

SAFE BLOWERS LEARN SECRET

Police Files Show Each Man
Has Same Finger Prints.

Bert Perrot, Bertillon expert of the Indianapolis police department, today stated that he does not believe the men under arrest at Decatur, Ill., are Edward Stevens and Arthur Welling. Suspected safe blowers wanted in Indianapolis. E. G. Allen, chief of the Decatur police, sent only the finger print formulas to the Indianapolis department, and these formulas do not correspond with those in the Bertillon files here.

A strange coincidence is in the similarity of the real finger prints of Stevens and Welling. While the patterns of their finger prints are different, still their respective formulas are so near alike that the two cards bearing the finger prints lay side by side in the filing case. This is the only case where the finger prints of two men arrested at the time had formulas so alike that the cards were filed next to each other. There are more than 12,000 finger prints on file at the local police headquarters.

The finger print formulas show that Welling and Stevens have what is known as "ulcer loops," while the formulas sent from Decatur have "radial loops."

The men under arrest at Decatur gave their names as Hiram Lewis, Joe Alexander and Charles O'Day. Welling and Stevens were arrested at a hotel in this city following a series of safe-blowing jobs in and near Indianapolis in May, 1920. Welling was one of the twenty-four prisoners who escaped from the Marion County jail last July. Stevens was too big to get through the hole after the bars were sawed. However, he obtained his freedom by forfeiting a $500 cash bond in Criminal Court. The outfit of explosives and tools for safe blowing found in the possession of Welling is the most complete ever seized by the Indianapolis police.

According to Inspector Fletcher of the detective department the only reason he believes that the men under arrest at

Booze and Honor Led Him to Altar

BOSTON, March 31.—Charmed, while under the influence of liquor, combined with old-fashioned notions of honor, led John Baker (Romero) Keys, wealthy clubman, formerly of Cincinnati, to go through a marriage ceremony with Florence Girardin, elevator operator at the Harvard Club, according to Keys, who has brought suit for divorce. He names Henry Lawson of Boston and John J. Hanley, a Somerville garage man. Keys married Miss Girardin in New York, after overcoming many obstacles, on July 11, 1919, but alleges they never lived together.

Decatur are those wanted here or are possibly members of the same gang is the fact that they received money from a woman known as Mrs. Rose Phillips, Chicago. This woman is supposed to be the wife of one of the two alleged safe blowers who were arrested in Indianapolis and escaped.

La Porte County Paid Back $11,085.50 for Oil

The La Porte Independent Oil Company and the Indiana Asphalt Company, both of La Porte, have returned to La Porte County a total of $11,085.50, represented by alleged excess payments by the board of county commissioners for road oil, the State board of accounts has announced.

Investigation by examiners of the board, according to their report, revealed that the commissioners did not advertise for bids, that bids were not received and that other requirements of the law were not complied with. The examiners adjusted the price paid for the oil on a basis of what they believed to be a fair profit to the companies.

SAY 'DOPE' SENT FROM GERMANY

Authorities Believe Raid Uncovers Smuggling.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Authorities in charge of the enforcement of anti-drug laws were busy today pursuing clues which may lead to the discovery of a widespread system of smuggling narcotics from Germany into this country.

The first inkling that international "dope" smugglers were at work again came with a spectacular raid last night on a Brooklyn grocery which netted a quarter of a million dollars worth of heroin and cocaine, shipped here from Germany by way of Italy, Spain and South America. Dr. Carleton Simon, in charge of the narcotic division of the police department, undertook the raid, aided by a half dozen detectives. Five men and a woman were arrested. Some of the narcotics were hidden in spaghetti packages, and some in catsup bottles.

Giant Beast's Remains Unearthed at Farm

BARBOURSVILLE, W. Va., March 31.—What is believed to be the fossil remains of a giant prehistoric animal or reptile was uncovered on the farm of Preston Ballard, on Caval Creek. Only the jaws have thus far been exhumed and these are three feet long and contain ferocious looking teeth. The skeleton was unearthed in soil that appears to have once been the bed of a river. Hundreds of persons have visited the place and viewed the bones. Attention of the Smithsonian institute will be called to the find.

Indiana Companies Sued in Sugar Deals

Damages of $32,500 are asked from the Elliott Grocery Company of Logansport and $15,000 from the Charles W. Bauermeister Company of Terre Haute, in suits filed in Federal court late yesterday by B. H. Howell Son & Co. of New York City.

The suits are the outgrowth of the alleged refusal of the defendants to accept large quantities of sugar which they are said to have ordered from the plaintiff shortly before the break in the sugar market last fall.

Seven Pay Fines on Speed Offenses

THIS AIN'T NO DUD, BUDDY!

Irene Proposes to Knock 'Em Cold.

The opening performance of "Irene," Monday night at the Murat Theater, which has been reserved for the members of the American Legion and their friends, will find many of the former fighting men humming "I don't want to get well."

The Berry-Copeland Legion Post 128, composed of nurses who served in this country and overseas, has reserved a large block of seats for the legion performance and will share in the fun. Miss Florence Martin, commander, stated that the initial reservation had been increased several times due to an unusual demand for seats.

"Our theater contingent will come prepared to render professional service," said Miss Martin, "and a watchful eye will be kept on the boys in the front line."

Miss Emily Winters, 1305 North Pennsylvania street, is in charge of another group of feminine workers in the war which is taking part in the legion entertainment. Miss Winters has organized a theater party composed of former Red Cross canteen workers. Instead of dispensing the customary sandwiches and coffee, the girls will have a liberal supply of smiles to pass around among the boys.

The program of "stunts" which will amount to a show in itself is rapidly nearing completion. Dr. John Ray Newcomb, chairman of the stunts committee, is in Cincinnati today conferring with the management regarding the schedule which he desires to interpolate in the Tilley was arrested on March 24, by Detectives Kelley and White soon after he pawned an overcoat valued at $24, stolen on the same day from the home of William Smith, negro, 1119 East Sixteenth street.
