CREDENCE NOT GIVEN BIG TEN BREAK REPORT

Rumored Dropping of Indiana, Purdue and Two Others Viewed as College Gossip.

BIG MEETINGS SATURDAY

Reports emanating from Urbana, Ill., today stating that there is a move on to drop four members of the Big Ten Conference were branded as mere college gossip by Athletic Director Stehman of Indiana, and Athletic Director Kellogg of Purdue.

The rumor was to the effect that Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio State were listed in the "not wanted" class because it stated "those colleges have not shown the ability to produce football of the class displayed by the other six conference colleges."

According to this line of chatter the inference is given that Illinois, Chicago, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio State desire to break away and form a six-college league, but nothing is said regarding the definite hands of the Indiana and Northwestern schools in this fall.

HOOSIER DIRECTORS BRAND REPORT FALSE

The report indicating a split in the Conference is idle college gossip, and nothing else, was the opinion expressed by both Stehman and Kellogg over the long distance phone from Bloomington and Lafayette.

The athletic directors of the Hoosier State universities stated that the Big Ten policies are in the hands of the various faculties and that coaches have nothing to do with shaping the membership of the Conference. The dropping of four universities from membership would hardly even be considered by the various Conference faculty authorities, they said, because such a move would be certain to create a storm of criticism.

Just because a few teams have a lean fall in the way of victories is no reason why they should be eliminated, as (Continued on Page Nine.)

Golf Democracy, Not War, Is Sought by Directors in West

CLEVELAND, Dec. 2.—The Western Golf Association does not seek war with the United States Golf Association, William H. Brooks, president of the Western Golf Association, today in discussing the probability of a rupture between the two major organizations.

"The Western Association," Brooks said, "has made certain recommendations, believing the United States Golf Association has failed in its function as the governing body of American golf. The U. S. G. A. has failed to give the American game a democratic administration and a code that is demanded by the climatic conditions of the country."

In changing the name from the American Golf Association and in extending its sphere of membership the Western Association plans to give American golf a thoroughly democratic government, he added. The new constitution is so worded that the board of directors will actually represent not less than seven states.

Acquaintances say Ruffano was jealous of Corrella and was enraged when he found Corrella in the cafe with the girl.

Doubles and singles experts and near-experts tonight will take charge of the Democratic drives, set aside for city tournament dring. Some mighty snappy shooters will put in their bid this evening and indications are they will send the maples down for the championship contest.

The bowlers wound up activities in the five-man division last night, with the Central Alley Five sticking in the lead by virtue of the score posted on the opening night of the tourney. It was a 2,770 count and there was not a combination in the race that could come anywhere near it. Which all goes to show that real competition and scores were lacking in the team battle, and it's up to the singles and doubles entrants to make up for lost time.

Marott Shoe Shop finished second in the five-man division and the Store Correct was in for third money.

Rotarians No. 2 were the only shooters to place last night, getting tenth position with a count of 2,572. They also went big for a single game with 911 pins as a result of their final effort.

Charlie Smith, who wishes his name was Jimmy, was the best man with the closing night's leading team. He got a total of 569 and had a 212 score for his best game.

Lewis of the Rotary No. 8 team didn't have to get any working in. He scored enough lead in himself with counts of 78, 61 and 58.

Value of the Lutherans No. 1 was up to a flying start over the double century line, but his finish was not so bright.

Art Piel gave the Redeemer Grays a lot to work on, but they failed to grab the opportunity. He had counts of 239, 212 and 181.

Ed Feurenbach and Bob Bryson came near sending the City Hall Club up with the honorables.

Kirgis' 220 looked forlorn and forsaken on the Armour score sheet.

Berry of the Rotary No. 1 Club was not very consistent. He got under the century line only twice.

"Silent Walter" Harshman was going good at the finish, but he lacked something at the start.

LOCAL LEAGUE GOSSIP.

The Pathe Phonos at the Capitol No. 4 melon, rine and all. Andrews was high individual with a 236 score. Sheets was both second and third with his 220 and 218 counts and the team won three games from the Sterling Stones.

Sheets' total of 690 score would tear things up in the city tourney, according to the present pace.

Chryst of the Thornton Coffees slipped a midget score in between a couple of double hundreds.

Every man on the Thornton team went good and three of the best totals of the season were posted by them. Their total was 2,466.

