

EDUCATION IS DINNER THEME

Council of 500 to Consider State School Problems.

Arrangements were being completed today for the dinner and conference to be held tonight in the Riley room of the Claypool Hotel, for the purpose of discussing plans for bettering higher educational facilities in the State. Approximately five hundred farmers, business men and manufacturers, in addition to the heads of the three State schools, will attend.

Oscar H. Williams, State supervisor of teacher's training, is in charge of arrangements for the conference, and L. N. Hines, State superintendent of public instruction, will preside. Addresses are to be made by Dr. William Lowe Bryan, Dr. W. E. Stone and Dr. W. W. Parsons, presidents of Indiana and Purdue Universities and the Indiana State Normal School, respectively.

SPEAKERS OUTSIDE PROFESSIONAL LIFE. Other speakers will be Elwood Haynes, Kokomo; S. M. Keltner, Anderson; Hence Orme, and Mrs. Demarcus Brown, Indianapolis.

Various phases of the educational situation in Indiana will be discussed at the conference, chief of which is the drain on the teaching staff of the higher schools of the State, due to the higher salaries paid instructors in other States.

Special delegations of alumni and faculty men from the three State schools are expected to attend.

Indiana educators are citing the action of California in ratifying an amendment to the State constitution providing for larger State support of the schools as being typical of the legislation needed in Indiana to make the State a taxing unit for State purposes.

CITE CALIFORNIA. The California amendment, which was passed by a majority of more than 200,000, provides that hereafter the State shall contribute out of its treasury toward the support of the public schools an amount which shall be not less than $80 per pupil per year in average daily attendance in the elementary and high schools, and that the counties must raise, in addition, at least $20 per pupil in average daily attendance in the elementary schools, and at least $60 per pupil in average daily attendance in the high schools.

The campaign for this amendment was waged under the title "Equal Educational Opportunities." The campaign literature, distributed freely throughout the State during the campaign, declared that California should make no distinction between the rich child and the poor child, and that all were entitled to equal educational opportunities.

The adoption of this constitutional amendment by California in the forefront among the states of the Union regarding the state's support for its common schools, according to Indiana school officials.

Women to 'Clean Up' Nation by Gaining Municipal Offices

Leader Says Suffragettes Qualified by Training for City Housekeeping.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Women are going after city offices in the municipal elections during the coming spring and fall, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio, prominent suffragist and one of Senator Harding's campaign chiefs, warned today.

"There is no better place to start clean-up proceedings than in the cities," Mrs. Upton said. "Women are going to take a leading part and start this job with enthusiasm and determination. Women are well qualified for this particular sort of work. City government is but a larger housekeeping and it is one thing women understand. It rather looks as though the entry of women into municipal politics means the smashing of political machines nationwide."

Mrs. Upton has been mentioned for a place in the Harding Cabinet provided the department of education with a Cabinet member at its head is created.

Bruce, solemnized Saturday night. Miss Gladys Bruce played the Mendelssohn wedding march for the processional and accompanied Mrs. Ahern, who wore a gown of "kitten's-ear" satin beaded in gold and carried orchid-budded chrysanthemums. Little Miss Quillin wore a dainty frock of white organdie over yellow and carried a French basket of yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums. The bride wore a handsome gown of ivory satin appliqued with white flowers, fashioned with a draped skirt with tulle veil arranged cap effect, caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of bride roses and orchids.

Following the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 439 Drexel avenue. Baskets of yellow and white blossoms and candelabra holding yellow tapers were used throughout the rooms.

Puritanical Sunday Idea Is All Wrong, N. Y. Minister Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Abolition of interstate railway traffic on Sunday would be brought about if legislation urged by the Lord's Day Alliance were enacted, according to information obtained here today. Reformers who are seeking strict Sabbath laws were said to be advocating introduction of a bill in Congress which would make it illegal to operate any train in interstate commerce of any kind on Sunday; close every Government agency, including post offices on Sunday; abolish Sunday newspapers and provide a fine of $500 to $10,000 and six months' imprisonment for violation of any of these mandates.

In his sermon yesterday the Rev. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, opposed the idea of a Puritanical Sunday. He said much of the present laxity in observing the Sabbath was the result of reaction from the excessive severity of earlier generations. He declared the church should encourage wholesome recreations on Sunday and that pastors should participate in them whenever possible.

