

EXTREMISTS TO GIVE UP FIUME

Fascisti to Relinquish Hold After Clashes.

MILAN, April 29.—The Italian Fascisti (extreme Nationalists) that seized the government at Flume in defiance of the Italian Jugo-Slav governments, has promised to relinquish their power to an extraordinary commission headed by Mayor Ballasch. According to information received from Flume today, the Italian government and all the Italian parties have agreed to support the commission. The Fascisti were reported from Trieste to have agreed to leave Flume Friday night.

Violent clashes between the Fascisti and Croats occurred at Flume before the former promised to give up their arms. Five persons were killed and seven were wounded in one clash in the suburbs. For a while two governments were in being at Flume, one headed by the Fascisti and the other by Mayor Ballasch.

WOMEN QUESTION OFFICE SEEKERS

Inquire About Stand on Market Situation.

Additional letters received from mayoralty and councilmanic candidates by the market committee of the Woman's Department Club indicate that a large majority of candidates of both parties are strong in favor of improving market conditions in accordance with the plans of the club.

Several weeks ago the committee, which is composed of Mrs. William H. Hart, Mrs. Rowland Evans, Miss Alma Sickler and Mrs. Ira Holmes, chairman, sent out a list of questions to all candidates. Mayoralty aspirants were asked particularly as to their stand on the question of diverting the revenues of the city market into the general fund, a practice the club has insisted is illegal.

Among the first group of answers received were letters from E. J. Robison and Thomas C. Howe, the latter the News-Jewett candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination. Mr. Robison answered fully and frankly that he was in favor of applying the market revenues to the improvement of the market and not diverting market revenues to the general fund. Professor Howe on the other hand wrote much and said little.

Since that time letters have been received from Edgar A. Perkins, B. M. Robison, J. W. Losh, the News-Jewett candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket, and Adolph J. Meyer, candidate for the same office on the Republican ticket. All made favorable answers to the questions asked by the committee.

Favorable replies were received from the following Democratic councilmanic candidates: Andrew J. Blischer, First district, who not only favors all things advocated by the club, but also is in favor of naming a woman as assistant market master; Peter B. Shaffer, Third district; William J. Hayes, Third district; Robert M. Madden, Fourth district; and Otto Hay, Sixth district.

Republican councilmanic candidates in favor of improving market conditions are John C. Bowler, Second district; Theodore J. Bernd and Ira E. Highbanks, both of the Fifth district.

began to burst the granite to splinters, and in less than a quarter of an hour had dug a well more than a hundred feet deep in the solid rock.

"Is the well deep enough, your Majesty?" asked Puss politely.

"Certainly," answered the king, "but where is the water to come from?"

"But Puss has a diamond in his pocket," said the king.

"He just opened his knapsack again and took out the nutshell all covered with moss, and placed it on a magnificient fountain vase which not having any water, had been filled with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

"Gush! Gush! Gush!" cried Puss Junior.

And would you believe it, the water began to burst out among the flowers, singing with a gentle murmur, and falling down in a sparkling cascade, that was so cold that it made everybody shiver.

"You have indeed earned the reward," said the king.

And he ordered that a little donkey be saddled and bridled and the six bags of gold be hung from his back, three on either side.

"I can but try, your majesty," said Puss bravely, and then he opened his knapsack and took out his Magic Pickax, and, laying it carefully on the ground in the proper position, cried out:

"Pick, pick, pick!"

"And would you believe it! The pick

ENLISTED MEN'S SUPREME NERVE SAVES 2 SHIPS

Jones, Decatur, Lawrence, Farragut, Porter, Dewey and Ingram.

"Where did you get that last name?" somebody asks. "The others are familiar, but who was Ingram?"

The Ingram is the first ship of the Navy to be named after an enlisted man, and it is the first ship to be named after a depth-charged knight.

Fully aware of the peril he was running, the crew without a minute's hesitation, ran astern and began to strip the depth-charges and throw them overboard.

The Cassin had made a quick turn, and for a moment it looked as if the torpedo might pass astern. But, when it was fifteen or twenty feet away, it leaped, porpoise-like, from the water and struck the ship.

HERO IS KILLED: DESTROYER SAVED.

There was a terrific explosion. Gunner's Mate Ingram was killed instantly. But the Cassin remained afloat.

With rudder gone and stern shattered, it kept going, even though it could go only in circles; and its crew, when the U-boat emerged to see what had happened, opened fire. Dismayed at this show of fight the U-boat ducked again and quit the combat.

Help came for the Cassin, and she was taken to port, repaired and returned to service.

But Gunner's Mate Ingram had given his life to save the ship and the crew.

That is why the long established precedent was broken and an American ship was named after an enlisted man.

I rather think the American people will see it was justified in breaking the precedent.

There were so many deeds of daring, so many instances of personal bravery, that these seem to characterize the entire service and I feel so strongly that only opportunity was needed for any one of the half million to distinguish themselves that I might write beside the whole service—"Heroes All."
