WEATHER BAD REARING BASS

Fish Hatcheries -Report Hot
Months Reduced Baby Fish
Half Million.

The prolonged and unprecedented hot weather during the last of May and throughout practically the entire month of June played havoc with propagating and rearing baby bass in Indiana's four fish hatcheries, according to George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish and game division of the State conservation department. As a result when the division anticipated making the largest plant since the State began fish culture in 1911, it was impossible to plant more than 400,000 young bass this year. Mannfeld believes.

According to conservation officials there were sufficient parent fish in the four hatcheries to spawn and rear at least a million bass. The continued hot weather which sent the temperature in the rearing ponds up to 94 degrees when it should not have exceeded 75 degrees for good fish culture, killed the young fry and fingerlings by the thousands.

Controller Says Borrowing
Saves While Surplus Breeds
Extravagance.

It is cheaper for the city to borrow money on temporary loans in anticipation of taxes than to start the year off with a surplus big enough to carry the government through until tax money is received, in the opinion of City Controller Robert H. Bryson. The controller stated today that he is a firm believer in the use of the temporary loan as an influence towards economy in the various departments. The administration of Mayor Charles W. Jewett has had to operate upon temporary loans most of the time it has been in power, due in part to the fact that it faced a deficit in its first year through the loss of between $30,000 and $40,000 liquor license fees.

Preparations to ask the city council to authorize a temporary loan of $300,000 with which to meet expenses of departments operating under the so-called "city general fund" from about the middle of August until the November tax money is received from the county treasurer are being made by Mr. Bryson. Two payments on the loan made last August and last February will have been paid by the end of this month.

It costs the city, considerable in in-
