

ED J. ROBISON MENTIONED FOR MAYOR'S RACE

Anti-Jewett-Lemcke Wing Is Sounded on Support of Governor's Partner.

BOTH SIDES ON FENCE

Another possibility for the Republican nomination for mayor next May has appeared in the person of Edward J. Robison, secretary-treasurer of the Globe Mining Company, partner of Governor James P. Goodrich in that enterprise, and a former county treasurer. Supporters of Mr. Robison are said to have made overtures to the anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing of the Republican party for their support.

The anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing of the party is inclined to give Mr. Robison less consideration than they might otherwise because they are expecting to receive the support of Governor-elect Warren T. McCray and United States Senator James E. Watson. These State leaders would be less likely to enter the fight to break the Jewett-Lemcke control of the city and Marion County organizations if it were necessary to back a Goodrich man to do it, being a well known fact that neither of them are particular political friends of the present Governor.

Coincident with the activity on behalf of Mr. Robison came reports that the anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing of the party is deciding upon a candidate as is the Jewett-Lemcke faction. The anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing is said to be leaning toward a candidate who is a weak candidate, for the very reason that he is so close to the present State administration.

At present the anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing is seriously considering only two men, but at the same time they are casting about for other timber. The two are Dr. E. E. Hodgins, who was the anti-Jewett-Lemcke county chairman against Harry Hendrickson last spring, and Gustav G. Schmidt, director of the city council.

Some anti-Jewett-Lemcke men are in the field a candidate who would receive support from both Republican factions. In all of the deliberations of the anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing of the party, the name of Samuel Lewis Shank stands like a specter. Shank, they feel, undoubtedly would be a strong candidate, but they are unwilling to take him into their ranks for the reason that they do not desire to revive the old home rule party, but rather want to seize control of the Republican party and then combine the two factions.

If Shank is not given due consideration, however, the anti-Jewett-Lemcke wing may become an independent candidate and weaken their own cause in case they are unable to put over their man in the city primary.

CHURCH NOT HELD FOR DIVORCE EVIL

duct to a divorce. He also owes a duty to himself to investigate his client's conduct, subscribing his name to the complaint. It is not so with the defendant's counsel.

I very much regret to say that such an investigation is not always made. There are a few attorneys who systematically solicit divorce cases; and they are the men who largely bring the administration of the divorce law into disrepute and besmirch the legal profession, I regret to say.

A wife who so conducts herself that her husband can and does, because of her moral delinquency, secure a divorce from her should cover her head in shame, for she has failed in her duty to her husband and to her children (if she has any), to society and to the State. She is a moral delinquent and society should so treat her, and not infrequently does.

The same is true of the husband. But the fact that his wife has secured a divorce from him because of his misconduct seldom affects his standing as a business man; and unfortunately not much his social standing and his relation to his church.

SAVAGE HEAD-HUNTERS SHIMMY IN ADAM ATTIRE

In Their Native Land, but Wear Sufficient Beads in Universal Movie

The "shimmy" dance is not of modern origin as it has been done for many years by uncivilized peoples of the South Sea.

Nowadays the shimmy is being danced by modern wild men.

Some time ago Edward Laemmle, nephew of Carl Laemmle of Universal, and William F. Ader, a member of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, started out on a cruise of the southern seas to make movies of the savage head-hunters on the island of New Guinea.

These remarkable movies taken at the risk of their own lives, have been collected and assembled into a movie entertainment by the Universal people. The movies reflect in an entertaining manner the life and habits of the wild tribes who inhabit the island of New Guinea. These tribes are head hunters, and it may be imagined the dangers that hovered about the two camera men after they had been shipwrecked on the island.

The savage tribes presented in the movie, which has been assembled under the title of "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals," appear in very few clothes as they do not have dressmakers or clothing stores in the jungles.

The members of the savage tribe of the Kila Kila cannibals wear practically no clothing, but the prevailing fashion runs to hula rings, a chain of animal tusks around the neck, war paint over the chest and sufficient beads to permit the savages to appear in movies designed for presentation in public in civilized communities. The savages wear "clothing" not for any protection but only for ornamentation.

By means of gifts, the Kila Kila cannibals were prevailed upon to pose before the movie camera, but Carl Laemmle explains that they did not realize why they were standing before a little box.

This educational entertainment of a savage race never before photographed will be presented at the Isis next week beginning Sunday afternoon under the title of "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals."

a large company opens a three-day engagement at English's tonight. Victor Herbert, composer of the music for "The Girl in the Spotlight," will conduct the orchestra tonight.

The highest quality is the theme of "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," the Clyde Fitch play, which has been pictured for the talents of Billie Burke and is the attraction at the Alhambra today and for the rest of the week. Miss Burke has the role of Belle Johnson, a lively American widow, who risks her reputation and the loss of the man she loves, to save her sister from a scandalous situation. This is quite a departure from the comedy roles Miss Burke has enacted in the past. The story is laid in Paris during the carnival season and a brilliant setting has been provided for the production.

and Saturday at the Isis. The story was written by Agnes Christine Johnson, who has supplied the star with most of his screen stories during the past year. Jerome Storm directed, and the making of the picture was personally supervised by Thomas H. Ince. A Mack Bennett farce, "It's a Boy," is also shown.

Among the other attractions on view today are included: "His Honor, Abe Polash," at the Murat; big-time vaudeville at Keith's; popular vaudeville at the Lyric and Broadway; musical extravaganza at the Park; musical comedy at the Rialto; "Something to Think About," at the Ohio; "The Daughter Pays," at the Colonial; "The Sufferer," at the Circle; "One Hour Before Dawn," at Mister Smith's, and "Just Pals," at the Regent.

PAY BOOST FOR JUDGES HINTED

Legislature May Be Asked to Increase Salaries.

A bill may be introduced at the coming session of the Legislature increasing the salary of the five Marion County Superior Court judges, the judge of the Criminal Court as well as the judge of the Circuit Court.

A meeting of the judges was held at the courthouse recently and, although no definite announcement has been made regarding the nature of the salaries discussed, it is understood the judges discussed the "necessity" of an increase in salary. All of the Superior Court judges, the Circuit and Criminal Court judges receive $5,000 a year and it is understood that if a bill is introduced at the next Legislature it will provide that the salary be increased to $7,500.

It was common talk at primary and election times that the salary of the Marion County judgeships is too low because any lawyer of standing can make more than $5,000 a year in the private practice of law. Those who are favoring the increase claim that the benches deserve the best legal minds in the community.

Booze Under Log Gets Man Stiff Sentence

George Dobrilla, 1034 West Morris street, charged with operating a blind tiger, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days on the Indiana State Farm by Henry Abrams, special judge, late Wednesday in City Court.

Lieutenant Cox and a squad of officers arrested Dobrilla late Tuesday afternoon at his home, when they found one quart of "white mule" in the rear of his house under a log and three empty quart bottles and three one-gallon jugs in his shed.

Dobrilla was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days on the farm in the City Court on Dec. 3, 1918, on a similar charge.

Girl His Audience; Wife Sues 'Orator'

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—When H. C. Ridgeway, who held the rank of major during the war, told his wife on last Decoration day that he was scheduled for a speech at the Great Northern hotel, she was filled with amazement.

"My husband an orator?" she wondered. Curiosity prompted her to follow him from their home at 3031 Warren avenue. She told Judge Lewis about it yesterday and the jurist granted her a decree of divorce.

"Instead of making a speech at the Great Northern, he made a talk to a girl who lives around the block from our home," Mrs. Ridgeway said. "He spoke so convincingly that she invited him to her apartment. He must have made her believe that was his home."
