

NEAR POLITICAL RIOT BROKEN UP

G. O. P. Crowd Tries to Parade Through Hotel.

An attempt of Republicans to parade through the lobby of the Denison Hotel, where the Democratic county headquarters were located resulted in a small riot at 1 o'clock this morning.

Not since the famous "Battle of 1888," which occurred in front of the Denison Hotel, has the famous "building witnessed a more exciting political battle than occurred early today.

As the Republican parade carrying banners bearing Harding's picture started through the lobby some man yelled, "Watson, Watson."

The battle was on and a man who evidently objected to the cry, grabbed a Harding banner and jerked it. F. H. Rodger, 1436 Locust street, was hit.

J. Brown, Jr., clerk at the hotel, sent in a riot call to police headquarters and Sergeant Johnson and a large squad of police responded.

Hundreds of persons who had attended a late show at a nearby theater joined the crowd.

Dozens of would-be orators tried to speak, but the police made them move and in less than half an hour the lobby was empty and the street clear.

"The Denison Hotel has seen many a political scrap," declared an old-time police officer today. "But the one this morning was the best since 1888."

"On that occasion the Republicans tried to parade on one side of Pennsylvania street and the Democrats tried to parade on the other and the street in front of the Denison was wide enough for them and a fight started that required the efforts of almost the entire police department to settle."

To Establish Chain of Groceries Here

A chain of groceries consisting of one central market in a downtown building and ten branches in residential districts will be established by the Servo Stores Corporation. It was announced today.

The corporation has acquired ground at 439-449 West Market street and will erect a $300,000 six-story concrete warehouse and office building thereon.

The price of the real estate, which was purchased from Mr. Teter is understood to have been approximately $100,000.

The company plans to begin operations within a few weeks.

Provisions for cold storage, milk bottling, dry storage, coffee roasting and baking plants and for a kitchen will be made in the warehouse building.

Officers of the company are D. D. Lehman, president; Myer J. Stein, vice president; C. H. Carroll, secretary, and A. M. La Chapelle, treasurer.

WIFE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Laura Barker, the mother of seven children, has been arrested on a complaint charging first degree murder in connection with the death of her husband, Charles Lee Barker, a railroad employee, last July. He is said to have been poisoned.

Clothing and jewelry valued at $100 was missing.

CASCARETS

"They Work while you Sleep"

This shows how Estelle Taylor and Earl Metcalf do a love scene in the third episode of "While New York Sleeps," the Fox movie now on view at the Murat.

It is the third episode of the movie which reflects certain conditions of the east side life in New York in a melodramatic setting.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

"Mary," a pretty and sweet musical comedy, is the current offering at the Murat.

Paul Decker's personality is a great asset to the sketch, "—And Son," now at the Murat.

A lengthy vaudeville bill is being offered at the Broadway and a new musical comedy company is on view at the Rialto.

The Park is presenting this week "Fiddley Winks" with Harry Lee Van.

Heading the bill at the Lyric is the Five Musical Rosettes, a clever musical offering.

The movies include "The Restless Sex," at the Ohio; "Phantom" at the Minton; "A Child's Chance" at the Alhambra; "Curtain," at the Circle; "Manned Hearts," at the Colonial; "Deep Waters," at the Isis, and "The Challenge of the Law," at the Regent.

Paroled Man Is Held on 3 Separate Counts

Tom Dillon, 42, ex-saloon keeper, 742½ South Capitol avenue, who was paroled by Governor Goodrich because of "his falling eyesight," can see still how it is possible to whip a policeman, providing he doesn't see too many of them.

Dillon told Patrolman Owens to "get out" and attend to his own business or he would throw him out and demand the policeman to arrest him last night.

Owens got out, but he returned accompanied by Sergeant Dean and Lieutenant Ball and Dillon was arrested on charges of drunkenness, vagrancy and disorderly conduct.

Watches Vote Result While Thief Is Busy

Chris Swartz, 1927 Adams street, was downtown to learn the result of the election last night, and when he returned he was found to have been poisoned.
