

FRAUD CHARGE CAUSES LAUGH IN PLAZA FIGHT

Memorial Opponent Welcomes Court Fight on Petition Demanding Referendum.

Both sides to the war memorial plaza controversy were squaring away for a fight today. The proponents of the plan led by the Marion County Council of the American Legion were making arrangements to map out a plan of campaign at a dinner to be held tonight in the Chamber of Commerce.

Opponents of the project, who were instrumental in having a petition filed on the city council to order a referendum on whether bonds should be issued for the acquisition of the memorial tract, outlined partially their campaign objectives in statements. They are proceeding on the assumption that the election will be held in the belief that the petition will withstand all possible legal attacks and will be recognized by the city council with a mandate for a special referendum.

Attorneys interested in the movement said that activity of the remonstrators probably would be confined to dissemination of informative matter, in which case special stress would be laid upon the need for rigid economy in all governmental undertakings. Joseph Collier, a plaza opponent, said that the remonstrators would not follow the lead of the pre-plaza forces in organizing workers by precincts.

"Such a course would reduce this controversy to the level of the usual political struggle in which the merits of a case play less part than prejudice in the settlement," he said. "We intend to make it possible for every voter in the city to learn just what a vote for such an expenditure will mean. That will be the extent of our campaign."

LAUGHES AT FRAUD CHARGES.
Mr. Collier laughingly waved aside questions concerning charges of fraud in the anti-plaza petition.

"I can't see what those fellows are driving at," he said. "This petition would never have been filed if it was not all right. It is certain to stand any sort of scrutiny either by the city council or by a court. Advancement of the plaza will only create the impression that the yare playing the 'baby act' if they continue to rant about alleged irregularities in the petition. In gathering a petition of that size it was inevitable that some earnest but poorly informed persons would sign with a lead pencil or do something else that might afford technical ground for opposition."

"The advocates of the plaza knew that when they slipped a joker into the legislative act providing that the referendum they were promising, could only be obtained by remonstrance. It is perfectly clear that they have been bent on spending the people's money without giving the people a chance to approve or disapprove since this movement was begun. An election is going to be held. If they think they could gain anything by court action they may as well try. In the meantime their charges of fraud are unwarranted insults against the public-spirited men who are seeking to give the people a right to be heard."

CITY ATTORNEY TOO OFFICIOUS.

Not more than three hundred names appear on sheets of the petition not directly headed by the remonstrance, according to C. W. Miller, a director of the petition movement. Mr. Miller pointed out that the petition carries 4,000 signatures more than is required by law. He suggested that publication of the 300 names would soon reveal whether any fraud was perpetrated in that connection. "But I want to say now," said Mr. Miller, "that we are not greatly concerned about the talk of 'throwing out' pages. The men who are discussing fraud so freely have no more to do with throwing out pages than I have. The city legal department is very officious in this matter. This petition is none of their business. The document is addressed to the city council, and that body has solicited no assistance whatever from the city attorney up to this time."

HEALTH CRUSADE AT SHORTRIDGE

Two-Day Institute Will Be Opened Friday.

An institute for the instruction of health crusade workers in Indiana will be held at Shortridge High School Friday and Saturday, with Miss M. Grace Osborne of New York City in charge. The institute is under the direction of the Indiana Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Osborne is an Indiana woman and a native of Indianapolis. Several years ago she was associated with the Indiana Tuberculosis Association and in 1918 joined the staff of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association as crusade director for that State. Her work was so outstanding that in 1920 the National Tuberculosis Association made her assistant national crusade director. Since Miss Osborne has become connected with the national association, the number of health crusaders in the schools has increased from approximately three million to almost six million.

Health workers declare the modern health crusade is the best method of teaching children health habits. It is planned after the days of knight-hood, when King Arthur and his crusaders repelled invaders and fought for ideals. The modern health crusaders repel the enemies of health and work for cleanliness of body. Instead of being made an ordeal for the children, the crusade becomes a game and great interest is aroused. In many cities the crusade has been made a regular part of the school curriculum.

Representatives from twenty-five counties will attend the institute. Marion County will be represented by Miss Pearl Stanton, crusade director for Marion County; Miss Grace M. Blaisdell, crusade director for the Indiana Tuberculosis Association; Miss Ina M. Gaskill, supervisor of nurses, and Miss Annabel, assistant.

Fined for Speeding; 2 Counts Go Over

Kenneth Dolan, 507 North Alabama street, arrested June 22, by Patrolman Fred Jones on charges of speeding, failing to display a license plate and violating the muffler law, pleaded guilty to the speeding charge and was fined $30 and costs by Judge Walter Pritchard in city court today. The other two charges were continued indefinitely. The officer told the court Dolan was driving a high-powered machine in West Market street and when he reached the 1100 block crowded him up onto the sidewalk. A few blocks away, Dolan had engine trouble, the officer said and he arrested him.

LOCAL TENOR IS A GOOD FRIEND

Of Charlie Chaplin and His Pal, Jackie Coogan

Most of us must be satisfied with seeing the shadow of Charlie Chaplin and Jackie Coogan.

No so with George W. Kadel, a tenor, who lives at 3323 Evergreen street, Indianapolis. Kadel sang the prologue to the Chaplin-Coogan movie, "The Kid," when that picture was first presented at the Kinema theater at Los Angeles, Cal. Both Chaplin and Coogan were present at the opening. The three appeared together at the first showings of the comedy. Kadel sang for five weeks during the run of "The Kid" movie at the Kinema.

