

ROADS' PLIGHT IS RESULT OF INEFFICIENCY

Consulting Economist for Labor Upholds National Agreement as Beneficial.

RAIL BOARD WITNESS

CHICAGO, March 29.—Inefficiency of railroad management rather than the national agreements fixing wages and working conditions of employees is responsible for the financial plight of the railroads, W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist of the railroad labor organizations, declared in a statement to the United States Railway Board today. Lauck today began the presentation of labor exhibits before the board.

"The root of the railroad difficulty," Lauck declared, "is not in national agreements, but in the inadequacy of management. Conservatively stated, if railroad management was characterized by reasonable efficiency and had available for its use a proper amount of credit capital, labor costs would have shown a radical decline under national agreements and savings in operating expenses of at least $1,000,000,000 annually would be made."

Lauck outlined his points which he declared upheld the soundness of the policies represented by the national agreements.

First, he declared, the policy of establishing national agreements or uniform rates of pay and working conditions, in conformity with custom and precedent in the transportation industry and in accordance with best public policies.

Second, Lauck asserted, collective bargaining on a national scale and national agreements as to working conditions and relations have been found to be the best means of stabilizing conditions in other basic industries of the country.

"In Great Britain, Lauck's third point declared, these facts have become so clearly recognized that national agreements are encouraged by both employers and employees and an effort is being made to make them compulsory in all industries."

When the railroad administration entered into the national agreements, Lauck asserted, as his fourth contention, it merely recognized a tendency which had reached complete development during the war and which was sanctioned by enlightened opinion both within and without the transportation industry.

Fifth, Lauck pointed out, representatives of the railroads have practically given their sanction to national rates of pay and working conditions of engine and train crews. These crews, he declared, have uniform rates of pay and working conditions embodied in agreements on individual roads but underwritten by the national organizations and concurred in by the railroads as a national basis.

Railroads, Lauck charged in his sixth contention, are "consciously and deliberately taking advantage of a temporary industrial depression to destroy human standards sanctioned by thought and practices of the leading industrial nations of the world."

Union Movement to Lower Wages

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.—Marion bricklayers have started the ball rolling in what is believed to be the first "strike" toward the voluntary lowering of wages by workers here since the close of the war.

At a meeting of the Bricklayers' Union No. 12 last week it was decided to make a reduction from $1.25 an hour to $1 an hour to become effective May 1.

Announcement of this wage cut was made by J. M. Wilson, secretary of the arbitration committee, together with a plea for others to join in the movement. This reduction means that the wages of bricklayers will drop from $55 to $44 a week of forty-four hours, or a cut of $11.

Are Weak Nerves and Thin Blood Making a Failure Out of You?

Iron starvation of the blood weakens the will power, robs you of your bodily and mental vigor and often keeps you from making the money and success you should.

THERE ARE 50,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

When your blood is thin, pale and watery it loses its power to change food into living tissue, and NOTHING YOU EAT DOES YOU THE PROPER AMOUNT OF GOOD—you don't get the full strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, nervous, irritable and easily upset.

Also YOUR BRAIN BECOMES DULL AND HEAVY, your memory poor, your will power weakened; you can't think right and you are no match for the fellow with a keen active powerful mind.

It's the "man of blood and iron"—THE STRONG, FORCEFUL, VIGOROUS FELLOWS that make the money and become the great captains of industry.

When, as a result of iron starvation, you get up feeling tired in the morning, when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night; when your digestion all goes wrong, or you have pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration, or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but consult your family physician and have him take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles, or test the iron power of your blood yourself by adding plenty of spinach, carrots, baked apples or other iron-containing fruits and vegetables to your daily food and take organic iron, like Nuxated Iron with them for a while.

Last 'Squeal' On Pals Made by 'Waco Kid'

Body Riddled With Bullets
Identified as That of Con Man.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The "Waco Kid," millionaire con man has "squealed" his last, Chicago police were notified today.

The "Waco Kid"—William Powell—for years has been a "stool pigeon" for Chicago police. Whenever he got caught in a tight place he was "squeaked" on his pals and received immunity for it.

The history of the "Waco Kid" goes back to the days of the notorious Maybray confidence gang here. He had a falling out with "Yellow Kid" Well and informed the police of their wire tapping game.

This led to several members of the police department going to prison with members of the gang.

The "Waco Kid" got immunity. Fred K. Buckmaster, the "Alabama Kid" and "Little Alf," members of the gang, escaped and are said to have joined the "Waco Kid" in Florida.

They are said to have made millions in the last four years fleeing millions. They maintained the International Turf Exchange in an office building in Dayton.

Again they got into difficulties with the authorities and again the "Waco Kid" is said to have squeaked on his pals. This led to the arrest of Buckmaster, on a charge of fleeing Charles Worden, bank president of Ft. Wayne, Ind., out of $100,000.

"Waco Kid," police were informed today, was sitting in the palatial dining-room of the Yonce de Leon at St. Augustine Monday night. A gang appeared at the curtained window and riddled his body with bullets. It has just been identified.

State of Nevada to Kill With Gas

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 29.—Governor Boyle today signed the bill providing for the use of lethal gas for capital punishment.

