

TEXTBOOK QUIZ SET FOR FRIDAY BY SENATE BODY

State Board of Education and Company Agents Asked to Appear.

COST BOOST IS SUBJECT

At a special meeting of the Senate Committee on Rights and Privileges in room 401 Statehouse, Monday night, Feb. 14, the thirteen members of the State board of education and representatives of all companies that submitted bids for textbooks at a meeting of the board last week will be asked to appear and testify regarding the letting of contracts for textbooks for five years at a reported additional cost of $150,000 a year.

This action was decided on at an executive session of the committee yesterday, after L. Hines, State superintendent of public instruction, had appeared as a witness and given the committee full information of the transaction.

Mr. Hines in his testimony defended the State board of education as far as the legality of its action was concerned, although he frankly stated that he felt at the time the bids were opened that the proper thing to do was to reject all bids and readvertise for a later date.

OUTLINE RIGHTS OF STATE BOARD.
"The law gives the board discretionary power in these matters," Mr. Hines said, "and as long as it has this power it is within its rights in rejecting bids regardless of our opinions as to the wisdom of doing so."

Among other suggestions Mr. Hines said that he thought the law should be changed so that bids are received on all textbooks at one time, thus doing away with what he termed "perpetual turmoil" over the question of letting book contracts.

WHAT ATTORNEY
GENERAL ANSWERED.
Mr. Hines explained that in anticipation of an increase of the bids for new books over the bids received five years ago, he had asked the attorney general if the companies holding the old contracts could be compelled to supply books for another year at the old prices, but the attorney general had given his opinion that this could not be done.

Neither is it possible, according to the attorney general, for the Legislature to compel them to do so. The law states that the board of education "shall" adopt

H. C. L. Also May Stand for High Cost of Liquor

Editor The Times:
It is amusing to me to hear two men discuss the high cost of living. They meet and rave about high prices. They want to hang their grocer as a highway robber and throw their landlord in jail as a profiteering rascal—the price of clothing out of sight.

First thing you know they begin to talk low and confidentially. You plan to take up with Congress to relieve the high cost of necessities, but if you get close enough to hear what is being said, it sounds something like this:

"Have you got anything on your hip?"

"No, I just sold the last I had, but you see so and so. He has the bottle in bond for only $12.50 a pint. This same man would probably die of heart trouble if his grocer asked 12½ cents for a pint of milk."

books every five years and this makes it compulsory for the board to do so.

In support of his contention that a book once adopted often remains in the schools for a number of years, Mr. Hines named textbooks that had been in use in this State for from ten to fifteen years. Among those named were the Conn advanced physiology which has been in use fifteen years, the Gorty history, ten years, and the Tarr-McMurry geography, ten years.

In answer to a question as to whether the bids received could be rejected at this late date, after the board had adopted the books, Mr. Hines said:

SAYS HE HAS NOT SIGNED CONTRACTS.
"The attorney-general says we can, for I have not yet signed the contracts and I am not going to sign them as long as this investigation is going on. They will have to mandate me in the Supreme Court before I will sign while this is under way."

However, Mr. Hines doubted the wisdom of rejecting the bids now, even though he favored that action at the time they were received.

The investigation yesterday brought out nothing more than that the board may have acted unwisely in accepting the bids. That they had the right to do so seems to have been according to law.

Whether members of the board were subjected to undue influence in making the selections, and also the matter of possible collusion looking toward the adoption of certain books, probably will be taken up at the committee meeting Monday evening.

The investigation is being made as a result of a resolution introduced by Senator Howard Cann of Frankfort, expressing condemnation of the action of the board in accepting bids at the figures submitted. This resolution was referred to the Committee on Rights and Privileges, which is composed of Senators Miles J. Furnas, chairman; William A. Arnold, Harold Van Orman, William M. Swain and Howard Cann.

COMMITTEE IN HOUSE FAVORS SALARY BOOST

Masters Bill, Fixing Solons'
Pay at $1,000 a Year,
Given O. K.

FINAL VOTE IS AWAITED

The House Committee on Fees and Salaries late Wednesday evening returned a favorable report on the Masters bill, which provides for an increase in the salaries of Representatives and Senators in the Indiana Legislature to $1,000 a year. The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator J. Fred Masters, Indianapolis.

While the bill received a favorable report from the fees and salaries committee, it is not considered as a guarantee that the bill will receive the approval of the House. On the contrary, it is predicted that the measure will meet an early death at the hands of the House "salary killers" as every appropriation or salary increase bill that has been presented thus far in the House

MAJORITY FAVOR BUILDING INSPECTION.

A divided report was returned on House Bill No. 193, introduced by Representative James I. Day, Lake County, providing for the establishment of a State board of building inspectors under the supervision of the industrial board, giving it condemnatory powers. The minority report, which favored passage of the bill, was adopted by the House in place of the majority report which favored indefinite postponement.

A divided report was also returned on the bill introduced by Representative N. C. Ross, Allen County, a chiropractor, head of the Ross College of Chiropractic of Ft. Wayne, defining chiropractic as a "scientific method for the removal of the cause of disease," declaring it neither medicine, surgery nor osteopathy, and declaring that chiropractors are not subject to the laws governing the healing art.

The Committee on Insurance recommended for indefinite postponement the Newman bill providing a penalty for persons who make false statements to obtain insurance.

COURT DECLARED
MEMORIAL.
On motion of Representative J. Glenn Harris, Lake County, who received word that the St. Joseph County Bar Association would erect a bronze memorial tablet in the new courtroom, the Beyer bill, providing for the creation of an additional Superior Court in St. Joseph County, was handed down on second reading immediately prior to adjournment.

A motion, introduced by Representative Henry Abrams, Marion County, was adopted, to add a new section to the bill, declaring the court to be a memorial to the late Asa E. Matthews, Representative from St. Joseph County, who died at the Deaconess Hospital in Indianapolis Monday evening.

Johnson Fined $100 on Gun Totin' Charge

Harry Johnson, 2015 North Gale street, charged with assault and battery on two affidavits, unlawful possession of weapons and carrying concealed weapons, after his arrest Tuesday at 528 East North street, was fined $100 and costs on the latter charge by Judge Walter Pritchard in city court Wednesday. The other three charges were dismissed.

According to the police, Johnson went to the North street address to rent a room which was advertised and insulted Ola Keester and later Ola Wood, living at the same address. The police were called and after taking Johnson to headquarters Miss Wood found an automatic revolver under the chair in which he had been seated.

Mrs. Keester testified that Johnson had bothered them before.
