all institutions granting degrees be approved by the State Board of Education.

The recommendation was made consequent to a resolution of the board of education, which stated that the Central University of Indianapolis was not recognized by the State educational body as an institution qualified to authorize degrees.

Central University of Indianapolis is charged with being a "degree factory" by Oscar H. Williams, State supervisor of teacher training.

How Many Men Keep Youthful Looking

It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and masseurs. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who have a care for personal appearance. This has also led to the employment by many of home methods calculated to enhance or preserve physical attractiveness, especially by those who labor "beauty rancors." Of these, perhaps the most widely used is the mercurized wax treatment, which explains the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the boyish face. The mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is applied the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead cuticle in tiny particles, revealing the fresher, healthier skin beneath. To secure best results many apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only encourage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

To keep away wrinkles and flabbiness, many men use, after shaving preferably, a simple lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassailla in a half-pint of witch hazel. This gives splendid results.—Advertisement.

Why Stay Fat?

The answer of most fat people is that exercise and dieting is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous a method to force the flesh down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or violent exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. One little tablet after each meal and at bedtime—as pleasant to eat as candy—will reduce your weight two, three or four pounds a week and leave no bad results such as wrinkles or flabby skin. A good size box is sold by druggists at the reasonable price of one dollar, or if preferable they may be obtained by sending the amount to the Marmola Company, 54 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich. They will reach you by mail, prepaid, in plain, sealed cover.

Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds without fear of bad after-effects.

THERE IS A REAL SHOW ON VIEW

In Form of 'The Humming Bird' at English's

A love story expressed in slang. "The Humming Bird," a mystery comedy, which spread its wings at English's last night for a three-day flight in Indianapolis.

The slang is not objectionable, but is charming and refreshing because it reflects truthfully a character of under-world life in Paris.

Your reviewer has recognized one fact in the years spent on the audience side of the footlights and that fact is—when a play actually entertains and makes people happier on leaving the theater than when entering the playhouse, such a play is good entertainment.

"The Humming Bird," as written by Maude Fulton and Toinette, an apache in character, but a real woman at heart, falls safely within the narrow limitations of good entertainment.

Miss Fulton gives to Toinette a charming French brogue, which causes one to laugh merrily at her adventures with the English language and yet this actress is so much more than a French woman.

The play concerns the efforts to go straight of a notorious French woman member of the apache gang to join the French troops and die for France.

She comes to America, turns over a new leaf and her efforts to do that make a pleasing and unusual story—a very sweet love story at that.

Toinette, as played by Miss Fulton, will live in your memory. In fact, one will cherish the recollection of little Toinette, and even her slang.

There are three splendid character portrayals in addition to Miss Fulton's Toinette and they are Grace Traversa as Mine, Barque, who slaughters French and jazzes her Irish brogue; Edith Martelle as Honoretta Fish, a society woman, who is actually human, and Harland Tucker as Philip Carey, a cub newspaper reporter—all three are immense.

The remainder of the cast is satisfactory but in no way approaches the high water mark of character work as done by the four named.

Opinion—"The Humming Bird" will afford you a mighty pleasant evening, so much so that my humble advice is this—do not let "The Humming Bird" fly away until you have witnessed this sparkling little comedy of a type so different from all the rest.

The engagement closes with matinee and night performances Saturday at English's—W. D. H.

WANDA HAWLEY AT THE ALHAMBRA.

It is not often that a girl hires out as a co-representative to provide her dance with business, but that is what Wanda Hawley does in her first starring picture, "Food for Scandal," at the Alhambra the last half of the week.

We are inclined to disagree with the critics who predicted some time ago that Miss Hawley was incapable of holding down the stellar role of any picture.

This actress, in our opinion, has proved herself to be fully qualified to star and certainly her work in "Food for Scandal" would indicate the brightest days of her career are ahead instead of behind. Harrison Ford, who supports Miss

Hawley, gives an excellent portrayal of a struggling young attorney and his efforts to win the heart of the girl "he left behind."

"Food for Scandal" depicts the struggles of a daughter of an old family, reduced to poverty, to provide for herself and her aunt, and furnishes a perfect vehicle for the kind of work Miss Hawley is best adapted to.

The plot is rather more complicated than the usual run of photoplays, and deals with a novel situation—that of a girl, who, through some enviable publicity on the part of the press agent of the show which she is with, has the title of "The Kissing Girl" thrust upon her.

A millionaire happens to be hunting for a professional co-representative and picks on "The Kissing Girl." Many implications follow, which end in the usual way—married and lived happily ever afterward.

Opinion—"Food for Scandal" is not half so wild as its name would indicate and blows a fairly steady breeze of pleasure through a couple of hours.

STAGE AND SCREEN.

Thomas Meighan has done some worthy comedy acting in "Civilian Clothes," now to be seen at the Ohio and this picture will go down in movie history as one of the few first-class movie comedies of the year.

Constance Talmadge in "Good References" continues at the Circle; Mister Smith's is offering "Help Wanted; Male," "An Hour" is at the Isis; the Regent is showing "From Now On," and "The Great Redeemer" is still on view at the Colonial.

Theda Bara will close her engagement in "The Blue Flame" at the Murat with two performances Saturday.

Marie Nordstrom is the headline attraction at B. F. Keith's this week.

The All-Jazz Revue, which is a syndicated revue, may be seen today and Saturday at the Park.

Popular vaudeville and movies make up the bills at the Lyric, the Rialto and Broadway.

"Abie Martin" returns Monday to English's for a week's engagement and "The Bird of Paradise" opens Tuesday night at the Murat.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, OCT. 16.

Neptune and Mercury rule strongly for good today, according to astrology. Saturn is adverse.

