

SINN FEINERS MINE BRITISH TROOP TRAIN Attack Forces in Special Guard for Royal Pair at Belfast.

4 DEAD AND 20 HURT

LONDON, June 24.—Four British soldiers attached to the forces that had been guarding King George and Queen Mary at Belfast were killed and twenty injured when a troop train was mined by Sinn Feiners near Dundalk, said a dispatch from Dublin this evening quoting an official statement issued by Dublin Castle.

Early reports from the scene estimated the dead and injured at forty, but this figure proved an exaggeration.

A mine was set off just as the second half of the train was passing over it. There was a terrific explosion and a great number of deaths and injuries were caused. The cars that were not wrecked by the blast were blown from the rails. Some of them rolled down into a gully.

POLICE GUARD
SCENE OF WRECK.
Large forces of soldiers and police were rushed to the scene from Dublin and Belfast.

According to one report, the train carried cavalrymen and artillery. Another report was that it carried a company of the 1st Buffs.

The seat of the outrage is a lonely mountain district. Train wreckers have been active there before.

MILITARY CAR IS AMBUSHED

DUBLIN, June 24.—The streets of Dublin were swept by bullets and filled with the roar of exploding shells when a military car was ambushed on a road leading to the city.

The car was a military ambulance. It was carrying several wounded soldiers. The attack was followed by widespread raids by police and soldiers.

DE VALERA ARRESTED AND RELEASED

LONDON, June 24.—Reports that Eamon de Valera "President of the Irish Republic" had been arrested in Ireland and subsequently released, were officially confirmed by the Irish office today.

It was explained that De Valera was released because it is the policy of the government not to persecute political persons.

Several versions of the arrest of the Irish leader were given. He was supplied with food and other necessities and provided with sleeping accommodations similar to those of the officers.

FREED AFTER NIGHT IN BARBERS.
After spending the night at the barbers, an office told De Valera that he was free and at liberty to go where he wished without fear of molestation.

According to the version of the Dublin correspondent of the Daily Express, the disturbance occurred in a Dublin street and De Valera was among those arrested in consequence. No charge was preferred against the Sinn Fein chief.

The Daily Telegraph understands that documents found in De Valera's possession were sent to London for examination by Scotland Yard and the Irish office. The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Express, in commenting on the King's Belfast speech and his appeal to Ireland "to forget and forgive," admits that the Irish question is the most local. It holds the interest shown in it by the United States.

"Universal peace depends on its solution to a greater extent than in any other factor," said the Daily Telegraph. "Without Anglo-American friendship the future holds little promise of tranquility. Ireland is the principal obstacle in the way of an understanding with America, which would be the surest guarantee against future war."

Technically, De Valera is an escaped convict and could have been held on a criminal charge aside from any political charge. His release is interpreted in London to mean that general orders have been sent out by the Cabinet and Dublin Castle to treat Sinn Feiners leniently.

MANY CHILDREN WOUNDED AT CORK

CORK, June 24.—Several children were wounded by revolver and machine gun bullets during heavy fire in the city during the night. The total casualties were, a 19-year-old girl, a 5-year-old girl, a 15-month-old girl, a 12-year-old girl, two men and one woman. All the children are in a critical condition.

Much of the shooting was done by Crown forces in the city. The children were wounded in the head while operating a sewing machine in her home. The 15-month-old girl was in her mother's arms when she was wounded.

A boy was wounded in the head of an officer's home and exploded near a 4-year-old girl, but the child miraculously escaped injury.

Four men in an automobile threw bombs at a police detachment and escaped.

Expect Greek Reply on Peace in Turkey

PARIS, June 24.—The Greek reply to the allied note offering to mediate for peace between Greece and Turkey is expected to arrive from Athens tomorrow or Sunday. An Athens dispatch to the Matin says the Greek government will not absolutely reject the offer, but will agree to discuss it further upon conditions that conform to the treaty of Sevres.

The Petit Parisien says it learns from Turkish sources that the Turkish National Assembly has launched a vigorous offensive against the Greeks in Anatolia.

No Swimming Pool; Town Firemen Will Turn Hose on Kids

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.
DECATUR, Ind., June 24.—This town being without a public swimming pool, the fire department has agreed to let the hose in the water for the purpose of the population twice a week for cooling purposes. The city council instructed the firemen to supervise the water frolic, while chaplains from the Woman's and Rotary clubs look after the bathing suit clad youngsters.

