New Club Manager Declares Owners and Players Must Revive Former Attitude.

FAVORS STRICT LAWS

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Baseball fans of various vintages, old and new, joined hands yesterday in welcoming back to Chicago Johnny Evers, new manager of the Cubs and veteran cog of the old machine that made Chicago famous on the diamond.

Judge K. M. Landis, the new supreme court of baseball, scooped the rest of the day at the club's offices. Both declined to go into details regarding possible changes in the season, but Evers indicated that he expects to inaugurate a few changes in the personnel of the team and in the matter of discipline as well.

Sidestepping the local equation, with which he declared he was not wholly familiar, Evers said he was certain a new deal was in store for the players. Based on the field, as well as on it, for the purpose of restoring the old fighting spirit among the players—a spirit which was built on loyalty to the club and on which in itself played a large and important part in the possibility of winning the game out of the question.

"There is too much interest in baseball, and the game is the work of life," Evers declared. "I am in position last season with the Giants to observe this letter than before. I do not refer to crookedness so much as to lack of loyalty to the club owners and to each other."

DISCIPLINES AS A CURE.
"What is responsible for this it is my belief is a new spirit must be developed in the tank and file of baseball, as well as among the club owners. If baseball is to be restored to former places in particular, it is necessary to be in favor of severe disciplines to restore that spirit. It is a tough thing to suspend players during the heat of a pennant race, but the new spirit must be established in some way."

"I would like to revive the spirit of the old Cubs. They never were paid better, and the players are the best. If they play baseball all the time, and for all they were worth. It was a matter of personal pride and loyalty to the club. If we can get the present Cubs into the same frame of mind we would need a lot of strength to knock them out. It is a tough thing to make it a winner, I feel sure."

The new manager intends to remain in Chicago until the end of the League meeting in New York in the middle of next month, then spend the holidays with his folks in Troy, after which he will come back to Chicago to remain until the spring training trip.

the objects of chief interest in the first shift of city tournament honor bowlers on the Democratic Club alleys in the city, as the 1920

League are scheduled to do their bit with this evening's early birds and it is not to be a surprise if they would kick over a few top-notch counts.

In the second shift, the Indianapolis

News, National Autos and Martin Corps should supply most of the feature stunts.

The State Cup with a total of 2,000 went up into third place last night, capping the only position that was coped among the "big ten."

The majority of teams shooting last night were those with records and fans expected to see some clever shooting, but it was a great night for the all-blown figures.

What put the St. Louis Corrects over the line this third group? This was high for the night and just what was needed to throw a shower of dust in the eyes of their opponents. Cook, Martin and King had a high score, $5; second high single score, $3. Total, $22.

Total prize money, $1,039.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

Huehner offers a box of cigars for one night's shooting, or straight spares in any event.

Lyryer offers an electric heater for a score of 204 in any event.

Hoosier Coffees went second high for the evening with 7-15. This is no total for the Hoosier combination to stack up.

They should have given the tourney a new high count.

Southern's Belt No. 2 outfit was the big no-game bowler, getting in the opening game.

Magee of the Hoosier Coffees got clever scores at the start and finish, but his middle effort didn't help much.

Bills are about all the Bill Posters can post.

Now that Rabe has succeeded in exchanging the "one" in his 105 for a "two"

Warren and Weatherhead are looking for the All-American.

The Crooks dropped two to the Ward

Heelers without putting up much of a fumble.

LOCAL LEAGUE GOSSIP.

If the Nordyke knights of the Mannufacturers' loop can slap the wood in tournament play like they have done in the past, the 1920

League will be a success.

Hoosier Coffees went second high for the evening with 7-15. This is no total

for the Hoosier combination to stack up.

They should have given the tourney a new high count.

Tournament Prize List

The official prize list for the sixth annual city bowling tournament now in progress on the Democratic Club alleys was announced today by officers of the City Bowling Association. The list is one of the most attractive ever offered in tournament play, with a total of $1,000 in prizes, amounting to $1,039. Beside the prizes offered by the association, several individuals are donating special awards for special events.

These increases in money and merchandise awards make the play more interesting and it is believed that the printing of the prize list will go toward the promotion of the sport.

Due to a delay in publication of schedule books, all bowlers interested in the city meet should clip the following list
