

DARING BANDITS GET $100,000 IN MAIL ROBBERY

Stop Canadian Carrier on Dark Street in Detroit—
Stolen Car Used.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 8.—With roads leading from Detroit into Toledo, Pontiac, Mt. Clemens and other communities guarded by armed posses, a sweeping search of Detroit's underworld resorts is being conducted today in an effort to find the four desperades who staged what is believed to be more than a 100,000 hold-up here Friday night.

Money consigned by Canadian banks to Detroit corporations, and registered mail from Canada, were stolen from William R. McLean, Royal Mail Messenger of Canada, in lower Wayne street.

While no definite information as to the exact amount stolen was obtainable, it is believed, in view of the size of funds usually carried by the Royal Mail Messenger, $100,000 is a conservative estimate.

Auditors of the Walkerville Branch of the Dominion Bank, and other bank officials, together with Canadian postoffice authorities, are endeavoring to estimate the exact loss.

MacAuley landed from the Windsor-Detroit ferry at the foot of Woodward avenue at 1 o'clock. He was making the last of a series of trips of the day, and he drove a one-horse wagon, in which in the course of years he had carried millions of dollars and had been unchallenged.

A week ago MacAuley lost the key to the rear doors of the wagon. It wasn't even locked.

At Woodward avenue and Jefferson avenue, MacAuley turned West and round of the corner of Wayne street, a drab and desolate section at the hour.

STOPPED BY THREE MEN IN AUTOMOBILE.

As he crossed Larned street an automobile pulled out of an alley; the messenger found himself pressed up against a wall, a pistol muzzle jammed against his back and another against his side.

AUTOMOBILE CLOSES OTHER END OF ALLEY.

The bandits' automobile was driven into the alley by the fourth bandit, who had remained in the car. The transfer of funds was made. At the other end of the alley by Cass avenue, another green automobile stationed crosswise to act as a barrier in case of interruption.

Three of the men got into the automobile with the funds. The other bandit sprinted to the machine at Cass avenue, the car containing the loath-trailing him.

The automobile turned south on Cass avenue and in the direction of Jefferson. A car, apparently described as the one in which the loot was carried off, was ordered to stop by police near Hendrie's street, but the car rushed on. The police fired at it. Later the car was found abandoned at Fort and Dubois streets. It had been stolen from A. E. Goldstein. Several suspects are held by the police.

Sunday Services in City Churches

King Avenue M. E. Church—Pastor, Rev. W. W. Clouse. Sunday morning with a special rally day program with a pageant called "The Coming of Truth," which will be presented at 10 o'clock. In the evening the pastor will speak on "Making Life Count."

Grace M. E. Church—Pastor, Dr. C. E. Line. The pastor will have as his Sunday morning theme, "What Do I Owe?" and in the evening the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. H. S. Nickolson of Greenfield.

Capitol Avenue M. E. Church—Pastor, Dr. J. E. Murr. In the morning the pastor will have as his subject "Looking Forward." In the evening the pulpit will be "Preparation Necessary." Epworth League will meet at 6:30 in the evening.

Moore Street Methodist Church—Pastor, Rev. E. P. Jewett. The topic of the Sunday morning address will be "How to be a Progressive Christian," and in the evening the pastor will speak on "Why Some Who Seek Enter Heaven Early."

St. Matthews Evangelical Lutheran Church—Pastor, the Rev. L. O. R. Fackler. "The Relation of the Weak and Strong in Faith" will be the pastor's Sunday morning theme, and in the evening he will speak on "The Security of God's Protection."

Fourth Presbyterian Church—Pastor, Dr. E. H. Kistler. The pastor will speak at the Sunday morning services on "How to be a Christian" and in the evening the pastor will be "The Law of the Abundant Life."

Second Presbyterian Church—Pastor, Dr. J. A. Punkle. "Christ's Willfulness" will be the pastor's Sunday morning theme, and at the evening services he will speak on "God's Second Best, or Better."

Central Universalist Church—Pastor, Rev. Edwin Cunningham. "Rally day will be observed with a sermon by the pastor at 11 o'clock and a basket dinner following. The rally will be a program in the afternoon."

Meridian Street Methodist Church—Pastor, Dr. F. E. Rorer. In the morning the pastor will have the first of a series of "The Lord of Jesus" taking his subject "The Lord's Supper" and in the evening his topic will be "A Great Test."

First Presbyterian Church—Pastor, Dr. G. M. Morris. The subject of the Sunday morning address will be "Autumn in the City" and in the evening the pastor will speak on "The Challenge of the Abundant Life."

