

PARK SERVICE CHIEF AGENCY IN SAVING TREES

City-Wide Effort Need in Combating Oyster Shell Scale Menace.

LAWN SPACE PROBLEMS

By VOLNEY B. FOWLER.

In the general plan of the board of park commissioners for the beautification of Indianapolis the improvement of the appearance of streets and grounds around homes has been a very important part. Although the board scheme was worked out several years ago it has only been within the last two or three years that this particular phase has been given organized attention.

Improvement of the appearance of streets and lawns has been undertaken by the special service of the park department. The special service enforces ordinances relating to the removal of dead and dangerous trees and limbs, the injury of trees by the wires of public utility corporations and gives free advice and assistance to citizens upon the laying out and planting of their grounds, as well as preventing and controlling plant diseases.

George E. Morgan, a graduate of Purdue University, has been at the head of this service for the past two years. He answers hundreds of calls from citizens who wish to know everything from whether they have bought the right kind of shrubbery to when they should set out pansy plants. The information is free and every week use of the service grows. Valuable service has been rendered in protecting the public from quack tree doctors, and in issuing bulletins upon spraying, pruning and planting.

HAMPERED BY STREET PROBLEM.

While it is possible for the department to do much through the special service it has developed that as it now is organized it is not functioning as well as it is desired. The present law, giving the park department control over the planting and care of shade trees on public lawns, is based upon the fact that the city only has an easement sidewalk and street lawn space, the property owner (Continued on Page Four.)

RECESS FIGHT ON IN SENATE

Lodge Resolution Calls for Vacation From Thursday to July 28.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Senator Lodge today introduced a resolution in the Senate for a recess from Thursday of this week until July 28. This was the signal for the agricultural bloc to open its fight to keep the Senate sitting until the agriculture program has been enacted. Lodge and other Senate leaders and for the recess upon the farmer group, if possible, it was stated.

Immediately Senator Norris, Nebraska, urged consideration of his bill creating a corporation for the exportation of farm products. He declared the "people" of many European countries are starving for our surplus supplies.

Senator Borah said a recess of three weeks would be no benefit to Senators living west of the Mississippi river. They would hardly reach home than they would have to return, he said.

On the anti-medical bill Senator Borah declared it was of such importance that he was of the opinion that it could not be passed before Thursday.

Truck Driver Drove Off After Accident

George Dickman, 21, 2854 Brookside avenue, was arrested today on a charge of driving to stop after an accident. Dickman's arrest followed an accident at North and Meridian street, where an automobile truck said to have been driven by him, collided with a car driven by James Isaac, 417 Darnell street. Isaac's car was badly damaged.

Isaac, old Motor Policeman Mullin and Kelly, that the truck driver refused to give his name and drove away immediately following the accident. It was learned through the records of the Secretary of State that the truck license was issued to the L. H. Rain Coal Company, 212 North Pine street. It was at the office of this company that Dickman was arrested.

Youth Charged With Theft of Automobile

Ernest Gibson, alias Charles Jackson, 21, 520 East 12th street, was arrested on the charge of vagrancy yesterday and related today on the charge of vehicle taking. Detectives allege Gibson stole an automobile belonging to Lewis Secar, 3000 North Alabama street, June 29, from near the Federal building. On the following day the car was found stripped in the northeast part of the city. The thieves had removed the tires, battery and other accessories.

City Garbage and Ash Dept. Men Suspended

Two employees of the city garbage collection and one of the ash-collection departments were suspended by the board of sanitary commissioners today for infractions of minor rules. Ed Bunday was given two days off without pay for failure to replace bins on garbage cans, and Jesse Ewing was indefinitely suspended for failing to report to the board to answer to charges of failure to re-cover garbage cans. Earl Gossard was given a two-day payless vacation for careless driving which resulted in damage to an ash truck.

Air Mail Delivers Fight Pictures to Frisco in 48 Hours

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—The race across the continent with the first pictures of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, resulted in a three-hour victory for the S. S. air mail.

