

BURGLARS BUSY 'AS USUAL' HERE IN NIGHT HOURS

$500 Diamond Ring and $3.50

Loot at One Place, Where Window Gives Entrance.

Burglars, as usual, were busy last night in various parts of the city.

Edward E. Drotz, 1666 Naomi street, reported that his home was entered through a cellar window and a diamond ring, a ruby ring, a wrist watch and a revolver, a bank containing $2 and other articles were missing.

W. E. Emma Fahrbach, 1841 North Capitol street, and some friends were enjoying the music of a new phonograph, they heard a noise in a bedroom. They investigated and found a window open and the room ransacked. A diamond ring valued at $500 was missing and the thief had also taken $3.50.

W. E. Davis, newspaperman at the Claypool Hotel, reported to the police that some person stole her purse valued at $30 and which contained $25.

Mrs. L. S. Walden, 3302 Washington boulevard, reported that a motor meter was stolen from her car while the machine was parked in the garage.

The home of James E. Canney, 1815 West Michigan street, was entered and every room was ransacked. John C. Miesel, 437 North Lynn street, a friend, discovered the intrusion. Canary and his family are away from home and the police do not know where they have been.

Burglars, Edward E. Cannery's grocer, 1501 West Ohio street, and snatched away groceries valued at $2.

Thieves also broke into A. J. McCloud's hardware store, 1728 East Tenth street and took money and fishing reels valued at $24.

The police arrested Thomas Ellsworth of Summitville on the charge of vagrancy. They are investigating a report that he robbed Miss Hazel Nash, 1515 Central avenue, near the Federal building. Tuesday night of a purse containing $125. The 25-year-old Ellsworth served a sentence of 162 days on the Indiana State Farm, being sentenced at Anderson and was released only recently. Ellsworth was arrested at 916 East Washington street.

Mrs. J. A. Boyle, 4406 East New York street, reported to the police that a burglar entered her home while she was upstairs yesterday afternoon and carried away two hats. One, trimmed in brown, was worth $15 and the other was valued at $5.

DOGS ARE LEFT TO DIE OR GET WELL—WOMEN

(Continued From Page One.)

Hundreds of guinea pigs and many rabbits are raised. They probably have as large quarters as are usually provided. One room was quite clean with clover hay in the crates. Another was filthy and the rabbits and guinea pigs lay in the oval.

"A large sheep has a room to itself (one died recently). It had plenty of hay. Blood is taken from it every day. A dog sits in the room on which it is laid. It is said to be scared to death when approached."

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of experiments and operations, the caretakers have provided beds of straw for the dogs and have taken care of them when late yesterday a search warrant was issued by Judge Walter Pritchard in court and Mrs. Hazel Hill, 723 North Alabama street, accompanied by Sergeant Gaddis, humane officer, visited the college to see what could be done.

"The table scraps from the hospital are used for the dogs; lettuce is purchased for the rabbits and guinea pigs. Dr. Gatch operates on Tuesday and Thursday evenings."

NO PEAS UNDER
PRESENT METHODS.

Further investigation into the methods employed by the college to obtain dogs for the surgery is being conducted and has revealed some startling things.

From facts already known it can be said that as long as the college maintains its present methods of dealing for the dogs it uses, the pet of no man, woman or child, either in Indianapolis or in surrounding cities is safe from capture and death under the knives of the students.

SAY STRAY BEES
NOVEMBER.

Since the agitation caused by the investigation of the condition of dogs kept at the Indiana School of Medicine on West Michigan street for the purpose of