PETITION ASKS REFERENDUM ON WAR MEMORIAL

offered to the presenter without invitation, but for the fact that William P. Evans, the present incumbent of that office, has taken an active part in opposing this movement and has threatened to sue the petitioners for libel.

"The charge has been made and reiterated by the Indianapolis News that 'anybody's' around the activities of these petitioners. It is true that we did not have a brass band. There were several reasons we could not afford it, nor could we conceive of any way in which it would advance our task. We did not want the Indianapolis News to say that we were not ennobled by the character of our disposition and because we desired no intercourse whatever with a vicious, discredited newspaper. The office from which we were released was open to visitors and no effort was made to keep secret our activity.

"The policy pursued by the Indianapolis News in its attack upon this petition is to interfere with our work to the extent in the eyes of some poorly informed persons we have been given undesirable characters and we therefore have no choice but to set things straight in the public mind.

"If this proposed election should not be held there is nothing to prevent the expenditure of twenty million or more on this plaza plan. All economists in the country seem agreed that taxation must be reduced; thousands of ex-servicemen in Indiana are in dire straits. They cannot eat a pizza, nor wear it. The influence behind this project agreed to assist the bonus bill supporters at the last legislative session in returning their aid on the plaza bill. They double-crossed the bonus advocates. It is the height of folly to squander millions of dollars for showy monuments when the State has already provided a suitable memorial.

"This screaming champion of the primary and interpreter of the people's voice—the Indianapolis News—has questioned the patriotism of our petitioners. We have no national debt, no national emergency, no national crisis. We are engaged in a struggle with individuals who know nothing of good taste or ethics, but we want to call attention to the fact that at least 2,000 good Americans have become disgusted with the city of Decatur, Indiana, because of the city's attitude toward the Worcestershire battalion, where he was recognized. The arrest took place Wednesday evening and the Sinn Fein leader was liberated Thursday morning, under a standing order from the provost marshal to allow De Valera personal freedom.

A party of English soldiers had been detailed to raid a certain house. They seized a quantity of documents and found a quiet, spectacled man, who apparently resided upon the premises. The supposed owner of the house was told to accompany the soldiers to their barracks and he did so without demur.

It is understood the Irish "president" was treated courteously while in the custody of the police. He was supplied with food and other necessities and provided with sleeping accommodations similar to those of the officers.

PLAN INCREASE IN FALL CREEK PUMPING PLANT

Water Company Hopes to Supply North Side from Enlarged Station.

Additions to the Fall Creek pumping station which would increase its capacity by 10,000,000 gallons of water per day, thereby making it possible to supply the north side north of Fall Creek from this plant, instead of from the Riverside station, is contemplated early in 1922 or 1923 by the Indianapolis Water Company, it was disclosed today, following a conference of officials of the company. Leonard Metcalf, nationally known utility engineer, who is inspecting the water system, and the board of public utility commissioners.

Mr. Metcalf after a general survey of the water plant recommended increasing the capacity of the Fall Creek station, both of the reason that it would enable the north side to be served by a plant which would be closer and would send water downhill instead of by the Riverside plant which must pump water from four to five miles up hill and because the Riverside plant might sometime be flooded, leaving most of the city without water service. The Fall Creek station now serves only Irvington and rightwood.

Water is pumped from the Fall Creek station to the Riverside station by a pipeline which is 10 miles long. The Fall Creek station is located on the north side of the city, while the Riverside station is on the south side.

The Fall Creek station is a large plant with several pumps. It is located on a hill and has a view of the city. The Riverside station is a smaller plant with fewer pumps. It is located in a valley and has a view of the city.

He Plans to Paddle Nymphs and Satyrs With Barrel Staves

CHICAGO, June 24.—Dr. Raymond B. Prettymann, north shore dentist, had a collection of barrel stave paddles today and a deep resentment. Behind his avocations other night came men and women's voices, wailed in on ukelele jazz from the region of the beach. He asked his boys and a neighbor to walk down and investigate. He was amazed. There were men and women, thirty-six in all, clad only in moonbeams, capering, dancing, toddling and shimmying.

"Get your clothes on and go home," commanded Dr. Prettymann. "Get out of here." He bought a sugar barrel, made paddles and arranged with neighbors to wield them in a surprise attack upon the nymphs and satyrs the next evening.

Civil Ceremony Unites Duke of Marlborough and Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston.