Starks of the Cycles was the big gunner in the Fairbanks-Morse circuit, getting a count of 220 for his first try.

Clark of the Amperes, saved his own bacon by starting with an even 200.

The W. W. and K. T. teams sure do kick over the wood. Two members of each came near getting fifty sticks in at three games.

They are starting to deliver with form in the Elly Lilly League. Bailey of the Alcestas, was out in front with 207, with Kenneth of the Liquid Blands, and Robinson of the Fulvies, right on his neck.

The Sutherland leaguers elected Farnham of the Parsons, president, when he got a 212. Phillips' 205 was next best.

The Simon Pures took an awful lacing from the Star Bacons in Armour's League. Nut-Olas also trounced the Star Hams. It was a rather poor night for the Stars.

Goldstein's Annex performed the weekly act of taking two from the Main Store.

Harvard 1921 Plans

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 2.—The schedule for the Harvard football team next fall will include several changes from that of 1920, but will again consist of nine games. Major E. W. Moore, graduate manager of athletics, said Wednesday.

The same arrangement of late season contests will prevail. Yale being played at the stadium Nov. 19 and Princeton at the Tiger gridiron Nov. 5. Centre College, Brown, West Point, Holy Cross, Virginia, Nebraska, Syracuse, Indiana, Kansas and Missouri are mentioned as probable opponents.

New Year's Game Assured.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 2.—Formal acceptance of the invitation requesting the football team of the University of California to meet the team from Ohio University at Tournament Park on New Year's day in the annual game between East and West, was telegraphed from Berkeley Wednesday by Dr. David L. Harrows, president of the University of California.

TRIBUTE PAID FALLEN RACER

Friends and Admirers Join in Mourning at Funeral of Gaston Chevrolet.

GASTON CHEVROLET.

The love and respect the world holds for a sportsman of unblemished character was shown today at the funeral services of Gaston Chevrolet, Indianapolis race driver, who met with an accident that cost him his life and the lives of two brothers of the speed game, Eddie O'Donnell and Lyall Jolls, while fighting for honors in the 200-mile Los Angeles speedway event last Thursday afternoon.

Funeral services for Chevrolet were held at St. Peter and Paul Cathedral at 9 o'clock this morning, and burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

MESSAGES FROM OVER COUNTRY.

Since the news of his death was flashed throughout the country, Chevrolet's family has received hundreds of messages of condolence from every corner of the globe and from prominent men in the world of the sport world, particularly from those attached to the game in which Gaston lost his life.

During the funeral services this morning the church was crowded to capacity with friends and relatives of the dead speed hero, many of whom were forced to stand in the rear of the pews after all seats were taken.

The pallbearers were: Louis Frank, C. W. Lushank, Robert Hamilton, Don Dringham, L. L. Morris and Ellis May. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Joseph Chatard, in his funeral sermon, appeared deeply touched as he sympathized with the wife and family over the loss of their beloved member, and praised Gaston freely for his noble life and great deeds on the race track.

At the cemetery Chevrolet's grave was completely hidden beneath a barricade of floral designs sent as tokens of sympathy from scores of friends who were unable to attend the funeral. Several special machines were necessary to convey the floral tributes.

Page Drives Squad for Opening Clash of Basket Season

With the opening contest of the season, with Armour Tech of Chicago, but one day distant, Coach Pat Page today subjected his candidates for the Butler varsity basketball squad to a stiff workout in order that the Blue and White may make its season's debut on the court on an auspicious one.

Judging from the caliber of candidates who have been reporting to Page in the early work-outs, the Blue and White mentor will have a dearth of good material from which to pick his opening line-up.

Every afternoon from 2 to 6 the aspiring candidates for the varsity are tutored by Butler's "miracle man," and already the strenuous pace set in the early work-outs is causing many of the lesser lights to drop by the wayside.

Although Armour Tech is practically unknown to local fans in an athletic way, the Butler crew will be facing one of the most formidable basketball quintets that has been seen in action on the Butler floor in many seasons. The Tech team this year is composed entirely of seniors of last year's team. One of the hardest games that Page's Chicago Big Ten champions of Gaston Chevrolet, Indianapolis race driver, who met with an accident that cost him his life and the lives of two brothers of the speed game, Eddie O'Donnell and Lyall Jolls, while fighting for honors in the 200-mile Los Angeles speedway event last Thursday afternoon.