Meeting of Little Theater Postponed

Special to The Times. GOSHEN, Ind., Nov. 29.—When Shirley F. Larimer, owner of an auto agency here, returned from Millersburg, after several days' absence, he found that a $3,500 motor car had been stolen from his salesroom. A note left on Larimer's desk said that if no report was made to the police the machine would be returned and that he would be reimbursed for the use of it. Officers think the note was written in the belief it would delay investigation of the theft. There is no clew.

MUNCIE KNEW OF INVESTIGATION

Federal Court Subpoenas Relate to Liquor Cases.

Special to The Times. MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 29.—The report made today that deputy United States marshals have 100 subpoenas for Muncie residents to appear as witnesses before the Federal grand jury at Indianapolis next month, did not cause any surprise to those who knew that for several months Federal prohibition enforcement officers have been conducting an investigation here.

A government agent has been working here since last July, most of the time, making his headquarters in the office of Gene Williams, ex-deputy prosecuting attorney, who has been in the limelight in Muncie during most of the year.

It is understood that Williams is the right tower of the Federal investigation. He filed suit in the Circuit Court last May demanding $100,000 from eleven persons, including certain public officials, for false arrest and imprisonment. In his complaint he made the accusation that the defendants constituted a "whisky ring" in Muncie, and were endeavoring to put him out of the way in order that they might operate without molestation. This suit is now pending, but it is not thought that it will come to a trial.

Soon after the suit was filed the Federal investigator appeared and operated through Williams's office. Since the arrest of Williams in connection with the robbery of a Spiegel and Bryant banks, several weeks ago, the government agent has made his headquarters in another office.

HARDINGS NOW BOUND HOME

'Spiritual Partnership' Wins Over Commerce and Treaties.

ABOARD THE STEAMSHIP PASADENA, Nov. 29.—(By Wire)—President-elect Harding is en route back to the United States today, after his vacation in the Panama Canal zone.

With Mrs. Harding he strolled about the Panama Canal zone, and his vacation was not without its enjoyment of the week spent in the Canal zone. He appeared to relax today as the necessity for official receptions and speeches was gone.

The President-elect expects to land at Kingston tomorrow afternoon. The party will be taken on a trip through the island, re-emarking after a brief stay. Harding left the Canal zone in fine spirits. In his last speech he emphasized his delight at being able to observe at first hand the problems that are to be met here. He spoke again of the "spiritual partnership" between the United States and Panama and declared he preferred it to the ties of commerce and the ties of treaties.

COMPARES LIFE TO A BALL GAME

Faith, Hope and Love Bases, Church Speaker Says.

An analogy between life and a game of baseball was drawn by Ben Mulford, Jr., formerly a sporting writer in Cincinnati, in an address on "Running Life's Bases," at the Sutherland Presbyterian Church last night.

"There are three bases in life's diamond," declared Mr. Mulford. "The first is faith, the second hope and the third love. Without touching these bases you cannot expect to win the game of life. You may expect to score happiness every day if you play the game of the square and touch each of these bases."

He referred to God as "the great Umpire," admonishing his audience to remember that like all good umpires He is always on the job. He pointed out that in the game of life as in baseball, courage, daring and nerve are necessary to win the game.

"We are blessed to be governed in our national game for the next four years by a man who has put God at the head of his batting list, and I believe that any man or woman who does not, is getting himself into the worst of the game. As president of the Presbyterian Men of Greater Cincinnati, I wrote to Senator Harding that his expression

"Instead of existing I am given more to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part; that to be compared only with those of Lincoln, I feel that I cannot succeed without the Divine blessing and on the Almighty Being I place my reliance for support."

"Lost Behind the Ranges" was the subject of a talk by Dr. Clarence A. Barbour of Rochester, N. Y., at the Men's Big Meeting at English's. He pointed out that everybody is a pilgrim lost in a journey to find truth and that all must join hands on the journey in order not to become lost. Dr. Barbour declared that the possession is not ownership and that people do not own what they possess in the world.

Sailor "Bob" Clark addressed the Boys' Big Meeting on "The Lighthouse Keeper and the Light" at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Twenty-six boys made the "decision" after Mr. Clark had related his experiences in deciding to lead a better life.

They were addressed by Mr. Mulford following the meeting. A musical program, under the auspices of Ewell Newman, Zelma Mathews and Paul Birchfield was given. The devotional services were conducted by S. P. Mathews.
