HOME 'ACTORS' GET WARM GREETING

Boys' Club Comedy Scores a Success.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the performance of "Mrs. Goring's Necktie," a four-act comedy drama presented by the Boys' Club Association in the Murat last evening. This was the twentieth annual benefit play given by the association in Indianapolis.

The cast, embracing a group of well-known local folk, interpreted the lines with finished ease. The settings and costumes were decidedly effective. The play went with a smoothness that reflected creditably on the director, Walter P. Pfaff.

The plot of the play was built around the theft of Mrs. Goring's pearl and diamond necklace. She is a pretty young matron with more beauty than brains and overladen with vanity. While she is a guest in the home of Coons Jardine, the necklace disappears and the "sleuthing" for the thief begins. Mrs. Frederick M. Ayres, with frivolous lightness and cleverness of feminine weaknesses, played the role of Mrs. Goring. She coquetted, peacocked and bemoaned her necklace, "with the five drops in front and clasp in the back," with realistic artistry.

Other guests in the Jardine household with Mrs. Goring include Captain Mowbray with a fortune, and Lieut. David Cairn, who is the fiancé of Isabel Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Jardine. Captain Mowbray is in love with Isabelle, but Mrs. Goring thinks that her own charms have captivated the gallant captain and devotes herself to him. Mr. Jernigan, as the discerning detective, is called into service on the discovery of the loss of the necklace and after a period of watchful waiting picks Captain Mowbray as the guilty man until Lieutenant Cairn, the real thief, in a fit of remorse commits suicide as the only way out, thereby saving his friend, who was shielding him by keeping silent.

Mrs. W. C. Boobas as Isabelle gave a skillful interpretation of the charming young woman, torn between the real love in her heart and her pledge. Mrs. Ernest I. Lewis played the part of the bridge-playing Mrs. Jardine with a distaste for her unfortunate guest which she conceals but slightly. Miss Helen Erwin Coburn appeared with winsome freshness and Miss Mary Powell showed skill in her small part.

Perhaps the mayor created more amusement than any in the masculine roles, for his youth and beauty were lost completely amid a thicket of vicious looking whiskers. Whether mayoring is any aid to "detecting" is indefinite, but the mayor seemed to be right there with the notebook and interrogations, exhibiting the marks of an honest-to-goodness sleuth.

Charles Adams gave an excellent interpretation of the captain, and Austin Brown as the weak lieutenant played his difficult role with surprising skill. Thomas D. Stevenson did nice work as Colonel Jardine. Matthew Fletcher as the footman completed the list of actors.

Legion Adds Members in Fourth District

GREENSBURG, Ind., March 29.—Early reports received here today at the headquarters of the Fourth district American Legion membership campaign indicated that several hundred new members were added in the first day of the drive. The early part of the last several days will prove a big advantage to the campaign work, according to Earle V. Hitch, campaign manager. The Fourth district is largely rural and most of the legion members are employed in farm work. The rain has put a halt to this work and the members will have much more time to devote to the drive.

All reports received were incomplete and no complete reports will be announced until Wednesday, when there is to be a checking up of every post in the district.

Kokomo Brew Test Awakens Interest and Settles Doubt

Special to The Times.

KOKOMO, Ind., March 29.—When William J. Henderson was on trial charged with the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor, in the Circuit Court here, it became necessary to prove that home brew was intoxicating, if the charges were made to hold.

More than forty plants were introduced as evidence by Prosecutor Harness.

Patrolman Robert Newcom took the stand and testified that the stuff was intoxicating.

"How does he know it is?" challenged Attorney Herron. "He don't know what's in the bottles," he reported.

At this juncture there was a hubbub in the courtroom. Nearly every one present became anxious to testify as expert witnesses, when Attorney Herron declared the intoxicating propensities of the home brew would not be contested further by the defense. Judge Willis took the case under advisement.

Asks $10,000, Charging Breach of Promise

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—Damages of $10,000 are asked in a complaint filed today in Shelby Circuit Court by Miss Julia Surber of Brookfield against John Henry Dake, prominent young farmer of Moral Township, charging breach of promise.

Four Held for Theft of Furs at Rushville

Special to The Times.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., March 29.—Walter English, Lester Caron and Shirley Kirk, all local young men, and James Crangle of Chicago, are under arrest here in connection with the theft of $500 worth of furs from the E. R. Casady store here Friday night. The men arrested were unable to furnish the $2,000 bonds required for freedom.

The grand jury has been called for Wednesday to investigate the robbery. Mr. Casady, owner of the store, has recovered the furs, but refuses, it is said, to give out information he has secured. County officials have taken the matter in hand and will push charges regardless of Casady's wishes.

CHICAGO COAL MEN INDICTED

Detectives Included in Charge of Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Conspiracy to interfere with public trade by fixing prices of coal, is the charge that forms the basis for indictments voted by the grand jury here against four officials of the Chicago Retail Coal Merchants' Association and the Retail Coal Bureau. Four private detectives, said to have been employed by the association and the bureau, also have been indicted.

Those indicted are Tracy G. Wright, chairman of the executive board; Robert H. Clark, vice president, and Nathaniel H. Kendall, secretary of the Chicago Retail Coal Merchants' Association, and Robert H. May, secretary of the Retail Coal Bureau. James H. McQueney, Robert Jeske, Walter Wood and James Dickman are the detectives indicted.

The indictments are the result of charges made by Mortimer B. Flynn, president of the Pottinger Flynn Coal Company, who alleged that he had been persecuted following his withdrawal from the association. The detectives, it is alleged, were hired to intimidate dealers who refused to charge the prices for coal that had been fixed by the association.

Local Woman Faces Larceny Charge

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 29.—Mrs. Ira Jones of Indianapolis, wife of Charles Jones, who is held under a joint indictment with Carl Bernauer for the murder of Samuel Eids at Indianapolis Oct. 2, 1920, has been brought to this city by local officers. Mrs. Jones is charged with grand larceny in an affidavit which was filed here by Miss Naomi Bernauer, sister of Carl Bernauer, who charged that Mrs. Jones stole $29 from her purse when they were both last week attending the trial of Bernauer on the murder charge.

It was stated that Mrs. Jones returned $18 of the sum taken and promised to have the remainder by the end of the week, which she failed to do, and the affidavit was filed as a result.
