

NOBODY LOVES FAT MAN, SO FATTY STAYS SINGLE

Hiers Is Fat College Tenor in 'Going Some'—'Twin Beds' Is Snappy

The old cry that "nobody loves a fat man" proves true in the case of Fatty Arbuckle as Slim Hoover in "The Round Up," because the love darts of cupid fall to light in the neighborhood of the portly sheriff. The slim boys are the boys who are strong with the western girls.

"The Round Up" is the first feature to contain the services of Arbuckle, who has been identified with slapstick comedy for so long a time, but in this movie he strikes a comedy altitude which is many miles above the pie throwing stage. His sorrow at being turned down by the girls actually gets into one and before long the spectator is feeling the full meaning of the old saying, "Nobody loves a fat man."

Arbuckle has been able to grasp the atmosphere of this successful stage play and he is able to take a real sheriff when it is necessary to draw the shooting irons against a gang of bandits. Some real acting is done by Wallace Beery as Buck McKee, who heads a gang of bandits, and his character work dominates every scene even up to the time he pays the price and "kicks off."

You will like Fatty as the jolly, big sheriff; you will like the big out-of-doors and will hope that Arbuckle in the future will stick to strong vehicles and will continue to have competent casts around him.

On view at Mister Smith's all week.

230 POUNDS OF FUN IN "GOING SOME," AT OHIO.

There are 230 pounds of fun in the movie, "Going Some," and all of it belongs to Walter Hiers, one of the fastest boys who romps before the movie camera. In Rex Beach's "Going Some," Hiers has the role of Berkeley Fresno, who is a fat college tenor. And how that lad can make love to Helen Blake, who is played by Lillian Hall.

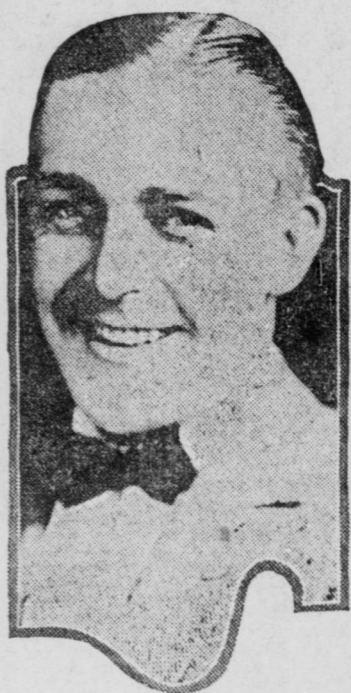

Hiers' rival in love is J. Wallingford Speed, who is played, as the name indicates, by Cullen Landis. Speed spins a beautiful yarn, just buck, about his ability as a track runner at college.

Speed so successfully puts it on that Miz Gallagher, a wealthy ranch owner, bets her ranch against one owned by Mrs. Roberta Keap. Speed is slated to run against "skinner," played by M. B. Flynn, and although Speed has brought the college trainer along as an added bluff, Speed knows he has no chance against Skinner.

Just before the race starts oil is discovered on the run-down ranch of the Keaps, and the story centers on the efforts of Miz Gallagher to compel Mrs. Keap to maintain the original bet.

Another love affair is woven around Jean Chapin, played by Helen Ferguson and Culver Corington, played by Frank Braidwood, who is a crack sprinter.

HERE'S WALLIE

WALLACE REID. Some stars are so popular that their names are a household word. This is true of Wallace Reid, who appears to have endeared himself to the majority of movie fans, at least in Indianapolis. Screen patrons can rely upon Reid to give them what they want. The drawing power of the star is well revealed in "Always Audacious," in which double exposure gives Reid a chance to play two roles at one time. His shadow engagement closes Wednesday night at the Alhambra.

This movie has retained the atmosphere and speed of Rex Beach and is on view all week at the Ohio.

MADAME PEACOCK NOW IN MOVIE FORM.

Some time ago a magazine of national importance published a story called "Madame Peacock" in which the central character was an actress who was a despot back stage but before an audience she cleverly masqueraded her true character. Madame stopped at nothing to reach fame and applause on the stage, but in the end a little unknown actress in the company wins the applause of the audience, leaving the great actress to meditate over the whims of an audience, which is ready to turn an old favorite down for the new.

The story in printed form was a delightful story of stage life, humanly and truthfully drawn, but Nazimova has seen fit to run the entire picture, and what might have been a masterpiece in the hands of such an artist as Nazimova is only an ordinary movie.

Nazimova plays both the role of the temperamental actress and the daughter. Nazimova has failed to make the famous actress human before the footlights and makes her such an impossible creature that no audience could make an idol of her. In the daughter role, Nazimova is splendid and strikes a human note.

"Madame Peacock" is wonderfully mounted but the whole affair reminds the writer of some of Valdesia Suratt's dress parade movies with the soul lacking.

Nazimova is so much of an artist that she is always interesting, but she failed to make "Madame Peacock" a human being. It begins to look that Nazimova has decided to listen to nobody except herself regarding her movies.

