

ROYAL FAMILY PLACED UNDER BRITISH GUARD

Net of Protection Drawn in on Prominent Ones by Scotland Yard.

TORCH HITS LIVERPOOL

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Police precautions were taken today to guard King George and other members of the royal family, now that Irish terrorists have opened up their warfare in England with the burning of part of the business district of Liverpool. Scotland Yard detailed a detachment of picked men from the secret service section to protect Buckingham Palace. In addition to the police and military secret service agents are employed as gardeners in the palace grounds and cleaners in the palace proper. All persons approaching the home of the royal family are carefully screened.

There was a long conference on the "terrorist situation" at the premier's official residence at 10 Downing Street. Those participating were Premier Lloyd George, War Secretary Winston Churchill, A. Bonar Law, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, Speaker Lowthion, and the Home Secretary, General Dorewood and Sir Basil Thompson, head of Scotland Yard.

The members of the ministerial conference are known to have taken a most serious view of the new Irish menace. It was decided to bring more troops into London and to increase the police cordons guarding "strategic centers." The galleries of the House of Lords were ordered closed.

Government officials refused to admit that they had discovered a plot against the lives of the royal family, but declared they were taking no chances. Scotland Yard has asked the newspapers to make no mention of the public movements of Premier Lloyd George, A. Bonar Law, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Sir Edward Carson and other public figures who are believed to have been marked for attack.

Additional guards were posted about Parliament building at noon. POLICE ARMY. Police in the vicinity of the house of commons and other government property were armed with service pistols, and provided for all traditions of the metropolitan police. Bodyguards have been provided for all members of the cabinet. All women were barred today from the spectators' gallery of commons.

The incendiary attack at Liverpool, when fifteen houses and three churches were burned, has alienated any sympathy which the English have felt for Ireland and turned it to anger.

It was declared by Colonel Carver, secretary to Sir Basil Thompson, chief of the metropolitan police, "I believe for certain that if any terrorist should now dare to lift his hand against the life of Premier Lloyd George or any member of the cabinet." (Continued on Page Eleven.)

PRITCHARD BARS FIVE BONDSMEN

Ruling Hits Hiatt, Walker, Farb, Winkler and Temple.

Orders barring five professional bondsmen from giving bonds for the appearance of prisoners in City Court were issued today by Judge Walter Pritchard of that court.

The men barred from signing bonds are Elmer H. Hiatt (Bull Moose), Walker, Sam Farb, Harry Winkler and Carter Temple. The court called attention to the fact that he had previously barred Elmer H. Hiatt, a professional bondsman, from signing bonds.

This is the second time during his administration that Judge Pritchard has issued an order barring professional bondsmen from giving bonds.

"While I have no definite information, I am under the impression that these men have been soliciting business about the court," the judge said, in explanation of the fact that these bondsmen have been operating openly for months but have been generally known and the fact has been repeatedly made public. There had also been evidence that they have been working in combination with certain attorneys, refusing to sign bonds unless the prisoners agree to employ attorneys chosen by them.

An investigation of the operation of bondsmen was made in open court Nov. 17, when a woman on trial told the court Walker refused to sign bond for $100 unless she changed attorneys. She told the court Walker had charged her $50 for signing the bond. Walker, at that time, admitted the charges.

Following the questioning of Walker a number of attorneys informed the court they could give him information concerning the operation of bondsmen.

These bondsmen, who have long made unfortunates their prey, have come to be looked up as a plague on the city court under the present administration.

It is said they frequently fail to meet the legal requirements of bondsmen. There has been a rule that bondsmen may not solicit prisoners in jail, that they made a practice of obtaining the names of prisoners from policemen and then taking to see those prisoners at the jail, giving the appearance of calling on them as friends or visitors.

Gun Toter and Buddy Get Stiff Treatment

It's costly to carry a revolver in Indianapolis, if you're caught. Frank Wolf and James Collins, two young men from Detroit, who have been wandering around the country, are held to have tried to steal an automobile from a downtown parking space, but were interrupted by the police.

