

ALL DISEASES MAY BE FOUGHT WITH SERUMS

Possible to Be Made Immune
From Almost Every Human Affliction.

DIPHTHERIA IS REDUCED

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Do you realize that you may now be made immune from one of the worst diseases in the world by anti-toxins guaranteed by the United States Government, and that new anti-toxins are constantly being made and tested?

The Government public health laboratories are working on serums for scarlet fever, tuberculosis, bubonic plague, and influenza. An antitoxin for anthrax, the cattle disease, which men have been contracting from shaving brushes infested with the germs, has been produced by Government scientists, though it is not yet known whether it will prove successful in all cases.

A Japanese scientist working along similar lines told Army doctors recently that he is developing a serum for yellow fever. Already he has been able to delay the instant death which yellow fever usually brings, and he expects to be able to prevent death in almost every case when his serum is perfected.

Most promising of all for immediate results is the serum to prevent diphtheria, for this has passed the strenuous examination and is now being put to practical use.

Some time ago, a way was found to ascertain whether or not an individual can take diphtheria, and he expects to be able to prevent death in almost every case when his serum is perfected.

The process, known as the Schick test, is a simple one. A few drops of a prepared diphtheria toxin are injected into the arm of the subject. If a red spot appears in two or three days the person is not immune from the disease. If such a spot does not appear, a means was devised, known as the Schick test, to determine whether or not a person is immune from the disease.

From tests so far made, the doctors conclude that a large proportion of babies are immune from diphtheria. When the third or fourth year is reached, the percentage of immunity has dropped to its lowest point. Children of that age are especially susceptible. In older children the number of immune increases, and the majority of adults are not susceptible to diphtheria.

It will still require some time to popularize precaution against diphtheria, just as it took time to make vaccination accepted by the public. Two hundred years ago almost everybody had smallpox some time during his life. Then vaccine was discovered, people were convinced of its value and now a case or two of smallpox in a town is a rare calamity. The same thing should be true of diphtheria when the Schick test and protective injections become part of the health regulations of every community.

So much depends on the quality and content of each dose of a serum or other biological product that the Government maintains a strict supervision over the production of those in constant use. In the case of some products—the pneumonic and meningitis serums and salvarsan, which is a remedy for syphilis—a manufacturer must send samples out of every lot made to the public health service at Washington. Here they are analyzed and tried out on animals. If the animals die, or if the sample does not contain the exact proportion of ingredients as stated, it is sent back to the firm and the lot must be destroyed. As this means a serious loss to a firm, these products are made with great care. Comparatively little is rejected—about 5 per cent of salvarsan, for example, 15 per cent of pneumonic serum and almost none of anti-toxin.

Anti-toxins and the rest of the biological products inspected by the Government are not examined as regularly as the three just mentioned, but from time

Sees $7,000,000,000 Deficit for U. S. in Next Two Years

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Financial obligations of the United States Government for the next two years will aggregate a total of approximately $7,000,000,000, Secretary of the Treasury Houston told the Senate Finance Committee today, when it resumed consideration of proposed soldier bonus legislation.

Houston predicted a deficit of $1,500,000,000 for the fiscal year 1922-23.

to time samples are tested out for strength and quality.

THIRTY COMPANIES
MAKE SERUM PRODUCTS.

Making and inspecting these products is an important business in this country. There are about thirty companies manufacturing them in the United States, compared with not more than half a dozen in other countries. These thirty laboratories turn out $9,000,000 worth of biological products a year. Salvarsan is the biggest item, then anti-toxin.

Salvarsan, while included here, is not properly a biological product at all, but its manufacture is so delicate a matter, and it is injected as a serum, so the Government includes it in its supervision. Salvarsan is really a chemical compound. Its efficiency depends on the amount of arsenic it contains. If there is too much the patient will die; if too little he gets no benefit from the treatment. It was a long time before chemists achieved this concoction of arsenic which would be strong enough to cure but not kill. To make sure that it is just right a sample dose out of every lot made is injected into rats at the laboratory. Rats are used because they happen to respond to that particular disease and treatment more like human beings than any other animal.

Only one biological product—rabies vaccine—is made by the Government at the hygienic laboratory, and the Public Health Service would gladly turn over this work to the State laboratories except for the fact that scarcely enough is called for to make it worth while for most States to bother with it. The Government sends out 2,000 treatments of rabies vaccine a year, all over the country.

The vaccine is made from the spinal cord of a rabbit that has been injected with rabies. The cord is dried to a certain state and then preserved in glycerine to keep it from drying further. Only about one-quarter of an inch is used for a dose, but twenty-one doses have to be injected in the patient, one each day for three weeks.