There is a sign that seems to presage a gradual clearing of foggy thoughts. Men and women who are engaged in the learned professions should benefit.

This should be a fortunate rule for advertising. Newspapers will prosper greatly and writers will benefit during the next few weeks.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not take any financial risks as the year may bring many problems.

Children born on this day are likely to be large-hearted and generous. They are not usually successful in business, but they may acquire a fine art of living.

Berries Canned 18 Years Ago Still Good

Special to The Times. KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 15.—A can of gooseberries apparently in as good a state of preservation as when they were put up eighteen years ago is the property of Mrs. Sam Williams.

MY HUSBAND'S FAVORITE RECIPE

SALMON LOAF.

Ingredients—One can of salmon, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley, two eggs, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-fourth to one-half cup of milk, according to moisture of ingredients, and salt and pepper to taste.

Method—Beat eggs and add other ingredients, mixing thoroughly. When adding milk add only enough to make mixture moist. Pour into one bowl, and place on a rack in a pan surrounded with hot water and cover. Bake in an oven or cook on top of a range until fish mixture is firm, and is cooked thoroughly. Turn out and serve with white sauce to which parsley has been added.

Note—As a variation two cups of bread crumbs and three-fourths of a cup of milk may be used instead of the eggs.

Mrs. Housewife, Do You Know?

1. What is the cream nut? 2. What is a fillet of fish? 3. How to test coffee for adulterants? (These questions will be answered tomorrow by the Housewife.)

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUESTIONS.

1. Cockleleek soup, which originated in Scotland, is made of cocks—or other fowl and leeks, taking its name from the two chief ingredients.

2. Pan broiling is the process of cooking in hot frying pans without any fat. It is the best method for cooking beef steak and lamb chops when they cannot be broiled.

3. Some housewives use about a tablespoon of kerosene oil in making boiled starch to make it glossy.—Copyright, 1920.

Tens of thousands of men with cold weather coming on so suddenly are asking themselves this question:

Where can I buy a good stylish overcoat right now on weekly terms of payment and not pay extra for the convenience of credit?

And if this question could be heard from one end of the United States to the other—

The answer would come from scores of thousands of satisfied customers in 42 cities—

GET IT AT MENTER'S.

Any successful business man will tell you that the way to get something is to go out and get it, and obligate yourself to pay for it.

If you never promise to pay for anything, the chances are you will never have anything.

"Establish a credit," is good advice to all men—and women also—and especially to the young man who wants to do things in this world.

The young man who has obligated himself to pay for something and has kept his obligation faithfully has established a credit.

And that credit, once established, will be his best asset when he wants to start in business for himself.

On the other hand, the young man who boasts that he never bought on credit will be handicapped when he wants to get into business, because his credit has never been tested.

He has never obligated himself to pay for anything and when the main chance appears he will find that few will trust him.

Simply because he has never been trusted.

"My advice to all young men," said a well-known Eastern bank President, "is to establish your credit, no matter in how small a way."

"Be proud of the fact that you are able to get credit—that business men have so much confidence in you that they will trust you."

The Menter Co., the largest organization of its kind in the world, operating 42 stores in 42 cities, extend credit to tens of thousands of people every year.

This firm, which has been in business over 30 years, has stores in New York City, Brooklyn, Newark, Buffalo, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Denver, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville and many other cities.

Tens of thousands of men want to know how to get an overcoat this Winter.

And Menter answers and says, "Get it at any one of the 42 Menter stores."

"If you haven't any credit, we'll give you credit."

"We'll give you a chance to establish a credit."

"It's the Menter Co.'s business to give credit, and we give it freely and cheerfully."

Again Menter says, "We have many thousands of customers—good, honest ones—who have nothing but their weekly pay to depend upon—they have established a credit—and always keep well dressed."

"We have thousands of customers who own their homes and can easily afford to pay cash."

"But these people, liking our easy payment plan, and knowing that we do not charge extra for credit, continue to buy at our stores year after year."

We have thousands of customers who have money in the bank—they show us their books."

"These bank-account-owning people trade with us because they do not want to draw money from the bank, and lose the interest."

"Neither do they want to interrupt the weekly bank deposit, which has become a habit with them."

"We have customers whose wages are small, and we have customers who make large salaries."

"And with few exceptions, they are good customers."

"They have established a credit—have proved that they are worthy of credit, and we give them credit and are glad to do it."

"Any worthy man can walk in and choose the overcoat he wants, just as if he had a thousand dollars in his pocket, and courteous salesmen will give him every attention."

"He can select an overcoat for $35 or $45 or $75 and can pay a small down payment and arrange for future weekly or monthly payments and the coat is his to wear and enjoy and keep warm in."

"What applies to the man who wants an overcoat applies to every man or woman, single or married, old or young, for in our 42 stores we have a department for women as well as men."

"The people trust Menter, because Menter trusts the people," is one of our sayings that we believe in, and

"We do as we advertise," is another.

"In these changing times, it is impossible to quote terms on all purchases, but we have decided for the sake of brevity to advertise these terms:

"On $30 purchase, $2.00 down and $2.00 a week—on larger purchases we will gladly arrange the most generous terms."

To the man who wants a good stylish overcoat, ulster or ulsterette, and to all others who are worrying about the clothes problem this Fall, Menter says:

"Establish your credit."

"If you live in a city, or in a town nearby a city where there is a Menter store,

"Go and open a confidential charge account."

"Any of our 42 managers will be glad to see you—glad to sell you Fall and Winter clothes at as low a price as any store anywhere."

The Menter store in Indianapolis is located at 111 South Illinois street, 3rd door south of Maryland street; entire first and second floor (remember the number), where visitors are always welcome. Open Saturday evenings.