Wolf carried a loaded revolver. Collins had a pocket full of cartridges that fitted the weapon. Judge Pritchard fined Wolf $100 and costs on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Collins was fined $50 and costs on a vagrancy charge.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Dr. William McManus has discarded the shotgun in favor of the automobile for hunting. After missing them all day, he ran down a rabbit while driving home.

AUTHORITIES IN WRANGLE OVER WOMAN IN CASE

Shooting of Oklahoma's Oil King Politician Provides More Contention.

HAMON FUNERAL TODAY

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 29.—Countercharges were made here today in connection with the death of Jake Hamon. Hamon died Friday of a revolver wound. Authorities charged he was shot by Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon, his secretary and protégée. Hamon's friends claim he had accidentally wounded himself.

Hamon's friends claim the alleged assailant has been secretly hidden by authorities in hopes of springing a surprise. Hamon was a prominent oil and political figure in Oklahoma. He was a member of the Oklahoma National Guard and a member of the Oklahoma National Committee.

Among those who were to attend Hamon's funeral was Will Miller of Columbus, Okla., assistant to Harry Hargraves, who was President-elect Harding's pre-convention manager.

WIDOW TO SEEK COMMITTEE SEAT

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Jake Hamon, wife of the late multimillionaire oil magnate, today announced she was a candidate to succeed her husband on the Republican national committee.

"For the sake of my husband and his friends," said Mrs. Hamon, "I will accept the position he held on the Republican national committee if it is tendered me."

Oklahoma Republicans are urging that the post be given her.

Chicago Meat Prices Approach the Pre-War Levels and 'Normalcy'

Pork Heads List of Declines, Spuds Lose Caste, but Some Aristocrats Remain.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Chicago, the meat center of the world, started the business week today with meat prices nearer the pre-war level than they have been for years. Declarations that the "bottom" has fallen out and that the period of "normalcy" will be reached very shortly are freely made by leading retailers.

Pork heads, the most popular of meats, are in little during the past few days that is little short of sensational. Loin pork, which sold a month ago at 34 to 45 cents a pound, can be bought today for from 28 to 32 cents a pound.

Grass fattened beef has recorded a decline of approximately 35 per cent, dealers declare. Corn fattened beef has not shown any marked decline as yet, but with the drop in the price of corn, more of this grain is being fed to stock and increased offerings of the market are expected to bring corn fattened beef to the price level of other meats within the next few days.

Other commodities that have shown sharp declines here recently are butter, which has dropped 8 cents per pound from the last week, and apples, which have declined from 31 cents a pound last spring to 10 cents a pound; potatoes, which have dropped to 34 cents a pound now; coffee, flour, and apples and oranges continue to be the aristocrats of the family table.

Price of these edibles continue to lurk near the peak reached during the war.

McAdoo Is Wished as Mayor for New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—"McAdoo for mayor" is the slogan today of friends of the former secretary of the treasury, who are laying plans to run him for the office on the next election. The first plan left the Maywood field here shortly after 8 o'clock, piloted by William Carroll. It carried 400 pounds of mail for the Twin Cities.

Chicago-Twin Cities Air Service Opened

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Air mail service was opened today between Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The first plane left the Maywood field here shortly after 8 o'clock, piloted by William Carroll. It carried 400 pounds of mail for the Twin Cities.

The troops are part of the 10th Infantry stationed at Camp Sherman since the first of the month. The 10th Infantry division is fully equipped with horses, mules, army trucks and field equipment. One company of expert machine gunners is attached to the battalion.

CONGRESS TO BE BESIEGED FOR REMEDIAL ACTS

Farm and Business Interests Demand Legislation to Right Reputed Wrongs.

LEADERS AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Although Congress does not reconvene until one week from today, its leaders, now reassembled here, are being bombarded with demands for early remedial legislation by agricultural and business interests.

Representatives of these interests have been informed by Republican and Democratic leaders alike that there is little likelihood of Congress finding time during the next three months to do much more than pass appropriation bills.

Until they have consulted with President-elect Harding upon his return from Panama, the Republican leaders will not attempt, however, to complete their program for the approaching short session, they said.

Several senators from the Middle West declare they intend to support the Kenyon-Kendrick bill for regulation of packers. This measure, a holdover from the last session, is on the Senate calendar as "unfinished business" and will, therefore, have the right of way when the Senate begins consideration of its pending legislation. Senator Kenyon, Republican, of Iowa, one of its authors, declares he intends to press it to a vote despite the opposition he anticipates it will encounter.

Unless the Treasury Department asks to revive the farm finance corporation to facilitate movement of the country's crops and to correct the financial situation about which farmers are complaining, Senator Calder, Republican, New York, expects to introduce a resolution calling upon it to do so, he says.

Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, who states he will support the Kenyon-Kendrick bill, has prepared a bill to "stop gambling in bread and other essential food supplies," he has announced.

"I will shoot this bill in on the first day of the coming session," Capper says. "We must put an end to grain gambling on boards of trade. I am not advocating, and never have advocated, doing away with the exchanges, and their legitimate activities. What I am after is to stop the gamblers and speculators in farm products."

The Senate Finance and Ways and Means Committees are planning to hold a hearing on the tax and tariff situation, members said, but aside from conducting hearings they indicated they did not believe anything could be done to meet the situation until the next Congress meets in extra session in March or April.

It is not improbable, however, members of Congress stated, that President Wilson will be called upon to place an embargo on grain imports, especially Canadian wheat and other imports, such as cotton and wool, with which American producers say they are unable to compete.

'WHISKY RING' SCENT IS KEEN

Mystery Touches Quiz of Liquor Traffic in Northern Indiana.

Considerable mystery today shrouded the reported activities of the Federal Government looking toward the breaking up of an alleged "whisky ring" in the northwestern part of Indiana.

It was reliably reported from South Bend that more than 100 persons have been subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury here Nov. 29 and 30, to testify as to violations of the national prohibition laws. From Muncie there came a report that at least 100 persons are to be subpoenaed there.

Officials here gave conflicting statements. Charles J. Orsborn, Federal prohibition agent, indicated premature publicity had been given the activities of his department. United States Marshal Mark Storen, however, denied the existence of any of his men have been serving a large number of subpoenas in South Bend or anywhere else in connection with liquor investigations. The first plane left the Maywood field here shortly after 8 o'clock, piloted by William Carroll. It carried 400 pounds of mail for the Twin Cities.

Mr. Ream went to South Bend with subpoenas for just two men and neither of them could be found," the marshal declared.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 29.—Keith Collins, arrested in connection with the $250,000 mail train robbery at Council Bluffs, Iowa, several weeks ago, with under arrest at Westville, Okla., today. Collins was arrested at the home of his uncle after a struggle with post-office inspectors.

Authorities said Collins made way with the loot from the train in an automobile. Six men already are under arrest.

LEAGUE JOLTED BY MESSAGE ON OIL TO ENGLAND

Note Involves Rights of Mandatory Power on Special Privileges.

WARMB DEBATE FORESEEN

GENEVA, Nov. 29.—The American note to Great Britain protesting against favors shown to British oil interests in Mesopotamia, for which country Britain holds a mandate, has jolted the League of Nations assembly meeting.

It was briefly discussed this morning at a secret session of the League of Nations council and president, and later in open sessions of the assembly.

American note involves not only the oil controversy, but the whole question of the rights of a mandatory power to exercise special privileges in the country for which it holds a mandate. Furthermore, it involves the right of the United States, a non-member of the league, to participate in decisions of the league interpreting war treaties.

