

COMMERCE BODY WILL CONSIDER CITY PLANNING

mission. Every day that we put off city planning in Indianapolis is costing the citizens thousands of dollars. Speedy action spells economy.

"We need to plan now for:
"A. Zoning which would give us protected factory, resident and business districts.
"B. Grouping about future electric centers or places for public and semi-public buildings and memorials.
"C. Grouping about a health center our city hospital with direct connection to the heart of the city.
"D. Orderly expansion of our downtown district.
"E. Major street plan.
"F. Building specially constructed streets for traffic.
"G. Adequate railroad terminals.
"H. Comprehensive transit system.
"I. Industrial housing.
"J. Further development of Fall Creek and West River into parks ways where bathing, boating and skating may be safely enjoyed.
"K. Recreational or community centers in the densely populated districts.
"All these various problems and many more should be correlated into one comprehensive plan.

"It is obvious that Indianapolis needs constantly to prepare for its future growth and development. The city is now too large and its industries are too diversified to permit these matters longer to drift."

The committee of one hundred is to consist of members who will be representative of all of Indianapolis, and it is expected that this committee, after deciding upon a definite plan of action, will raise, through popular subscription, the money for the employment of experts to make a careful survey of Indianapolis and its present and future needs.

A suitable bill to secure the necessary legislation in accordance with the program will be drafted and presented to the State Legislature.

SHE PLAYS AND FAT VANISHES

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Ladies of large proportion and full of ambition for a perfect avoidance, gather round and listen to the story of how Mrs. Austin B. Cadwell, who two months ago weighed 224 pounds, took off sixty-four pounds.

Mrs. Cadwell is telling the story. "Two months ago I couldn't do the housework because I was so heavy it was work for me to move around. I became desperate. Day after day I went to the public park, where I played volley and tennis. I straddled the leather horse, biked and worked in the garden. The fat just fairly fell off and today I weigh only 160 pounds and it still keeps coming off."

Now, Mrs. Cadwell says, she can romp and jump, not quite as well as a girl, but nearly.

Mrs. Cadwell trained under the supervision of the city health department, which designated what she should eat each day and the hours at which she was to get up and go to bed.

Mystery in Accident to Man Found Injured

Mystery surrounds the accident in which Leonard Maskeil, 69, 1040 Fayette street, was injured seriously last night. Maskeil is at the City Hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull.

The accident as near as can be learned occurred at Northwestern avenue and Twenty-Seventh street, where it is believed Maskeil fell from a Northwestern avenue street car at 8 o'clock last night. While not unconscious immediately following the accident Maskeil became so after reaching his home.

Conductor Crushed Between 2 Trolleys

J. F. Crispin, 24, of 1539 South State avenue, a conductor on West Washington street car No. 826, was crushed about the legs today.

Crispin's car was turning into the Y at Washington and Bloomington streets when the trolley came off. He got down to replace the trolley when car No. 411 stopped back of him.

At that instant car No. 423 bumped into the rear of car No. 411 and Crispin was caught between street cars Nos. 411 and 423.

He was taken to the City Hospital in an ambulance.

GOVERNOR NOTES GIRL SCOUT WEEK

Executive Praises Organization in Proclamation.

The following proclamation was issued by Governor Goodrich today naming next week as "Girl Scout week."

The rapid growth of the organization of the Girl Scouts throughout the country has been indeed remarkable. The organization is now increasing its membership at the rate of 5,000 a month, and this has made necessary a nationwide campaign for associate members and for funds with which to carry on the work.

The Girl Scouts were not organized in Indiana during the world war and the people of the Hoosier State had little opportunity to judge of the patriotic activities of the organization. The record, however, in States in which there were active organizations was very praiseworthy and is deserving of substantial recognition.

The Girl Scout organization is just now beginning to get under way extensively in Indiana and the Girl Scouts of the State have as yet no central council from which their development may be directed. The granting of a charter for wide council will depend largely on the success of the campaign for associate membership to be waged, not only in Indiana, but for the nation during the present month.

