

PROPOSED BILL ASKS FEDERAL COAL CONTROL

Trade Commission Would Supervise Industry by Calder's Measure.

DEMANDS MINE FIGURES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Supervision of the coal industry by the Federal Trade Commission probably will be provided in a bill now being drawn by Senator Calder, Republican, of New York.

The proposed bill is the result of Calder's report to the Senate that coal profiteering is a "national disgrace partly responsible for the serious housing shortage, and is retarding reconstruction generally."

Calder's bill would call for creation of a separate bureau of the Federal Trade Commission with which coal operators, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers would be compelled to file regular reports on the total tonnage produced and handled, prices, costs and profits.

Seven bills are now being drafted by Calder to carry out the recommendations of his reconstruction report. These include the measure on coal and the following subjects:

1. Transportation to prevent "exorbitant" orders by the U. S. C. C. Calder said, priority orders have retarded building and invited profiteering.

2. To abolish the cost-plus reconstruction system.

3. To revise taxes and to grant limited exemption to real estate mortgages which would encourage investment in homes and building.

4. Broadening of the home loan bank bill.

5. Creation of a housing bureau as a clearing house for knowledge on construction work.

6. Revision of the postal savings system to consolidate all Federal thrift activities under the postal savings branch of the Postoffice Department.

MUNCIE CITIZENS HERE TO TESTIFY

Gene Williams Awaits Turn
Before Grand Jury.

The Federal grand jury proceeded with its investigation of reputed violations of Federal laws at Muncie in a very business like manner today. The presence around the entrance to the jury room of a number of important witnesses and the activities of Federal agents who are known to have been in the Delaware County seat for several weeks, was an indication.

Among the persons who are thought to know considerable about the operation of Muncie law violators, who were observed in the crowd outside the jury room, were Gene Williams, former deputy prosecuting attorney of Delaware County, and John Moore, former member of the Muncie police force.

Williams has been in the limelight lately because of his suit for $100,000 damages filed against Muncie officials because of a refusal to prosecute in which he charges they tried to involve him in the robbery of postoffices at Spencer, Ind., Gaston and elsewhere. Moles is said to know a great deal about the violation of prohibitions laws in and around Muncie.

The presence of certain other persons waiting their turn to appear before the grand jury indicated that the Government is interested in not only violations of the liquor election and postal laws at Muncie, but also of the drug laws.

It was hinted that Muncie is the center not only of a whiskey ring, but also of a band of dope smugglers in and around Muncie.

Federal agents continued to interview witnesses in a room apart from the grand jury room before they were taken before the investigating body, giving rise to a report that the authorities are having some trouble in getting witnesses to tell the whole truth while in the jury chambers.

A large number of negroes, some of whom are said to be prominent in underworld affairs in Indianapolis, were among those outside the jury chambers.

LEADERS TURN SEARCHLIGHT ON NEW MEMBERS

Warren T. McCray, found out that all will not be easy sailing for some of their pet schemes.

Mr. McCray wishes John McClure of Anderson elected to the speakership of the House. He has not said so in so many words, but persons who have previously done his bidding are now active in the support of McClure. This is in indication enough for most legislators.

But Mr. McClure is not popular with the rank and file of the Republican members of the House. They do not hesitate to say so. This does not mean, however, that he will not be elected, for many things can happen between the first meeting of the members of the House and the party caucus on Thursday before the convening of the Legislature.

A number of things must happen before that time if Mr. McClure defeats Jacob D. Miltenberger of Muncie, who is really popular, but there appears to be little doubt that he will be elected. There are reasons why Mr. McClure should be elected Speaker, from certain viewpoints. He was a member of the old Railroad Commission and of the Public Service Commission. As a member of these commissions he was said to be even more friendly to the public utilities than the usual public service commissioner.

The next Legislature will be the crucial one for the public utilities. The public is aroused about constant increases and there will be a demand for the abolishment of the Public Service Commission. Some legislators, who still remember they have constituents back home, are going to lead a movement to have this accomplished.

The public utilities do not desire to have the Public Service Commission, otherwise known as the "State rate making commission," abolished. Its abolishment may make it harder to obtain higher rates. Consequently they desire to have in the speaker's chair a man who is known to be friendly to them.

The meeting revealed the opposition of many members of the House to this plan. Thereby the purpose of the meeting was accomplished. It revealed the fact that considerable pressure will have to be brought to bear to put McClure over. Public utilities ordinarily have considerable influence with legislators, so do incoming Governors. This is especially true when the latter announce they will make no appointments until after the assembly convenes.

Therefore it is up to the assembly to be good. Indications are that it probably will.

MEX-CHINESE PACT CANCELED

Country Excludes Coolies by New Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Though the new treaty to be negotiated between Mexico and China will provide for the exclusion of Chinese from Mexico, there will be no attempt on the part of the Obregon government to alter the present treaty with Japan, which permits absolute freedom in the matter of Japanese immigration.

Mexican officials made this fact known here today in discussing the proposed abrogation of the China-Mexico agreement signed in Washington in 1890.

A problem closely analogous to that of the Japanese in California, it was explained, has arisen on the west coast of Mexico as a result of thirty years of unrestricted Chinese immigration.

Since the ratification of the Chinese treaty in 1900 the influx of Orientals into the states of Sonora, Sinaloa and Lower California has been steady, and, aided by the "most favored nation" clause of the treaty, the Chinese gradually entrenched themselves until Mexican laborers found it difficult to compete with Chinese coolies and Mexican business men were forced to the background by Chinese merchants.

Anti-Chinese demonstrations in Culiacan, Mazatlan and Guaymas culminated in the passage recently of state exclusion laws, notwithstanding the treaty guaranteed Chinese freedom of entry and the right to hold property. To end this anomalous situation the Obregon government has determined to abrogate the treaty of 1900 and negotiate a new instrument containing restrictions on Chinese immigration.

Mr. Legislator, Meet Miss Indiana Apple

Special to The Times.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 16.—Indiana apples for Indiana legislators is the aim of H. H. Swain, secretary of the Indiana Horticultural Society, who is conducting negotiations for control of the vending stands at the State Capitol. Mr. Swain recently moved his office to this city from Lafayette.

Heretofore the lawmakers who buy fruit at the State House have been obliged to munch Western-grown apples, but those who attend the coming session will eat the finest product of Hoosier orchards. The revenue derived from the sale of apples at the State House will be turned over to the Indiana Horticultural Society, which is deplorable that the legislators be made acquainted with the fact that Indiana apples have greatly improved within recent years.
