

CITY BILLS GO TO GOVERNOR FOR SIGNATURE

Planning and Zoning Measures Passed by the Senate.

PAY BY MILE IS O. K. D.

Both the city planning and the city zoning bills passed the Senate today without a dissenting vote. They now go to the Governor for signature. The planning measure, which was evolved by the Jett administration along with the zoning bill, provides that city councils may appoint planning commissions to act in an advisory capacity and make recommendations relative to plots and the laying out of streets and other public improvements.

The zoning bill gives city councils the power to establish building regulations and to create zones in which only certain kinds of buildings may be erected. It also gives the council authority to establish building lines for the preservation of boulevards.

The Senate passed by a vote of 35 to 9 the bill authorizing the highway commission to pay for road construction as each mile is completed.

Other action taken was as follows:

H. B. 228—Providing compensation for engineers and surveyors on drainage work shall be fixed by courts. Passed, 39 to 2.

H. B. 229—Providing a bounty of 20¢ on crows. Indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 132—Providing for the organization of drainage association. Passed, 43 to 0.

S. B. 364—Introduced today and acted on under suspension of rules. Providing that farmers shall not be liable under the compensation act for injuries to members of thrashing crews, working for thrashing organizations. Passed 33 to 10.

WILSON'S GAME PART WINS PITY AND ADMIRATION

(Continued From Page One.)

Harding got in and seated himself below.

As the car drove off the President cast a backward glance over his shoulder at the great white mansion that he was leaving for the last time. It was a look of peculiar intensity.

Up the avenue the President and his friend-elect had their heads close together in close conversation. The two men presented a notably-forgettable picture as they stood silently there. Mr. Wilson, his face drawn and his left arm held at a peculiar angle, Harding the picture of robust health and vitality. Harding constantly tilted his hat slightly to the cheers without withdrawing his attention from the man at his right. The physical effort apparently was too much for the President and he did not attempt to raise his voice.

At the Capitol, the President was helped out of the car at the door, Brooks, his giant negro valet, put his two broad hands under his shoulders and with a secret service man at his side, the secretary to the step was led into the office. There were few people in the War room. Wilson got out of the car, but those who did will never forget it. Involuntary exclamations of pity and admiration broke from the spectators as the President gamely started through the revolving doors.

WAVES AWAY
WHEEL CHAIR.
The arrangements committee had thoughtfully provided a wheel chair just inside the door. But as difficult as was the journey—the effort being made was apparent—Mr. Wilson waved away the proffered help, and, leaning heavily on his cane, started for the elevator. His left arm was a bit and his left arm was held at an odd angle. Two secret service men were close beside him. It was one of the most pathetic scenes ever witnessed in the Capitol and there were tears in the eyes of many who viewed it.

The men part at the Capitol door. Harding strides resolutely ahead and up the steps to the President's health. Hardly a picture of broken health, limping to the elevator. He was lifted to the chamber floor and went through with his last legislative tasks. These finished, the strength which had impelled him to undertake the trip seemed to sag and at the earnest solicitation of those about him he decided to forgo the ordeal outside. Attended only by his valet, Brooks, the negro service man, he went out of the Capitol and into private life almost unnoticed and unmarked. The attention of the thousands outside already was on his successor.

ORDERS RETURN OF SUIT WORN

Judge Sentences Stratton to Term in Jail.

What will Wesley C. Stratton, negro, 1639 Martinlawn Avenue, do for clothes after he gets to jail? That was the question that arose in city courtroom after the suit he wore at the trial had been ordered back to the owner by Judge Walter Pritchard.

Stratton was arrested by Patrolmen H. Smith and Tom Broach Wednesday after receiving information that he had stolen a suit of clothes, a comb and a necklace from Alton Gile, 1401 North 15th Avenue. According to testimony, Gile took Stratton to his home as a friend and allowed him to spend the night there. Arising early, Stratton looked over his friend's wardrobe and "Presto," when Gile got up he found his best suit "among the missing." Stratton also was gone, but he left a note saying: "I have your suit and will have it pressed and cleaned for you at my uncle's shop. Will bring it back tonite."