PARIS, June 24.—The civil ceremony uniting in marriage the Duke of Marlborough and Miss Gladys Deacon of Boston took place at the British consulate at 11 o'clock this morning. The religious ceremony will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

The witnesses at the consulate were Eugene Higgins, J. T. Jewell, Walter Berry and L. C. Renaut. The press photographers and moving picture operators gathered in front of the consulate were surprised when an elderly man dressed in a light grey suit stepped up to them and remarked:

"I suppose you want to take pictures. Well, I am the Duke."

Miss Deacon wore a navy blue charmeuse dress and blue hat.

Leaving the consulate the couple again faced the camera men.

"Won't you please smile?" said a moving picture operator.

"I am sorry but I cannot smile yet," replied Miss Deacon.

The Duke and Miss Deacon went to the Higgins home for luncheon.

The name of the clergyman who will officiate tomorrow was held up. The Duke had much difficulty in finding a minister to perform the ceremony.

The list of guests, issued Thursday, contained the names of the most prominent members of the British and American colonies. Among those invited are Prince and Princess Chimay, the Italian Ambassador to France, Prince George of Greece and the Princess Eugenie Murat, Baron Rothschild, Marquise Polignac, Princess Raimond, Marshal Poch, President Millerand of France and Anatole Francis.

CARRIERS TO GO TO CONVENTION

Postal Employees Form Club to Send 75 Men.

Local letter carriers are planning to send a large delegation to the annual convention of the National Association of Postal Employees, which will be held at St. Louis Sept. 5-10. In addition to the twelve delegates from this city, selected at the convention of the State association recently, about seventy-five other carriers from the Indianapolis post office will accompany the delegates.

The "St. Louis Convention Club," the members of which pay into the treasury of the club a specified sum every week, will defray the expenses of the club to the convention.

The postoffice department at Washington is cooperating with the carriers to enable them to make the trip and today Robert E. Springsteen, postmaster, received orders from Washington instructing him to grant leaves of absence without pay to as many carriers as he considers advisable in order that they may attend the convention.

Mr. Springsteen says that the fact that Labor day, which is a holiday, comes on the opening day of the convention, will enable many of the carriers to spend two days in the city without loss of pay, as the club will leave here on Saturday.

The two delegates from Indianapolis are: John E. Larver, R. L. Mace, C. E. Pogue, Orin Collins, C. J. Jervay, L. J. Silver, L. E. Frazer, Hurely Stonebraker, W. H. Gerds, V. E. McKenzie, B. F. Entwistle and J. F. Matthews.

Modern 'Babes in Wood' Found Here

"Two babes in the woods" had no more thrilling experiences than did Frank White, 5, and his sister, Mildred White, 3, who were found sleeping in Brookside Park at 10:30 o'clock last night by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Meister, 1506 N. Gale street. At first the children were so frightened they were unable to tell where they lived. Mr. and Mrs. Meister talked kindly to the children and after much coaxing the older child, Mildred, was taken to her home. The children were taken there but no one was at home. Mr. Meister took them to police headquarters. Neighbors refused to care for the children, so the police took them to the police station and an investigation is being made today.

THEATER WALLS CRUMBLE; 7 DIE

Eleven Others Injured When Movie Building Is Wrecked—Only 20 in House.

BARNESBORO, Pa., June 24.—This was a town of sorrow today following the collapse of a wall and roof of the Grand Theater, a motion picture house, last night, which resulted in the death of seven persons and the more or less serious injury of eleven others.

The foundation of the theater building, softened by rain, crumbled beneath the wall and one side of the structure caved in, carrying the roof into the center of the auditorium, through the second floor, occupied as an apartment.

The crash came at a time when the majority of those present were children. Not more than twenty persons were in the house at the time. This was all that prevented a long death list.

County authorities have started a thorough investigation to determine if any negligence was connected with the disaster.

The dead:
Mrs. Charles De Witt, 22.
John Gorman, 45, Westover, Pa.
Mary Gorman, 7.
John Gorman, 5.
Donald Coy, 5.
Mary Covey, 27.
John Turner, 25, 2 years old.

The explosion of the films in the projection room added to the terror and started a fire that required much effort to extinguish.

Turner, the operator, was struck by a beam as he attempted to jump from his booth. His injuries caused his death two hours later.

Recovery of the bodies was slow work due to the great mass of debris, and the search for other possible victims continued throughout the night.
