

KOKOMO WOMEN FIX MEETING AS CRIME PROTEST

Call Sent Out Demands Ac- tion to Check Crime Wave of Thuggery.

Special to The Times.
KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 17.—A general meeting of women has been arranged for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city council chamber. The call for the meeting has been signed by Mrs. L. M. Kneppel, Nora T. Gause, Mrs. A. B. Armstrong, Mrs. W. T. Arnold, Mrs. O. A. Smith, Mrs. C. M. Randolph, Mrs. Ida B. Hopkins, Dr. Anna Landon, Mrs. R. H. Watters, Mrs. Emma Wright, Mrs. C. K. McCall and Mrs. L. R. Natzger, all prominent in social and civic affairs of the city.

The call reads:

"In view of the deplorable conditions and the abandonment which has resulted in our city during the last few months, culminating in some of the most distressing episodes in the history of Kokomo, it is evident from the number of flagrant misdeeds, robberies and robberies, that we are dominated by the thug element. This condition has brought much embarrassment to the citizens of Kokomo as a result of the notoriety obtained thereby.

"The situation has become so acute and the patience of the better class of citizens so tried that a demand has arisen for immediate action to prevent a further recurrence."

VAN BRIGGLE IS INDICTED FOR USE OF MAIL

he received large amounts on royalty contracts from the company.

News of the indictment of Van Briggie occasioned no surprise to persons about the Federal building, as the action was foreseen about a month ago, when a large number of persons, known to be stockholders in various Van Briggie enterprises, came from all over Indiana to testify before the grand jury.

The career of Van Briggie in the past few years has been little short of sensational, his rise in the commercial world being only exceeded in rapidity by the suddenness of his fall in the last six months. Less than a year ago he was widely regarded as a financial genius and a coming captain of industry.

Mr. Van Briggie was an active member of the First Baptist Church and took a prominent part in religious affairs. It is said that invariably directors' meetings of his companies were opened with prayer, and that he was the one to lead for the crash came the teacher of one of the largest Sunday school classes in Indianapolis had devoted a large part of his lesson to pointing out the difference between the type of man who was both a Christian and a financial success and holding him up as a man worthy of the emulation of members of the class.

ORGANIZED COMPANY IN 1915.

After practicing law in Indianapolis for several years as a member of the firm of Wiley & Van Briggie, he organized the Van Briggie Motor Vehicle Company in 1915 with himself as president and began the manufacture of the Van Briggie car. Later a stockholder for Ford automobiles was added to the list, and the company was reorganized under this name. It was at this time that the article that eventually started the company on its downward plunge that ended in the collapse of the entire structure of Van Briggie enterprises.

Mr. Van Briggie's Van Briggie Manufacturing Company was organized to manufacture an automobile trailer and operated two plants, one at Fowler and one at Mooresville, and the Van Briggie Chemical Company was organized to take over the manufacture of a well-known proprietary article. A year ago the three Van Briggie concerns were at their peak and it is said that there was a ready market for their products.

The first cloud in the skies of prosperity appeared last spring when Judge Albert B. Anderson, in Federal court, ruled that the stock absorber manufactured by the Van Briggie Motor Vehicle Company was an infringement on patents owned by Robert H. Hassler, Inc., of this city, and granted an injunction forbidding the manufacture of the infringing article. He also ordered an accounting.

CHANGE IN AFFAIRS BEGINS.

A right here the Van Briggie suit began to set. Late in August a suit for recovery of the Van Briggie Manufacturing Company was filed in Superior Court by room 3, and Judge Solon B. Carter named William E. Kelley as receiver. This started the avalanche. Within less than a month the Van Briggie Motor Vehicle Company was thrown into receivership by the Marion Circuit Court to stockholders of the company and Judge Harry Chamberlain named W. R. Hirst as receiver. The Van Briggie Chemical Company underwent a complete reorganization and was renamed the Celery-Vegetable Company and Van Briggie was dropped from the directorate.