Local papers published in editions late yesterday pictures of the fight—less than forty-eight hours after the knockout.

The air mail delivered the pictures here in 44½ hours, a record for transcontinental transportation.

Pictures for the coast were dispatched by three newspaper planes, services by air mail and also by private airplanes, reinforced by special trains.

GENERAL SMUTS BUSY IN IRISH PEACE PARLEY

Belief Expressed Both Sides Will Release Prisoners and Quit Fighting.

NEGOTIATIONS PROCEED

DUBLIN, July 5.—Peace negotiations are proceeding favorably, according to all indications this evening. General Smuts, premier of South Africa, who slipped into Dublin unobserved, lost no time in getting into action. He conferred during the afternoon with prominent Republican officials.

It is believed that both sides will release their prisoners and that fighting will cease this week. Owing to the difficulty in communicating with groups of the Irish Republican army in isolated districts, hostilities may be slow in stopping in such places.

It is expected that the Earl of Bandon, the aged nobleman who was captured by the Republicans a week ago, soon will be liberated.

Premier Smuts' secret entrance to Dublin was explained this afternoon. He said that for the purpose of avoiding newspaper reporters and photographers he had remained in his cabin on the Holyhead-Dublin packet until all other passengers had departed, giving the impression that he was not aboard.

Later, in the meantime, Lord Mayor O'Neill and the other officials who were at the pier to extend formal greetings, not seeing General Smuts, concluded that he had postponed his visit and departed. Later, the general called on Lord Mayor O'Neill and explained the circumstances.

IRISH TO EXERCISE SELF DETERMINATION

LONDON, July 5.—Ireland will decide her own fate through the principle of self-determination. Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," insisted upon that principle in his conference with Unionist leaders in Dublin yesterday. The British government, it was stated authoritatively, is perfectly willing to adopt that solution of the Irish situation—theoretically.

De Valera will be asked to come to London to confer with Lloyd George and the Dominion's premiers and listen to the government's proposal. This he will submit to the Irish people for acceptance or rejection, thus actually permitting them to exercise the right of plebiscite.

The Irish official insists that the time limit on this offer expires July 12, after which the "iron heel of military action" will be applied.

In yesterday's conference De Valera was accompanied by Arthur Griffith (Ulster) was represented by Arthur Jameson, Sir Maurice Dokerell, Sir Robert Woods and Earl Middleton. The meeting occurred in the Mansion House, which was decorated with United States flags in honor of American Independence Day.

Citizens Fight Dump as Well as City Barns

Grievances Against Jewett Administration to Be Discussed at Mass Meeting Tonight.

While the citizens of West Indianapolis are at it they are going to try to make a clean sweep of all the grievances they have held against city administration, particularly that of Mayor Charles W. Jewett, leaders in the movement to disannex the territory bounded by White river on the east, the Big Four Railroad on the north and the western corporation line on the west, stated today.

In addition to fighting the location of the proposed municipal yards at Kentucky avenue and White river, squarely between the two main entrances to West Indianapolis, the citizens are going to enlarge their program to include elimination of the unbearable dumps and the city garbage reduction plant at Sellers' farm, barely a mile or so south of the residence section.

HOLD PROTEST. Another indignation meeting of the league is to be held in Assumption Hall, 1105 Blaine avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight. The new phase of the "clean-up" campaign and progress in the circulation of disannexation petitions will be discussed. Leaders promise that there would be more energetic fireworks.

The residents have two methods in mind of getting rid of the dump and garbage reduction plant. If the disannexation proceedings are successful it will be a simple matter, they say, to order the city of Indianapolis to move what the west side call its "stink factory" elsewhere, because Sellers' farm falls within the limits of the territory seeking to secede. West Indianapolis, then being a city by itself, need not tolerate the filth of its neighbor, Indianapolis, the leaders contend.

If this plan fails through there is another move. A committee of 500 citizens, who are willing to put both time and money into the movement, is being quietly formed for the purpose of bringing suit against the city of Indianapolis for damages to private property because of

NEW REROUTING PLAN CANS FOR HEAVY OUTLAY

Provides for Series of Loops and Through Operation of Some Lines.