Student athletic books for the basketball season are expected to be issued immediately.

Specialists Aid in the Struggle to Save Gipp

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 2.—The life of George Gipp, nationally famed Notre Dame football star, was at a low ebb this morning, according to reports from St. Joseph hospital, where he has been fighting against pneumonia for the last week. He had lost consciousness before midnight.

Physicians stated that if Gipp lived through today the chances of his recovery would be better. Dr. St. Mary's, president of the Rush Medical College, Chicago, arrived here yesterday afternoon to aid in the fight to save Gipp's life.

Cheering messages from Captain Day of the University of Nebraska team, West Point players and others against whom Gipp had played, were received at the bedside of Gipp.

Mud Halts Races

HAVANA, Dec. 2.—Racing at the Oriental Park track, which began Thanksgiving day, Wednesday was postponed until next Sunday because of mud which handicapped entries in Wednesday's events.

Owing to the heavy condition of the track, difficulty was experienced in filling Wednesday's card because of unwillingness of owners to risk their horses.

At the cemetery Chevrolet's grave was completely hidden beneath a barricade of floral designs sent as tokens of sympathy from scores of friends who were unable to attend the funeral. Several special machines were necessary to convey the floral tributes.

JESS SAYS HE MEANS IT

By L. B. MICKEL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 2.—Yes, I signed a little paper," Jess Willard, erstwhile heavyweight champion, said today, confirming announcement by Tex Rickard.

What Does Jess Infer?

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 2.—In discussing his proposed return bout with Champion Dempsey, Jess Willard, former boxing title holder, today said in part:

"There are a lot of things I've thought about that Toledo fight in which I lost the title. I've never said anything about it. I won't now."

"Do you feel that you lost on a 'trick'?" Jess was asked.

"I wouldn't say that, but this coming contest will prove to the public a good many things about that Toledo affair," replied Jess.

and that he had been matched to fight the winner of the Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan bout Dec. 14. Jess thinks his fight will be with Dempsey, the man who jarrd loose his crown.

"I am going back into the ring to regain the championship and defend it," Willard concluded. There was a smile on the former title-holder's face and a happy and determined note in his voice.

As he said it, there was no doubt from his attitude that he meant business. As to terms, Jess didn't just seem to know what was in it financially for him. "I just told Tex to go ahead and fix it up," Willard said.

Apparently he wasn't seriously worried over money matters. That he was going to have a chance for "a home-batch" seemed to be giving him genuine satisfaction.

The Kansas fighter said he wanted to "even up" the Toledo affair with Jack Dempsey by demonstrating that he was the better man. Jess revealed that he already is doing a little light training in his gymnasium "down on the farm." And he plans to take on heavier work soon.

"I don't know who I'll have for training," Jess continued. "I haven't had time to think it over. But I'll probably get two or three of the boys to come here and help me."

Asked what Mrs. Willard thought of his plans to "come back," Jess beamed. "Oh, she's backing me to the hilt. She's always with me in whatever I do. We never have any trouble at home."

Although Jess owns a farm here, he has been "gubbing in oil" since the Toledo affair with "great" results, he said. He treated reports that he was "busted" and was returning to the ring merely because he needed the money, as a joke.

"It's the championship I'm after," he concluded, "and I mean to get it."

YOUNG CHAMPS ON I. A. C. CARD

Henry McDuff and Treber Brothers to Defend Titles Saturday Night.

Three State amateur champions will perform on the boxing card of eight bouts that has been arranged for Saturday night at the Independent Athletic Club. Two of the boys, Leslie and Vaughn Treber, who from Marion, and the other, Henry McDuff, of the colors of the local club.

A peculiar angle to the Saturday night bouts is that the three champions will defend their titles against each other when they won them in the tournament held under the auspices of the I. A. C. last year.

Henry McDuff, one of the classiest amateur boxers that the State has turned out in recent years, defeated Jack Edwards of Marion in the final round of the tournament. He is in good shape for the Saturday fray and confident of turning the tables on the Marion scrapper.

Leslie Treber and Frank Sartar of the I. A. C. will battle for the State amateur, welterweight title. In what should be one of the best offerings of the evening. These two boys have met (Continued on Page Nine.)
