more or less concerned with the claims of Jesus Christ. In some way, this Jesus is forcing himself upon your attention and is forcing beautiful things upon your life."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S NIGHT OBSERVED.

Last night was again observed as young people's night and the evangelist purposely directed his remarks and so fashioned his sermon so it would be an appeal which would interest younger minds.

The evangelist chose as his text the twenty-seventh chapter of St. Matthew, beginning with the nineteenth verse, which concerned the actions of Pilate in asking the people what they wished done with Jesus. The Gipsy drew many beautiful lessons from the actions of Pilate in yielding to the clamoring of the mob that Jesus should be crucified.

is still unable to work behind the bat. The answer you give will decide the question of whether you are a good man or a bad man. It will determine your character and you will go up or down just as you answer that question. You cannot shut Jesus out of your heart and be a good person. You will be a bad man if you shut Christ out of your life. You can't be truly happy without Jesus. All of our misery comes because you have shut Jesus out of your life. The trouble with us today is that God is not in our plans.

"A prayerless and Godless life is animal, vulgar, mean, selfish and cruel—there is no peace in that sort of a life. Your happiness will be determined in the way you answer the question—What shall be done with Jesus?"

"You may have all that money can buy and yet if you haven't Jesus in your heart, you will be miserable. You cannot be truly useful unless you have Jesus in your life. The Jewels of character are but the pearls of suffering. If your heart aches and sorrow dims your eyes with tears and a great sorrow comes into your life, you don't go to the dilapidated person for comfort, but you go to the one who has walked through the fires of pain with Jesus. You get the sweetest and purest things from those who have gone through the fires with Jesus."

DESTINY TO BE DETERMINED.
"Something else will be determined—your destiny. You are in school today but next week you may be in the cemetery. Next week you may be measured for your casket and tomorrow you may be marked for death. If there is no Christ, there is no heaven. No Christ, no crown, and no Christ, no victory."

The Gipsy then assumed the attitude of a lawyer defending a client in court when he said, "I want a verdict. I am pleading for your souls just like a lawyer pleads at the bar for a criminal. I want a verdict from the jury for Christ."

"You can't get along without Jesus. You cannot escape Him. You cannot hide some place when He passes by because He will find you. You admit the flowers. He made them. I see Him in the wing of a sparrow as much as in the wing of an angel. I see Him as much in an atom of dust as I see Him in a mountain. When I passed through the Rocky Mountains a few weeks ago I saw God in every valley and on every peak. I saw Him on every leaf, on every tree. When you take up a piece of bread He is in it. He fathers the rain."

"What will you do with Jesus?"

"There is just one more question—what will Jesus do with me? You determine that by the way in which you answer the question. The most thing you can do is to give your vote to Jesus. I know what I am talking about, because I did it. There is no friend like Jesus."

Home Run Drives by Gipsy Smith

"If we can capture the women for Christ, we shall capture the homes." "You can not shut Christ out of your hearts and be a good person." "The Jewels of character are but the pearls of suffering."

"I am pleading for your souls like a lawyer pleads at the bar for a criminal. I want a verdict for Jesus Christ."

"I see Jesus as much in a wing of a sparrow as I do in the wing of an angel."

"Boys, God wants you for men who will stand for clean and decent citizenship as men who will hold up the Stars and Stripes until they become the pride of the world."

"Girls, you are wanted to lift the womanhood of the state and the nation to Jesus."

He has held on to me all through these years. His power will break away the chain of handicap.

NO CHARGE OF WRONGDOING.

"Jesus lets you keep what is worth keeping. He only comes to save you from debauchery, vulgarity and sin. My dear young people, I am not charging you with any wrongdoing. If you have not put Jesus into your life, you have sinned against Jesus."

"Boys, God wants you for mission-aries. He wants you for Christian statesmen and Christian politicians. He wants you as men and citizens who will stand for clean and decent citizenship."

"He wants you as men who will hold up the Stars and Stripes until they become the pride of the world."

"Girls, He wants you to lift up the womanhood of the State and the Nation to Jesus."

During the course of the invitation many young people rose to their feet and so declared themselves for Jesus.

CHEERED.
The evangelist then invited the young people to come to the altar and shake his hand. Hundreds of young people hit the sawdust trail and came forward.

When more than a dozen soldiers from Ft. Benjamin Harrison came forward, the audience broke out with cheers.

"If heaven is no better than this I will be satisfied," said the evangelist as he grasped the hands of the soldiers.

A 70-year-old man was led forward by a personal worker of the campaign.

