

'HICK' IS VISIBLY IMPRESSED BY ATLANTIC CITY LEGS

Notices Shapely Calves Stay on Beach to Give Men Treat While Ham Fat Ones Hide in Surf

MAYOR JEWETT DISPLAYS HIS, BUT 'HICK' FEARED RIOT

By WALTER D. HICKMAN.
Atlantic City is a city of legs.

Everything and everybody in Atlantic City exhibits their legs.

Even the piers show their legs, with as much unconcern as thousands of human beings, who frolic in the sand and the ocean.

I spent the Fourth of July at Atlantic City with E. Rottare Eggleston, manager of Keith's, and other members of his party, consisting of Mayor Charles Jewett, (Bill) Herschell and the Hon. Robert G. Tucker.

The mayor and the host of this wonderful party decided that Indianapolis should have a leg.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

So His Honor and I would see the future beauty to the big ocean party.

shock when he reported that we had seen a bear swimmer.

There are two kinds of bathing suits at Atlantic City. Those that are made for the water and those that are made for show.

Less than half of the bathing suit folk on the beach actually go into the water. The other half strut about in the sun. The men just as much as the women.

MEN AS VAIN AS THE WOMEN.
The stay-outs of the water; that is, the female part of the tribe, appear with their faces made up like a chorus girl's.

Their stockings are marvels of hosiery art. It is those who have the nifty shapes who do the walking. The fat ones and the ugly ones are the swimmers at Atlantic City.

The million-dollar dolls strut about in their bathing beaches and at times their stunning costumes lure the masculine members from the surf.

Frankly speaking, I think the prevailing leg at Atlantic City is of the ham fat type. It seems that fat women have taken to bathing. The slim ones strut about on the beach.

The difference between the water bathing suit and the strutting bathing garb is about $75. I am confident that some of those strutting beach dames spent hours perfecting their toilet, and what a shame it would be to let the Atlantic Ocean wash away their handiwork.

If some ever went into the ocean I am sure the good old Atlantic would resemble a rainbow. The vainest thing in the world is a woman who puts on a bathing suit for walking purposes alone.

A bathing suit is made for the water, not for the sun, but, oh, boy, how the sons of the board walk stared at what was below the bathing suits which never dip in water. It would be a crime if a sudden rain should arrive and dash some water on these priceless outfits.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

Some of the women wore high heel shoes and that kind of foot wear was never in the water.

tended for the Atlantic ocean. Oh, yes, some of the women smoke in public. They didn't "mooch" me for a match because they carried the cutest little gold match cases.

Atlantic City is the play ground of America. It is a spot where thousands are spent every summer by those who want to spend their coin so the world can know that they have a bank roll.

BAKE LEGS ARE TABOOED.
The Atlantic City beach has it on our Ravenswood. The women at the Indianapolis beach do not wear stockings but at Atlantic City the women must at least have stockings on. I guess that is because there are so many swell women in the water or on the beach.

Legs are everything at Atlantic City. The shapely ones never go near the water. 'Legs is legs' whether in the water or on the beach, but they differ in shape and the kind of stockings on 'em.

Men, women and children, professional men, actors, men who wear the cloth, rich men and the make-believes, honest men and crooks all meet at the beach. This is the land of show and exhibition. It is the land of legs. You will not be shocked, as everybody is happy at Atlantic City, whether they are in the water or on the beach.

And let me say here that the mayor of Indianapolis was one of the best swimmers there. He forgot all about Lew Shank, although a New York paper on that date carried a two-column story about the "successful come back" of Lew Shank.

While Lew was coming back, the mayor of Indianapolis was going out with the tide.

Our little visit to Atlantic City as the guests of Mr. Eggleston, manager of Keith's of Indianapolis, was one of the bright spots of the trip East.

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because

I realize one thing, that just because a lady wears a bathing suit it is no sign she is going to take a plunge. Oh, mercy, no.

BOY STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.
MONTICELLO, Ind., July 7.—George Gruze, 18, who resided with his parents south of this city, was killed instantly by lightning, Wednesday evening, during a severe electric storm which swept over this region. Gruze was sitting on a binder.

MAN OF MYSTERY LANDS ON BEACH RIDING ON RAFT
Unknown Scars Bathes and Puzzles Police—Can Not Give Name.

NEW YORK, July 7.—A silent, mysterious man of the sea, riding in from the ocean before the tide on a plank, caused timorous bathers at Long Beach a fright and gave the police of the seaside resort something to think about.

Floating in from the open sea the man was at first thought to be a bather on a raft. As the waves brought him nearer it was seen that he was fully dressed and that his appearance was not that of a bather. He sat erect and motionless on his plank, and when he arrived at the beach, strode silently ashore, disregarding the calls of bathers. Only his lower garments were wet. Judging from the direction from which he came, he must have traveled for hours in the water.

When Patrolman Cornelius Monahan asked the strange arrival his name, the man seemed unable to answer, and could only write two meaningless words and "America."

Thinking that food might improve the man's condition, Monahan got him a meal. The man ate, but sparingly. And he kept the same strange silence. A man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

MAN OF MYSTERY LANDS ON BEACH RIDING ON RAFT

Unknown Scars Bathes and Puzzles Police—Can Not Give Name.

NEW YORK, July 7.—A silent, mysterious man of the sea, riding in from the ocean before the tide on a plank, caused timorous bathers at Long Beach a fright and gave the police of the seaside resort something to think about.

Floating in from the open sea the man was at first thought to be a bather on a raft. As the waves brought him nearer it was seen that he was fully dressed and that his appearance was not that of a bather. He sat erect and motionless on his plank, and when he arrived at the beach, strode silently ashore, disregarding the calls of bathers. Only his lower garments were wet. Judging from the direction from which he came, he must have traveled for hours in the water.

When Patrolman Cornelius Monahan asked the strange arrival his name, the man seemed unable to answer, and could only write two meaningless words and "America."

Thinking that food might improve the man's condition, Monahan got him a meal. The man ate, but sparingly. And he kept the same strange silence. A man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

bather. He sat erect and motionless on his plank, and when he arrived at the beach, strode silently ashore, disregarding the calls of bathers. Only his lower garments were wet. Judging from the direction from which he came, he must have traveled for hours in the water.

When Patrolman Cornelius Monahan asked the strange arrival his name, the

man seemed unable to answer, and could only write two meaningless words and "America."

Thinking that food might improve the man's condition, Monahan got him a meal. The man ate, but sparingly. And he kept the same strange silence. A man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera

lens and viewfinder. A clergyman was called. At the sight of the priest the man burst into tears, but said not a word.

Pending a physician's report, the police are operating on the theory that the man is a heat victim and had shored off search of his pockets revealed two religious emblems, a few pennies, a camera