In November, William E. Kelley, receiver for the Van Briggie Manufacturing Company, filed suit for $100,000 against Van Briggie and individual members of the board of directors for mismanagement of the affairs of the company. This had been preceded by a suit for $200,000, filed by W. R. Hirst, receiver of the Van Briggie Motor Vehicle Company, making similar charges. These suits are now pending in the local State courts. In these complaints and in the complaints asking for receivership, serious charges of a sensational character were made. It was charged that Van Briggie, while an officer of the company, had collected a commission for stock sold by himself, that he had misappropriated funds, that he had misrepresented the financial affairs of the companies, that he had paid out company funds without the authorization of the board of directors and that he had even gone so far as to make a false income tax return and to pay on a large sum in income taxes for one of the companies in order to create the impression that it was making a great deal of money when as a matter of fact it was on the verge of insolvency. Many charges of this same general character were made.

F. Prange Funeral to Be Held Sunday

Funeral services for Frederick Prange, 88, who died at his home, 337 North Davidson street, Wednesday after three days' illness, will be held from the residence Sunday at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Prange was in the grain milling business in Indianapolis for many years. He was born in Germany, Nov. 10, 1834, and came to this country in 1854.

The widow, two daughters, Minnie, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Louise Klink of Lafayette, and two sons, Fred, residing at 1229 East Vermont street, and Henry, who is in Wyoming, survive.

The sheriff was accompanied by Dr. Paul F. Robinson, county coroner, and several policemen.

EMPLOYERS SCRAP LABOR SPY SYSTEM

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Spies were being squeezed out of the nation's industry today.

Elaborate intelligence systems maintained by employers as "strike insurance" are being dismantled in the present readjustment period.

The method of placing operatives to work before the employees in industrial plants was a product of the labor scarcity in the boom days during the war.

Reports given to employers on the state of mind of employees entitled the former in many cases to prevent labor difficulties by remedying conditions or eliminating agitators.

Strikes no longer are feared by manufacturers, they say, because of the present abundant labor. Men now think many times before throwing down their tools, employers believe, because they know large numbers are jobless.

Another reason for scrapping the intelligence systems is the retrenchment policies of employers.

A survey just completed by the Chicago Federation of Labor showed that industrial intelligence operatives are rapidly becoming a thing of the past.

Several strike-breaking agencies have closed their doors here recently. Thousands of "inks," as professional strike-breakers are called, have joined the army of unemployed.

BILL TO AID IN CITY BUYING IS NOT PREPARED

who prepares the city administration bills. The corporation counsel, being opposed to the bill, has refused to prepare it, which he is not the author, it is said, is deliberately stalling preparation of the bill. Meanwhile, Mr. Ritter, his friend, has been busy outside the administration because Mayor Jewett has not yet taken back his promise to put the measure through. Mr. Ritter had been unable to get an appointment with the mayor to discuss the bill, it also is said.

Friends of the storehouse system and some people who still believe Mr. Jewett means his fall, are waiting to see what Indianapolis business administration, are unable to understand why the legislative plans have been sidetracked. If the mayor had been seriously inclined to support the plan he would have seen to it that the bill was among the other administrative measures presented in the Legislature several weeks ago, they say.

COULD SAVE $200,000 EACH YEAR.

They are particularly mystified over the mayor's apparent lack of interest in view of the fact that it can be easily demonstrated that the storehouse system buying standard materials and equipment would save approximately $200,000 per year, over and above the other material savings which the purchasing department has been able to effect on his equipment and material contracts, not falling under the category of "standard" ever since the department was created.

They wonder how the mayor can harmonize his failure to aid the purchasing agent in this matter with his election promises of a business administration.

The additional savings possible under the storehouse system would be more than the entire cost of operating the purchasing department. The 1921 appropriation for this branch is $139,800. By using two vacant rooms in the basement of the city hall for the storehouse at the start installation of the new system would cost not more than $1,000 additional, for it would entail only the additional expense of a clerk's salary. As the system expanded and greater opportunities for economy developed the cost naturally would be more, but not out of proportion with the extra savings, the purchasing agent would be able to supply all the departments with the materials they need at a cost of only $2 a day, at the option of the judge. The vote was 32 to 13. The constitutional majority was not obtained until the absence of the clerk's salary.

The administration bill, one of Governor Warren T. McCray's campaign pledges, was passed by the Senate today by a vote of 40 to 9. It now goes to the House.

The measure, which will revolutionize the preparation of fiscal bills, places the administration of the law in the hands of the chief executive of the State and of accounts. He is given a chief clerk whose sole duties will be the gathering of data and the compilation of the budget.

