

ASK WOMEN TO BE ACTIVE IN CITY AFFAIRS

Officials Address Local Council at Annual Luncheon.

"Cooperation of the Local Council of Women with the Government of Indianapolis" was the general topic for a group of talks made by city officials at the annual luncheon of the Local Council of Women held yesterday in the Riley room of the Clary hotel. The speakers included Russell Wilson, president of the city council; Mrs. Julia Belle Tutwiler, of the board of school commissioners; Felix T. McWhirter, of the board of public safety; James H. Lowry, of the park board, and Mark Miller of the board of public works.

"Women should remember," said Mr. Wilson in his talk, "that politics is a science of government. Men have played politics for years; they remember it a short time before each election and during the rest of the year forget about it. Your place is playing politics all during the four years of municipal government. We made up a budget during this past summer for next winter's expenditures and advertised it around as being on exhibition for inspection by the people, and also announced a public hearing. I think a total of three people inspected the budget and a half dozen people, with the exception of the council itself, attended the hearing. Those of those were interested and one the janitor."

SAMPLE OF INTEREST.
"That is a sample of the interest that the people take in helping the city of 'Hoosier'. You women should appoint a budget committee to investigate these things. It is high time this thing is taken up by the women, this cooperation with the city officials. The council has various lines sent to the council which are of valuable aid."

Mrs. Tutwiler urged the women of the local council to get together and help push the better public school facilities, to lend their united efforts toward helping the school board in their tremendous task of bettering the conditions of the buildings and the various other phases of education.

"During the war we were told to wait," she said, "for betterment of conditions, and now that the war is over we are told to wait, but childhood is short, childhood can not wait and we must educate our children; they can not wait. We have been building our ordinary city buildings and yet we are called extravagant and dubbed 'the glitzy girls'."

Mr. McWhirter laid particular stress on the building up of the home in Indianapolis, it being the most enduring way of building up a city, in his opinion. He asked that the council women work with the board of safety, stating that their work lies particularly in bringing to the mothers the responsibility that lies with them in regard to their boys and girls.

Mrs. Miller also laid particular stress on the influence of the home, saying that "the government of the city was decided largely by decisions made in homes." He asked that the women lead their aid to projects of the board of works, such as the straightening of the streets, restricting heights of buildings, zoning and keeping residence sections as such.

Mr. Lowry said that the council of Women had been cooperating with the park board and he hoped that it would continue aiding in every way possible. He also added that he considered the closest cooperation with all other boards as a big factor for betterment of municipal conditions. He said plans had just been completed with the Governor to landscape the statehouse grounds and make a beautiful spot out of the heretofore neglected lawn. He also told of the landscape gardening that has been done in twenty schoolyards. He asked that the women circulate the information that any one in the city may have their lawn planned and laid out, free of charge by merely calling the park board.

REFERS TO CIVIC PRIDE.
"If citizens will only take advantage of their opportunities," he said, "they can not help but have a beautiful city. There is no more civic pride anywhere than in Indianapolis. Our city never has taken anything really essential that it has failed to carry out, and to accomplish great ends an atmosphere must be created between just such bodies as this and the public service boards."

Mrs. Allen T. Fleming, president of the council, presided, introducing the speakers together with the new officers and the board of directors. A program of community singing was directed by Mrs. James Moag.

CHILD IN CHURCH
SUBJECT OF TALK
Sunday School Association Closes Convention.

Jesse E. Hanft of Indianapolis, was elected president of the Marion County Sunday School Association at the closing session of the forty-second annual convention in the First Baptist Church, last night. Mr. Hanft formerly was vice president of the association. James H. Lowry was chosen vice president, J. E. Stitz, treasurer and Mrs. E. A. McKee secretary.

The address for the evening was made by Miss Nannie Lee Pray, children's division superintendent of the State of Kentucky, whose topic was "The Child the Challenge to the Church." She urged the parents in the church to build their character in such a way that they might stand as a fine example to their children, as children are naturally imitators, and the bad points of parents are often painfully reflected in their children. She also stressed the point that the church should pay particular heed to the young people, as the early years of a person's life are the impressionable years.

Sectional conferences also were conducted last evening. Mr. Hanft presided at the general meeting.

One of the loveliest of early fall weddings was that of Miss Phyllis Cron Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schneider, 3330 College, and Dr. Douglas White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, which was solemnized at high noon at Christ's Church. The Rev. James D. Stanley read the service before the altar, which was flanked with palms, ferns and baskets of pink and white roses. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Cora Brockway, organist, played a program of bridal airs, followed by the "Bridal Chorus," from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and the "Wedding March," by C. B. Metzger and Frank Unversaw acted as ushers. The Mendelssohn "Wedding March" was used as a recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charming gown of white tulle with white lace overskirt and sequin trimming. Her white panne velvet train was trimmed in tulle, which fell in long streamers that were fastened to her shoulder bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. White left for a wedding trip and will be at home after Oct. 15 at 4620 Broadway. The bride traveled in a suit of navy blue tulle with a small black turban hat and wore a corsage of roses.