Second Presbyterian Church—Pastor, Dr. J. A. Punkle. "Christ's Willfulness" will be the pastor's Sunday morning theme, and at the evening services he will speak on "God's Second Best, or Better."

Central Universalist Church—Pastor, Rev. Edwin Cunningham. "Rally day will be observed with a sermon by the pastor at 11 o'clock and a basket dinner following. The rally will be a program in the afternoon."

First Baptist Church—Pastor, Dr. F. E. Taylor. At the morning services there will be Rev. Dr. F. E. Taylor, and in the evening the pastor will speak on "What You Will Find in Indianapolis."

Central Christian Church—Pastor, Rev. A. B. Pritchett. "The Real Presence" will be the pastor's Sunday morning theme, and in the evening Dr. H. G. Guy of Tokio will speak on "The Challenge of the Far East." The College of Missions will attend this address.

New Banking Firm Starts at Upland

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., Oct. 8.—The Farmers' State Bank opened its doors for business at Upland Friday. The officers of the new institution are: President, A. E. Ballenger; vice president, A. M. Curry, who is also cashier. The bank has a capital stock of $25,000.

Two Die in Blast

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 8.—Two men were killed and one seriously burned to death, following a flash explosion in a still at the Magnolia Oil Company's refinery here. The cause of the explosion was unknown.

IN THE REALM WHERE WOMAN REIGNS

Keeping House With the Hoopers

[The Hoopers, an average American family of five, living in a suburban town on a small income, will tell the readers of the Times how the many present-day problems of the home are solved by working on the budget that Mrs. Hooper has devised and found so useful. Follow their daily, an interesting review of their home life and learn to meet the conditions of the high cost of living with them.]

SATURDAY.

Helen had been decidedly troubled over since her father had decided to buy her a new bright red dress such as she had described as being part of the winter wardrobe of Alice Briggs. She knew instinctively that it was not at all the kind of dress that her mother would have bought for her, even if she had departed from her usual custom and had purchased a dress in the shops for Helen, instead of making it herself. But with all the strength of her clothes loving spirit, Helen had refused to buy the garment, dress, so that although she had followed her father to the gate yesterday morning with the firm intention of telling him that he mustn't think of buying that new dress because mother wouldn't like it, she had let him depart without saying a word about it.

That morning he had said to them at the breakfast table:

"I shall probably be down a little later than usual today because I have a little shopping to do, so don't wait luncheon for me."

"But you'd better hurry right home, father," began Helen softly, "because you know you have to help us make those quince preserves."

"I haven't forgotten that, either," he replied, "and I'll come just as early as possible, but I must do the shopping as it's very important."

"What are you going to buy, father?" inquired Roger.

"Oh, that's a little secret of Helen's and mine said her father merrily, "but I'll tell you all about it tonight."

Again a little wave of guiltiness swept over Helen and she was on the point of telling him right then and there that he mustn't buy any consideration lay to the door. But when she had the opportunity was lost, as Mr. Hooper changed the subject almost immediately, and told Roger that until he came he was to help Helen and her grandmother by peeling as many quinces as they needed to put up during the afternoon and then to help them in any other way he could to the end that the quinces could be preserved and put away in the basement closet.

"I just want to say, too," said Helen, "that there are a lot more ripe grapes on the front side of the arbor and we have to use them to make grape juice, but that is so easy to do that grandma says she can make it by herself on Monday morning, if the grapes are all picked and the opportunity is lost."

Three of the men got into the automobile with the funds. The other bandit sprinted to the machine at Cass avenue, the car containing the loath-trailing him.

The automobile turned south on Cass avenue and in the direction of Jefferson.

A car, apparently described as the one in which the loot was carried off, was ordered to stop by police near Hendrie's street, but the car rushed on.

The police fired at it. Later the car was found abandoned at Fort and Dubois streets. It had been stolen from A. E. Goldstein. Several suspects are held by the police.

Men You May Marry

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Six-footer, handsome, graceful, cultured, successful in his profession. Hasn't married because he's fallen in love and fallen out of love so often that he has been afraid of marriage. Now he is sure—that you're his girl. He is crazy about the law—even talks its ideals to you. He is progressive, honest and liberal minded.

IN FACT.

He is the modern type of successful young lawyer.

R

Prescription to his bride:

Have the living rooms living—with books, music and good talk with a few bits of fun.

Absorb This:

FUN AND BRAINS WILL MAKE A GOOD MARRIAGE AND ROB IT OF STRAINS.