The various departments of State and the State institutions are required to submit, by Oct. 5 of any legislative year, a list of their needs and expenditures.

These figures are prepared in a budget which then goes to the Governor. On the basis of the figures submitted from the Legislature, the bill will automatically eliminate the Legislative Visiting Committee, which has heretofore prepared the financial figures.

It is expected that the bill, if passed, will place the State government on a business basis, he said.

Senator Joseph McCray of Madison, in speaking of the bill, said that the special session of the Legislature last summer was made necessary because the Legislature of 1919 had not foreseen the tremendous increase in the cost of living. It is expected that the bill will place the State government on a business basis, he said.

In taking up the provisions of the bill, said that it took away the Legislature's power of making an honest investigation of the State's affairs and placed it in the hands of the executive. "It may provide a few more offices, but so far as the institutions are concerned it won't do any good," he said.

He said the bill would place the State on a business basis, he said.

In speaking of the bill, he said that the bill would place the State government on a business basis, he said.

He predicted that the future assemblies would be a success, without questioning the figures contained in the budget, and in this connection he declared the abolition of the Legislative Visiting Committee.

"I say to you that what is the worst thing you ever did to the State of Indiana," Senator Cravens declared.

Senator Ritter, in reply, declared the measure one of the greatest in the work of the Legislative Visiting Committee and denied that the committee is eliminated.

"It will prevent the legislative committee from investigating the institutions," he said, "but it is to be done in a different manner."

When Ritter and Cravens got into a running debate, Senator Beardsley moved the previous question, but the chair ruled that the bill should be taken up.

Senator Duncan, chairman of the Legislative Visiting Committee, declared in explaining his favorable vote that he was not sure about the merits of the bill, but under the circumstances, he would support it. He said he felt the committee should have more time to conduct its investigation.

Two Men in Emrichville Dry Beer Place Among Per- sons Held.

In a series of raids and investigations the police net was spread over the city during the night and numerous arrests were made.

Captain Ball and Lieutenant McMurry visited the Emrichville dry beer saloon in Emrichville at 1:30 a. m. They found two men and two women at the place and questioned them. The men were charged on charges of operating a blind tiger after the police declare, they found a bottle of whiskey in the pocket of one of them. They gave the names of Alfred C. Beck, 29, 548 Prospect street, and Harry B. Thompson, 27, 3052 North Illinois street. Thompson first said he was Harry Hays, of the Illinois street address.

In a touring car parked near the place, police say they found a black leather traveling bag containing three plates of home-made beer and seven empty beer bottles.

labor troubles in Gas City by the use of deputy sheriffs. He declared the deputy sheriff is better than calling military troops into the city.

Senator said the people are opposed to the constabulary system because of its great expense.

Senator Neill opposed the bill because, he said, it would give authorities an opportunity to swear in a "lot of rough necks" with which to fight organized labor. Neill is also against the constabulary idea.

The Senate passed Senator Richards' bill which raises the pension rate of retired policemen in cities of the first and second class. Officers retiring after twenty years' service would receive $40 a month and for each additional year they remain on the force they would, on retirement, receive a month extra.

Senator Southworth's bill fixing the salary of the commander of the State Soldiers' Home at $2,000, the adjutant at $1,500 and the surgeon at $2,500 was passed.

The Senate also passed Senator Strode's bill giving judges of Circuit Courts power to appoint bailiffs at a salary not to exceed $1 a day. The measure would raise the present bailiff's salary from $2 a day, at the option of the judge. The vote was 32 to 13. Tentative plans also were made for a public mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the legion next Tuesday in celebration of Washington's birthday. The speakers for the occasion will be Bowman Elder, Myron Huchel, John Paul Ragsdale and Joseph R. Leckert.

U. S. Sues to Seize Medicine for Fraud

Suit for the seizure of six or more bottles of a proprietary medicine known as Parry's Vegetable Compound, manufactured by the Parry Medicine Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was filed in Federal Court today by Frederick Van Nys, district attorney.

The bill states that the drugs are falsely branded in the United States and are sold as a cure for various skin diseases and smallpox and two bottles are labeled as a cure for cancer, tuberculosis of the bones, lungs and flesh, gallstones and tapeworm.

He predicted that the future assemblies would be a success, without questioning the figures contained in the budget, and in this connection he declared the abolition of the Legislative Visiting Committee.