Editor of N. Y. "Physicians Who's Who" Advises Use of Bitro-Phosphate By Thin, Nervous People
F. S. KOLLE, M. D.

All that most weak nervous, thin, men need is 10 grains of pure Bitro-Phosphate daily. That is what nerve specialists in London, Paris and New York are prescribing with wonderful results. Dr. Frederick S. Kolle, editor of "Physicians Who's Who," declares: "If you are thin, nervous, or have insomnia, or disturbed sleep, your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living."

Leading druggists have a list demand for Bitro-Phosphate because of its power to help re-build the nerves, increase bodily vigor and mental keenness. Hook's Drug Stores sell Bitro-Phosphate under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back.—Advertisement.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The calomel powder and the hot water have just dissolved them. Rubbing and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and uncleanly—unless the blackheads are big and soft, they will not come out, while the simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get calomel powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with those unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.

To Have Curly, Wavy Hair Like "Nature's Own"

Women who have trouble keeping their hair in curl, or of securing the desired wavy effect—especially those who realize the harm that the hot iron does to the hair—will do well to try plain liquid salerine. In no other way can they acquire such pretty waves and curls, having all the appearance of "Nature's own." And the hair, instead of being singed, ragged or dead looking, has such a lively lustre and wholesome beauty. If one will get a bottle of liquid salerine at any drug store and follow the accompanying directions, she will be simply delighted with the result. This product is of course perfectly harmless and there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it. The hair will be quite manageable no matter in what fashion it is done up.—Advertisement.

HOLDS OUT HOPE FOR SIMPLIFIED, DIRECT TAX LAW

Penrose to Work for Such Measure After Emergency Legislation.

Special to Indiana Daily Times and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

By ROBERT BARRY.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Senator Penrose holds out to the country a hope that simplification of direct taxation would be undertaken by him immediately after the pending revision bill has become a law and the tariff bill is disposed of.

In justification of the patent shortcomings of the measure now before the Senate, the Finance Committee chairman pointed to the necessity for speed which barred experiments such as he proposes for a later date.

The country having been aroused to a fighting mood over economy in Government, it is to be expected that sweeping reductions will be recommended by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, director of the budget, and written into the appropriation bills by Congress at the forthcoming regular session.

Administration leaders believe that long before the Congressional elections of 1922 they will have accomplished genuine economies, which will go far toward solving the problems of revenue. Simplification and real reduction of taxes would be in order.

There is a possibility Senator Penrose will address the Senate in explanation of the things he has in mind, for the present he is to throw his influence behind the administration program for full speed ahead on the pending legislation.

President Harding told White House callers and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, outlined in a Senate debate, what dispatches said yesterday with respect to the Republican legislative program. The President believes Congress could best expedite the business before it by remaining in session, irrespective of the conference on limitation of armament and by passing with a minimum of delay the tax, tariff, canal tolls, railroad financing and war debt funding bills ratification of the peace treaties.

It is proposed to have the Senate meet every day at 11 o'clock, instead of at noon, and to eliminate the "morning hour" by which new business, petitions, memorials and other routine matter is introduced and discussed for two hours. Whenever there are any signs of a filibuster against any legislation the Administration forces will order night sessions and will keep enough Republicans on hand to maintain a quorum.

Senator Penrose's promise for a simplification of taxation came during a discussion with newspaper men of his views on the Smoot manufacturers' tax which is gaining favor. Penrose insisted he still has an open mind on that proposal. He declared people should not be misled into believing that changes in excise taxes was anything more than a "shuffling of the cards." If the transportation tax is repealed some other tax must be imposed to make up for the loss in revenue.

"It is important to remember," the Senator added, "that this pending bill is to meet an emergency and must be passed speedily. We can hardly avoid following methods with which people are accustomed. It must not be forgotten that for another taxable year or as soon as possible, further revenue revision ought to be considered and enacted. In the meantime the effort is being made to reduce certain taxes like the excess profit taxes which are admittedly injurious to business."

He believes there are many sources of revenue and methods of taxation that ought to be considered at any early date. I intend to address the Senate on that subject, I hope to show how this widespread effort to advance the nation's radical innovations, with beneficial results, but there is no use advancing novel or untried suggestions of taxations at a time when promptness of action is the slogan.

Just as soon as this bill becomes a law I hope to submit for the consideration of the authorities on taxation in and out of Congress a number of suggestions that may be fruitful. In the meantime we have to get the country out of the depths into which it has been plunged.—Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Company.
