

PACKERS ASK TO CUT PAY IN 'BIG 5' PLANTS

Effort Forecasts Strike Is Belief Expressed in Labor Circles.

OWNERS PRESENT BRIEF

CHICAGO, June 8.—Labor circles in the packing plants owned by the "big five" packers are in turmoil again today as the result of the latest request of the packers for permission to reduce wages. The packers late yesterday filed an application with Judge Samuel Alschuler, arbitrator of wage disputes in the packing industry, asking permission to cut wages in the stockyards 5 cents an hour, effective June 10.

Leaders of packing house unions declined to comment officially on the latest move of the packers. Individuals, however, expressed the opinion that the packers were seeking to force a strike that would result in increased values of meat now held in storage. It also was pointed out that the prevalence of unemployment would be a factor favoring the packers in the campaign which union officials declare they are waging to "smash the unions."

The packers, in asking wage cuts, claim that the reductions are indispensable to the continued successful operation of the packing industry. The brief filed by the packers declares that farmers are losing money because of conditions in the packing industry for which "high wages are directly responsible."

The wage cuts, it is granted, will effect approximately 2,000 men. Should the workers decide not to accept the cuts and go on strike approximately 200,000 workers in half a dozen cities would be affected.

The packing plants at present are working under an agreement reached last March at the instigation of Secretary of Labor Davis, which does not expire until September. By this agreement the packing house employees were reduced 8 cents an hour.

FRANKLIN CLOSES ITS SCHOOL YEAR

Forty-two Seniors Receive Diplomas.

Special to The Times.

FRANKLIN, Ind., June 8.—Franklin College closed its eighty-seventh annual commencement exercises at the College House here today. The class degree was delivered by Dr. Allyn K. Foster, New York City.

Forty-two young men and women received diplomas.

Bachelor of Arts.

They were: Harry Bailey, North Vernon; Theodore Bassett, Linton; Frank Beck, Lebanon; Ora Beebe, Liberty Center; William Bishop, Osgood; Myra Carter, Hammond; Barbara Cather, Franklin; Lucile Catron, Lucerne; Nellie Davis, Westport; Letha Delard, Lebanon; Dorothy Deer, Franklin; Charles Farmer, Franklin; Lillian Fishback, Southport; Roscoe Freeman, Franklin; Helen Fuller, Bedford; Mary Graham, Lebanon; Pauline Hitz, Franklin; William Kingsolver, Franklin; Alvin Logan, Columbia City; Norma Merrill, Indianapolis; Naomi Mullenders, Franklin; Howard Myers, Nyack, N. Y.; Grace MacArthur, Chicago; Horace McClain, Franklin; Fern McGuire, Indianapolis; Roy Reeson, Greencastle; Walter Rice, Columbus; Carl Schlaudt, Lawrenceburg; Mildred Scott, Greenwood; Donna Smoot, Washington; Russell Spear, Shelbyville; Fern Teagarden, Spencer; Alice Thompson, Franklin; Charlotte Trout, Franklin; Schenck Wainwright, Peru; Merrill Webb, Franklin; Nellie White, Franklin; Lois Williams, Bedford.

Bachelor of Science.

Thomas Boardman, Martinsville; Loy Montgomery, Waldron.

At a business meeting of the Franklin Alumni Association held Tuesday the following officers were elected: Raymond H. Sellers, Franklin, president; Elmer Stevenson, Indianapolis, vice president; H. F. Waggoner, Franklin, secretary, and Arthur A. Alexander, also of Franklin, treasurer.

Stops Bottle With Head; In Hospital

Alexander Baker, negro, 908 Soloto street, janitor at the Marion County courthouse, is in the city hospital for repairs today, his head having stopped a milk bottle last night.

Baker went to the home of Ollie Johnson, 821 Locke street, last night, to get a ring valued at $25, which Baker alleges a woman who stays at the Johnson home took from his invalid sister, Hazel Baker. The police say that Baker tried to drag the woman out of the house and that John Hines, negro, another roomer, slapped Baker on the head with a milk bottle. Hines was arrested on the charge of assault and battery.

Indianapolis Man Is Fined for Speeding

Special to The Times.

COLUMBUS, Ind., June 8.—Clancy Dronberger, Indianapolis, who was arrested here yesterday charged with exceeding the speed limit, pleaded that he was hurrying to a drug store to procure medicine for his sick wife and child when arraigned in police court. He was fined $1 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge. Dronberger's wife and child live here.

