QUICK RECOVERY OF U. S. SEEN

Reports of World Finance and Trade Form Basis for Rosy Predictions.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Rosy predictions of early recovery of American industry and agriculture, have as their basis, it has developed, highly optimistic diplomatic reports from abroad, reflecting more favorable world factors in finance and trade of a permanent character. These new factors which give renewed hope for restoration in the near future of foreign trade upon a more normal scale are significant, officials asserted.

Back of the extraordinary measures adopted by President Harding, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Governor Harding of the Federal reserve board, to loosen the financial situation, has been the benefit of the oppressed and debt-ridden farmer, is the certain knowledge of high officials that the world demand for American products must soon be resumed.

Accurate reports from all parts of the world today revealed to officials of the Federal reserve board that there has been a gradual depletion of accumulated stocks of American merchandise abroad. The board takes the view that the establishment of new credits, facilities and reopened the channels now closed for American products.

The establishment of new credit support for moving American products and assurances to the farmer that he can continue producing at a profit, is now sought by the Administration. President Harding soon will resume his conferences with middle western, southern and western financiers.

STATE PARKS ARE POPULAR

Turkey Run Attendance Increases 100 Per Cent.

The increasing popularity of Hoosier State Parks is evidenced in the statement today of Richard Lieber, director of conservation in Indiana, that the attendance at Turkey Run State park in May this year was 100 per cent. greater than in May, 1920. A year ago 1,887 persons visited this primitive beauty spot during May. This year the May attendance was 4,076.

Mr. Lieber, Dr. W. K. Hatt, State engineer; Professor Wiley, Purdue University, and M. J. Stinchfield, assistant state engineer, have completed a survey of this park preparatory to opening up certain sections heretofore inaccessible from lack of trails and bridges.

"The popularity of this park has increased by leaps and bounds," said Mr. Lieber, "until the attendance has outgrown that territory in the reservation heretofore available to the nature lover. In order to facilitate the capacity it is necessary to build new bridges across several canyons and cut new trails over the cliffs. By this work which will start at once, this park will soon be in a position to meet the demand of thousands of tourists and the people of Hoosier cities who find its shade restful and its cool quiet ideal during the summer months."

Members of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association and their friends will hold the annual midsummer association meeting at the park June 10 and 11, and, according to the executive committee making arrangements for the gathering, at least 500 persons are expected to attend.

WOULD MAKE ORATORS OF P. M.'S

Hays Tells Them to Talk in Public Schools.

"Make orators of our postmasters" apparently is the motto of Will Hays, postmaster general and champion proponent of the present Administration at Washington.

In his last proclamation, which was received by Postmaster Robert E. Springsteen today, the Postmaster General directs that all postmasters arrange to deliver personal talks to the pupils of the public schools as to the workings of the postoffice system. They are directed also to confer with local school authorities as to the most effective means of instructing school children as to the organization and operation of the postoffice system.

Another entirely separate, distinct and individual proclamation postmasters, supervising officers and bureau heads are directed to give prompt attention and consideration to all suggestions and complaints submitted by employees.

JAPAN FACING CABINET CRISIS

Military Policy Brings Clashes in Empire.

TOKIO, June 4.—A cabinet crisis exists here today as a result of the resignation of War Minister Lieutenant General Tanaka. Some of the newspapers declare the privy council probably will immediately impeach the ministry and many papers printed the demand that Premier Hara resign at once.

Lieutenant General Tanaka offered his resignation following a clash over military policy. It was accepted and imperial sanction was given to appoint Major General Yamashita, vice minister of war, in succession.

Despite the attacks upon the Hara ministry in a section of the Tokyo press, the opposition was advanced in responsible quarters that Premier Hara probably would weather the storm.

The premier was quoted in some of the leading newspapers as saying that the cabinet is not being impeached but that the privy council is taking action to make it easier to keep the administration under surveillance in the future.

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

A committee from the church started over to the Oak Hills neighborhood Monday with a lot of flowers for a sick person, but changed their minds before they got there, deciding that it would be better to wait until the man died.