CORNERS BOB UP AGAIN

Plans for a new downtown street car routing system, the chief feature of which are the turning of some avenue lines, the turning of others around the Ohio, Illinois, Washington and Pennsylvania street loops and the operation of straight north and south and east and west lines directly through the business district on Washington, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois streets, were made at a meeting of the city council committee on street car re-routing with the sub-committee of experts today.

The plan, like others that have been proposed, can not be carried out until track changes are made at several downtown corners, necessitating the expenditure of from $50,000 to $60,000 by the street railway company. The company repeatedly has said that it has no money.

According to Gustav G. Schmidt, chairman of the committee, it is proposed to have five loops. The cars which now come into the business district over the four avenues, would, in general, use loops one block square, which would have one corner resting at the point where the avenue ends. For instance, cars coming in over Indiana avenue would loop through Capitol avenue, Ohio street, Illinois and New York streets, Virginia avenue cars probably would turn over Maryland, Pennsylvania, Washington and Delaware streets.

HOW THEY PROPOSE TO HANDLE TRANSFERS. In order to transfer passengers from one terminal loop to another, a few of the avenue cars would be routed around the big loop as outlined above. The straight north and south and east and west lines, such as Illinois, Pennsylvania, South Meridian, East Washington and West Washington probably would be arranged so as to go straight through the business district. Some might be looped so as to make through cross-town lines. It was considered particularly probable that one East and West Washington cars would run from Irvington to Mt. Jackson under such a system.

CANDY MAKERS TO STAGE 'WEEK'

Lay Plans at Meeting Here and in Cincinnati.

A meeting of the Central Club, composed of confection manufacturers and jobbers of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, was held at the Hotel Severin this afternoon and at Cincinnati tomorrow, to make tentative plans for a "candy week" throughout the country during the week of Oct. 2.

The various clubs of the zones represented in the national organization will conduct these campaigns in their own zones, and the general plan is to account for the candy business in the United States.

The meeting of members representing the three States in the Central Club in Cincinnati, which was held at the Hotel Severin, was held at the Hotel Severin, where a "candy week" was held about two years ago. It is thought considerable valuable information may be gained by the Cincinnati trip on which to plan the campaign in this and other zones.

The Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Co. of Indianapolis is president of the Central Club and a member of the board of directors of the National Confectioners' Association of the United States.

"I'll admit that the baby vamp and the cooey-eyed girls are not only a nuisance to men in the same way, but they are also a nuisance to women in the same way. Right now there is no difference—anyway you take it—between the progressive woman and a run. Women must be given a chance to develop. We can't grow political muscle by sitting at home darning socks. It's just the same as the slavery question. Lots of people said they never were any good. What do you want to give them their freedom for?"

"The trial of women," the celebrated case has become known in Cleveland. The woman in the plot which resulted in the death of her husband, was a degree murder; most of the witnesses on whose testimony the State relies to convict the "murder queen," are women; four women are on the tentative jury and ten more on the reserve jury have been examined today.

When court opened after a five-day recess, Mrs. Kaber's attorneys resumed their fight to have her acquitted. County Prosecutor Stanton predicted a jury would be had in a day or two.

'Women Not Too Cruel for Jury,' Says One of 'Em

NEW YORK, July 5.—A good woman is as good as a man whether it's on the jury or feeding the baby.

Mrs. Lucille Fugh, woman lawyer, declared that you can put down in your little red book and know it's true. She denied the contentions of attorneys for Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, on trial for murder in Cleveland, that women jurors are cruel and merciless.

"We're citizens aren't we?" she inquired. "We are going to serve on juries and we're going to be just as good as men. All that stuff about women being cruel and merciless in the jury room is hosh."

"I'll admit that the baby vamp and the cooey-eyed girls are not only a nuisance to men in the same way, but they are also a nuisance to women in the same way. Right now there is no difference—anyway you take it—between the progressive woman and a run. Women must be given a chance to develop. We can't grow political muscle by sitting at home darning socks. It's just the same as the slavery question. Lots of people said they never were any good. What do you want to give them their freedom for?"

