LEWIS TELLS WHY HE MADE A. F. L. RACE

It is proper that the delegates of the United Mine Workers vote for a change in the leadership of the federation. Lewis' recommendations on this point were adopted. John Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, struck at the American Federation of Labor, considered that part of Lewis' report dealing with Gompers' refusal to assist financially the miners in litigation. The expected concentrated attack against the American Federation of Labor failed to materialize, however.

The convention reversed the action of the executive board in the matter of salary increases for the international officers. The board recently boosted Lewis' salary from $3,000 to $3,500 and the salaries of the vice president and secretary-treasurer from $4,125 to $7,000 each. The convention sustained the Cleveland meeting of two years ago which favored a salary increase for the officers proportionate to the boosts given the rank and file.

Delegates Gomer Davis and Joe Lynau of the Illinois delegation and Harry Fishwick, vice president of the Illinois district, opposed the board's action. Lynau's speech followed a statement by William Green, international secretary-treasurer, in which Green compared the salaries of the miners' officials with those paid by other labor organizations. The salaries of miners' officials were much lower.

"The unions Green talked about," Lynau said, "are getting $1 to $1.25 an hour. That's something youse miners ain't!"

Live President Philip Murray was unable to maintain order during Green's statement. The delegates seemed to consider the comparative figures entirely beside the question.

"What does the miner get?" came from the convention floor.

Mrs. Ed Chambers, widow of a miner killed by mine guards prior to the Mingo County war, was presented to the convention by President Lewis. She was dressed in mourning and wept as the delegates applauded her. Mrs. Fred Mooney, wife of the secretary of the West Virginia union district who is now in jail in connection with the strike trouble, also was presented to the meeting.

Mrs. Rena Mooney, of the San Francisco branch of the Russian Red Cross, pleaded their cause.

SAY BANK BANDIT SUSPECT HELD UP LOCAL STORE

rest of the bank bandits, Harry Webster, private detective, found a clue a week ago that led him to believe Simms was one of the robbers. Miss Newman was brought to police headquarters and viewed the pictures in the local rogues' gallery. Up until that time all investigators had thought it was "talent" from some other city that had robbed the Beech Grove Bank.

After she picked out Simms' picture Mr. Webster said his informant had arranged for detectives to shadow the home of Simms and also the home of Miller and Stout. The Webster agency was employed by the Indiana Bankers' Association.

SAYS NO MURDER IN ROBBER GANG.

Mr. Webster said the four men who held up the Beech Grove bank were all white men and the one who appeared to be a negro had darkened his face with grease paint. The black-faced robber was Miller, it is alleged, and Stout, it is said, was the driver of the bandit car.

The robbery occurred on Friday afternoon, the following Tuesday the bandits left the city for a fishing trip and returned about a week ago.

Simms was scheduled to come to trial in Criminal Court yesterday, according to the calendar, but no action was taken in the case because court adjourned for the G. A. R. parade.

The records show the case has been allowed to drift along for nearly a year since it was first brought to court.

Simms was arrested on Aug. 7, 1920, after an automobile he was driving had struck and killed a little boy, Charles P. Jacobs. He was indicted on Oct. 10 and on Nov. 1 waived arraignment and pleaded not guilty.

NO RECORD OF BOND CONTINUANCE.

He was admitted to bond signed by Anna Reid, 749 South Missouri street, which was approved by George O. Hutshel, city clerk. There is no record to show that this bond, evidently given when he was arrested, ever has been submitted to cover the charges in Criminal Court.

According to the police Simms was driving a car owned by Lewis Williams, 937 Chadwick street, when he ran down the Jacobs boy and his little sister, Mildred, 1233 Ray street. Both children were injured and the boy died later in a hospital. Simms, the police say, failed to stop and after being attended by his friend, Dr. P. H. Miller, he fled.

Miller was shot in the wrist by Detective McGinn, when the officer thought he did not hold up his hands quickly enough. McGinn in the excitement that followed tripped and fell over backwards on a step in the rear of the house on Oakland avenue. Another detective covered Miller with a revolver.

The police learned Simms and Miller, who are said to be closely associated, had recently purchased expensive automobiles. Yesterday they arrested Simms and also brought William Simms, 21, a relative to headquarters. The latter also was charged with vagrancy in spite of the fact that Miss Helen Newman, teller in the bank, painted to Clint Simms and declared he was the bank robber, and declared William Simms was not one of the four men.

$2,000,000 More Than Minneapolis Spent It Got in Revenue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The cost of Government for Minneapolis, Minn., for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1920, amounted to $19,213,839, which was a per capita cost of $19.97, the census bureau announced today. The total revenue receipts were $17,316,339, or $16.10 per capita, making the net indebtedness, funded and floating debt, less sinking fund assets, was $1,897,500 per capita in 1920, as against $56.18 in 1917.

The Canal Bank Road from Broad Ripple to Sunset avenue—Road has been out some time but will be completed this year.

The Keystone avenue bridge approaches are still open as they have been for months.

East Twenty-First street, three miles from city limits. Improvement delayed but will be done this year.

Mr. Pesler said that the Senate avenue bridge over which there has been so much complaint because the approaches were not completed which resulted in the road at that place being rendered impassable, has been opened but not fixed as it should be. This work will be taken care of at once, it is promised.

"The county will go into the winter with fewer road improvements under way than for several years," Mr. Pesler said. "That is no particular credit to any one as work is being rushed to complete outstanding improvements."

"Marion County will begin the new year with a road bond indebtedness of nearly $3,000,000, or about $90.00 more than we had at the beginning of the present year."

"There will be very little road construction work next year because the taxpayers are opposed to further bond issues. It is noted that the farmers are beginning to favor good gravel roads instead of concrete."

Gravel roads cost about $10,000 a mile and concrete roads about $40,000, according to Mr. Pesler.

The county commissioners are hopeful that there will be no roads closed to the public because of construction work by the first of the year.

Tom Taggart Calls at the White House

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Tom Taggart, Democratic national committeeman of Indiana, visited the White House today. He talked twenty minutes with Secretary Christian, but did not see the President. The call, he said, was purely personal.

life of Abraham Lincoln a part of the curriculum of high schools was adopted by proclamation. The resolution was introduced by C. E. Adams, past commander of the department of Nebraska.

Commander-in-Chief Pilcher was born in Michigan in 1845 and was graduated from the University of Michigan when less than 17 years of age. He entered the army during the Civil War as soon as he was old enough to enlist, and served in the 1st Michigan Cavalry in Virginia and Missouri. In 1867 he was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States Navy, a position he held for five years.

He was commander of the department of New York in 1915 and until his election as commander-in-chief today was chairman of the board of trustees of the permanent fund of the G. A. R.

Frank R. Chase of Michigan was elected unanimously to succeed Dr. Pilcher as president of this board.

VETERANS LEAVE FOR THEIR HOMES.

Following the parade of thousands of the G. A. R. veterans yesterday, which was the grand climax of the encampment, the veterans began leaving for their homes and by tonight practically all of them will have left. With decent weather conditions and what they say was one of the most hospitable and wholehearted welcomes they ever received, the general opinion of the old soldiers seemed to be that they had enjoyed a better time in Indianapolis this year than they did a year ago.

One of the things that seemed to make the largest impression on them was the fact that the Circle was entirely cut off from traffic all week long and was turned over to them to do with just as they saw fit.

One of the delegates said to an Iowa veteran today:

"If Des Moines does as well as Indianapolis in entertaining us it will have to hustle."

"We will try to do as well," the Iowa man answered, "and that is just about all I can say. From the treatment I have received in Indianapolis for two years back I am convinced that not even Iowa can do any better. The Hoosiers certainly did give us fellows a mark to shoot at."

90 PER CENT OF TRAINMEN VOTE TO CALL STRIKE

Ballots of Other Brotherhoods, to Be Canvassed Next, of Like Trend.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—All of the large unions of railroad workers have voted in favor of a strike. It was learned today from authoritative sources.

The official canvass of the strike vote of all unions will show a large majority for rejection of the wage cut of 12 per cent and authorizing their leaders to call a strike, union leaders stated.

Canvass of the vote of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has been completed, showing 90 per cent favored rejection of the wage cut and giving their grievance committees powers to call the men out.

The shop men and the clerks also have voted to strike, the official canvass revealed.

The official count of the vote of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of America, will start Monday.

It will be a mere formality, rail union leaders declared, however, as an official tabulation of most of the vote showed that a majority of the men voted to authorize a strike.

Armed with a strike vote, the union leaders believe they will be in a more favorable position to negotiate with the railroads. All of the union heads, except possibly the chiefs of the shopmen's organizations, profess to believe the men will not actually quit work, but that an adjustment will be reached.