The object of the organization is to group citizens and to give them the spirit of America, and the organization is deserving of the support of every Hoosier citizen.

In order that the attention of the people of the State may be directed to the campaign about to be waged by the organization for a larger associate membership, I, James P. Goodrich, Governor of Indiana, do hereby designate the week of Nov. 4 to 10 as

GIRL SCOUT WEEK

In Indiana. I feel sure that the people of Indiana will do what they can toward making this campaign a success.

POINT ISABEL NOW ON MAP

POINT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 5.—Point Isabel, semi-tropical little coastal town, was getting ready today to extend its best hospitality to the nation's next chief executive.

R. B. Creagers' summer home, where the President-elect and Mrs. Harding will live the two weeks they are here, is in readiness. The local hotel, where some of Harding's personal friends who will be here with him and a limited number of newspaper men will be quartered, is expected to do the biggest business in its history.

It is doubtful if a more distant retreat could have been picked by the President-elect. The town of about 400, of which a large percentage are Mexicans, is on Laguna Madre, eight miles north of the mouth of the Rio Grande, and is connected with the Rio Grande and the mainland by a narrow gauge railway.

Harding is not a stranger to Point Isabel. He has spent vacations here in the past with Creager, a personal friend, and the man who seconded his nomination at the Chicago convention.

Every vote cast in Point Isabel was for Harding.

AND THIS LAD HAS THE BIG IDEA

Jacob Axelrod is 12 years old. He is a pupil in grade 7-B at the Brown School, No. 6. Miss Dorothy David is principal, and one day last week she talked to the children regarding the plans of the Indianapolis Humane Society to build a shelter home for animals with money now being raised.

Jacob was so much impressed that he wrote a paper on the subject, which was laid on the teacher's desk yesterday. This is his conception of the Humane Society work:

"Every one should treat animals just as if they owned a dog or cat. If you see a cat or dog walking around in alleys or streets on a cold day, just imagine yourself walking around without a home, without food and yet a very cold day. The Humane Society will take care of all these stray animals with the aid of Indianapolis people.

SCHMIDT MIXES WITH BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

the municipal yards was to refuse to let it use the Shelby street barns any longer. Mr. Lemaux quickly replied that he didn't believe the council had any right to tell the board how it should use any city building, or to tell it to get out of any city building.

Mr. Schmidt verbally leaped at this assertion with

"If you let that thing run past Jan. 1, so help me, I'll see that this board is impeached."

The board failed to strike home, the board members contemplating it with good-humored smiles until Mr. Schmidt followed it up with further statements to the effect that no matter how the board of works felt about it that south side market was going to be established Jan. 1.

Mr. Riley attempted to reason with the irate councilman, asserting that the council will have to be reasonable with the board of works and wait until the municipal yard unit is finished.

"And you're making no effort to get the yards under way," Mr. Schmidt interrupted.

"We can't with the bond market as it is," said Mr. Riley.

"I don't know anything about the bond market," said Mr. Schmidt with continued heat.

Mr. Riley, who is as Irish as his name indicates, began to show signs of rising anger. "I'm opposed to any one trying to make political capital out of this south side market proposition," he said.

In response to Mr. Schmidt's statement that the board of works was not trying to listen to the will of the people of the south side, as he said the council was doing, finally brought Mr. Riley to his feet.

"I'll tell you, Gov," he said, "I can go down and take the strap on this south side market as well as you can, and I'll do it. The women of the south side don't want a market jammed up against a lot of something better."

"Yes, but you haven't done anything," Schmidt glibbed.

"I've done everything in my power," was the reply.

"Listen, Gov," Lemaux said, "We never have gone into your council meetings and tried to browbeat you and nobody can come in here and browbeat us."

"I'm not trying to browbeat anybody," hotly declared the councilman.

"You're just playing politics, that's what you're doing," Mr. Riley interjected.