A little girl came forward and asked for her "daddy."

"Father, you are a doctor. Come forward and join your daughter," pleaded Gipsy.

In a few seconds the doctor came forward, joined his daughter and then his wife came to the front and took her place beside her husband and her daughter while the audience cheered and the evangelist prayed.

NEGRO ACTED AS DOG 'SEASONER'

went operations there recovered. He called one dog out and said:

"This dog has undergone an operation that no human being ever underwent and you see how lively he is."

Dr. Gatch, in a statement made to Lieutenant Houston of the police department and others, said that there were no experiments conducted on dogs at the surgery, but that they were used solely for the purpose of instructing the students. The statement of the student that the dog had undergone an operation such as no human being has ever undergone is at variance with this statement and tends to support a rumor of a recent "unfortunate experiment" in which it was reported that a dog's stomach was removed and replaced in an unnatural position and the dog lived.

The disclosure that a protest was lodged with Dean Emerson more than a year ago against the treatment of the dogs is the direct result of the recent failure of the "humane officers" whose work appears to have fallen under the direct supervision of Dr. Gatch to take any interest in the college's treatment of dogs.

HE'S ONE AND THE SAME DR. PFAFFLIN.
Dr. Pfafflin, who, through some misarrangement of the affairs of the Indianapolis Humane Society, appears to be able to block an investigation of cruelty to animals by the "humane officers," is the same Dr. Pfafflin who boasted of having been invited by the Kaiser's government to take charge of a German hospital at the opening of the war.

It is said to have been largely through his influence that action against the college by the Humane Society was blocked more than a year ago when complaint was made that dogs were being cruelly treated at the college.

Persons interested in these complaints are said to have laid them directly before Dean Emerson and to have received his personal assurance that the operations on dogs would be so conducted at the college as to preclude any possibility of complaint from any one who understood their purposes.

Prior to that time it is understood dogs were received by the college from the city dog pound, but since then arrangements have been made at the pound by which the Humane Society sends homes for friendless dogs that can be saved and humanely destroys those that are not fit to become home pets.

ACTION AT DOG POUND.
The refusal of the authorities at the dog pound to give the college dogs for use in the laboratory is said to have started the controversy. The college, which has apparently been met by persons more intent on the financial benefits than an observance of law in procuring them.

Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed when the college was obtaining dogs from the pound because the better class of dogs were desired by the college for its use.

The peculiar circumstances surrounding the recovery by Judge Walter Pritchard of the dog, which was given to him to the suspicion that the dog was caught some place awaiting eventual transportation to the college. Following publication of the story, however, the dog was given to the college by the judge.

"Jerry" a man, who refused to reveal his identity, phoned the judge that he had "Jerry" and would return him. The next morning "Jerry" was on the porch at the judge's home.

PRACTICE CONDEMNED IN 2 MORE LETTERS

Editor The Indiana Daily Times:
I've read your letter to little Vernon Robinson in last night's paper about his little lost dog. I, myself, lost a dog about four years ago, and my heart never felt bleeding for him to this day. It is an awful thing to lose a pet. Please expose the negro that steals dogs and perhaps he will meet with something he won't like. A dog is the best friend man ever had or ever will have, and indeed people that don't care for the suffering of animals have something wrong with their make-up, and God one day will bring them to an account.

A READER.
Indianapolis, Ind.

To the Editor of the Times:
It is surely a great satisfaction and a relief to know the horrors of vivisection are at last being uncovered, and I am so grateful to know we have one newspaper that isn't afraid to publish the facts of brutality. The Times is to be commended for such a fine sense of humane work for our dumb animals and I know this is only the beginning of the clearing out of cruel, useless experimentation.

This is in reference to investigations being carried on in the medical college. Let us keep up the good work.

Thanking the Times so much for its courage and kind feeling, I am

CAN'T DECIDE ON SCHOOL BRICKS

Board Plans Another Special Meeting.

Few persons realized that a promise long made by the board of directors of latent powers of romance, poetry and eloquence not exceeded even by the moon, and other objects of romantic thought.

But brick salesmen waxed so eloquent in their oratory over the merits of their products at the special meeting of the board of school commissioners yesterday that it was found necessary to defer consideration of the proposed fresh air school to cost about $30,000 and proposed changes in the normal school system until next Tuesday evening when another special meeting will be held.

One member of the board was late in arriving and the other members had gone downstairs to look at the bounteous brick display. When he reached the other members were some individual with memories of the quarreling and wrangling that has marked recent meetings of the board said:
