

INDIANAPOLIS FOUNDATION IS TALK SUBJECT

Secretary Explains Aims of Organization to Lawyers of the City.

The aims and possibilities of the Indianapolis foundation were laid before the lawyers of the city last night at the meeting of the Indianapolis Bar Association, in the library of the United States Court, by Henry H. Hornbrook, secretary of the board of trustees of the foundation. Members of the board attended the meeting by invitation. The meeting was the first held since the summer vacation.

Mr. Hornbrook discussed the manner in which attorneys can be of assistance in building up the Indianapolis foundation into an agency that will provide continuing funds for the future welfare of the citizens of Indianapolis. He went at length into an explanation of the community trust initiated by Judge Frederick H. Goff of Cleveland, and applied in some thirty American cities, including Indianapolis.

Many of the local attorneys have given deep study to the problem of the future charities of Indianapolis and to the proposal to provide adequately for them through operation of the foundation, which is a public resource.

He discussed the ability of the legal profession to assist in remedying the situation of the "dead hand" in charitable bequests locally in the future, declaring that "to the members of the legal profession and the officials of our trust agencies is administered bequests of property for the future good of the city."

Fred A. Sims, A. J. Luper, Charles M. Reagan, Ray Clem, B. E. Bovard, Joseph C. Hoffman, Theodore L. Locke, Mary V. Reinhardt and Albert E. Lauck were elected new members of the bar association.

AMENDMENT 1 ONLY IS GIVEN O. K. BY VOTERS

go to the polls were particularly interested in the first amendment. A large majority of them either voted for the amendment and most of the others voted for the first and against the others.

Counties for which returns have been received and in which the first amendment was the only one to receive a majority are: Adams, Blackford, Cass, Dearborn, De Kalb, Delaware, Howard, Jefferson, Jennings, Knox, Shelby, Vanderburg, Wabash, Fulton, Ripley, Boone, Clinton, Hancock, Decatur, Wells, Greene, Hendricks, Fountain, Vigo.

NOES IN AND FOLLOWS.
COUNTIES IN WHICH ONE OF THE AMENDMENTS APPEAR TO HAVE A MAJORITY ARE: Brown, Floyd, Monroe, Pike, Spencer, Allen, Clark, Morgan, Ohio and Warrick. The taxation amendments did not carry in a single county which has reported. And in nearly every case the State superintendent and the negro amendments also were defeated.

The new amendment will become a part of the constitution as soon as the official vote is certified. It will be effective first in the city elections this fall and will result in a large number of foreigners who have taken out only their first papers in being prevented from voting. It will cause a considerable drop in the vote, particularly in Lake County, where there are many immigrants.

There has been some perturbation concerning the fact that the first amendment does not prescribe registration as a qualification for voting as does the constitution. It is expected that some anxiety was caused over this fact when it became apparent that the registration amendment had failed of passage.

There appears to be little ground for being disturbed over this fact, however, as there is still a registration section in the constitution. Section 2 of Article 2 of the constitution which has been supplanted did contain a registration clause, but Section 14 of Article 2, which still stands, also contains provision for registration. This section, after prescribing the duties of the Legislature in regard to elections, says: "And shall also provide for the registration of all persons entitled to vote." Because the registration provision is repeated in the constitution the result of the election apparently did not affect this provision.

The election result revealed that the people of the State who are interested enough to express a preference are satisfied with the present constitution. The decisive defeat of the amendment which would make the office of State superintendent of public instruction appointive instead of elective, indicates the voters are opposed to centralization of power as dreamed of by former Governor James P. Goodrich.

The defeat of the tax amendment is taken to indicate distrust in the Legislature which has given the State the present unpopular tax law. The effect of these amendments would have been to give the Legislature absolute power in taxation matters.

Another attempt of the Republican party to point with pride at what it has done for the negroes in order to obtain the negro vote also failed. The white people of Indiana, the vote indicated, do not wish a negro militia. This was one of the amendments most decisively defeated. The only place where it received a very considerable vote was in the negro precincts in Marion County.

The other amendments apparently were not considered highly important. Their defeat was due to a large extent to lack of interest.

Another significant feature of the election is that a large number of the amendments defeated were a part of the Republican platform of 1917 in which the Republican party pledged itself to work for their adoption.

Indications were that the attempt to rewrite the constitution of the State cost about $90,000. Because of the light vote, it appeared there would be a cost of about $1 for each vote cast. The cost in Marion County, where 14,536 votes were cast, will be about $10,000. Leo K. Fessler, county auditor, estimated.

This special election is added to the cost in many places of the recent special elections on the question of the city manager form of government. It is estimated special elections held in Indiana thus far have cost the taxpayers $400,000. The total result has been the adoption of one amendment to the constitution and the adoption of the city manager form of government in Michigan.