There will be preaching at the Hog Farm church next Sunday. No collection will be taken up and a large crowd is expected.

Sid Hocks says some persons in making a show of their wealth persist in putting the five-dollar bill on the outside of the roll of cash, and he says he does too when the occasion demands.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel!"

SUNDAY June 5.
This is not a lucky day, according to astrology. Although Venus and Mercury are in a mildly benefic aspect Uranus and Jupiter are adverse.

Letters are subject to a daily fortunate sway, especially those addressed to women.

Romance may tempt both men and women to courtship, but Uranus is in a place that enables them to be easily deceived.

Persons whose birthdate it is should take special care of their money during the coming year. They will find speculation very unfortunate.

Children born on this day may be restless and inclined to be extravagant. These subjects of Gemini will succeed best as employees.

MONDAY, June 6.
This is a most threatening and unfavorable day, according to astrology. Venus, Saturn, Mars and Neptune are all in evil place.

There is a forecast that seems to indicate for women a tendency to demand much as their political right and they may have a period in which they must struggle for real equality with men, even though they may have the vote.

The stars seem to presage evil for Great Britain, which is to suffer as it through some peculiar trick of fate.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a strenuous year. They should avoid litigation.

Children born on this day may meet with many difficulties, but these subjects of Gemini are usually gifted and resourceful. They are fond of keeping busy and have the power to accomplish a great deal.—Copyright.

10-YEAR SEARCH REWARDED BY FINDING GOLD

Texas Claims to Have Located
Fortune in Mexican Cave.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 4.—After ten years of ceaseless searching through the wildest portions of northern Mexico, Adam Fischer, geological engineer, has returned to his home here and announced that he has located and laid claim to the famous Cavallo Blanco treasure cave in which he claims there is more than $73,000,000 in gold and silver bullion and Spanish octagonal dollars stored. He is now awaiting a concession from the Mexican government in order to bring his huge treasure out of the mountains.

The story of the gold and silver bars and Spanish dollars dates back to the early part of the nineteenth century when a revolution against the Spanish rule in Mexico was in progress.

Spanish officers, fearing defeat, removed the bullion from the treasury and concealed it in the cave, in the heart of the Cerro De La Silla Mountains, near Monterey, in the state of Nuevo Leon.

Mountain bandit gangs attacked the retreating Spanish officers and killed them. An ancestor of a prominent local family was captured during the revolution by the mountain bandits and held captive in the famous cave where the stolen treasure was concealed and the old records were recognized by a bandit whose life he had saved and was permitted to escape.

On his deathbed he described the location of the treasure cave to Adam Fischer, a Spanish officer, and he killed them.

Fischer says there are 8,640 gold bars, valued at $5,000 each; 4,500 silver bars, valued at $5,000 each, and $7,500,000 in old Spanish octagonal silver dollars, concealed in the cave. He places a total value of $73,330,000 on the hidden wealth.

APPEAL IS MADE TO SENATOR NEW

Friends of Armenia Gain
Promise of Assistance.

Thomas C. Day, treasurer and vice chairman of the Indiana committee of Near East Relief, leading a delegation of the friends of Armenia, yesterday appealed to Senator Harry S. New to use all the influence he has in urging the United States Government to take a hand in Turkish affairs in the effort of preventing further massacres of Christians.

If the French are permitted to withdraw their forces, Mr. Day declared, thousands of Armenian Christians will be left to the mercy of the Turkish Nationalists.

"It is reported by absolutely trustworthy authority," said the spokesman, "that Turkish Nationalists have proclaimed that most of the Armenians destroyed in their conflicts with the French will be rebuilt with the skulls of Armenians."

Senator New promised to give what aid he could. He declared to the delegation that from what he knew of the situation "the Armenians are the most unfortunate people on earth." In a former session of the United States Senate Mr. New was a member of a sub-committee to investigate Armenia, the other members being Warren G. Harding and John Sharpe Williams. Senator New told Mr. Day it would take an armed force of 20,000 Americans to keep peace in the Levant, a departure, he said, that was impossible on the part of this Government.</