(Copyright, 1921.)

fat a small onion cut fine. Add one-half as much vinegar, salt, sugar and half as much hot stock as vinegar. Have ready the potatoes baked in skins. Remove the skins and slice hot into the frying pan enough to take up the liquid. Add the diced bacon, toss together and serve.

CREAMED SWEET APPLE PIE.

Pare, core and quarter Campbell's pears, or other sweet apples. Put them into a pudding dish with a few squares of white sugar, a few sprigs of mint, a few cloves, a few nutmegs, and a few whole allspice. Add two tablespoonsfuls of sugar to each cupful and let them get cold in the syrup. Then cut into thin slices or tiny dice. Roll out some puff paste quite thin; line a pie plate, sprinkle with flour, lay on another crust and bake until brown. When ready to serve open the crusts, spread the lower one with the stewed apple, cover with whipped cream, put on the top crust and sprinkle that with powdered sugar.

OYSTER FRITTERS.

Chop thirty oysters. Make a batter of two beaten eggs, a half pint of milk and a pint of prepared flour. If the batter is too stiff, add more milk. Stir the oysters into the batter and drop this by the spoonful into deep, boiling cotton oil or other fat. As the fritters brown on one side, turn them over. Drain in a hot colander as soon as well cooked.

INITIALS B. M. STAND FOR BUTTERMILK.

"I have been trying to find out for several weeks what those initials B. M. stand for. Now I know—Buttermilk Ranch."

"They say there is one gambler back of me, but it looks like 'Buttermilk' has a bunch of them," he said. Then he mentioned Cocky Shee and Jerry Casey and later Thomas S. Meeker, Democratic city chairman.

"They go around pretending that all the good citizens and the respectable people for good business and only the gamblers and bootleggers for me. I want you to recall the murder of Joseph Schalandsky at the Oneida Hotel, which occurred in Room 140, Sept. 22, 1913, between 2 and 11 o'clock p. m. At that time Tom Meeker was one of the owners of the Oneida Hotel. Mr. Schalandsky was beaten on the head and strangled to death with a rope in Room 140.

CITIES CONDITIONS

AT NEAR EAST RELIEF SERVICE.

"Coroner Durham reported in his inquest at the time that he called two bell boys of the Oneida Hotel before him as witnesses and the boys told him that they went to Room 140 together because they were afraid to go alone on account of the fact that two men, prior to the murder of Mr. Schalandsky, had been robbed in that same Room 140 during the night."

Referring to the Francis confession in which it was stated Mr. Shank and Doctor Christy got drunk at Louisville the candidate said: "Now, what do you think of that? I never did drink whisky. I don't like it."

Mr. Ralston spoke at St. Clair and Ketchum streets and Dexter Avenue and Nineteenth streets last evening. He warned the voters not to be carried off by their feelings and that they must study hard today, for school days will be over soon, a few weeks off, the first of June."

But just then one of the boys began to sing:

Here's a pussy cat and a goose, I'll study no more, for what's the use. If cats and geese are coming to school, I'll have fun and break every rule."

"There is another man running for mayor, but I don't believe in jumping on a man when he's down," he said. "We come before you with a clean ticket asking for your support."

He reiterated his statement of Thursday evening that Mr. Shank double-crossed the jitney drivers.

"There is another man running for mayor, but I don't believe in jumping on a man when he's down," he said. "We come before you with a clean ticket asking for your support."

G. A. R. FAVORS MONUMENT VIEW

Resolution Would Ban Circle Skyscrapers.

Limitation of the height of buildings to be erected on the Circle was favored by the Grand Army of the Republic at its recent encampment here. A resolution pointing out that the erection of buildings of greater height than those now on the Circle would have a tendency to mar and belittle the Monument was unanimously passed.

In the rush of business the resolution was voted out to the committee and attention has been called to it by Cal Oran Perry, superintendent of the Monument.

The resolution is as follows:

"The Grand Army of the Republic takes a just pride in the splendid Monument erected and maintained by the State of Indiana to honor the memory of her 'Silent Victor'."

"While this is beautiful it is not only for Indiana alone, its beauty affects not only that State and the Grand Army, but the entire nation, and it has the privilege of seeing it and speaking in the name of the Grand Army of the Republic and for all soldiers living and dead who have given their lives for their country."

"Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands. You see, it just couldn't bear to see such a dreadful sight. And then it began to tick away as peacefully as ever.

Then little Puss Junior and Goosy Gander slipped away unnoticed, for they were afraid to make a noise lest the children should hear them. And in the next few minutes:

They ran back and took hold of that boy, and shook him by the collar, and some of the little girls screamed, and the little clock stopped ticking right away and covered its face with its hands.