INSULT ADDED TO INJURY. Residents of West Indianapolis have been bitter against Mayor Jewett ever since his board of sanitary commissioners consummated the purchase of the garbage plant from the Indiana Reduction Company at a figure more than ten times greater than its appraised value for taxation purposes. They did not care to have the plant located practically in their back yard under private ownership, but when the city came along and bought it, they started in not only to enlarge and improve it, but also to establish a sewage disposal plant near it, insult was heaped upon injury, according to their statements.

Objection to the establishment of the municipal yards at Kentucky avenue and White River is based upon the belief that with city mules, horses and garbage wagons housed there, it will constitute a further nuisance. The board of park commissioners originally intended to make the river front at this point into a part of the White River parkway. City officials say the municipal yards will be so beautified and operated in so sanitary a manner that it will in reality improve the looks of the section. An unsightly dump now occupies the plot of ground in 1913 to commemorate the services of soldiers, sailors, marines and pioneers of the country. It comprises an auditorium seating 4,000 people, and several smaller assembly and exhibition rooms, and the headquarters of more than thirty war and pioneer organizations of the country.

The exterior of the building is finished in light grey pressed block, with Bedford stone trimmings. The approach consists of a series of stone steps, leading past six stone columns into the loggia, and from there into a marble decorated vestibule and rotunda. Opening off this large rotunda are spacious lodgings, ante-rooms and cloakrooms. The auditorium, which is in the rear portion of the building may be entered from this vestibule. On the second floor are the various rooms for accommodation of patriots and other organizations which have headquarters there.

The cost of the building and ground was $250,000. The money was raised by a bond issue and the memorial was built by a commission of five, appointed by the Governor.

Death Toll at Whiting Expected to Reach Twenty When Debris Is Cleared.

DAMAGE, TWO MILLIONS

WHITING, Ind., July 5.—Casualties in the explosion that partly destroyed the Standard Oil Company's refinery here, were expected to increase during the day either from deaths of injured or by the finding of additional bodies. Nine are known to have died and forty-two are injured, ten so seriously that their recovery is doubtful.

Two of the huge steel stills used for the production of gasoline exploded and other stills in the plant caught fire. Burning oil and gas covered an area of several hundred square yards.

Property damage resulting from the blast is estimated at $2,000,000. Officials have begun an investigation into the cause of the explosion. The theories that a small leak of gas became ignited accidentally and the probability that excessive high pressure in one of the stills may have been the cause are being investigated.

MORGAN CHIEF OF DRY AGENTS

New Official Directly in Charge of All State Work.

Further details of the reorganization plans for Federal prohibition enforcement for Indiana, from Roy A. Haynes, prohibition commissioner at Washington, were made today by the Indiana State Police.

The letter outlined the new system of agents in this territory, will work under Mr. Morgan, instead of being responsible to the division chief at Chicago.

A supervisor will be sent out from Washington to see that the new system gets under way as rapidly as possible and his arrival is expected at this time.

No appointments for positions in the department will be made at this time. Mr. Morgan said. Friends of Albert J. Beveridge are watching for these appointments with more than usual interest, they believe that when made it will be found that the prohibition enforcement department for Indiana is being used as the foundation for a big "New Senator" political machine to be used in the Senatorial primary campaign next year.

200 Mountaineers on Trial as Moonshiners

'Convict Us, They'll Have to Put Most Everybody in County in Jail,' Says Old Kentucky Hill Billy.

SANDY HOOK, Ky., July 5.—Sandy Hook became the "moonshiners' nest" today as gaunt hill billys, patiently plodded to town to be tried for practicing their age-old custom of distilling. The quaint, grizzled men, 200 of whom will be tried before Circuit Judge A. N. Frisco tomorrow, charged with operating illicit stills, considered the interruption only one of the little irritations of modern civilization.

