ARTISTS HEARD IN WOOLLEN RECITAL

Program Given by Group at Masonic Temple.

Delicate artistry of interpretation and brilliant technique were displayed in the program presented in the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Woollen.

Miss Mary Lilly, pianist; Mrs. Mary Traub Busch, contralto, and the Orloff Trio, including Miss Genevieve Huglied, cellist; Miss Jean Orloff, violinist, and Mrs. Leona Coffin, pianist, composed the group of artists who appeared.

Miss Lilly played two groups in delightful fashion. The first included "Prelude," by Florence Newell Barbour; Theodore Ryder's "Imps" and H. Louise Wright's "The Juggler." Her last numbers were, "The Angel," a scherzo by Clarence Lucas, which she gave with delicate artistry of touch indicative of the character of the number; "Epithetum" also by Lucas, and Nathaniel Pett's "Juba Dance," which was played in spritful style.

The Orloff Trio gave a smooth, beautiful interpretation of four movements of Horatio Parker's suite, Opus 35, the Prelude, Menuet, Romance and the Finale. Mrs. Mary Traub Busch as her first group used three of Manna Zucca's charming child songs, "Sleepy Man," "Song of the Summer Wind" and "Mother, Dear," which she sang with feeling, displaying a soft richness of voice. Her last group including "The Waning" (Hels), "The Gift" (Mary Helen Browne), and Frank in Forze's "Pride of May," which closed the program, was sung with poise and sympathetic shading, decidedly pleasing to her listeners.

Following the regular program Mrs. Henry Schumann spoke a few words in regard to the State organization work of the Indiana Federation of Music Clubs.

1. What kind of fruits contain the least water in their make-up?
2. Why do the beaten whites of eggs make a cake light?
3. Why old-fashioned folk always put a nail or so in the ink bottle?
(These questions will be answered tomorrow by the Housewife).

YESTERDAY'S QUESTIONS.

1. The old English dish called frumenty was made by boiling husked grains of wheat with milk and spices.
2. The best sort of crumbs to use in covering croquettes and other foods to be used in frying in deep fat are those made from rolling fine stale bread that has been dried thoroughly, but not browned, in a cool oven.
