DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

Sam Flinders had a chill in the kitchen this morning. It was such a big one it jarred the dishpan off the wall.

Sle Kildew, who has often been accused of not knowing anything about anything, when interviewed this morning confirmed the report.

Someone asked Salem Barlow, our inveterate banjo picker, why he did not get out and go to work, but they received no reply. Those who ask such questions ought to know that picking a banjo all day and all night is work just the same as anything else.

Don't hesitate to give photographs as Christmas gifts as they are the most personal and highly appreciated.

BETTER VISION MEANS BETTER HEALTH

MANY ills that the body is subject to can be traced directly to the eyes. For example, a tortuous headache in either the front or back of the head is, in most cases, the result of an overstrained nerve in the eye. Even cases of indigestion, insomnia and nervousness have been cured by means of the proper glasses.

Nine Years of Progressive Experience

BEHIND DR. J. E. KERNEL, who is a graduate of the Northern Illinois College of Ophthalmology, are NINE YEARS of progressive experience. No optometrist, or optician, could be more conscientious or sincere in his methods than he, even though his prices be considerably more.

SATISFY yourself. Come in and let us examine your eyes.
It takes but a short time and may mean the improvement of your health.
