ROGGE COMING BACK TO JOIN INDIAN STAFF

Big Clint Reclaimed From Reds and Enzmann Transferred to Toronto.

MCGRAW MAY SEND AID

In place of diamond activity on the baseball lot at Washington Park today a number of announcements interesting to the fans were made by the Tribe club officials. Activity in the executive department opened when today's wind-up game with the K. C. Blues was postponed on account of wet grounds. Rain of the night and morning put the grounds in a sorry shape and both Managers, Knabe and Hendricks were agreeable to calling the contest off and arrange to play it on the Blues next visit here.

As to the activity of the Tribe executive department most of the news concerned the pitching staff. The weak spot in the Indian machine, Clint Rogge, is coming back to the team, according to a statement given out by Hendricks. The right-hander to be returned by the Clays Reds via a purchase. Rogge did well as a relief hurler at Cincinnati, but was not quite strong enough to start and finish games on the big league. However, managers around the American Association rate Rogge a high-class performer and the Indian club officials decided to get him back.

His own request. Pitcher Johnny Enzmann today was transferred to the Toronto International League team. Johnny's home is in the East, and it has been his desire to play in that territory for some time. He did not show quite strong enough here and Manager Hendricks permitted the pitcher to make a deal for himself. With Rogge returning to take Enzmann's place the fans readily will realize that the Indians are not losing anything by the changes today. It may occur that the Indians will get a pitcher or a utility infielder out of the Enzmann transfer, but this was indefinite today.

Owner Smith and Manager Hendricks departed for Cincinnati this afternoon to visit the Reds and Giants. John McGraw is believed sweetening up to the Hoosier club again, and if he has a surplus of cash or is capable of making Class AA grade as utility man Owner Smith means to do business with the Clays boss. McGraw has been at Hendricks did not go to Clays merely to view the scenery and it would not be a surprise if they return with McGraw tail.

Owner Smith is keen to bolster the Tribe pitching staff and he does not want to see the Indians strike a slump. The A. A. race is in the air, and the leading clubs are on the lookout for talent to bolster the weak places. Kansas City evidently is capable of making a deal for only yesterday the K. C. management signed Dode Packer, veteran outfielder and also race track jockey, and for Schenberger, a Western League winner. Owner McGraw has been heard to stand to see the Blues loading up without getting busy himself and the Rogge return and the Smith-Hendricks trip to Cincinnati today apparently is part of the local team's program to strengthen.

The departure of McGraw today does not mean that thrills will cease at Washington park, for tomorrow those chesty make the time the champions will make their first 1921 visit to the Tribe lot to open a four-game series.

Two-time champions have not had the race to themselves this season, but they are dangerously close to the top and it is not to take all the Indians have if the Kelleys are to be turned back on their first appearance here.

Manager Miller Kelly will have a number of his last year's champs with him. Dessen, Miller, Hays, Charlie, and still drawing their checks from the Clays. The W. K. Alexander Duke Reilly, former Indian, who was still hanging on the Clays pay roll last year, is being out-fitter and pinch base runner by Kelly and if he is still with the club tomorrow there's a bound to be more than one kid-ding match when he shows before the Tribe fans.

In the Tuesday game at the park the Blues ran wild, winning 12 to 4. The Hoosiers had a good day today, while the Blues had one of those big "on" days. All the "breaks" went to the visitors, and they had a little trouble winning.

Petty, Stryker and Jones were used on the mound by the Hendricksmen, the former starter and lasting until the seventh. He was lacking in control and his wildness kept him in hot water. The Blues had two big innings, the fourth and seventh, scoring four markers in the fourth and five in the seventh. Horstman went the full route for the Blues, having trouble in the early innings, but tightening later.

Big League Stuff

Bob Shawkey let the champion Cleveland Indians down with five hits Tuesday while the Tribe Indians had a day of Covelskis and crept up on Cleveland.

Brower's single in the tenth inning turned the tide of victory toward Washington against Detroit.

The Red Sox scored their fourth straight victory when they took the opening game from the Browns. White's double in the sixth decided the game.

Two home runs and a triple by Rogers Hornsby helped the Cards smother Brooklyn under an avalanche of runs.

Freeman downed the Phillies at Chicago, but failed to down Emil Keussel, who hit his tenth home run of the season, passing George Kelly.

Oeschger's single in the eighth broke a tie between the Braves and Pirates and gave Boston the victory.

Rube Marquard took great delight in shutting out the Giants at Cincinnati with five hits.

Julie E. Moe of Chicago, former University of Illinois star, has been sent to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League. Frank J. Nault, president of the Detroit baseball club, announced Tuesday. Moe will report to Portland at once.