This is the least used of the vaccines, but it is one of the most valuable because it is the only preventive of hydrophobia known. The person who has been bitten by a mad dog and who receives the vaccine treatment at once, has only one chance in 300 of dying from rabies. But if the symptoms develop before the first injection is made there is no remedy.

Rabies vaccine is the most expensive of the biological products, costing from $25 to $50 for the course of twenty-one injections. Diphtheria antitoxin is much cheaper. A tube of 2,000 units, a usual treatment, costs $4 or $5 now. Smallpox vaccine is cheapest of all the products, at about 20 cents a dose, and only one dose is needed. The comparatively high price placed on most of the serums is due mainly to the fact that they deteriorate after a time and become weak or altogether useless.

Besides creating new biological products and safeguarding those on which the general public depends, the Government has one other duty in connection with them. That is to try to keep useful serums off the market. In this the Federal Government has only a limited control. It can, and does, refuse a license to a maker of a serum known to be valueless or harmful, so that he cannot ship it out of the State in which it is made. This keeps him from doing an extensive business, but it does not prevent him from selling his goods throughout the State. That is a matter for the State officials to regulate. The Government has refused its licenses to makers of serums for tuberculosis because no such successful serum has yet been produced. It has refused licenses for some cold and hay fever serums which were uniformly worthless. There are numbers of these last on the market, and they vary widely in value. Still another type of remedy, refused a license by the Government, was a rattlesnake serum which the owner proclaimed as a sure cure for epileptic fits, but which medical specialists pronounced entirely lacking in the power ascribed to it.

'Say It With Flour' New Relief Slogan

As an emergency measure in its appeal for aid for distressed Armenia the Indiana organization for Near East Relief will start a "Buy-a-barrel-of-flour" campaign, with the hope of enlisting the service of the family grocer and his patrons.

"Say It With Flour" is a new slogan chosen by the committee, a phrase coined from a widely-used expression of the farmers of the country.

Members of the State relief committee believe that Indiana will contribute a carload of flour to starving people of the Near East. Besides 110,000 children in American orphanages in the Near East, there are thousands of others of all ages made homeless by the pressure of the Turks on one side and the Bolsheviks on the other.

While the flour campaign is in progress the appeal for Armenian orphan "adoption" will be pressed. Word to the State committee from St. Joseph County is that that county has "adopted" 300 orphans and expects to provide for 100 more.

THEN THE FIGHT STARTED.

Mr. S—My dear, did you make this pudding out of the cook book?
Mrs. S—Yes, I did. Why?
Mr. S—I thought I tasted one of the covers.

Americans on Rhine Have Christmas Tree

COBLENZ, Dec. 23.—American troops on the Rhine will celebrate Christmas with a huge electrically-lighted tree. The big pine was dragged in by artillery horses yesterday and electricians were stringing it with wire today. Red Cross organizations aided in preparing gifts which will be distributed to all children in the territory. Exercises will include a Christmas concert by military bands.

School Site Chosen Near Tenth Street

A site for the Theodore Potter Fresh Air School building, which will be constructed on the grounds of the Arsenal Technical School, has been chosen by a group of eight representatives of school organizations and the Marion County Tuberculosis Association.

Recommendations will be presented to the board of school commissioners at its meeting next Tuesday night that the new structure be built in the north portion of the property, about 200 feet south of Tenth street. The site selected is on high ground and is suitable for the school building. Superintendent E. U. Graf stated today.

CANNERS DISCUSS WAREHOUSE PLAN

Committee Appointed to Act in Matter.

In accordance with action taken previously by the Indiana Canners Association, a meeting of a special committee was appointed to take further action in the matter.

This committee, it is announced, will proceed with further details of the plan, including the filing of the necessary incorporation papers, and will then report back to the main committee.

It is planned to form a warehouse house in this city for canners of the State, the advancing of credits when needed, and the grading of goods produced by them, was held yesterday at the Claypool Hotel, and a sub-committee was appointed to take further action in the matter.

This committee, it is announced, will proceed with further details of the plan, including the filing of the necessary incorporation papers, and will then report back to the main committee.

It is planned to form a warehouse association, probably under the name of the Indiana Canners Warehouse Association.

This new association, as planned, it is explained, would build a warehouse in Indianapolis and provide for the careful grading of the output of all the canner stockholders, which would be looked upon as an official grading on which credit would be extended. It would also extend credit to members when needed, based on the official grades.

STORE OPEN UNTIL 6 P. M.