On account of the delicacy of the diplomatic negotiations it was regarded as possible that Great Britain and France would take steps to prevent open debate on the American note, fearing that representatives of small states and non-mandatory nations might say things which would further raise the entrance of America into the league.

Lord Robert Cecil, representative of South Africa, contends that any power taking a mandate for a small and feeble state, should have special privileges in interpreting war treaties.

Col. Herbert Hall and a battalion of 400 men arrived in the Mingo County seat yesterday from Camp Sherman, Ohio.

The troops are quartered in the courthouse, the city hall and a building formerly used as a hotel. Three companies are billeted in Williamson. The remainder were dispatched to the east and west with orders to establish headquarters at Kermitt, Chatterbox, Nolan and Matamor.

Orders to company and platoon commanders are secret, but Williamson civil authorities say the men have been informed of Governor Conwell's statement which was sent to Mingo again "to act as sign posts."

The troops are part of the 10th Infantry stationed at Camp Sherman since the first of the month. The 10th Infantry division is fully equipped with horses, mules, army trucks and field equipment. One company of expert machine gunners is attached to the battalion.

STREET CAR CO. GIVES FIGURES TO SHOW NEED

Hearing on Petition for Increased Revenue Opens Before Utility Body.

ARGUE TRANSFER FEE

Figures showing the necessity for increased revenue for the Indianapolis Street Railway Company were presented at the hearing before the public service commission today on the company's petition for a 2-cent charge for transfers.

The figures were presented by Joseph A. McGowan, secretary and treasurer of the company, and by Robert I. Todd, president of the company.

Samuel Ashby, corporation counsel for the city, opposed the granting of the transfer charge in a statement to the commission and in an answer to the petition.

Mr. Todd, in response to a question, said that although there was no way to arrive at anything like a correct estimate, a charge for transfers might cause the demand for them to be about 65 per cent of what it is at present, and in response to a further question he said that of the transfers issued at present probably 12 to 15 cent of them are misused or not used.

PARTIES REPRESENTED AT THE CONFERENCE. In response to a question as to what effect a 2-cent transfer charge would have in relation to jitneys, he said he did not believe it would have any appreciable effect, but that if a 6-cent fare were put into effect he believed they would very seriously affect the company's revenue unless some regulation were provided for them.

There were represented at the hearing, in addition to the Indianapolis Street Railway Company and the city of Indianapolis; the Interstate Public Service Company, the Indiana Union Traction Company, the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company, and the Beech Grove Traction Company.

The Beech Grove Traction Company was represented by Carl Weyl on behalf of the Fletcher Savings & Trust Company, receiver for the traction company. Mr. Weyl explained that about a year ago, in order to cut down expenses of operation for the Beech Grove line it was decided to put into service one-man cars of much lighter weight than the big cars of the street railway company; that these would soon be put into operation, and that in view of these light cars and the fact that the company does not use the traction terminal station a charge of 24 cents per passenger would be charged the company by the street railway company instead of a 3-cent charge.

SAYS COMPANY CAN'T AFFORD ROOST. He said that the company could not afford an increase in its charge by the street railway company and expressed the belief that the contract under which this 24-cent rate is granted should be protected in the commission, especially in the commission might see it to make.

Mr. Ashby, in speaking of the petition for a 2-cent transfer charge by the street railway company, said he believed that, on the average, transfer passengers ride no greater distance than straight-haul passengers.

He spoke in favor of higher rates being charged the city by the companies by (Continued on Page Two.)

HOLD 3 IN DEATH OF PEACH KING

Accused of Murdering Shepherd, Wealthy Georgian.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 29.—Detectives were working today on a web of circumstantial evidence in the case of the alleged murder of Mrs. F. Eugene Elmer in the alleged murder of her former husband, Fred B. Shepard, millionaire Georgia peach king.

Mrs. Elmer has been charged with the killing of her husband, her son by a former marriage, and Mrs. Ione Henry, a sister, were held on the same charge.