Fellow Townsmen Pledge Loyalty to President Wilson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Woodrow Wilson today knows his neighbors still love him. If there was any doubt in his heart it was dispelled last night. Fifteen hundred of his fellow townsmen stood before him on the White House terrace and gave a genuine tribute of affection that must have carried a warmth of comfort to his soul. It was a tribute to Woodrow Wilson—the man—a pathetic, yet, withal, a heroic figure whose neighbors do not look upon him as a fallen idol.

The President sat in a wheel chair on the east veranda as the gathering swarmed about the open space and sang and cheered him.

The President, on the veranda, scarcely more than fifteen minutes, was deeply moved. His crewman face beamed with a faint smile of gratitude and satisfaction over the demonstration of esteem, which was unaltered, but arranged quietly and designed to be a "silent tribute."

There were no speeches. Some good old patriotic songs were sung in a spirit that conveyed a message more fervent and eloquent that spoken words. "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" sung by a street-vocalist soprano, and with the crowd joining in the refrain added especially pleasing to the President. The crowd sang softly, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," followed by a round of cheers, which the President acknowledged by waving his hand vigorously.

Then as he was carried into the executive mansion he heard the resounding cheer of the visitors in response to a call for a "Cheer for President Wilson, the greatest man in the world." It was given with a will.

BANDITS SHOOT MAN IN HOTEL

Denver Streets Scene of Spectacular Chase.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 5.—Joseph Ferguson, 65, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by two bandits when he grappled with them in his downtown hotel.

The shooting of Ferguson was followed by one of the most spectacular man hunts ever seen in this city.

Trailed by a score of policemen and hundreds of citizens, the two bandits need up alleys, through hotel corridors, over roofs and up and down fire escapes.

A man identified as one of the holdups was captured in the County Court. The other escaped. Many shots were fired during the chase.

3 STATES HIT AT RATES ON GRAIN

Agents Say Hoosier Farmer Has Best of Deal.

Protest against rates for shipping grain in interstate commerce which they declare are discriminatory against interstate shipment, was made in a conference of grain men of Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Ohio before the Public Service Commission today.

The grain men of States surrounding Indiana told the commission that the ten per cent increase granted in Indiana afforded Indiana shippers opportunity for greater profit in shipping grain to Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky, than the shippers of those States could obtain in shipping grain to Indiana.

NEW OFFICERS ALREADY BUSY

Arrange to Take Places to Which Elected.

Arrangements are now being made for inducing into office the newly elected county officers.

Judge Harry Chamberlain, of the Circuit Court, was re-elected to succeed himself, following his appointment to the bench by Governor Goodrich last summer.

Judge Chamberlain is considering several appointments, such as a clerk, page and other assignments coming under his jurisdiction.

William Evans, present deputy prosecutor and prosecutor-elect, will assume full charge of the office on Jan. 1.

George Snider will become sheriff one minute after midnight on Dec. 31. He succeeds Sheriff Robert Miller.

Harry D. Tutwiler will succeed Joseph Hayes as county commissioner from the Second district on Jan. 1, at which time the board will reorganize with Tutwiler, Carlin Shank and Lewis George members of the board.

Ralph A. Lemaux succeeds himself as county treasurer, as does Paul F. Robinson, coroner, and John J. Griffith, county surveyor.

Marlborough Suit Set Tuesday; Duke Won't Fight Divorce

LONDON, Nov. 5.—After many delays the divorce suit of Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, has been set for a hearing next Tuesday. It was learned today. The Duchess plans to leave England immediately after she receives her decree and to live in France. It is reported in high society circles that the Duchess will marry Jacques Balsan, a friend of her father's, the late William K. Vanderbilt.

Neither the Duke nor the Duchess is occupying their town house at Portman Square. Their son, Lord Blandford, is living at Portman Square.

The Duke will make no defense at the trial, it was announced by his counsel.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meats excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach pain, sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.
