

SCHOOL PATRONS MAKE REQUESTS

Board of Commissioners Besieged at Session.

A delegation of approximately 150 patrons of five city schools appeared at a regular meeting of the board of school commissioners last night to present requests for the betterment of conditions in their respective schools.

Representatives from School No. 22 asked that a playground be made on vacant lots east of the new building. They asked the school board to confer with the board of park commissioners, who, it is understood, intend to build a public playground on a city dump along the Illinois Central Railroad tracks. Bert S. Gadd was appointed to confer with members of the park board on Dec. 9.

Consideration was promised by the board to the delegation from School No. 15, whose members related conditions existing at that building and pointed out the need of a new structure. Colored patrons of School No. 10 complained of certain poor conditions in the school building and called attention to the fact that some of the pupils were required to travel more than two miles to another school for special classes for blind and deaf pupils.

The school board agreed to consider the complaint at an early date.

REQUEST CONCERNS COLORED PUPILS

Three organizations, the Capitol Avenue Protective Association, the Mapleton Civic Association, and the North Central Association, representing Schools 43 and 45, appeared in a group to ask that colored pupils in those north side schools be sent to special schools.

To stop petty thieving prevalent at the Shortridge High School, C. W. Burton and Ralph W. Douglas were instructed to investigate conditions and report on the best type of lockers. Mr. Burton also was instructed to order radiator covers for School 29.

The use of Caleb Mills hall for rehearsal of an amateur orchestra was granted, the board of park commissioners, providing the rehearsals do not conflict with any affairs of Shortridge High School.

The board will address for bids on a seven-passenger automobile, not to cost more than $2,500, for use of the board.

In response to reports and requests of the William B. Jungclaus Company, in charge of the work at Manual Training High School, which was delayed by the recent accident, and of the Meir Electric Company, in charge of work at School 16, the two companies were granted extension of time in which to complete the work.

The Art Association of Indianapolis will receive the same amount this year as was given them last year, $6,914.89, and arrangements were made whereby the association will receive a sum of $10,000 for the next two years. The school board will petition for a limit of $10,000 as appropriations to this association.

CHANGES IN TEACHING STAFF

The following changes in the teaching staff were announced by Supt. E. U. Graft: Resignations, Edith Lanham, M. Albert Stiglen, Will Wetzer, Fred Strickler, Edward B. Birge, Arthur J. Perry, and Capt. Newton Hardin; leaves of absence, Margaret Gilday and Georgia Henry; appointments, Harriet Badger, Nell Ashbrook, Sheila Loh, Woodard Fanny Melner, John M. Ritter, Claude Barner and Harrison Garver. Frank P. McCrea was appointed to fill the vacancy in the military department made by the resignation of Captain Harland.

Following a discussion of the proposed special teachers' library, a project which has been under investigation for more than a year, Charles E. Bush, Mayor, N. L. Schneider and C. W. Burton were named as a committee to make a more formal report as to the feasibility and expenses necessary to begin such a library.

It was pointed out that a teachers' library in which would be placed classified foreign journal system reports and pamphlets of similar nature as well as books and periodicals regarding the art of teaching and the science of education and classified mounted pictures to be used in connection with lectures by teachers, would be needed in the near future, when the proposed teachers' normal school is organized and such a step taken now would greatly facilitate later necessities.

The cost of the library for the first year was estimated at $3,000.

The building program for 1921 and the financial report of Business Director Hitt will be the basis of discussion at a special meeting of the school board to be held next Tuesday night.

SUFFERING FACES WORKERS IN FEUD

than real suffering, but now the rainy season has started and the whole countryside is drenched in a cold, clammy drizzle.

None of the tents has flooring. Miners charged the railroad refused to make deliveries, although the lumber has been purchased. Railroad officials deny this.

The public appears to be about equally divided in sympathy between the miners and operators—that is that small parts of the public not directly interested in the feud. For coal is the only excuse for existence in this out of the way part of the United States. Except for isolated miners' camps, towns all are located along the Norfolk & Western railway, like knots in a string drawn through a rubble heap.

SLOG THROUGH RAIN-CHURNED CLAY

The khal-el-doughbros look very business like, slogging through the rain-churned clay around the mines and at the railway stations. Most of them are veterans. They stand out in contrast to the handful of boyish-looking State constabulary whose uniform is reminiscent of the Y. M. C. A. overseas dress.

Since the arrival of the troops there have been two clashes between them and strike sympathizers. In both cases shots were exchanged between soldiers on this side of the Tug river and riflemen in Pike County, Ky. The clashes occurred at Rose Siding, where the river is a muddy, mountain stream only fifty yards across, marking the State boundary. In neither of these frays were there any known casualties.

The coal feud, which now far overshadows the McCoy-Hartfield feud of Pike County, was the outgrowth of the attempt to unionize fifty mines in the Tug River field, which embraces all Mingo and part of Pike counties. As fast as the men joined the United Mine Workers Union they were discharged.

The situation became tense and a match was touched to the powder keg last May

When eleven men were killed, including Mayor Testerman.