It is alleged Mrs. Elmer with the complicity of the others arrested in the case, killed Shepard when he was her husband—by giving him bichloride of mercury and that she concealed his will under which the bulk of his $300,000 estate went to her relative, the son by a former marriage, and Mrs. Ione Henry, a sister, were held on the same charge.

Later Mrs. Elmer Crandall, sister of the dead man, received anonymously through the mail a letter from her son by a former marriage, who was her husband, and who she concealed his will under which the bulk of his $300,000 estate went to her relative, the son by a former marriage, and Mrs. Ione Henry, a sister, were held on the same charge.

Shamokin, Pa., Scene of $300,000 Blaze

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 29.—Fire, starting in the poolroom owned by E. R. Hbbs, swept the Windsor Block in the business section today, causing a loss of at least $300,000. The fire was under control at noon, but was under control. The origin is unknown.

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 29.—Gasoline and matches don't hit. Geo. Miller, filling his automobile tank while a friend held a match to direct the flow in the darkness found this out. The department extinguished the blaze.

STATE COURTS ARE GIVEN RAP BY FARM BOARD

Penal Trustees Advise More Severity in Dealing Out Penalties.

LAMENT FOR TAXPAYERS

Asserting that the courts of Indiana have been "too lax in their administration of the law" and that "it taxes credulity to believe that law-breakers who have received suspended sentence for law violations, cease their law-breaking," the board of trustees of the Indiana State Farm at Putnamville, in their annual report to the governor today, arraign the State courts vigorously.

"If the courts would show more severity in dealing with illicit traffickers in and users of forbidden beverages, the number of men sent to the farm would be greatly increased," says the report. "Usually they are given suspended sentences pending good behavior."

"Generally speaking, the courts have been too lax in their administration of the law. If the State farm is a wise institution, and it is better than the number of men sent to the farm, there to work and by their work support themselves, instead of to the jails where they pass their time in idleness and eat their bread in the sweat of the taxpayers' faces, it is obvious that it would be better for the misdemeanants and for the people at large if the men sent to the farm instead of to the jails."

FEWER BEING SENT TO STATE FARM. The report of the board of trustees states that "a marked feature of the farm during the last year has been the reduced number of men sent to it. Within the last few months of 1920 the decline ceased and a slight upward movement began."

The report then goes into the cause for the reduction of men being sent to the institution, ending with the arraignment of the courts.

One of the outstanding facts in the report of the trustees is the statement that it has ceased to require money annually for its maintenance and now receives (Continued on Page Two.)

THEATER PLAN OFF FOR 3 YEARS

Proposed New English Building, to Begin in January, Hits Rocks.

Plans for the construction of the proposed new English Theater, work on which was to begin about Jan. 1, under the direction of the Famous Players-Lasker Company, have been changed and no steps will be taken for three years, it became known today.

The original plans to dispose of the present hotel building, leased by the Watson-McMahon Company, whose lease expires Jan. 1, included the leasing for ninety-nine years of the west half of the structure to the Famous Players-Lasker Company, who were to remodel that part into a theater by enlarging the present English theater space.

With the expiration of the Watson-McMahon Company lease arrangements were made whereby W. T. Riley, present clerk of the Hotel English, would assume control of the east part of the building under a long term lease and continue hotel operation as at present.

Because of abnormal building conditions the Famous Players-Lasker Company has decided to postpone building operations and has granted a three-year lease on the east part of the building to George L. Gillett, auditor for the Watson-McMahon Company.

The furniture of the Hotel English will be sold at public auction next Monday at the Hotel English, 1000 Broadway, New York City, after which Riley probably will equip the entire building with new furniture.

The Watson-McMahon Company will continue operations on the main portion of the Hotel English, which was leased by the company Dec. 1, 1919.