Heretofore doomed men had the choice between hanging and being shot.

His Little Boy A Mass of Sores

So writes W. C. Warren of Millboro, Virginia, and he adds:

"We tried two good doctors, one a specialist on skin disease and they did not do good. We used 7 bottles of D. D. D. and his face, which was simply a mass of sores, is now smooth as paper."

Thousands of grateful users of D. D. D. have written to tell of the wonderful relief it gave them—creep an application completely stopping itching and burning. Why not try D. D. D. at once and be convinced? Your money back if the first bottle does not bring relief. 50c. 95c. and $1.00. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

D. D. D. THE Lotion for Skin Disease

USED 50 YEARS
S.S.S.
FOR THE BLOOD
Write for booklet on the blood free.
Swift Specific Co. Dept. E. Atlanta, Ga.

WEALTHY WOMAN LOVER OF HOME

Body of Mrs. Pullman to Be Returned to Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The body of Mrs. George M. Pullman, one of the wealthiest women in the world, is to be brought back here for burial. Mrs. Pullman died yesterday in Pasadena, Cal., at the age of 32. At the bedside were her son-in-law and daughter, former Gov. Frank O. Lowden and Mrs. Florence Lowden, and their four children.

Mrs. Pullman's demise is said to have been hastened by her grief over attacks on Illinois' war governor during the presidential primaries campaign and preceding the Republican national convention.

CHARGES ON CAMPAIN FELT.
She felt keenly the charges which were made concerning campaign expenditures. During the investigation of the Senate committee at Washington it was disclosed that $38,000 had been spent to secure the Missouri delegates. Gov. Lowden later declined a Cabinet post under President Harding and his friends said he had practically retired from politics.

Mrs. Pullman was married to the founder of the city of Pullman in 1867. She was the daughter of J. Y. Senger, a Chicago pioneer. Mr. Pullman died in 1898 and Mrs. Pullman became virtually his sole legatee. She displayed remarkable business acumen in the handling of the great estate.

Although her wealth and the standing of her family would have enabled her to dominate Chicago society, she preferred a life of semi-retirement. She was essentially a home-loving woman.

Her greatest source of pleasure was philanthropy. She annually donated thousands of dollars to charity and was a generous contributor to many Chicago hospitals. She was devoted to the interests of Pullman city, which her husband built at an original cost of more than $3,000,000.

Although she had a palatial summer home at Elebron, N. J., and, until a few years ago, a mansion at Washington, she preferred Chicago. It was only in later years that she lived for any length of time at Pasadena. She sold her Washington residence in 1913 to John Hays Hammond, the mining engineer, for $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Pullman occupied a foremost place in the ranks of the men and women who may be said to have built Chicago. Their home at 1729 Prairie avenue, built in the '70s by the late John M. Dunphy, when that street was Chicago's gold coast, was one of the show places of the city. Mrs. Pullman was found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

WEALTHY WOMAN LOVER OF HOME

Body of Mrs. Pullman to Be Returned to Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The body of Mrs. George M. Pullman, one of the wealthiest women in the world, is to be brought back here for burial. Mrs. Pullman died yesterday in Pasadena, Cal., at the age of 32. At the bedside were her son-in-law and daughter, former Gov. Frank O. Lowden and Mrs. Florence Lowden, and their four children.

Mrs. Pullman's demise is said to have been hastened by her grief over attacks on Illinois' war governor during the presidential primaries campaign and preceding the Republican national convention.

CHARGES ON CAMPAIN FELT.
She felt keenly the charges which were made concerning campaign expenditures. During the investigation of the Senate committee at Washington it was disclosed that $38,000 had been spent to secure the Missouri delegates. Gov. Lowden later declined a Cabinet post under President Harding and his friends said he had practically retired from politics.

Mrs. Pullman was married to the founder of the city of Pullman in 1867. She was the daughter of J. Y. Senger, a Chicago pioneer. Mr. Pullman died in 1898 and Mrs. Pullman became virtually his sole legatee. She displayed remarkable business acumen in the handling of the great estate.

Although her wealth and the standing of her family would have enabled her to dominate Chicago society, she preferred a life of semi-retirement. She was essentially a home-loving woman.

Her greatest source of pleasure was philanthropy. She annually donated thousands of dollars to charity and was a generous contributor to many Chicago hospitals. She was devoted to the interests of Pullman city, which her husband built at an original cost of more than $3,000,000.

Although she had a palatial summer home at Elebron, N. J., and, until a few years ago, a mansion at Washington, she preferred Chicago. It was only in later years that she lived for any length of time at Pasadena. She sold her Washington residence in 1913 to John Hays Hammond, the mining engineer, for $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Pullman occupied a foremost place in the ranks of the men and women who may be said to have built Chicago. Their home at 1729 Prairie avenue, built in the '70s by the late John M. Dunphy, when that street was Chicago's gold coast, was one of the show places of the city. Mrs. Pullman was found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma in which he had been since being found in his office, where he was stricken. Attending physicians say his recovery is probable.

Special to The Times.
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—John A. Findall, prominent attorney of this city and the wealthiest resident of Shelby County, is in a critical condition at his home here, following a stroke of apoplexy. He had called last evening from a state of coma