

SPECIAL COURT IS HELD IN BUSH OR 'CASEY' CASE

Quiet Session Called at Request of Attorney Soon After Noon.

'SOFT PEDAL' APPLIED

In a quiet little hearing in the City Court room at 12:15 noon Tuesday, Denny Bush, alias "J. J. Casey," well known political worker, pleaded guilty to selling pool on horse races, and Judge Walter Pritchard assessed a fine of $25 and costs.

The fine and costs, a total of $35, was paid, according to the records of the city clerk's office.

The regular morning session of court ended at about 11:15 o'clock.

Deputy Prosecutor Ralph Spain evidently was expecting callers, for he failed to follow his usual custom of leaving immediately after court. Instead, he went to the first floor of the police headquarters and remained there until about 12 o'clock.

Judge Pritchard said:

"I was in my office when Former City Judge James Deery entered the office and asked me if he could enter a plea of guilty for his client, who was Denny Bush and who gave his name as 'J. J. Casey.'"

"I told him that he could, but that it would be necessary to go into the courtroom to do so. I accompanied Deery to the courtroom and when I reached the hallway Denny Bush was standing there waiting. We all entered the courtroom, and at the time the plea of guilty was entered, there were only four persons in the courtroom. These were Deputy Prosecutor Spain, Denny Bush, James Deery and myself."

ATTORNEY SAID HE WAS TO LEAVE CITY.

Judge Pritchard then explained that Deery had given his reason for his sudden desire to enter a plea of guilty for his client that he (Deery) was about to leave the city and could not be present at the trial which was set for the afternoon of Nov. 12.

The judge also explained that his custom had been in similar cases to assess a fine of $10 and costs for the first offense and on the second time up to assess a fine of $50 and costs. In this case, however, on a plea of guilty he assessed a much greater fine, the penalty being $25 and costs for a first offense.

Prosecutor Spain did not attend the usual afternoon session of court yesterday.

Deputy City Clerk Shelton stated that all he knew about the case was that at a little after 12 o'clock (noon) Tuesday a man who said he was "J. J. Casey" appeared in the clerk's office and paid a fine of $25 and costs. Shelton said he did not know Denny Bush, so could not say if it was he who paid the fine.

Balfour Paulsen was not on duty in his office because of the serious illness of a relative, it is said. Brooks, assistant bailiff, was on duty. Brooks said the morning session of court was over at about 11:15 and that he left his office at 11:30. He declared he did not even know the affidavit against "J. J. Casey" was missing from the office.

The affidavit, after the "soft pedal" continuance Monday, was taken to the city clerk's office late that afternoon and then returned to the bailiff's office to remain there until the afternoon of Nov. 12, when the case was to have been tried.

DENIED ON MONDAY HE HAD BEEN RETAINED.

In the courtroom Monday afternoon, when asked if he was an attorney for Denny Bush, former City Judge James Deery denied to a representative of the Daily Times that he was Bush's attorney, but later it is understood he confided to other persons about police headquarters that he was representing "J. J. Casey" and not Denny Bush.

Sergt. George Winkler stated Tuesday that it was not until 4:45 p. m. on Monday, that he was informed that the "J. J. Casey" case had been continued until Nov. 12, and it was not until 2:45 p. m. Tuesday that Sergt. Winkler learned of the quiet little session of City Court. He appeared as much surprised as any person about the case, as he said he had been informed Bush would demand a jury trial.

Denny Bush, who gave his name as "J. J. Casey," when he was arrested late Saturday in a room at No. 11, the Fair Building, Jackson place and Illinois street, was charged with pool selling on horse races. Bush was in a room, the police say, which was well equipped with telephones and the police found books showing bets had been made on horse races to be run at Louisville. These books were reported hidden in a washroom. The police say they were recognized as they entered the building and the tip was flashed to Bush, who had time to hide the books and records of the pool makers in the washroom.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lazy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.