'ODD JOB' PLAN BOOMED TO AID PORTLAND IDLE

Community Behind Scheme to Provide 'Clean-up' Em- ployment.

Special to The Times.
PORTLAND, Ind., Feb. 17.—The citizens of Portland are endeavoring to reverse the employment situation here through a community effort inaugurated by the Portland Commercial Association with the object of tiding over the unemployed men and women of the city until normal industries are again running at normal capacity and spring farm work opens.

Several hundred men have been provided an opportunity to earn their living through odd jobs about farms, business houses and residences usually attendant on annual spring clean-up activities.

A special committee of business men from the Commercial Association has been formed to obtain the cooperation of the city council and county commissioners by inducing them to begin at once on road repairs and other public improvements planned for the coming season. Citizens who plan building operations are being urged to start their projects as early as possible to provide employment.

It is estimated that work for at least 500 unemployed men and women will be provided through this community effort, the slogan of which is "Hire a Man for a Day or Two—Help Keep Portland Employed."

EFFORT TO LIFT RULES AND PASS TAX BILL FAILS

to make horizontal increases between counties.

Representative Russell K. Bagdon, Tippecanoe County, asked Mr. Barker if the amendment would give the tax board authority to raise tax levies without first holding a hearing in the county affected. Representative Barker replied that the original tax law gave for this provision, and said a hearing must be held before any levy can be raised.

Representative Claude A. Smith, Gibson County, in referring to a statement of Representative Chester A. Davis, Jay county, that the board is required to hold hearings and give notice of its action before levies can be increased, asked if the board had been following the law.

"As to that, I don't know," replied Mr. Davis. "I only know that the law requires it."

No change was made in the Barker amendment.

Following adoption of the amendment, Representative Barker, Posey County, introduced another motion that would strike out all of section 4 of the bill, which gives the State board appellate jurisdiction in the matter of local bond issues and fixing of levies.

The Barker motion aroused opposition from the majority side of the House. Representative Barker of Boone declared the people wish the appellate jurisdiction left in the hands of the State board, and in this statement he was supported by statements of several of the Republican members of the House.

On motion of Representative Barker of Boone the motion made by Representative Barker of Posey to strike out Section 4 was tabled.

Representative Barker of Boone followed this action with a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill. A vote on the second to the Barker motion showed it lost by 36 to 35.

The bill will be eligible for third reading and passage Friday.

Four bills were passed in the morning session of the House.

They were: Requiring interurban companies and railroads to cut down thistles, burrs and weeds on their right-of-way; providing new regulations for use of roads by motor trucks and new license fees for trucks and trailers; allowing city council of South Bend to construct comfort stations in parks; and providing that railroads with more than ten city miles of track shall not run engines backward or tender first for more than ten miles except in case of wrecks or washouts.

Anderson Considers Case of Insurance Company.

Evidence in the suit of William George of Aurora, Ill., against the Liberal Life Assurance Company of Anderson and four directors of the concern, to compel the return of about $150,000 of company funds said to have been turned over to certain directors without consideration and for an accounting, was heard by Judge Albert B. Anderson in Federal Court today.

The alleged unlawful acts are said to have taken place while the late Austin Ketcher was president of the insurance company. James J. Davis, Elwood; R. H. Brandon, Aurora, Ill.; S. L. TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Dark- ens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb with a soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but that delicate ladies with Wynn's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous and appearance of abundance, which is so attractive.

CLAIMS POINT IN ROW OVER NATIONAL ROAD

Richmond Woman Says City Admits Illegality of Closing Highway.

Special to The Times.
RICHMOND, Ind., Feb. 17.—Elder Griffin White, chairman of the Wayne County Women's Republican Committee, announced today that she will continue her fight to prevent the Richmond board of public works from closing a part of the National road which is made unnecessary, according to the board, by the Main street bridge. Miss White filed suit to restrain the board from dumping waste on the historic highway.

Hearing was set for Wednesday but the case did not come up because the city admitted it had proceeded illegally, Miss White said.

Miss White stated that Richard L. Lier, head of the State conservation department, has said that he will come to Richmond at the time of any public hearing as the conservation department of Indiana is actively interested in preserving all historical places and monuments.

"Miss White declared she will fight every step the city takes to close the road."