Revise Proposed Beer Regulations

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Regulations for the sale of beer as medicine will be delayed a week or ten days because of necessary revisions in the tentative draft of the regulations. Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair announced today. The revisions are understood to tighten the proposed regulations.

School Notes

MANUAL.

The Top Ten list for the final marks consist of: House 1—George Gloschen, Alonzo Martin, Joseph Adelman, Roy Hynes, Maurice Miller, Charles Davis, Everett Dammer, Charles Becht, Charles Meyers, William Mitchell, Kathryn Tacoma, Sarah Axelrod, Margaret Peary, Edith Bullard, Mary Christian, Anna Pollak, Mabel Bullard, Lucy Court, Lillian Goben, House 1—Joseph Klovsky, Lester Buld, Francis Humberger, Irvin Baumer, Titus Month, Louis Wides, Irvin Baumber, Leslie Laut, Leonard Bean, Stanley Engstrom, Raymond Amt, Ureal Peary, Marie Rank, Gladys Watts, Wanda Haverskamp, Loretta Holmuth, Mary Thompson, Doreta Heger, Joyce Stephens, Mildred Spear, Myrtle Newman, House 11—David Lehn, Wesley Wilson, Alfred Rafter, Wilfred Rafter, Herbert Wamper, Solomon Popp, Harold Sweeney, Harold Wallman, Ben Sacks, Kollie Taylor, Adele Wiefenbach, Ruth Mahoe, Lucille Barber, Bernice Gaskins, Marie Strieblen, Helen Adolay, Ethel Reerman, Dorothy Williams, Elsie Sander and Edna Staub.

REFUSED NEW TRIAL.

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 8.—Ralph Cole of Gary, convicted of the murder of Eric Johnson, was refused a new trial by Judge Martin Smith in the Criminal Court here Tuesday. It is said that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court.

WILL NOT ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF WOMAN TEACHER

Greencastle School Officials Retain Principal of Long Service.

MARTHA J. RIDPATH.

Special to The Times.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., June 8.—To be a teacher five days a week with Sunday added and still be optimistic, is beyond the imagination of the average person, but that is the record of Martha J. Ridpath, who has just returned to her old profession at the age of 65. Greencastle school officials refused to accept her resignation, but granted her a leave of absence instead.

In memory of her twenty-six years as principal of the Greencastle High School, the building in which she served was named the Martha J. Ridpath building in May, 1910, when appropriate exercises were held for the dedication, in which school officials, townspeople and pupils participated.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

SAY STILL OWNER HID UNDER HOUSE

Police, in Raids, Confiscate 'Booze Machines.'

Joe Roginsky, 1911 Wilcox street, hid under the house when he saw the police coming to raid his home yesterday afternoon. The police found a ten-gallon still with the mash boiling and bubbling and then searched for Roginsky. He made his appearance when the police threatened to shoot if he did not come out from under the house, and he was arrested and charged with operating a blind tiger. The police obtained one gallon of "white mule" whisky. Lieutenant Jones had charge of the raid. Lieutenant White, Sergeant Tooley and other officers went to a house at 552 Highland avenue yesterday afternoon and when they found no one at home they raised a window and Sergeant Tooley crawled in. The police say they found two stills, a half gallon of "white mule" whisky and sixty gallons of mash. The police are searching for persons said to own the stills and liquor.

Auto Found, but Son Is Still Missing

The automobile owned by J. F. Holland of Linton, Ind., and used by Mr. Holland's son, Ray, 22, when he left home May 20, has been found at Fulton, Mo. Ray Holland drove out of his father's garage on May 20, and nothing more was seen or heard of him until his father received a letter from the authorities at Fulton. They had written the secretary of State in Indianapolis and found that the car deserted in Fulton, which had Indiana license plates on it was owned by Mr. Holland. The parent who has searched for his son in all parts of the country went at once to Fulton and identified the automobile. He was told that two young men got out of the car at Fulton and boarded a freight train going West. One of the men answered the description of Ray Holland.

Cripple Confesses to Issuing Bad Check

Special to The Times.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., June 8.—Robert Wooldridge, 26, of Indianapolis, who was brought here Monday evening from Evansville, by Sheriff Ray Sexton, was arraigned in the Shelby Circuit Court Tuesday and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of passing a worthless check for $140 at the Farmers' State Bank in Fountaintown last March. Wooldridge is almost helplessly crippled from rheumatism and was hardly able to stand in the courtroom. He was released on his own recognizance by Judge Alonzo Blair who took the case under advisement.