"Madame Peacock" is on view all week at the Colonial.—W. D. H.

BEBE IS VISIBLE AT THE ISIS TODAY.

"You Can Never Tell" is the movie which gives Bebe Daniels a chance to star for the first time. Her other appearances on the screen have been in the support of established stars and in those movies she was often the most discussed member of the cast. Her first starring vehicle is on view the first half of the week at the Isis.

THE BABY VAMP LANDS ON THE SCREEN.

The baby vamp first came into existence in the stage version of "Twin Beds," and she has hit the screen in the person of the pretty Mrs. Carter De Haven. Let it be said right here that those who adapted the stage version of "Twin Beds" for the screen have used the best of taste, as they have not cheapened the rich comedy situations by any vulgarity. "Twin Beds" in movie form is rapid and pleasing entertainment, and will not spoil a 12-year-old or add to the sins of the grownups.

Mrs. De Haven is able to make Blanche Hawkins, the typical baby-faced wife, who turns on her tears the second that her husband Harry played in a proper way by William Desmond, find a fault with his wife.

Mrs. De Haven gives Blanche that innocent look and way which erases all doubt as to Mrs. Hawkins' virtue. Carter De Haven has the role of Signor Monti, who, in the stage version was a grand opera singer, but in the movie he is a musical comedy star. De Haven, in the funny bedroom scene, where the twin beds figure, is splendid. Lottie Williams as Nora, the maid, who becomes confused in the bedroom scenes by finding so many pairs of male trousers, does clever work. The remainder of the cast was intelligently chosen.

"Twin Beds" on the screen is delightful entertainment and may be seen all week at the Circle.

OUR GEORGE WEARS A DRESS SUIT NOW.

George Walsh looks very stylish in a dress suit and in that attire he makes a good appearance in "The Plunger," his latest contribution to the screen. Walsh does not get into action until the story is well under way, and this is a departure for most star movies.

Probably this movie will interest the fans because of the intimate scenes in the stock exchange and the flurry that happens there when a big deal is on. The movie becomes dramatic when a broker attempts to corner the market in a final plunge to recover his lost fortune. It is in these scenes that the star has the greater part of his work to do.

The fact that the hero buys a $100,000 home gives one some idea of the extravagance of some of the scenes.

"The Plunger" is on view all week at the Regent.

THE STAGE.

All Jolson and a big company in "Sinbad" open tonight at the Murat for a four-day engagement. Indications are that Jolson will break the house record at the Murat.

Grace La Rue and Hale Hamilton in "Dear Me," which ran for five months in Chicago to big business, opens a three-day engagement at English's tonight.

Harriet and Marie McConnell, well known singers, have the headline position at Keith's this week.

Piccolini Troupe, acrobats, contribute the feature act at the Lyric this week.

Twelve features are contained on the Broadway Bill and at the Rialto Hawk's Song Revue is the featured offering.

The Park is presenting Lena Daley with "The Kandy Kids."

50-CENT PIECES SOUVENIR COINS

Limited Issue Depicts Landing of Pilgrims.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Two hundred and fifty thousand 50-cent pieces that probably never will enter general circulation have been issued by the Government. They will not be circulated because they cost $1 each, being souvenirs of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims in Plymouth Harbor, in 1620.

The obverse of the coins bears a likeness of "a typical Pilgrim" designed as Governor Bradford. The reverse shows the Pilgrim ship Mayflower in full sail, and there are appropriate inscriptions. Half of the selling price of the souvenirs goes to Pilgrim Tercentenary Commission of Massachusetts, an official body having in charge the improvement of Plymouth Harbor and permanent memorials at Plymouth.

Precedents for the sale of souvenir coins at an excess price are found in the issue of Jefferson gold dollars for the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, which sold for $3 a piece, and the issue of Columbian half dollars at the Chicago Exposition of 1893, these coins selling for $1 each.

English's Packed for Appearance of Sousa and Band

Old Numbers Please Best—Soloist Win Much Commendation.

When the baton of John Philip Sousa swung his band last night into the martial strain of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," the big audience at English's let loose so much applause that the melody was drowned for a few seconds. The band that this composition of the March King has on the American public never was better demonstrated, and for this number, if for nothing else, the concert will be remembered by those who packed the theater.

It was the old numbers such as "Sabre and Spurs," "U. S. Field Artillery" and others of Sousa's own compositions which the audience appreciated the most, although his latest composition, "Comrades of the Legion," brought a demonstration of approval which resulted in the playing of "Stars and Stripes Forever" as an encore.

One of the heaviest numbers was "A Study in Rhythms," which is a manipulation of a group of classical numbers and was fully appreciated. In this number Sousa showed his ability to handle his musicians.

Another feature of the concert was the solo numbers, which included Miss Mary Baker, soprano; Miss Florence Hardman, violinist; John Dolan, cornetist, and George J. Carter, xylophone player. The greatest individual impression was made by Miss Baker, while singing "Take Me Back to Old Virginia," and Mrs. Carter was an easy winner with his xylophone numbers.