Last year, Kadel went with the Shriners to Portland, Ore., and from there he went to San Francisco and Los Angeles. He was first engaged by W. G. Stewart to appear in an opera company which he was organizing for the coast. For eight weeks, Kadel was a member of this company which appeared at the California theater at Los Angeles.

At the close of that engagement, Kadel went into concert and recital work, appearing in a number of the exclusive clubs in Hollywood, Los Angeles and Frisco. He was engaged as soloist for the opening of Mack Sennett's comedy, "The Small Town Idol," which ran for eight weeks in Los Angeles. Following that engagement, he appeared in connection with "The Kid" movie.

Kadel then decided to get nearer Indianapolis and so he began a six-weeks' engagement at the Newman in Kansas City. At the close of that engagement, Kadel arrived in Indianapolis for a brief rest before leaving on Thursday for Cleveland, Ohio, where he becomes a soloist for S. Barrett McCormick, former manager of the Circle here, and who is now manager of the new Allen Theater in Cleveland.

Next season Mr. Kadel expects to join one of Ralph Dunbar's opera companies, either "Carmen" or "Robin Hood."

Kadel is well known in musical circles of the city, as he has often appeared here in public.

'RELIGION MEANS DOING GOOD NOW'

Biedewolf Gives Concrete Examples in Sermon.

"Religion means carry a bowl of soup around the corner to some sick woman; it means getting a job and doing it; it is not a question of the sweet by and by but of helping the needy now," Dr. William Biedewolf, evangelist, of Chicago, declared in a sermon on Monument Circle last night. The services included singing by the Cade tabernacle choir of 1,000 voices, directed by Joseph Overmeyer.

"The greatest business enterprise this city has is to save souls," Dr. Biedewolf said. "The greatest thing that is to be done in this business is to bring about regenerated hearts and souls of men and women."

"Some ruin their hearts trying to shove up a notch in Bradstreet and some people try to get salvation while letting others go to the devil. We hear folks sing, 'I Love to Tell the Story,' but they never tell it to any one, and they sing 'I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go,' but they never shake an ankle to help some one else. They think they get a lot of bliss out of what they do for themselves, but perhaps they will only get blistered in the world to come."

The invocation was delivered by Rev. J. G. Beck of the Tuxedo M. E. Church and the benediction by Rev. F. L. Hovis, pastor of the St. Paul's M. E. Church.

WHAT HOLDS MEN BACK

IN LIFE, IN MANY CASES, AND MAKES THEM WEAK, NERVOUS AND IRRITABLE WHEN THEY OUGHT TO BE IN THEIR VERY PRIME.

As men grow older the iron in their blood is apt to thin out and as a consequence their nerves and will power become weakened and they may rapidly lose both bodily and mental vigor. A New York physician says that more than one-half the population of America perishes before middle age and that one of the chief contributory causes of this terrible waste of human life is the depletion of iron in the blood. There are 30,000,000,000 red blood corpuscles in your blood and each one must have iron. When your blood is starving for iron, no mere tonics nor stimulants can put you right; starving blood must have iron, the same as a starving person must have food—iron is red blood food. But when you take iron be sure to take organic Nuxated iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic Nuxated iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples. It quickly helps make rich red blood and revitalizes your worn-out, exhausted nerves. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists—Advertisement.

Regulations and Working Conditions Agreed Upon in Engine and Train Service.

Notice has been given to the United States Railroad Labor board that the Pennsylvania railroad and the representatives of its employees in engine and train service have mutually agreed on regulations and working conditions affecting these employees, according to a statement issued today by the company. The employees concerned are the engineers, firemen, hostlers, conductors, trainmen and switch tenders, numbering more than forty thousand.

"These regulations," says the statement, "were negotiated by representatives of the employees and representative of the management, who are members of the joint reviewing committee of the Pennsylvania system. This committee was established early this year for the settlement of all controversial questions involving the employees in engine and train service. Eight representatives of the employees who sit on this committee, and the negotiating representatives of the management's representatives, are the system general chairman of the four railroad brotherhoods.

"The new regulations and working conditions are in the form of a system schedule for the employees concerned. Heretofore, the men in engine and train service have been working under two different schedules, one for the former lines east, and one for the former lines west of Pittsburgh. There were many points of difference between the two schedules, and many questions involved in each of the two schedules themselves. Due to the fact that prior to, and during, the war the two parts of the system were not operated as a unit.

"When the Pennsylvania Railroad resumed the management of its property on March 1, 1920, however, the system was reorganized as a unit, with four regions. When the employees in the engine and train service requested that a system schedule be established which would harmonize the differences between the existing schedules, and settle points of controversy within the schedules themselves, the members of the joint reviewing committee assumed the task and constituted themselves a schedule committee to work out a new arrangement."

CHICAGO SUSPECTS FREED.

Albert King and Raymond Stewart, who say they live in Chicago, Ill., arrested June 18 and held on vagrancy charges, were released today by Detectives Houthan and Brickley and Sergeant Chittwood, on charges of issuing fraudulent checks. The detectives say they found ten checks, amounting to $100 each, in their possession, which they say are of no value.