Judge Pritchard fined Stratton $1 and costs and sentenced him to serve fifteen days in jail after ordering the suit to his office or on the streets.

Restraining Orders Asked in Two Suits

Two divorce petitions, accompanied by requests for restraining orders, were filed today in the local county courts.

Lula B. Jackson filed suit in Superior Court, 5th, asking for a divorce from Lee L. Jackson, a brakeman on the Cuyahoga Valley Railroad, 1525 15th Avenue. It will relate his experiences in the Canadian Rockies. In 1919, Mr. Haworth made a 1,000-mile trip by canoe, on which he discovered a hitherto unknown range of mountains, including Mt. Lloyd George, and a number of glaciars, which he returned to the region in 1920, when he took a number of photographs which will be shown by stereopticon during his talk. The lecture will follow the regular membership dinner of the junior chamber.

Doctor Cupid
That love sometimes cures disease is a fact. Love is not, however, the cure for all women. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women.

Kokomo, Ind.—"Some time ago I felt 'draggy' and worn-out and greatly in need of a tonic. I never took anything that helped me so quickly as the 'Favorite Prescription,' my whole system seemed to be benefited."

(Signed) Mrs. Flossie Coop, 2108 N. Market Street.

$100 and 30 Days on 'Tiger' Charge

Charles Wilburt, 1222 South Harding street, was found guilty of operating a blind tiger and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days at the Indiana State farm by Special Judge Robbins in city court today. Wilburt was indicted by Federal agents Jan. 20 when four pints of bonded whisky were found in his home.

WOMAN GIVES POLICE BATTLE

Wife of Willie Carey Lends 'Helping Hand.'

No championship bout fight ever created as much excitement as did the fight in front of 180 Bright street last night between Mary Carey, wife of Willie Carey, well-known police character and patrolman, a ten-year veteran of police force, and the emergency squad. Three policemen suffered loss of skin and clothing in the free-for-all fight. The Carey woman was taken to police headquarters, after being subdued by the combined efforts of at least eight men, and was seated on charges of drunkenness, profanity and interfering with an officer. Carey was arrested on similar charges.

According to the police, the fight started after Patrolmen Hillman and Kelch found Carey in a drunken condition in front of his home in an automobile. A woman who had just reached home in a taxi cab, arrived in time to see her husband receiving arrest and "give a helping hand."

The bill providing for a 7-cent tax levy for the common schools of the State is ready for signature of the Governor, following its passage in the Senate yesterday afternoon. The bill was passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Oliver Kline, Huntington.

The bill originally carried a levy of 20 cents. An attempt to increase it to 10 cents when it came up for second reading in the Senate failed.

The Senate acted on the following bills:

S. B. 246, amending an act permitting erection of county memorials, 39 to 0.

S. B. 317, amending highway commission law providing the commission may construct roads through towns, 33 to 2.

H. B. 234, providing one delegate to State conventions shall be elected to represent each 400 voters instead of each 200 voters, as at present, 37 to 2.

H. B. 271, providing railroads may buy parts of lines belonging to other companies if two-thirds of the directors of both companies agree, 38 to 0.

H. B. 208 permitting South Bend to continue track elevation work begun thirteen years ago, 38 to 0.

H. B. 229—Providing a bounty of 20¢ on crows. Indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 132—Providing for the organization of drainage association. Passed, 43 to 0.

S. B. 364—Introduced today and acted on under suspension of rules. Providing that farmers shall not be liable under the compensation act for injuries to members of thrashing crews, working for thrashing organizations. Passed 33 to 10.

The Senate passed by a vote of 35 to 9 the bill authorizing the highway commission to pay for road construction as each mile is completed.