Sousa is not a spectacular conductor. He is essentially a master striking a complete and pleasing effect, whether it be one of his own stirring compositions or a difficult number of Tschickowsky.

YOUR RHEUMATISM

Remove Its Cause by Purifying Your Blood.

One of the most important duties of your system is to burn up certain substances no longer of use in your body. One is uric acid, now generally held to be the cause of rheumatism. It inflames the joints, stiffens the muscles, causes pains, aches and lameness.

The system is helped to dispose of this troublesome substance, and rheumatism is permanently relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier. It is aided in many cases by Hood's Pills, which in small doses are a gentle laxative, in larger doses an active cathartic. A grand course of treatment, economical and effective.—Advertisement.

To Overcome Anaemic Conditions

Which Are Much More Common Than Formerly

Anaemic conditions are much more common than generally supposed. If your blood is poor, thin, devitalized you are a target for disease. Why not, therefore, benefit by the experience of so many people in this city who have been restored to health by Vinol, the blood liver and iron strength-creator, blood and body-builder.

Vinol is not a patent medicine as all its ingredients are named on every package and it contains just the elements needed to enrich the blood enabling it to carry strength and vitality to every part of the body.

Your druggist, Henry J. Huder, sells it, and will refund your money if it fails to benefit you.—Advertisement.

PLEASE BECOMES A $1,000,000 WORD

Appears on Average of 1 to 30 in Telegrams.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Canada, Nov. 15.—"Please."

This pretty little word of six letters cost Canada one million dollars during the present year. It has gone clattering, plendingly over the telegraph wires from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the northern fringe of commerce to the international border so many times that the total wire cost has passed the million-dollar mark.

Officials of the telegraph companies made the estimate after examination of tens of thousands of telegrams. "Please" appears on an average of once to every thirty words of telegraphic communication, according to these energetic statisticians.

It is used in many different ways. It is not always the mark of courtesy. "Please" appears on the resignation at once" sometimes creeps into the messages, the officials say.

Thousands of messages from farmers in the rich lands of western Canada, ordering cars from the Canadian National Railways for crop movement contained "please" on an average of once to every fifteen words.

"Please" has become almost as frequent as the date of the message," said one telegraph official. "It is used in messages of congratulation, in death messages, in business messages of all kinds, and, of course, in the age-word."

We put Spurs on the market with our eyes open. We knew "There was Room at the Top—for highest possible quality at lowest possible price"—and we said so in print.

And now Spurs are perched at the top—but we didn't put them there. Smokers did it themselves. You can't keep a good thing down—and it didn't take smokers long to discover that Spur had something they wanted.

What was it? Just that good old tobacco taste—that quality of bygone days. Spur's blend is choicest Turkish, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos—and it's some blend.

That Look of Health

How we long for it!

You see it all about—and wonder. That look of health. That picture of happiness. How you crave it for yourself!

You need not. Millions now know the secret of health. Millions follow a simple, basic rule. Medical science recognizes this rule as the foundation of health. Physicians everywhere now prescribe this way to keep well.

Ask your doctor the underlying cause of most human ills. He will tell you constipation. Most men and women; it is true, have known this for years. But what they have not known is the need for quick and complete results from a physic.

Ask Your Doctor

Ask your doctor, when your system becomes clogged, how quickly the waste matter should be removed. His answer will be—"at once." The reason is plain to those who know. Germs multiply by millions in a clogged intestinal tract. Poisons are rapidly absorbed by the blood.

Foul breath, coated tongue, lassitude, muddy skin often manifest themselves in surprisingly short time. Worse than that, this condition is the common forerunner of colds, headaches, high blood pressure, rheumatism, influenza, pneumonia, and other dread diseases.

When you need a physic, time is the first consideration. You cannot afford to wait a day—or even half a day—for a physic to act.

That is where old-fashioned cathartics failed. They were slow in action, and uncertain of results. Eminent physicians today recommend a harmless mineral water, because it is quick and certain in action. This water is known as Pluto. It acts unfailingly—and it works fast. Its efficacy is due to the minerals it contains.

Due to Minerals

These minerals soften the waste accumulation. The water helps to flush it gently away. The action is pleasant and gentle—entirely free from the gripping effects of old-fashioned cathartics. Results are sure, prompt and complete.

Get from your druggist today a bottle of Pluto Water. Try it in your home. Use it first thing in the morning, or before meals. Learn for yourself its prompt, complete results. Note its pleasant, harmless action. See how quickly it restores normal, healthy activity. You will feel like a new person!

Thousands of men and women take Pluto Water at regular intervals, regardless of whether they are constipated. In this way they avoid dangerous constipation.

Pluto water is equally effective for children and grown-ups. As a laxative take ¼ tumbler of Pluto; as a cathartic, ½ tumbler; as a purgative, ¾ tumbler—add hot or cold water to fill glass. Pluto Water in your home at all times is the best of health insurance. Bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

Your physician prescribes it