Regular guerrilla warfare followed, bushwhacking and dynamiting of property being interspersed occasionally with out-and-out duels between the warring factions.

The line of the miners was around particularly by the practice of the operators in ejecting them from company-owned houses when they joined the union. Elections became wholesale when the strike was called in July. Women and children became the principal sufferers.

At the height of the strike, the miners claimed 4,000 men out and monthly production reduced from 450,000 to 150,000 tons. The operators said, however, the maximum number of strikers out was 2,000. In thirty-nine mines, only 200 of whom were brought in from the outside. According to the miners 2,700 men still are out.

Officials of the miners' organizations say the pay averaged $1 to $2 a day, but some to whom the operators showed partiality made $30 to $40 a day. The operators say all men averaged from $10 to $30.

COMMISSION AND LEGION TO JOIN

War Memorial Legislation Will Be Sought.

Cooperation with the Indiana War Memorial Commission is being arranged by the State executive committee of the American Legion in seeking additional war memorial legislation in the approaching session of the State Legislature. A committee of three members of the State executive committee, vested with full power to act, has been appointed to meet with the commission on Dec. 15.

L. R. Gignilliat, State commander of the American Legion; L. Russell Newgent, State adjutant, and Dr. T. Victor Keene, member of the national executive committee, compose the committee which will aid the commission in its fight for war memorial legislation.

The general plan of the legion is to secure an additional appropriation from the State and to secure legislation to permit the city of Indianapolis and Marion County to cooperate with the State in erecting the memorial.

A resolution was passed at the meeting of the State executive committee asking the Indiana War Memorial Commission to appoint as secretary former service men. The position of secretary is the only one to which a salary is attached.

Another resolution requesting that no part of the legion in the State lend the name of the legion to any person or society soliciting funds or putting on exhibitions, was adopted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—More than one million quarts of whiskey, gin and other liquors have been seized from rum runners on the borders of the United States since Jan. 16, when national prohibition became effective, Chief Ashworth of the United States Customs Service estimated today.

"I am convinced," Ashworth said, "that from this report the world only one-tenth of that smuggled across the lines."

Son to Bring Father From Scene of War to Good Home Here

Merchant Obtains Passports for Purpose of Removing Parent From Hungary.

The prodigal son will return to the home of his father, but there will be no faded call or a great banquet. This son will go from the land of plenty to the land of want and despair for the purpose of bringing his father and a number of children to America.

Henry M. Rothchild, a merchant tailor of 433 Massachusetts avenue, will leave Indianapolis next Wednesday for Hungary by way of New York and Paris to visit the home of his father in Hungary. Mr. Rothchild's two brothers were injured while serving in the Hungarian army.

"I am going over to aid my father and bring him to Indianapolis with me," said Rothchild. "The few letters which I have received show the conditions over there are very bad. My two brothers were injured in the war and they have lost everything. I would like to bring them to Indianapolis."

Rothchild is a naturalized citizen and took an active part in the Liberty Loan drives during the war. He wishes to share his happiness and prosperity which he found in Indianapolis with his father.

The government has issued a passport to Rothchild and permission has been given him to visit Belgium, Roumania, Hungary, France and Italy. While in Europe he will attempt to locate the children of three Indianapolis families and will attempt to bring the children to America on his return.

Rothchild has not seen his father for thirteen years and during the war was unable to hear from him. He is taking the first chance to visit him since the war. He hopes to make the trip and be back in Indianapolis within ten weeks.

GEN. OBREGON IS INAUGURATED MEXICAN CHIEF

"Can Obregon save Mexico?" is the question the writer has been asked repeatedly since his departure from Mexico City fifteen days ago.

That query can be answered only in this way: If Obregon cannot save Mexico then it is extremely doubtful whether Mexico has another man who can do even as well.

Mexico today has the best chance to "make good" that has presented itself in ten years. And, according to one opinion, voiced south of the Rio Grande, it also is her last chance.

Obregon is a forceful character, aggressive, a natural leader of men and is fully cognizant of his country's problems. Moreover, he has declared on repeated occasions that he will do all in his power to promote cooperation with the United States.

But Obregon's task is a tremendous one. It is true that the chief internal problem—pacification of the country—has been virtually achieved by the six months' provisional administration of President de la Huerta. It remains for Obregon, however, to consolidate the disgruntled elements, both present and past, and put them to work.

From a domestic standpoint, Mexico's

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy," they "clean" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c

Man Drinks Liquor Evidence, but Cops Pinch Him Anyway

The evidence has disappeared and Roy Willis, 1400 1/2 East Washington street, informs the police he drank it, but this fact did not stop the police from arresting him on the charge of operating a blind tiger.

When Lientenants Cox and Winkler searched the Willis apartment on Nov. 21, they say there were fifty quarts and one quart of home-made beer there. The police took samples of this and ordered Willis not to remove the remainder from the building until he received permission.

The city chemist reported the home-made beer contained 3 1/2 per cent "kick." The two officers went to the Washington street address to arrest Willis and get the remainder of the beer as evidence today. They got Willis.