Other action taken was as follows:

H. B. 228—Providing compensation for engineers and surveyors on drainage work shall be fixed by courts. Passed, 39 to 2.

H. B. 229—Providing a bounty of 20¢ on crows. Indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 132—Providing for the organization of drainage association. Passed, 43 to 0.

S. B. 364—Introduced today and acted on under suspension of rules. Providing that farmers shall not be liable under the compensation act for injuries to members of thrashing crews, working for thrashing organizations. Passed 33 to 10.

HOUSE PLANS TO FINISH ITS FULL PROGRAM

(Continued From Page One.)

Harding got in and seated himself below.

As the car drove off the President cast a backward glance over his shoulder at the great white mansion that he was leaving for the last time. It was a look of peculiar intensity.

Up the avenue the President and his friend-elect had their heads close together in close conversation. The two men presented a notably-forgettable picture as they stood silently there. Mr. Wilson, his face drawn and his left arm held at a peculiar angle, Harding the picture of robust health and vitality. Harding constantly tilted his hat slightly to the cheers without withdrawing his attention from the man at his right. The physical effort apparently was too much for the President and he did not attempt to raise his voice.

At the Capitol, the President was helped out of the car at the door, Brooks, his giant negro valet, put his two broad hands under his shoulders and with a secret service man at his side, the secretary to the step was led into the office. There were few people in the War room. Wilson got out of the car, but those who did will never forget it. Involuntary exclamations of pity and admiration broke from the spectators as the President gamely started through the revolving doors.

WAVES AWAY
WHEEL CHAIR.
The arrangements committee had thoughtfully provided a wheel chair just inside the door. But as difficult as was the journey—the effort being made was apparent—Mr. Wilson waved away the proffered help, and, leaning heavily on his cane, started for the elevator. His left arm was a bit and his left arm was held at an odd angle. Two secret service men were close beside him. It was one of the most pathetic scenes ever witnessed in the Capitol and there were tears in the eyes of many who viewed it.

The men part at the Capitol door. Harding strides resolutely ahead and up the steps to the President's health. Hardly a picture of broken health, limping to the elevator. He was lifted to the chamber floor and went through with his last legislative tasks. These finished, the strength which had impelled him to undertake the trip seemed to sag and at the earnest solicitation of those about him he decided to forgo the ordeal outside. Attended only by his valet, Brooks, the negro service man, he went out of the Capitol and into private life almost unnoticed and unmarked. The attention of the thousands outside already was on his successor.

Orders Return of Suit Worn
Judge Sentences Stratton to Term in Jail.

What will Wesley C. Stratton, negro, 1639 Martinlawn Avenue, do for clothes after he gets to jail? That was the question that arose in city courtroom after the suit he wore at the trial had been ordered back to the owner by Judge Walter Pritchard.

Stratton was arrested by Patrolmen H. Smith and Tom Broach Wednesday after receiving information that he had stolen a suit of clothes, a comb and a necklace from Alton Gile, 1401 North 15th Avenue. According to testimony, Gile took Stratton to his home as a friend and allowed him to spend the night there. Arising early, Stratton looked over his friend's wardrobe and "Presto," when Gile got up he found his best suit "among the missing." Stratton also was gone, but he left a note saying: "I have your suit and will have it pressed and cleaned for you at my uncle's shop. Will bring it back tonite."

Judge Pritchard fined Stratton $1 and costs and sentenced him to serve fifteen days in jail after ordering the suit to his office or on the streets.

Restraining Orders Asked in Two Suits

Two divorce petitions, accompanied by requests for restraining orders, were filed today in the local county courts.

Lula B. Jackson filed suit in Superior Court, 5th, asking for a divorce from Lee L. Jackson, a brakeman on the Cuyahoga Valley Railroad, 1525 15th Avenue. It will relate his experiences in the Canadian Rockies. In 1919, Mr. Haworth made a 1,000-mile trip by canoe, on which he discovered a hitherto unknown range of mountains, including Mt. Lloyd George, and a number of glaciars, which he returned to the region in 1920, when he took a number of photographs which will be shown by stereopticon during his talk. The lecture will follow the regular membership dinner of the junior chamber.