"If they start by convicting us they'll have to put most everybody in this county in jail," said one of the early arrivals among the accused. "Makin' liker around here is about as old as this hills."

State troopers equipped with carbines and service revolvers paced the village's main thoroughfare. Sentinels were established around the little courtroom. Troopers intended to assure that the accused would not attempt to escape by questioning the operation of hidden stills. A detachment of thirty-five Kentucky guardsmen under command of Lieutenant Scott, carried the afternoon they detained here early yesterday. They immediately began their packing. The troopers were ready to pry into the hill section for additional stills or to seek out any of the accused who hesitate to stand trial.

Company to 'Fire' Bobbied Hair Girls

HARTFORD, Conn., July 5.—The Actna Insurance Company employs more than six thousand young women in its offices throughout the United States, but hereafter none of them will wear bobbed hair if they wish to keep their jobs.

Frank K. Daniels, employment director, says no more young women with bobbed hair will be employed and that young women with bobbed hair already on the pay roll will be gradually eliminated.

RAILWAY LABOR SENDS WARNING TO MANAGEMENT

Wage Cut Will Be Accepted, but Another Will Mean Fight.

SAME WORKING RULES

CHICAGO, July 5.—Organized rail labor today bared its teeth to the railroad managements.

A curt warning—an ultimatum, in fact—to the railroads that no further encroachments will be tolerated on wages and working conditions was being drawn up here by the heads of the "big four" brotherhoods and fourteen other rail organizations. This warning, couched in unmistakable language, will be presented to the railroad managements within the next few days.

The decision to send an ultimatum to the railroads was reached after a forty-eight-hour conference of union leaders. The "big four" leaders counseled a peaceful attitude while the belligerents were by the shop craft workers. The "ultimatum" was in effect a compromise.

The warning, however, it was indicated, will include acceptance of the 12 per cent wage reduction ordered by the railway labor board and effective July 1.

The "Big Four" have voted to accept the wage reduction, but agreed to oppose any further cuts. The shop crafts workers voted to reject the wage cuts and sought support among other unions in making a stand at this time. The "Big Four," it is understood succeeded in winning a majority of the sixteen affiliations to the ultimatum at this time.

The demand for some definite policy in regard to acceptance of further reductions, led to the "ultimatum." This document, it was indicated, will accept the wage cut ordered by the Labor Board, but will present a united stand of all railroad unions in rejecting any changes in working conditions or further cuts in wages.

No Relief From Heat Wave as Red Line Soars

Mercury Within 1 Degree of Sunday's Mark at 1 O'clock Today.

Overcast skies and a refreshing breeze saved Indianapolis from a record-breaking temperature this afternoon. At 1 o'clock the thermometer in the Government observatory registered 95 degrees, one below the record high on Sunday. Then the change came and at 2 o'clock the mercury had dropped one degree and indications were that it would gradually subside as the day advanced.

The reading of the temperatures today showed a steady increase as the sun mounted in the sky. At 6 o'clock in the morning the red line stood at 80 and from then on it increased until at noon it registered ninety-five, where it hovered for the next hour.

Along with the climbing mercury came the announcement that the Government observers held forth little hope for relief within the next twenty-four hours. The prediction is generally fair tonight and Wednesday and continued warm.

The torrid wave was given a setback of a setback yesterday, rain in and near Indianapolis cooling the atmosphere perceptibly, but the sun seemingly came out with redoubled vigor this morning and is evidently bent on making up for the time it was forced to remain behind cloud banks yesterday.

COOLER WEATHER IN SOME STATES

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Cooler weather is due for parts of the middle Atlantic States but continued hot weather is in store for the western half of the territory east of the Mississippi, the weather bureau stated today.

The heat wave is already broken in the north Atlantic States, the bureau stated. A great mass of super heated air is hanging over the interior States and there is no immediate prospect for relief, the weather forecaster said. Cooler air is fanning the northern and eastern part of the territory. This air is coming from the northeast and will keep the heat wave in subjection for some time, the forecaster said.

In several cities of the west the temperature exceeded 100 degrees reports showed.