Proposed Coal Rate Increases Suspended

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Proposed increases of 20 cents per ton on coal from points on the Cumberland railroad to points on the Louisville & Nashville railroad in Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee, connecting with the Louisville & Nashville railroad, were suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission until March 28. The suspended schedules also would have increased rates on coal from Kentucky, Tennessee, connecting with the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

When Lieutenant Woolen and a squad of police raided quarters occupied by Fred Kirtley, negro, at 714 Douglas street, this afternoon and found three pints of white milk hidden in the kitchen cabinet, Kirtley said was sent by the "left" order. But he insisted he possessed no liquor, but after the discovery he admitted he had just purchased a quart of white milk this morning for $8.

Kirtley, who has been arrested before for liquor violations, was slated on a charge of operating a blind tiger.

COURT WIPES OUT GOODRICH COAL MEASURE

Power of Commission Annulled by Federal Court Decree.

ATTORNEYS IN WRANGLE

Practically every power of the special coal and food commission of Indiana was wiped out by the text of the interlocutory injunction entered in behalf of two coal mining companies by Judge A. B. Anderson in Federal Court today.

Following the hearing on the petition for the injunction before Judge Anderson, Judge Francis E. Baker of Chicago and Judge George T. Page of Peoria, Ill., Saturday there was some doubt as to whether or not the court's order would prohibit the commission from exercising its coveted power to fix prices, but at doubt on this point was eliminated by the formal text of the order.

The text of the order was prepared by attorney for the Vandalia Coal Company and the Vigo Coal Products Company, the two plaintiff companies and presented to the court for its consideration. James W. Noel, chief counsel for the commission, objected vigorously to the text of the order before Judge Anderson entered it but without avail. Hot words passed between the attorneys for both sides and the court during which passage the court spoke of Governor Goodrich's "socialistic government."

The interlocutory injunction is in force until final hearing and determination of the cause. The commission has thirty days in which to file an answer and the date for final hearing will be set sometime thereafter.

OTHER COMPANIES MAY ENTER SUITS. Mr. Noel said that the commission probably will confer today upon what its future course will be. Attorneys for the plaintiff companies said the commission's power is practically wiped out because, while the injunction applies only to the two plaintiff coal companies, all other companies may bring similar suits and get identical injunctions, since facts surrounding the operation of all are practically the same.

The injunction contains six prohibitory clauses, that regarding the fixing of prices being the most important. Jesse E. Eschbach, chairman of the special coal and food commission, announced this morning that a conference would be held this afternoon between members of the commission and attorneys and that a statement would be issued following the conference. No indication as to the contents of the statement was given by Mr. Eschbach.

Governor James P. Goodrich, a member of the commission, left today for the East to attend a conference of Governors of States to be held in Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 2 and 3.

RULING PROHIBITS PRICE FIXING. The injunction reads in part as follows: "That pending, and until the final hearing and determination of this cause, the defendants, as constituting the special coal and food commission of Indiana, the individual members thereof, and its, and (Continued on Page Three.)

CATCH 2 MAKING SPURIOUS MONEY

Cincinnati Police Get Hoosier in Counterfeiting Raid.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—Two men caught in the act of printing counterfeit $10 bills during a raid on a rooming house here Sunday, were held today by police for investigation by Federal authorities.

About $500 in finished bills was seized. The men planned to circulate it during the Christmas shopping rush, they said.

The prisoners registered as Martin Hamman, 47, Cincinnati, and Charles Schwibbe, 25, Vincennes, Ind.

Hamman was released recently after serving five years in Leavenworth prison for counterfeiting, he said, and Schwibbe said he had served nine months for counterfeiting.

The bank notes were counterfeit of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank issue of May 18, 1914.

Educators of Five States in Conference

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The first regional conference on education met here today under the leadership of the Illinois Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, with superintendents of schools and educators in attendance from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio and Indiana. The meeting will pave the way for future conferences at which educational problems as they apply to the regions involved will be discussed and ways of coping with these problems evolved.

The meeting is the first of twelve to be held in various sections and is the most outgrowth of the big national conference held in Washington last year.