Doctor Cupid
That love sometimes cures disease is a fact. Love is not, however, the cure for all women. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women.

Kokomo, Ind.—"Some time ago I felt 'draggy' and worn-out and greatly in need of a tonic. I never took anything that helped me so quickly as the 'Favorite Prescription,' my whole system seemed to be benefited."

(Signed) Mrs. Flossie Coop, 2108 N. Market Street.

$100 and 30 Days on 'Tiger' Charge

Charles Wilburt, 1222 South Harding street, was found guilty of operating a blind tiger and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days at the Indiana State farm by Special Judge Robbins in city court today. Wilburt was indicted by Federal agents Jan. 20 when four pints of bonded whisky were found in his home.

7-CENT SCHOOL TAX IS PASSED

Measure Now Awaiting Governor's Signature.

The bill providing for a 7-cent tax levy for the common schools of the State is ready for signature of the Governor, following its passage in the Senate yesterday afternoon. The bill was passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Oliver Kline, Huntington.

The bill originally carried a levy of 20 cents. An attempt to increase it to 10 cents when it came up for second reading in the Senate failed.

The Senate acted on the following bills:

S. B. 246, amending an act permitting erection of county memorials, 39 to 0.

S. B. 317, amending highway commission law providing the commission may construct roads through towns, 33 to 2.

H. B. 234, providing one delegate to State conventions shall be elected to represent each 400 voters instead of each 200 voters, as at present, 37 to 2.

H. B. 271, providing railroads may buy parts of lines belonging to other companies if two-thirds of the directors of both companies agree, 38 to 0.

H. B. 208 permitting South Bend to continue track elevation work begun thirteen years ago, 38 to 0.

H. B. 229—Providing a bounty of 20¢ on crows. Indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 132—Providing for the organization of drainage association. Passed, 43 to 0.

S. B. 364—Introduced today and acted on under suspension of rules. Providing that farmers shall not be liable under the compensation act for injuries to members of thrashing crews, working for thrashing organizations. Passed 33 to 10.

Men's Apparel Club to Banquet March 9

Arrangements have been completed by the Men's Apparel Club of Indiana for a banquet and entertainment to be tendered the visiting members of the Indiana Retail Clothiers at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 9, in the Ruby room of the Claypool Hotel and is in charge of Jack Rohr, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The officers of the Men's Apparel Club are:

A. W. Lovell, president; Floyd E. White, secretary-treasurer; Jack Rohr, first vice president; T. L. Liebermann, second vice president; Gus M. Bernstein, third vice president.

The bill providing for a 7-cent tax levy for the common schools of the State is ready for signature of the Governor, following its passage in the Senate yesterday afternoon. The bill was passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Oliver Kline, Huntington.

The bill originally carried a levy of 20 cents. An attempt to increase it to 10 cents when it came up for second reading in the Senate failed.

The Senate acted on the following bills:

S. B. 246, amending an act permitting erection of county memorials, 39 to 0.

S. B. 317, amending highway commission law providing the commission may construct roads through towns, 33 to 2.

H. B. 234, providing one delegate to State conventions shall be elected to represent each 400 voters instead of each 200 voters, as at present, 37 to 2.

H. B. 271, providing railroads may buy parts of lines belonging to other companies if two-thirds of the directors of both companies agree, 38 to 0.

H. B. 208 permitting South Bend to continue track elevation work begun thirteen years ago, 38 to 0.

H. B. 229—Providing a bounty of 20¢ on crows. Indefinitely postponed.

H. B. 132—Providing for the organization of drainage association. Passed, 43 to 0.

S. B. 364—Introduced today and acted on under suspension of rules. Providing that farmers shall not be liable under the compensation act for injuries to members of thrashing crews, working for thrashing organizations. Passed 33 to 10.