

LOOP PROBLEM PUT OFF AGAIN

Councilmen Resent Being Shelved by Jewett Bunch.

The ordinance to establish a downtown street car loop outside the congested district was saved from death in the city council last night when it was made a special order of business for the first meeting in February.

Councilman Louis W. Carney, after explaining that the limit of time after introduction in which an ordinance must be acted upon before automatic death would result moved the measure on over until February and that a special committee to confer with the board of public works and officials of the Indianapolis Street Railway Company, to work out some downtown street car rerouting plan satisfactory to all interests, be appointed.

Both motions passed, and President Gustav G. Schmidt will appoint the committee later.

ORDINANCE LEFT WITH COMMITTEE.

"If the street car company doesn't want to cooperate on a loop plan, and will not, then the council can act," Mr. Carney said.

The ordinance was left in the hands of a committee of the whole, to which it was referred several weeks ago.

"We don't want this ordinance to die, but we want to give the street car company and the board of works an opportunity to work out something," Mr. Carney said.

President Schmidt warned city officials negotiating with the Citizens Gas Company for the amendment of the gas franchise that if they continue to ignore the special committee of the council all their negotiations may go for naught.

Mr. Schmidt, as chairman of the special committee, told the council there was nothing to report, adding:

CONSISTENTLY IGNORED.

"I might say that this committee has been consistently ignored to the present time."

"Isn't that right, Mr. Miller?" he said, turning to Councilman Jesse E. Miller of the committee.

"I guess that's pretty generally known," Mr. Miller replied.

"Will you say further," Mr. Schmidt continued, "that it won't stay ignored."

The councilmen resent being left out of the discussions, particularly because they were instrumental in starting the movement.

How ardently they have been shelved by the Jewett administration is shown by various moves that have been made since the end of September, when a sudden shortage of gas caused both the board of works and the council to demand better service of the company.

Following a public hearing before the board of public works, at which officials of the company were given a grilling, the council, led by President Schmidt, decided to go clear to the bottom of the gas situation, much being said, among other things, about ascertaining whether there was any connection between officials of the gas company and the Doherty-Joyce Company, which has the contract for the disposal of the utility's coke.

PROCEDURE IN GAS CONTROVERSY.

Corporation Counsel Samuel Ashby Oct. 5 talked the council out of making any independent investigation which might have uncovered any unwelcome facts and the special gas committee was appointed to confer with the public service commission and city officials upon what might be done to prevent a recurrence of the shortage.

This conference was held at the Statehouse Oct. 11.

The public service commission told the city officials they had the right to order the gas company to render adequate service and it was decided to find some means of affording temporary relief from shortage until the company could increase its gas producing and storage facilities.

Then began a long series of conferences between city and gas officials.

The council committee was called into these conferences until the negotiations reached a point where it was decided an amendment to the franchise, rather than a rationing ordinance would do more good.

The corporation counsel and board of works, both composed of administration

CHAPTER XXII.

"You'd be glad to hear the true story of this evening's adventures," I repeated in sheer amazement. "Then you didn't believe Tom Mason's story after all?"

"I did not, but I was willing to let him get away with murder if he'd also get out of here before there was the scene out of Jim sharply."

"But, Jim, you gave him the impression that you believed him instead of me!" I yelled.

"I don't want to move. I don't want to buy furniture just now. I don't want to get stuck for a bunch of rent money."

"I've been on a decent pay-roll for a while and can afford a place as good as this at the price any one but Tom would be sure to charge. So just quit spitting at our landlord like a tabby with his back up."

"Jim—you shan't talk to me like that. I've had about enough for one evening."

"Oh! I shan't talk to you like that, eh? And you've had about all you can stand!" stormed Jim. "How about me? My wife makes a fool of me tramping off with a bunch of women and keeps me guessing for hours where she is—and then I come in and find her ranting all over the place because good men, thereupon failed to invite the council committee to any further meetings, apparently with the intention of not permitting the anti-administration council to get any credit for the settlement of the gas trouble.

President Schmidt's words last night are taken to mean that any agreement which the board of works and the gas company reach without having invited the council committee to assist will meet with an unkind fate when it reaches the council's hands for ratification.

This does mean that the lack of foresight on the part of the administration will cause a long delay in relief from potential gas shortages just as their persistent ignoring of the council upon street improvements has caused many meritorious resolutions to die when they reached the council's hands.

Mr. Schmidt has often said the council will not be a rubber stamp body for the Jewett administration.

An ordinance raising the salary of the executive secretary of the board of public safety from $2,000 to $2,400 a year, effective Jan. 1, was passed.

Ordinances for the approval of two switch contracts were introduced as follows:

From the Belt railroad at Avondale Place, across the alley between Gale street and Avondale Place to the plant of the Gale Construction Company.

From the Belt railroad across Keystone avenue and the first alley east of Keystone avenue to the plant of the Central Veneer Company.

HOUSING SURVEY TO BE CONDUCTED.

Public Health Department
Will Take Up Work.

The annual housing survey of the department of public health will be begun some time this week, Dr. Herman G. Morgan, secretary, announced today. The survey will be conducted in the congested districts on a basis of health conditions.

Results will be communicated to the Senate committee investigating the building situation as part of a nation-wide survey of housing in cities of more than 200,000 population.

Health commissioners from these cities probably will meet in Detroit Nov. 30 to discuss the problem.

TWO WEEKS LONG ENOUGH.
RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 2.—After holding the position of street commissioner for two weeks, Isaac Pryor resigned Monday and the board of works, in the absence of Mayor W. W. Zimmerman, appointed Albert Schneider to the position.

"Jim, I want to get out of this apartment at once," I said. "Tom Mason may have come for that blue robe which I once told you he has repeatedly tried to force on me. But he was hiding—in the other room when I came in. And he tried to make love to me. It was horrible. Let's leave here—at once, dear."

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there were no more hair growing. Yet now, at an age over 68, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures show here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certifies further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, sprays, treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light first soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days."

"I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind wildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into the possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist."

"This my own hair growth was payment has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, electrolysis or other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until I was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across KOTALKO. My bald spots are being covered now; the hair is growing ready about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used KOTALKO." Mrs. Mattilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using KOTALKO, hair is growing all over the place that was bald."

Many more splendid, convincing reports from satisfied users, contains GENUINE BEAR OIL and other potent ingredients. No alcohol, no shampones, but a hair elixir of wonderful efficacy. All ingredients are safe and harmless, even for a child's scalp and hair. Positively KOTALKO is the most delicately reliable hair preparation that succeeds in restoring the hair to its normal growth.

For KOTALKO at the drug store. Or ask for Kotalko at the toilet goods or drug counter of any large department store. Remember the name. Accept nothing else as "Just as good." Buy in 10 cent (silver or stamp), you will receive a PROOF BOX of KOTALKO with BROCHURE, postpaid. Determine NOW to eliminate DANDRUFF, to treat BALDNESS, to STOP YARROW FROM FALLING, to grow a box of KOTALKO, apply once or twice daily; watch in your mirror.
