

BRITISH MINE STRIKE ENDS IN AN AGREEMENT

Terms of Government Accepted and Work Will Be Resumed at Once.

LONDON, June 28.—The British coal strike has been settled, it was officially announced today. The miners accepted the Government's terms.

Work in the coal pits, idle almost three months, will be resumed immediately.

The agreement was understood to have carried a subsidy to guarantee wages and to prevent loss to colliery owners. The latter were said to have been important concessions in the matter of wages. It was stated unofficially that the miners abandoned their demand for nationalization of the mining industry. That demand was the principal obstacle in the way of a settlement at previous conferences.

Secretary Frank Hodges of the miners' union promised that the men will accept the settlement reached in conference here. Parliament was expected to approve a subsidy, although conference looked for spirited debate before action is taken.

HOUSE OF COMMONS RECEIVES NEWS JOYFULLY

Premier Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that an agreement had been reached between the strikers and the colliery owners and that the men would return to work at once. The news was received with cheers and there was the utmost rejoicing throughout the whole country.

It was learned that Premier Lloyd George would ask Parliament to sanction a renewal of the subsidy offer of ten million pounds sterling.

This offer had been previously made on condition that the strike was settled within a certain length of time but the time limit passed without a settlement.

The subsidy was to be applied to the men's wages so that the wage reduction which the mine owners insist is necessary, can be carried out gradually.

MINERS' SECRETARY GOES TO COAL FIELDS

Frank Hodges, secretary of the Federation of Miners, and the other members of the executive committee, left London late today. They are going into the coal fields to explain the settlement terms to the miners and recommend their acceptance by the various locals.

Hodges said that some hostility was expressed in South Wales and Scotland, but he predicted that the mining industry would be in full operation again within a week.

'SOCIAL CALLS' END IN BASTILE

Enters Home Via Window—Now Peers Through Bars.

Lottie McElroy, negro, 404 West Walnut street, made a few social calls late yesterday. The first was at the home of E. M. Stevens, 2637 Ashland avenue; the second at the home of B. A. Sunderland, 2725 College avenue, and the third at the matron's office at police headquarters.

She made her stay at the matron's office a lengthy one and occupied one of the cell rooms. At the Stevens' home it is said one entered through a kitchen window and carried away two watches, a pair of silk hose and 99 cents worth of postage stamps. At the Sunderland home she was attempting to enter the rear door with a key when frightened away. Motorpolice Hansford and Lansing searched her after they had arrested her near the College avenue house and found the loot taken from the Stevens home in her possession. She is held under a $5,000 bond.

The police later arrested Linsey McElroy, negro, 404 West Walnut street, who Lottie said is her husband. The man denied that he is married to her and said her name is Lottie Mitchell, and that he came to Indianapolis with her from Louisville in April.

The woman admitted that she had entered or attempted to enter at least seven homes in the northern part of the city, but was unable to tell in what streets the houses were located. The police say that McElroy would work at a house, cleaning in the morning, and obtain the "key of the door," and that the woman would call later in the day and commit the robbery. Two other watches and clothing were found when the room occupied by the couple was searched.

Charges against the woman were continued until July 6 in city court.

Detectives say that the woman went to the home of C. S. Bacon, 2317 Park avenue, and tried to open the rear door with a key. She failed to turn the lock she went to the front door and had unlocked it and started to enter when she was met by Mrs. Bacon in the front hall. The negro fled.

Detectives Stone and Erverson charged McElroy with vagrancy, and unlawful possession of a revolver.

Detectives said they had information that the McElroy woman had served time in prison at Cleveland, Ohio, for burglary and had been out only a little more than three months.

John Haynes, 1821 Parkway avenue, identified the woman as having been stolen from his home on June 22.

Profit-Sharing Basis Introduced

LONDON, June 28.—The coal strike has been settled upon a profit-sharing basis, according to the Exchange Telegraph. This is the first time in the history of Great Britain that such a principle has been introduced in industry. After allowing for standard charges, the remainder of the profits of the coal companies will be divided upon the following basis:

Wages 55 per cent.

Mine owners' profits 17 per cent.

The settlement has the approval of the government.

WOMAN RESLATED ON 3 CHARGES

Ruth Mack Accused of Vehicle Taking, Larceny, Burglary.

The reslating today of Ruth Mack, 18, 1632 South Keystone avenue, arrested Friday by Patrolman Owens on a vagrancy charge, completes the investigation of the burglary of a dry goods store in Northwestern avenue and the theft of an automobile. The Mack woman was reslated on charges of vehicle taking, grand larceny and burglary by Detectives Coleman and Gollins, who were assigned to the case.

According to the detectives Mrs. Mack, with Fred Linville, 1113 North Tacoma avenue, and Harold Elliott, 734 Madison avenue, stole an automobile belonging to David Willis, 1215 Newman street, about a month ago. On the night of June 13 the trio removed the molding off a front window of William Miller's dry goods store, 2828 Northwestern avenue, entered the place and stole shirts, hose, suspenders, belts and collars, valued at about $15, the detectives said. The loot was placed in the machine and when the three reached Northwestern and Twenty-sixth streets their machine ran out of gasoline.

