

BITTER STRIFE, HALF HIDDEN IN G. O. P., BOBS OUT

Watson-McCray Faction and Goodrich Lock Horns for Party Control.

ATTITUDE OF GOVERNOR

Indications that the Republican party, hampered by an unwieldy majority in the State, has revived the bitter factional strife that waged previously to the primaries last spring, is apparent on all sides.

The fight is between Senator James E. Watson, reinforced by Governor-elect Warren T. McCray and Governor James P. Goodrich for control of the Republican organization.

Governor Goodrich feels that insinuating at his law office one of the main issues in the campaign and was he believes, informed by an overwhelming deluge of votes, that his administration has been O. K.'d and that, therefore, he is in a position to dictate the policies of the organization.

Watson has not forgotten that he came very near capturing the organization last spring and now, backed up by the victorious McCray, he is centering his efforts on taking over the party machine in toto.

SENATOR NEWS POSITION PECULIAR.

The position of Senator Harry E. New, who will come up for re-election in two years, and who is the most vitally concerned of all in the organization, is peculiar, to say the least. New, who is given credit for being an astute politician, has not shown his hand in the

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline, but do not compel.

SATURDAY, NOV. 13.

Venus dominates this day with kindly rule, according to astrology. Saturn is adverse.

It is a sway peculiarly favorable for women, who will make the most of business and social opportunities.

Good luck attends weddings today, unless a young woman weds a man much older than herself, and on such a union Saturn frowns with sinister intent.

Persons whose birthdate is will have a steady and successful year in all probability. Those who are employed will benefit.

fractional strife so far, maintaining the same neutral attitude he took last spring.

Political observers, however, do not believe that New will look with favor on any proposition that will make his candidacy amenable to an organization controlled by his colleague, Senator Watson.

Watson, on the other hand, is not to be moved out. It is doubtful whether he has any ambition to run under the flag of Goodrich.

Although reports have been afloat ever since the election that the Watson-McCray forces would try again for party control, things did not come to a head until the Governor-elect and Goodrich broke over the reappointment of Philip Zercher to the State Board of Tax Commissioners.

chairmanship if McCray had not nominated him for chairman. Between them the Senator and McCray controlled enough districts to have controlled the selection of a new chairman, but at the crucial moment McCray got "cold feet" and left Watson with nothing to do but surrender with the best grace he could muster.

McCray went to victory under the Goodrich banner, but it was apparent all along that their political intimacy was based on expediency and not of any desire for personal friendship.

At the first opportunity, Goodrich showed his hand by flouting the Governor-elect in naming Zercher on the tax board. McCray charged he was "double-crossed" and vows he will oust Zercher at the first opportunity.

McCray will, after he assumes office the first of the year, have a power which in any other battle, but he is the politician that Goodrich is. The Governor's ability to make adroit political moves is not questioned, and that one attribute makes him a formidable figure in the fight that he has precipitated.

Forfeits Fortune if He Marries Again

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—Unless William Garrison Reed of Brookline abstains from matrimony in future, he will receive none of the benefits which otherwise come to him under the terms of the will left by his wife, Mrs. Mary C. Reed. The testament, which has been admitted to probate, provides that so long as Reed remains single and survives his children, he shall enjoy the income of a trust fund created by the document. He also has the use of the family furniture on the same terms. The children are living. The estate is valued at $12,000.

Goodrich to Study Rule of Bolsheviks

Several state officers, who retire from service in favor of their successors elected in the recent election, have announced plans for vacation trips. Governor and Mrs. James P. Goodrich will leave Jan. 11, the day after he retires from office, for a trip to California, Hawaii, and Russia, where the Governor plans to study economic conditions under the Bolshevik regime. He plans to be gone about eight months.

Otto L. Klausen, auditor of State, has made no extensive plans for a trip since he retires from office Dec. 1. Mr. Klausen has stated, however, that he will take a trip.

Elie Stansbury, attorney-general, will return to his home in Williamsport, where he will engage in the practice of law with his wife, State treasurer.

John Plummer, 4224 East Washington street, reported that a suitcase, a suit of clothes and an electric iron were stolen from his room.

A purse-snatcher robbed Mrs. Mabel Harmon, 544 South West street, while she was walking at Kentucky and Senate avenues. The purse contained $100.

Dr. J. W. Stewart, physician, 610 Hume-Mansur Building, reported the theft of surgical instruments valued at $75 from a hotel where he had been called.

"In fact," she said, "when I began to get old enough to begin thinking about a profession, my father told me he could tell such good stories that even he could not tell them otherwise, were founded on fact or fiction," and that it was the only thing he did know was good for."

TELLS STORIES ON PLAYGROUNDS.

A thief made a hurried exit when Miles Woody and his sister returned to their home, 2235 Spades drive, last night. The burglar had ransacked every room in the house, removing clothing and jewelry valued at $300.

For a half hour each week Mrs. Andrews tells stories dear to the hearts of the kiddies at the Greer Street Community House, the Methodist Settlement House, the Christamore Settlement House, the Lauter Memorial and the Jewish Community House. Mrs. Andrews says the Italian children are the most interesting to her and show the closest, most intense attention.

and listen with their big dark eyes.

"Pinocchio" is their favorite. For three years I have been telling it, and it seems they can't hear it too often. No matter how tired I am after I am all through one of them will come up to me and ask me in wistful, pleading tones to tell just "that one" and I can't resist."

This year Mrs. Andrews is making a special study of the old Greek myths, picking out the legends of the Iliad and the Odyssey most fitted to the children's minds. In addition to these she tells folk stories and the ever popular fairy tales.

In discussing the popularity of the Greek myths Mrs. Andrews said they have been received by the children with enthusiasm that she expected.

"When I first started out I thought they would be too heavy but I have found they can be simplified to be exceedingly interesting to even the very little ones," she said.

From Mrs. Andrews' experience not only the small children like to listen to stories, but even the big ones, boys not excluded.

Mrs. Andrews is an ardent advocate of story telling as a profession, emphasizing the necessity for liking children and enjoying talking and working with them.

Paris Offers Prize for Every Rat Tail

PARIS, Nov. 12.—In inaugurating his campaign against rats the city of Paris offered a prize of 25 cents for every rat tail. For several days Clement Guestes held the rat-killing championship and earned $0 to $5 francs daily. Then he got out a sharp look with the strings of "rat tails" Guestes brought in each night. They were found to be many strips of old leather, cleverly twisted. Guestes is under arrest for defrauding the city.

clogs Kidneys, then the

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will get flushed. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.
