

FEWER SENT TO JAIL LAST YEAR

State Institutions Less Populous, Report Shows.

The number of persons sent to jail in Indiana last year was far below the mark set in 1916 and 1919, according to a report of the State board of charities. In 1920, the report shows, 17,182 persons were sent to jail as compared to 40,075 in 1916 and 33,473 in 1919.

Likewise the number of persons convicted and sentenced was at a low mark. In 1920 3,276 persons were sentenced as misdemeanants, as compared to 10,000 in 1916 and 10,000 in 1919.

The report shows that in 1920, 718 felons were committed as compared to 805 in 1916 and 556 in 1919. Last year there were 185 suspended sentences granted, whereas 244 were granted in 1916 and 196 in 1919. Six hundred and sixty-six persons were released last year under the indeterminate sentence law as compared to 872 in 1916 and 546 in 1919.

"Last year the records from all of our prisons," says the report, "show that there was a lessening number of sentences for crime. The total admissions to county jails were less than ever before since records have been kept. The number of persons convicted and who served sentence in county jails was less than one-fourth what it was five years ago. The number convicted and sentenced to the State Farm was less than it has been any year since it was established, and the number admitted to the correctional department of the Indiana Woman's Prison was the lowest in ten years. The total number of misdemeanants admitted to all these institutions last year was only about one-fourth of what was admitted ten years or even five years ago."

"The reports from the State institutions which receive felons, the Indiana Reformatory, State Prison and Woman's Prison, also show reductions. 'The total number committed last year to these three institutions was, with one exception, the lowest in five years. The total average daily population was the lowest in ten years. The total number of suspended sentence cases for felons was, with one exception, the lowest in five years. The number paroled under the indeterminate sentence and parole law was the lowest for the past five years. In 1918 it was the largest on account of the fire at the Reformatory and the demand for workers in the different communities on account of the labor shortage."

"The population of State prisons, reformatories and jails, the communities for both felons and misdemeanants, the number of felons released under suspended sentence law (no record for misdemeanants) and the number of persons paroled under the indeterminate sentence and parole law were all less last year."

Decollete Designs Startle Parisians

PARIS, Feb. 2.—Strange decollete designs are being employed in the latest Paris dresses, which are extremely low-cut behind.

In one the only clothing above the waist at the back is an enormous bow fixed in the hollow of the back above which the body is entirely undraped. Yet another original back covering is a slimy close-fitting network of black lace with two panels in it on the shoulder-blades, through which openings the white shoulders are revealed.

A LION BATTLES WITH ACTORS

In Maurice Tourneur's Latest Movie Thriller

Foremost among the scenes in Maurice Tourneur's latest melodramatic movie, "The Bolt," which comes to the Alhambra for the last half of the week, commencing today is one wherein a group of men and a girl, the heroine of the story, have a hand-to-hand encounter with a vicious lion in a crowded theater box in a Paris playhouse, the animal stampeding the audience when it escapes from its cage back stage.

It is the story of a young woman made the victim of a "frame-up" on the part

DUE MONDAY

WILLIAM COLLIER.

William Collier comes to English's for three days, commencing Monday night, with a matinee on Wednesday, under the management of Sam H. Harris, in "The Hotentot," which is proving one of the greatest successes of his career. In New York last season the critics and public took very kindly to Mr. Collier's new starring vehicle and the play ran many months at the George M. Cohan Theater.

This season Mr. Collier has scored a triumph in "The Hotentot," to confide a bit of the plot, is a horse, and is owned by Peggy Fairfax, a dream of a girl. Sam Harrington (played by Mr. Collier) meets the girl and things are never the same with him after that. Because of a terrible riding experience in his youth, Sam is morbidly afraid of horses. In fact, he is suffering from horsephobia. When the girl mistakes Sam for a famous steppeler and wants him to ride her horse in a race, what can the poor man do? He cannot very well come that he is not the hero the girl thinks him to be and he cannot acknowledge himself a quitter. He therefore rides the horse, but meanwhile in solving the problem, he has managed to keep his audience in one continuous roar of laughter.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft, rounded lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphorus than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Hook's drug stores and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Bitro-phosphate has brought about a magic transformation with me. I gained fifteen pounds and never before felt so well." CAUTION.—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by any one who does not desire to put on flesh.—Advertisement.