Elks Open Meeting Today at Evansville

Special to The Times.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 8.—The Indiana Elks' Association assembled here today on the occasion of the twentieth annual State convention. Delegations are expected from all the leading cities of the State. Otto F. Strodel, Ft. Wayne, president, and other State officers arrived Tuesday. Thomas G. Hodian, Indianapolis, is State secretary. Mayor Benjamin Bosse will deliver an address to the delegates to which President Strodel will respond. An old-fashioned barbecue will be staged in Exposition Park Thursday afternoon.

11 P. M. Is Deadline in Richmond Parks

Special to The Times.

RICHMOND, Ind., June 8.—Spoons which enjoy the moonlight on a park bench had better consult the calendar and choose nights when the silvery beams are cast before 11 o'clock, Superintendent of Parks Ed Hollan announced today. He added that special efforts will be made this summer to enforce the 11 o'clock deadline in all Richmond parks.

TEACHERS GET DIPLOMAS HERE

Lucius B. Swift Delivers Address at Commencement This Morning.

Commencement exercises of the Teachers' College of Indianapolis were held in Roberts Park Church this morning. Lucius B. Swift delivered the address. Eliza A. Baker, president of the college, presented the diplomas, speaking briefly of the work accomplished by the class.

A musical program was given by Charles F. Hansen, organist, the school chorus and an instrumental trio consisting of Ruth Elizabeth Murphy, violinist; Yuba E. Wilhite, cellist, and Franc Wilhite Webber, harpist. The feature of the musical numbers was the singing of a group of children's songs by the students. The Rev. Walter C. Davis gave the invocation.

The graduates are as follows: Bachelor of Pedagogy Degree (June, 1921)—Anna Mildred Allison, Mary Ella Barton, Rae Elizabeth Peterson, Mary Yager Sullivan, Carolyn B. Jones.

Graded School Diploma (The Two Years' Course)—Mary Lois Cavender, Esquith Coons, Glendene Brandenburg, Elsie Marie Deek, Anna Frances Farrell, Ruth Fast, Gertrude Louise Heier, Elmer La Salle, Almedia Pio Lowman, Ella Dorothy Malay, Marie Martin, Evalene Miller, Nellie C. Morrison, Doris Ada Moffett, Ethel L. Orear, Thelma Lucile Poe, Naomi Virginia Ravellings, Nell Ryan, Selma Josephine Royer, Josephine Mary Schmidt, Mabel E. Spitzer, Ruth Thornberry, Pearl Tannet, Laura Tucker, Mildred Anna Woodcock, Mary Kathryn Wogaman.

Class C Certificate Course (The Three Years' Course)—Ethel L. Bryan, Evalene Miller, Ethel L. Orear, Mary C. Ruffing, Goldie S. Warren, Ruth S. Wilmore.

Home Economics Department—Stella Black Cox, Beulah Heffernan, Ethel M. Peary, Cora Peel, Ruth Ralston, Verneice M. Shepler, Mabel G. Wellington.

Domestic Science Department—Helen E. Sinclair.

Kindergarten and Primary Department (The Two Years' Course)—Lucille Naomi Beldon, Evelyn A. Boeber, Anne L. Brandon, Hope Fribley Brillhart, Florence Burdette, Eva Mae Campbell, Ruth Cecilia Carney, Vera Irene Crooks, Catherine E. Druley, Arta Caroline Duncan, Mary Indiana Frazee, Ruth Finfrock, Dorothy Jean Fisher, Marguerite Frances Fry, Gertrude Mae Gardner, H. Lucille Goldstine, Emma Marie Henry, Louise Johnson, Norma Dorothea Johnson, Anna Kilbourn Taylor, Frances E. Lewis, Nina Leavell, Naomi Verena Mayer, Lorrinda Elizabeth Miles, June Florence Nash, Mary E. Nash, Ruth Newman, Lola D. Paulus, Evelyn Louise Refeked, Lola Elizabeth Roseburgh, Esther Rubin, Susie Mae Satterlee, Wilma Elizabeth Scott, Anna Maude Steele, Thelma C. Spengler, Esther J. Sussman, Winifred Lucille Smith, Mary Katherine Thomas, Anna Reba B. Zollar.

In 1889, Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died in 1889. Miss Ridpath was elected president of the Society of Alumni of De Pauw University and for many years she was permanent secretary of the organization. Within the last few weeks she has completed the latest annual record of De Pauw.

Although one of a family of teachers, Miss Ridpath says that she was averse to entering the profession and felt no inspiration regarding it until she began the actual work. Before this time, several of her brothers and sisters had taught school as a means of earning their way through De Pauw University. John Clark Ridpath, the famous historian and former vice president of De Pauw, was a brother. He died