Patrolman Shea noticed the three early in the morning and started to investigate. They were seen in the machine on the pretense that they were going after some gasoline. They did not return. When the officer started in search of the two men the Mack woman was arrested.

After her arrest Mrs. Mack revealed the names of her confederates. Linville was arrested Saturday on a charge of burglary, grand larceny and vehicle taking and Elliott was arrested yesterday on similar charges.

HYGIENISTS O. K. SHORT ONES

Conservatives Win With Socialists

DETROIT, Mich., June 28.—Bitter conflicts were being waged between radicals and conservatives in the American Socialist party whose convention is being held here today and the conservatives are winning out.

Today the convention went into executive session to receive and consider a communication from the Legislative committee and to pass on plans for holding a Socialist Congress from voting for military or naval appropriations.

WHITE MULE IN SUIT CASE. Albert Johnson, 912 Munkingum street, arrested by Patrolman Fred Owens, on June 16, on a charge of operating a blind fight, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to ten days in jail on a charge of receiving liquor from a common carrier by Judge Walter Pritchard, in city court today. Johnson was arrested at Keystone avenue and Prospect street, when the officer found four quarts and one pint of "white mule" whisky in a traveling bag he was carrying. Johnson is said to have told the officer that he was delivering the liquor for "another man."

RAIL SHOPMEN REJECT WAGE CUT OF 12 PCT.

Vote 385,000 Against Acceptance and 48,000 in Favor.

CHICAGO, June 28.—With the vote of the railway shopmen overwhelmingly opposed to acceptance of a wage reduction from 85 to 77 cents an hour, as ordered by the United States Railway Labor Board, railway circles became alarmed that the Nation might be confronted with a serious railway crisis within a fortnight.

The shop crafts employees voted $8.00 in favor of acceptance of the wage slash, with 385,000 opposed to it.

Unofficial reports of the trend of the vote in the four railway brotherhoods indicated the wage slash, amounting generally to 12 per cent, and effective July 1, was not popular and that the brotherhoods' chiefs might be asked to call a strike.

It is understood the brotherhood chiefs themselves are against a strike.

The vote of the shopmen actually affects about six hundred thousand railway workers or about half of those employed by all railway systems in the country. The remainder of the men—the clerks, switchmen, engineers, conductors and trainmen—have left final action regarding a strike to a committee of their officers and various class and division groups. They will meet here Friday to canvass the situation.

CAN HARDLY IGNORE THE SHOPMEN'S VOICE. It is pointed out that even should the railway workers' general committee recommend acceptance of the wage cut, the shop craft employees' vote against it scarcely can be ignored.

The employees, as a whole, have agreed to abide by a majority action, and the shopmen represent half, or more, of the total railway men.

The result of the shopmen's vote was tabulated in the office of E. M. Jewett, president of the railway employees' division of the American Federation of Labor.

Labor officials are declared to be doing all they can to avert a nationwide rail walkout. They fear the disastrous effect it would have upon the country's already crippled economic life.

Finally, it is pointed out, the railway men are already in readiness for a strike. A strike benefit fund of some $20,000,000 has been accumulated during the past three years by the men, but with 1,200,000 men drawing only a weekly benefit of $10 from it the strike fund would last only a couple of weeks.

BOTH HAVE POWERFUL WEAPONS TO WIELD. Should the wage cut be rejected by the workers and their chiefs, both the union leaders and the railways will be armed with powerful weapons to be used in further negotiations. The railways would have the backing of the board, while the union chiefs would be in a position to flourish the strike club.

A new development in the situation comes in the possible proxying of the national working agreement which was to be effective next Friday, under the United States Railway Board's decision.

Many of the railroads will be unable to reach agreements with employees by July 1 on rules submitted for the national election.

Labor board has itself lacked time to draft a set of rules which it had intended for such lines as found it impossible to reach an agreement with the railway unions.

SOME MAY HAVE MADE NO ATTEMPT. A majority of the railroads have either failed in their effort to carry out the board's instructions to "get together" with employees on new working agreements, or have not completed the task. It is reported that a few of the railroads have made no effort to meet the employees' representatives on the matter.

Mary Indiana must have new and better school buildings. It is our responsibility to our children and to the future of our city that the public schools of Indianapolis be placed to the highest plane in personnel and physical equipment. The school board has inaugurated a building program compatible with the urgency of the city's needs. It is working steadily and consistently to improve the school facilities of the city and to save the taxpayer money.

PLANS TO EXTEND ITS MEMBERSHIP. "Believing that the citizens of Indianapolis desire to have as the five members of the school board men who are equipped and who have the will to carry out the big constructive program that will make Indianapolis schools what they should be, the Board of School Trustees has extended to every school district of Indianapolis.
